Wheat Purchase Underlines Soviet Agricultural Problems

Russia's recent purchase of wheat and flour from Canada and Australia sharply underlines the Soviet Union's shortcomings in agriculture.

Reports indicate that Soviet Premier Khrushchev is studying proposals for a radical shift in his country's agricultural investments toward costly irrigation projects and increased use of expensive fertilizers.

The Soviet newspaper Pravda has hinted that Khrushchev is planning to expand area under irrigation in Krasnodar, a rich corn and wheat area in Southern Russia. Pravda said the area under irrigation must be increased by 58 million acres by 1980 if it is to be a success. Indications are that it would cost about $1,000 an acre to develop the land.

Experts say only money for short term investment is available from industry and other Russian investments—like defense, housing and space allotments—are expected to remain at present levels. This means that the bulk of the investment money will come from funds already allotted to agriculture.

Carl W. Hall, professor of Agricultural Engineering who visited Russia a few years ago says that Khrushchev's pet project, called the "Newlands" or "the Virgin Lands of Kazakhstan" might be the area to be scraped. The "Newlands" are located in the Northwestern section of outer Mongolia in the Aiti Mountain area.

Hall says the "Newlands" have been a bad investment for the Soviet Union. They yield consistently diminishing crops despite top priority investments of men, machines and money.

The problem according to Hall, is that there is a short growing period and lack of moisture in this area. He pointed out that fertilizers can't help much unless moisture is available. Last week Khrushchev said the Soviet Union is going to concentrate on the question of raising productivity and on the production of mineral fertilizers.

Hall said one reason for Russia's wheat shortage this year is the country's generally poor conditions for agriculture. He said Russia expects a bad crop every 5 or 6 years and that they might be able to cope with this. But, he added, they had had crops two years in a row.

JFK To Examine Rejects

Many Draftees Fail To Qualify, President Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy named a cabinet level task force Tuesday to seek remedies for what he called an ominous rate of rejection of young Americans called up for draft board examinations.

Kennedy said one of three young men does not meet minimum standards for peacetime military service. "This situation must not be permitted to continue or its implications to go unattended," Kennedy said. "These figures are an indictment and an ominous warning."

"A young man who does not have what it takes to perform military service is not likely to have what it takes to make a living," he said. "Today's military rejects include tomorrow's hard core unemployed."

Kennedy said a "large scale manpower conservation operation is both feasible and urgent, and could mean large savings in lives and dollars."

He said the selective service system gives the nation a chance to identify young men "who are-- for reasons of education, or health, or both--not equipped to play their part in society."

Kennedy named Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, Secretary of Welfare Anthony Celebrezze, and Selective Service Director Lewis Hershey to draft a program for guidance, testing, counseling, training and rehabilitation of young men who fall short of military service standards.

He appointed Wirtz chairman and told the task force to submit a preliminary report within 30 days and its final findings by Jan. 1.

The President suggested the task force should consider Army experience during World War II when illiterate youths were sent to special training units.

He said the group should consider the possibility of earlier and more general testing by Selective Service boards and try to find out why the failure rate on mental tests ranges from lower than 5 per cent in some states to more than 50 per cent in others.

Ask Release Of Alleged Bombers

An attorney in Birmingham, Alabama has filed a petition asking for the release of two men police are holding in connection with the city's racial bombings.

Hearings for Charles Cagle and R.E. Chambliss are scheduled for Wednesday.

Chambliss underwent a lie detector test Tuesday. Cagle remained in jail while officers interrogated Chambliss.

Negro Ban Asked On Accommodations Vote

Voters in Cambridge, Maryland, cast their ballots Tuesday on a proposed public accommodations law aimed at ending six-months of racial strife. White voting ran heavy, fewer than 250 of the city's 15-hundred eligible negro voters turned out for the election. One negro civil rights leader urged a boycott of the election predicting the referendum's defeat.

Seek New Panama Contract

President Roberto Chiari urged Tuesday that negotiations begin immediately for a new treaty with the United States on the Panama Canal.

"We have arrived at the point and the hour in which our two countries cannot delay a solution of their differences without the risk of falling into a delicate situation," Chiari said in his annual message to the national assembly.

Panama long has sought a new treaty to include a bigger annual payment for the canal and more rights in the canal zone.

The U.S. position has been that a new treaty with Panama should await the result of studies into the possibility of building a new inter-ocean canal at sea level.

Russian Cosmonaut In Cuba

House Action Sought

Extension Limits Agency Fundions To Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Commission on Civil Rights died at midnight but was virtually brought back to life today.

The Senate voted 70 to 15 to extend the agency a year, and sent the legislation back to the House where the Democratic leadership will seek similar approval later this week.

The Senate's action came after Southerners registered token opposition. It was accomplished by attaching the one-year extension onto a minor claims bill previously passed by the House.

The final vote on the bill with its civil rights rider was 71 to 15.

Only House concurrence in the change will be necessary now to send the legislation to President Kennedy.

The commission officially went out of existence at midnight last night, but had an additional 60 days in which to wind up its affairs. A number of its employees have already quit, but its essential machinery will still be intact when the House acts on the one-year renewal.

The extension limits the six-year-old agency to hearing and investigating complaints of discrimination and making recommendations to the President and Congress.

This falls far short of the four-year extension asked by Kennedy, who also wanted it expanded into a clearing house of information on civil rights problems.

Some Senators favored giving the commission permanent status. They may get a second crack at the issue, however, as the President's omnibus civil rights program, still being processed by House committees, provides for a permanent extension of the commission. This may

Military Gets Pay Raise; Will Not Affect ROTC

Both branches of the Armed Forces at Michigan State welcomed the expected military pay boost of $1.2 billion.

The boost, however, will have no effect on MSU's ROTC program.

It would average 14.4 per cent and range as high as $120 monthly for all branches of the service.

"Officers commissioned into the Air Force will receive benefits from the boost after two years of service," said Major

John M. Engebretsen, Air Science. "In this respect it will effect all cadets commissioned into the Air Force because they must serve four years after commissioning."

He indicated the raise may make active duty more attractive to commissioned officers. Since the boost effects commissioned officers more, it will be more desirable to get a commission while in college, he added.

Government officials said that thousands of low-ranking personnel with large families would continue to seek charity or outside jobs.

Engebretsen said he had heard that "moonlighting," or part-time employment was going on, but he didn't know to what extent or if it would continue.

Also commenting, Colonel James F. Skells, Military Science, said that situations where welfare or charity aid was needed were not very prevalent in the Army.

"I personally know of no such instances," he said.

The colonel indicated the pay boost probably would not attract additional personnel from industry nor would it act as a stimulus to keep them in the Army.

Council Asks Sewage Aid

East Lansing's City Council has requested $691,000 in federal aid from the Michigan Supply Commission for construction of a new sewage plant.

The plant, which would serve MSU in addition to Meridian Township and East Lansing, is to be built on University property southwest of University Village.

The present facility, also located on University-owned land, is now handling one million gallons more than its planned capacity.

Action on the request for federal aid will come in November and if construction approval and contract letting proceed on schedule, the proposed plant will be in operation by the fall of 1965.

The city of East Lansing has already signed a contract with MSU to handle sewage with the new facility.

Council Requests New Outlook

By BENNET M. BOLTON
State News Staffer Writer

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 1 (AP)—A decisive vote at the Vatican Ecumenical Council opened the way today for a sweeping new Roman Catholic outlook toward Christian unity.

An official Council theologian said a schema, or topic, approved in principle contains modern theological thinking that "all who are baptized and share a Christian faith belong somehow (to the one church), in a mysterious way not yet fully understood."

The schema is "De Ecclesia" (Concerning a Church), a topic that explores the nature of the Roman Catholic Church.

More than 95 per cent of the 2,301 Council fathers voting in St. Peter's Basilica approved the general outlines of the Schema and authorized detailed discussion of its four chapters.

Before the Schema emerges from the Council in its final form, the document undoubtedly will be altered. It has now weathered its first test. An adverse vote might possibly have shelved it.

"De Ecclesia" covers a wide range of ideas of what constitutes the Roman Catholic Church, who belongs to it and how they belong.

The original document was thoroughly revised during a nine-month recess after the Council felt that it lacked an ecumenical and pastoral spirit. Pope John XXIII agreed with the prevailing attitude that all the Schemata should be phrased to help the Christian unity cause and reach the understanding of the average Catholic or be pastoral. Cardinals, archbishops and bishops who took the floor in the first days of the second session found that the revised Schema generally lives up to the mandate of Pope John and his successor, Pope Paul VI.

"This is an important part of modern (Catholic) theology which sees the church as a mystery," said the Toronto Seminary professor.

"It is a mystery in the sense that the Church never fully understands itself and how God works through it."

"The thinking now is that Christ founded a specific Church, yet all who are baptized and share a Christian faith belong somehow, in a mysterious way not yet fully understood."

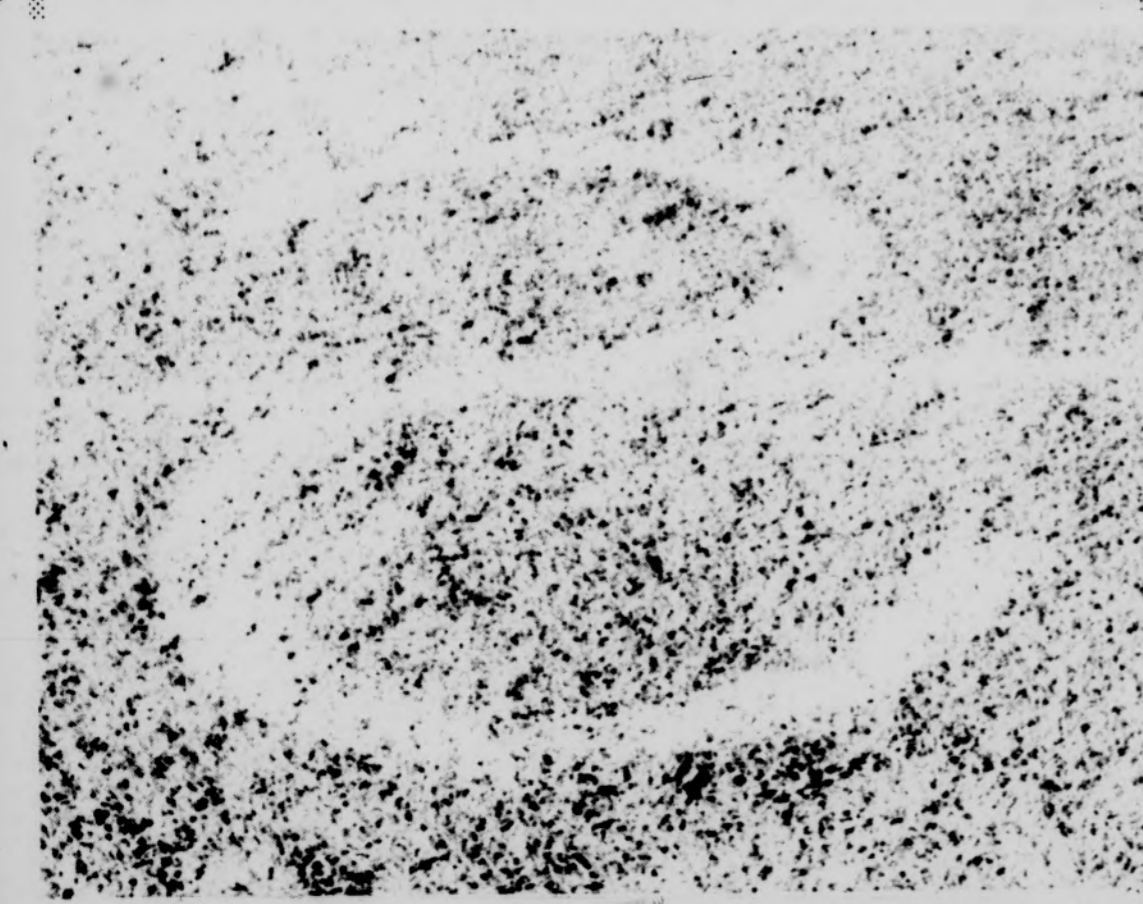

The first chapter of "De Ecclesia" examines the so-called mystery of the Church. Chapter Two goes into its hierarchical structure, or alignment of laymen and prelates, and is the longest chapter. Chapter Three is titled "The People of God and the Laity." Chapter Four is about the call to Holiness within the Church.

Many Council fathers who spoke the past two days said they were pleased with constant biblical references in "De Ecclesia" and with its ecumenical spirit.

Experts here saw much appeal for other Christians in this new Catholic emphasis on going back to roots pre-dating Christ and on studying the Bible closely to arrive at a broader concept of what the Church is and should be.

General approval indicated that a vast majority of bishops were willing to discuss this new way of looking at the Church's nature and the community of Christian believers.

Pilot Walks Away From Plane Crash

Robert Pierce, 39, of Holt, escaped injury when his plane crashed near Capital City Airport about 7 p.m. Tuesday.

According to State Police, his Beechcraft Bonanza airplane developed engine trouble as he neared the landing strip, causing the plane to fall short of the runway.

The plane nosed over in the soft dirt of a plowed field. State police said minor damage was done to the plane. Pierce walked away from the accident. There were no passengers.

Pope Paul Stresses Unity

The decade of the 1960's is offering more challenges to man in his quest for peace than anyone ever dreamed of. Political, scientific, social, and even theological revolutions, are glowing like the rising sun.

With this light to study under, the Second Vatican Council reopened this week in Rome. In a lengthy address, Pope Paul VI referred to the spirit of his predecessor Pope John XXIII and urged the Council to move ahead toward the goal of Christian unity.

The Council stands now at a threshold. Under orders from the late Pope John, the multitude of proposals submitted to the Council was reduced to seventeen general themes, or what the church calls "schemas."

The first theme "De Ecclesia," deals with the very nature of the church itself. It is of such importance that very likely it will occupy the attention of the Council until the announced closing date of Dec. fourth. This means that there will be possibly one or two additional sessions before the Vatican Council completes its work. (And if the past is any indication, this means two more years.)

The reason the church stands at a threshold with this first theme, is that its content, which includes many theological definitions, is what will form the basis for further steps in the direction of church unity. If for example, the church cannot redefine some of her "mysteries" so that they are more acceptable to the "separated brethren," the themes that follow will have a difficult time making progress toward unity.

In the realm of unity too much emphasis is often placed on the evolving structure and not enough on evolving ideas. This brings us most appropriately to the role that we as students at a great university can play in this hopeful evolution.

By its nature, a university is supposed to be a garden of ideas. Students at MSU could begin to take a more active interest in the ideas and ideals that make up the many great churches having foundations on our campus.

Discussion of religion does not have to be a taboo subject. Intelligent ideals, if they are accompanied by interested, attentive listening, can find their way into any conversation. More emphasis however has to be placed on the listening aspect; this is where we have failed in the past.

We live in an academic community and therefore have an innate right to pursue new theological thought right alongside the Vatican Council. The assemblage of churchmen of all denominations in Rome should serve as a clarion call to our own community.

An effort should be made to gather together on a grand scale to discuss what our differences really are. New ideas and ideals can be born right here at MSU.

One Year Lease

The current round of Senate debate on the controversial Civil Rights Commission provoked the expected outbursts prior to its being given a new one-year lease on life.

The most emphatic warning came Monday from a group of southern congressmen. Waving the flag the longest and hardest was Senator A. Willis Robertson, (D-Va.). He called the 274-page report issued by the commission "inflammatory and unsound" and urged Congress to let the commission die.

Robertson said extending the commission's life another year is a "waste of money and a disservice to the people of this nation." "It is certainly one of the temporary federal agencies which could very well terminate here and now."

While all the dissenting senators are entitled to their opinion as President John Hannah, chairman of the commission said Monday -- they could look to the future. Perhaps their bitter denunciation will help defeat the omnibus Civil Rights Bill and the watchdog Civil Rights Commission with it. But it is inevitable that this bill or another one like it will be passed.

Hannah and his five member agency concluded that there had been signs of progress in the six years it has existed, but the growing protest movement by Negroes also has made it abundantly clear that their century-old patience with second class citizenship is finally at an end."

The commission warned that while the present conflict has brought about some progress it has also created the danger that white and Negro Americans may be driven even further apart and left again with a legacy of hate, fear and mistrust.

The commission offered a three-point program to find a faster solution to the "right to vote" problem:

Legislation limiting local and state voter qualification laws to residence, age and completion of the sixth grade; establishment of a procedure where qualified Negroes can petition for and have appointed a voting referee to register them where local registrars discriminate against them; congressional legislation to trim the number of members in the House of Representatives in states in which voter qualifications continue to be used as a device for discrimination.

Are these recommendations that Sen. Robertson called inflammatory and unsound?

The Civil Rights commission report put the capstone on the issue. It represents a strong and cogent warning to all Americans.

"WAS I RIGHT ABOUT THIS CLASS?"

AUSG Pressure Group On The Administration

By BOB HENCKEN
Speaker of Congress

Student Government exists to serve the student in two main ways: 1. To represent his views to the University policy makers; 2. To provide him with services and programs which the administration and faculty cannot or will not undertake.

Point of View

The first reason is by far the most important. This is the primary purpose of the Student Congress. Over the years Congress has made some gallant efforts to make University policy more to the liking of the students. Sometimes they have been successful (the removal of compulsory R.O.T.C. and automatic suspension for possession of alcohol are the two most important). More often than this they have failed. Why?

Freedom Up Held

JAN DICKINS

On June 17, 1963, the United States Supreme Court ruled it illegal to require the recitation of the Lord's Prayer or the reading of the Bible in a public classroom as a religious exercise. With only one dissenter on the bench, the justices strictly supported the separation of Church and State in the United States when they took this step in secularizing public education.

The public's reaction to the Court's ruling was vehement. Parents suddenly became concerned about their children's religious needs and the school's inability to meet them. High school choir and orchestra members wondered if their annual presentation of Christmas music would soon be prohibited. Some alarmed citizens even foresaw the gradual death of Christianity in the United States because of this decision and others like it.

The ruling itself is not important, but the question it is based upon is of great significance. The decision states that as a religious exercise it is illegal to require the reading of the Bible and the reciting of the Lord's Prayer. The justices are not condemning an objective presentation of the Bible in the classroom. Obviously the Bible has much value as a collection of fascinating stories, as a history of the Semitic peoples, and as one view of man's nature and his destiny.

The Supreme Court is greatly disturbed by the widespread assumption of educators that every student believes in God and the narrow-minded view that if he does not he should. Admittedly most students do acknowledge some sort of a belief in religion; however a few do not. Through its ruling, the Supreme Court assures this minority of the right to disagree, to believe as they want to believe.

Even though we have progressed greatly since the days of narrow-minded Puritanism, a child still gets an impression of a "national religion". This national religion consists of a vague, completely non-personal belief in a public God. It is inspired by overzealous teachers with their biased presentation of knowledge and their assumption that their pupils believe exactly what they believe. The student merely accepts this broad, meaningless religion. He believes in it because everyone else does, even his teacher who is one of the most influential persons in his young life. The student needs to think, to hear all sides, and then form his own code of ethics and beliefs.

Failure by AUSG to be successful in dealing with the administration can perhaps be based on the following main reasons.

Failure to ensure the backing of the students and other major governing bodies.

Failure to use all available tactics to develop the case. AUSG has usually limited itself to dealing with the lower echelons of the administration and trusting its requests to move automatically through the University bureaucracy. AUSG must push its demands at all levels of the administration.

Since AUSG is not a part of the administration, it is in fact a pressure group upon the administration. It should not be expected to operate exclusively within the channels of communication established to run the University. It should, when necessary, by-pass and shortcut various parts of the chain of command.

The administration is usually reluctant to discuss changes in University policy with AUSG. Often the administration will stubbornly defend the status quo, only to change it unexpectedly a short time later. In short, the administration seems reluctant to level with AUSG.

In AUSG there is often a fear of tackling controversial issues. There is also a fear of stating grievances in any but the blandest, often most ambiguous way. While diplomacy requires temperance, it also requires strength of conviction. All-University Student Government must be able to negotiate with the conviction from a position of strength.

Change Of Heart

Governments can legislate and then these laws can coerce, but in the final analysis, an effective change in society requires like motivation on the part of the people.

Canadian prime minister Lester B. Pearson pointed to this recently in a speech before the National Conference of Christian and Jews reported by the Associated Press. The Nobel Prize winning statesman declared:

"There are serious limitations on what can be achieved by political action in the area of National ugliness.

"Governments, laws and courts can no more put brotherhood into the hearts of the men than the United Nations can put brotherhood into the hearts of nations.

Pearson went on to say that "no written law and no mere declaration -- no matter how eloquent -- can insure good behavior or create human dignity. Brotherhood, and all it stands for, begins in man's heart."

This is a simple axiom, yet one easily forgotten. Today, as this nation bares the weight of its great race crisis, the calls for stronger pressures and more concerted action are growing more profuse.

But these advocates must also realize their limitations. Force can, and probably will, produce significant strides toward the goal of racial equity. But it will never do the whole job and if left alone will only add to the havoc.

It is important that men like Martin Luther King remain in the thick of the battle preaching ideas and resisting the urge to explode blindly in the face of frustration.

Decrees from Washington are going to be necessary steps but there will remain a vast gap to be filled by compromise, patience and understanding.

Letters To The Editor

Ivan's Big Mess

To The Editor:

Mr. Stewart's column on the agricultural failures of the Soviet regime was misleading despite its obvious pertinence.

The reasons for the recent failures in Soviet agriculture do not stem from any mere mismanagement within the Agricultural Ministry, nor are they due to the ravages of natural calamity.

They are in fact, a direct result of the failure of the Soviet regime to remain true to the precepts of collectivist planning.

The blame for the deprivation of the Soviet people must be placed squarely at the shoes of Mr. Khrushchev, who has failed both his ideals and his country in the act.

The world can no longer ignore the bankruptcy of the Soviet regime, nor the inevitable failure of her recent deviationist policies.

Directory Due Oct. 28

The 1963-64 Student Directory will be available about October 28, according to Registrar Kermit H. Smith. It will replace the interim directory of on campus students which was compiled before registration from the Housing Office room assignments.

As the old-timers know, the directory lists not only MSU addresses and telephone numbers, but also each student's marital status, sex, class level, college and major, and home address. The information is taken from the Registrar's card in the registration packet. The cards are key-punched and verified, then fed into high-speed machines which type the information on long sheets which are sent to the printer.

"Each year the job is more difficult because we must add pages to take care of the increasing enrollment," Smith said. "We try to make the final directory as accurate as possible."

Students changing their address or other information may submit the new information until October 2. Residence Hall managers can make changes in room assignments until October 10th and the changes will appear in the directory.

"In this way," said Assistant Registrar Anthony J. Diekma, "every student is in the directory."

Dorm residents will receive copies of the book through the bookstores. Others may purchase it in the bookstores.

Enjoying the new wall-to-wall carpeting in the Mayo dining room is Bonnie Gulu, Hazel Park freshman. The carpeting is an experiment to see what affect rugs have in older dorms.

Experiment: Carpeting In Mayo Dining Room

A quiet, living room atmosphere pervades mealtime at Mayo Hall this year with the advent of wall-to-wall carpeting in the dining room.

The carpeting, according to Lyle Thorburn, resident hall manager, is an experiment to see the effects of rugs in an older dorm.

The old wooden floors became very worn, he said, and instead of pouring an expensive new base and putting in an entire new flooring, the University decided to lay carpeting.

The carpeting is all nylon which permits ease of wiping in case of spills. It is olive green with a hint of brown.

Although the nylon rug permits ease of cleaning many Mayo coeds are worried about spilling things on it.

"I don't think we should have the carpeting because girls are afraid to spill things on them. They're pretty but not practical," Bonnie Baughman, Gibraltar, freshmen, said.

Many girls, however, feel the carpeting is a welcome change from the usual dormitory decor.

"I love them, they add a lot of warmth to the room," Lorraine Bessinger, Dearborn, freshmen, said.

Nancy Clark, Orchard Lake, freshman, thinks it's especially nice to study at night in the dining room because it's so quiet.

Nancy Rycyna, Lockport, N.Y., junior, sums the feeling up best for the majority of Mayo coeds, when she said that the carpet is pleasant to walk on, absorbs sound and is nice to look at.

Three SNCC Workers Arrested In Dixie

Three workers for the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) were arrested in Hattiesburg, Miss., for handing out integration pamphlets on a downtown street Sept. 23.

The three students, Bette Davis, Hattiesburg, Miss., Carol Arnold, Atlanta, Ga., and Gerald Bray, a former Michigan State student from Detroit, were arrested while crossing Main Street, Bray reported to the State News.

They were stopped by a police officer and ordered to follow him to the police station, he added.

At the police station they were photographed, fingerprinted, intensively questioned and told that they were under arrest for blocking the sidewalk, Bray continued. The charge was later amended to "passing out pamphlets."

The three argued that they were distributing newspapers. No city or state ordinance prohibits the distribution of newspapers which are published fewer than six times a week.

After four hours of questioning, the three SNCC workers were released with a warning.

SOC Offers Gas Discount

The Problem of paying for transportation to classes will be eased at the first Students Off Campus meeting of the term tonight.

Gas discount cards will be given to members of SOC who meet at 7:30 p.m. in Parlors A, B and C of the Union, enabling them to receive three cents off on each gallon of gas they purchase in East Lansing. This is the first time SOC has been able to provide this service.

Slides of former SOC activities will be shown tonight for the benefit of new students who are visiting or joining at the meeting. Former members of the "Kegmen," a singing group, will perform, and cider and doughnuts will be served.

SOC will also hold a picnic for members only in the East Lansing Park from 3 to 7 p.m. Saturday.

The new SOC lounge, located at the top of the Union, is open from 8 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. for all off campus students. Members decorated the lounge this summer, and are now waiting for the arrival of former dormitory furniture.

Pledging Requires 2 Point

The required all college grade point average for men pledging fraternities is 2.0, not 2.2, as reported in the State News Tuesday.

Richard McLellan, East Lansing senior, and president of Delta Sigma Phi, said that according to the by-laws of the Interfraternity Council, any man with a 2.0 average or above is eligible to join a fraternity.

"An attempt was made to raise the minimum requirements for pledging," he said, "but the change was not put into effect. The present 2.0 minimum will remain in effect unless changed by two-thirds vote of the IFC Presidents' Assembly."

All fraternities will hold open rush on Wednesday night and men may pledge through the eighth week of the term.

Police Office Simplified

Campus police are concerned with car registration this year only in that they must enforce it. In previous years, they have been responsible for the administrative work as well.

The Police Administration's move to Olds Hall has allowed the Department of Public Safety to move their personnel who had been scattered in various quarters into the main quonset.

Now students registering bicycles and automobiles are not going through the police station, thus leaving police more time for their regular duties.

still be in the legislation when and if it reaches the Senate floor.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the assistant Democratic leader, had tried unsuccessfully four times previously to get the one-year extension through the Senate.

In debate today, Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said the commission should be "allowed to die." He objected to "bypassing" his committee by attaching the extension to an unrelated House bill.

Other Senators voiced similar disapproval Monday.

But Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said the commission provides "an indispensable service in helping Congress frame legislation and in providing information for the public."

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., also endorsed the commission. He noted its 1963 report showed a "shocking... amount of subsidization by the Federal government of segregation." He said Kennedy should have the Health, Education and Welfare Department make certain no discrimination is supported by Federal funds.

On the 70-15 vote 25 Republicans voted solidly for approval, joined by 45 Democrats. All 15 negative votes were Democrats.

Series Opener Today

Houk Expects Even Match

WHITEY FORD

NEW YORK (UPI) New York manager Ralph Houk sees the Yankees and Los Angeles Dodgers so evenly matched that the winner could be decided on favorable breaks.

Houk doesn't buy the general talk that the Dodgers are inferior defensively but agrees with Dodger Manager Walt Alston that pitching will decide things if breaks aren't too damaging. For today's opening game at New York, opposing pitchers will be two outstanding lefthanders, Whitey Ford for the Yankees and Sandy Koufax for the Dodgers. In the second game, it'll probably be lefthanders Johnny Podres for L.A. and Al Downing for N.Y. The Los Angeles Dodgers are apparently will have no serious physical disabilities. Fast-baller Sandy Koufax dismissed his illness over the weekend as "a slight cold," and said he'd be ready to start the first game, against Whitey Ford. Relief ace Ron Perranoski said he had the "24-hour virus" on Friday and Saturday, but said he had recovered completely.

The only other Dodger in previous physical difficulty, third baseman Ken McMullen, also says he's ready to play. Los Angeles Trainer Wayne Anderson says a leg injury which bothered McMullen is not a torn thigh muscle but merely adhesions from an old injury. But whether he will start the first game still is doubtful because Dodger Manager Walt Alston indicates he prefers not to risk further injury to McMullen and lose him for the rest of the series. Houk was cheered by improvement in his often injured outfield stars, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris. He pronounced the Yankees in their best physical condition of the season.

For the first game, the Yankees are slight choices at 6-5. A perfect day is promised for the opening game, with skies fair and temperatures in the low 70's. The first two games will be in Yankee Stadium and the Series then moves to Los Angeles with a day off for travel. A crowd of more than 70,000 is expected for the opener.

Soccer Coach Gene Kenney is hoping for an enthusiastic turnout when his Spartans make a home debut against Wheaton College, Saturday, at 11:30 on the Soccer Field. No admission charge is asked of students.

Pigskin Safari Lost; Game Air Trip Off

The Pigskin Safari planned by the Alumni Relations Department has been cancelled. The Safari was a proposed trip for MSU alumni to see the State-Southern California football game in Los Angeles, Oct. 4. Four days, October 3-6, were planned in which alumni could enjoy themselves in Las Vegas with time out for the Spartan game Friday night. Only about one-half of the required number signed up for the event because of late notice. Some refunds have been made and the remainder will be made by the Alumni Office. Special arrangements were made by the office for those who still wished to attend the game.

Peterson Succeeds Rand As Coach

"If you have the animals, you can have a circus. No animals, no circus."
That's the coaching philosophy of Dan Peterson, not a ringmaster, but the new freshmen basketball coach at MSU. He succeeds Tom Rand, who has taken a position in MSU's placement bureau, and he believes that "players make up 95% of the game. The coach accounts for 5%."
Peterson comes to East Lansing from Lebanon, Illinois, where he guided McKendree College to the Prairie College Conference championship and a birth in the NAIA playoffs in 1962. A native of Evanston, Illinois, he started coaching in the city YMCA while still a high school student. Among his students at the 'Y' gym were Art Schwarm, 1962 MSU cage captain, Dave Tremaine, Navy basketball captain in 1962, and Jim Purnell, fullback on Wisconsin's Rose Bowl team of this year. Peterson received his BA degree from Northwestern in 1958 and his MA at Michigan in 1962. He's looking forward to a good first season as frosh mentor. He'll have a squad bolstered by scholarship recipients center

Dave Keeler of Moline, Illinois; forward Joe Johnson of Grand Rapids South; forward Ted Cray of Springfield, Pennsylvania; and guards Gary Spade of Grosse Pointe, and Jim Hornberger of East Lansing. "Just because these boys are scholarship winners," Peterson said, "doesn't mean they have their jobs sewed up. There will be a general call on October 15th, and any freshman who has the ability can find a place on the squad."
The 27-year-old coach has also written two books, "Basketball Techniques, Theories, Team Play" and "Beginning Basketball."

Mellinger Back

Spartans Get Ready In X-Country Runoff

There's no truth to the rumor that the Spartans will be clad in Bermuda shorts when they take on Southern California at Los Angeles Friday evening.

But it wouldn't be a bad idea, considering the recent West Coast heat wave which sent the temperature as high as 188 during the Trojans' game against Oklahoma last Saturday.

It won't be that warm at the Coliseum Friday night, but the Trojans will still be steaming over their 17-12 loss to the Sooners which cost them their number-one rating in the national poll.

Spartan hopes of meeting USC challenge were lifted this week when veteran guard Steve Mellinger began working out at full strength. A sprained ankle and knee kept him out of the North Carolina game, but he'll be back in the starting line-up Friday evening.

Mellinger's appearance will give MSU five lettermen in the starting line. The 197-pound South Bend, Indiana, senior has earned two monograms for the Spartans and logged 229 minutes of playing time last year. His weight marks him as one of the lightest interior linemen of the roster, but his experience and all-around ability makes him one of the most dependable.

The MSU squad will run through a light workout today after stiff practice sessions Monday and Tuesday.

In the mind of coach Duffy, USC's defeat to Oklahoma won't make things any easier for the Spartans. "The loss will make the Trojans tougher, and more anxious to win," he said. "Neither team lost any prestige in that game. They're both great teams."

Daughtery was especially impressed by the second-half effort of the Trojans. "They made a great comeback in all that heat," he said. "They're a strong team with a fast backfield. They have the ability to break loose for a touchdown on any play."

There will be a presence of speed on both teams, with the Trojans boasting halfbacks Willie

Sharkey Leads Sophs In X-Country Runoff

Off Monday's fine time trial showing, it appears that the Spartan cross country machine will have a full head of steam in approach for Saturday's opening encounter with Ohio State and Ohio University.

Coach Fran Dittrich, who held the runoff mainly to obtain a better idea of team prospects, got an eye-full as only a scant minute and a half separated the first seven finishers. Dittrich hardly seemed surprised by the closeness in the timing turned in by the top seven finishers. He added that he had instructed Dittrich hailed the trials as a "satisfactory workout", and cautiously added that the squad was "slightly ahead of last year's Big Ten champs".

The Spartan coach, however, was pleased with the spread. Sophomores stole seven of the dozen positions that were up for grabs.

Dick Sharkey, the talented harrier from Detroit Redford, was the pacesetter as he churned the four mile course in 20:38. Although his timing was nearly a full minute slower than his best.

Pitcher Ken Johnson of the Houston Colts uses three motions, overhand, side arm and underhand, and throws a knuckleball from each position.

Spurs Lion Hopes

DETROIT--The hopes of the Lions for a victory over the San Francisco 49ers got a boost yesterday with the disclosure that the 49ers number one quarterback will not play in Sunday's game.

When new Head Coach Jack Christiansen reported to work yesterday the first news he got was that X-rays revealed John Brodie has suffered a fracture in his throwing arm and would be out for at least six weeks.

Lion's defensive end Darris McCord and halfback Larry Ferguson are doubtful starters for Sunday's game.

Both suffered knee injuries in the 37-21 loss to Chicago Bears last Sunday.

Defensive back Gary Lowe, who was also injured Sunday, underwent surgery yesterday for a torn achille's tendon and will be out the rest of the year.

A knee injury in a pre-season game sidelined flanker back Pat Studstill, who will probably be out for the entire season.

There is some concern among the Lions coaches on what effect Monday's firing of Coach Red Hickey will have on the San Francisco 49ers when they meet the Lions in Detroit Sunday.

The coaches feel that the 49ers, who have lost three straight, will be sky-high for the game.

Lion Coach Wilson says Hickey's quitting may set the 49ers club on fire.

The Lions are expected to be favored when they meet the 49ers at Tiger Stadium Sunday.

Red Wings Sign Three To Roster

DETROIT--Red Wing Manager--Coach Sid Abel added three more names to the list of players under contract for the coming season, yesterday.

Veteran Wings Andre Pronovost, Pete Goegan, and Alex Faulkner, all agreed to terms bringing the number of players signed to 17.

The Wings conclude their exhibition schedule tonight when they meet their Pittsburgh farm club at Stratford, Ontario.

The Detroit club has won six, tied two, while losing only one game during their exhibition season.

Former Prof Dies

Funeral services will be held today at 10:30 a.m., in the Goline-Runciman East Chapel for Fred Killeen, 83, of 221 Orchard St., East Lansing, former music instructor of MSU. Burial will follow in Evergreen Cemetery. Mr. Killeen, who retired in 1955 from MSU, died Saturday in a local hospital.

A former dean of the Ohio Northern University music department, he taught at MSU from 1927 until his retirement. Mr. Killeen was the organizer and first director of the Orpheus Club, a member of the Masonic Lodge, past president of the Civic Players, and a veteran of the Spanish-American War.

Survivors include his widow, Virginia; three sons, Robert and William of Birmingham, and Donald of Lansing; two daughters, Mrs. L. E. Laidlaw of Indianapolis, Ind., and Mrs. Margaret McKoane of Sacramento, Calif., and 15 grandchildren.

The family asks that contributions be made to the Fred Killeen Memorial Scholarship Fund in care of the MSU music department.

Arnold Air Society To Meet Tonight

Arnold Air Society, Air Force Honorary, will hold their first meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in 32 Union.

The meeting is for all present members of AAS. Election of officers will be held at this time.

Refreshments will be served at the meeting.

Student Educators Aid Local School Teachers

Student volunteers from various departments of MSU have been participating in a cooperative educational project designed to aid individual students in local elementary and high schools solve the problems of their education.

The Student Education Corps is a group which specializes in giving its time to the children. The SEC gives time to each individual child, which the teacher, when teaching a large group of children from varied backgrounds, cannot give.

Conceived and organized on the MSU campus last winter under the guidance of David Gottlieb, associate professor of Sociology, the SEC sent 124 volunteers to assist teachers in a pilot program at 19 schools during spring term.

The volunteers were majoring in over 20 different areas and had no special training for the program. They must have at least one entire morning or afternoon free, and volunteers who can spend one full day a week at their assigned school are particularly needed. Corpsmen are sent to schools where there is a significant percentage of children from low-income, low-education-level homes, who may have health and social problems which interfere with their effort and achievement in school.

The ultimate goal of SEC volunteers, whether they work with fast students or slow students, teach drama or arithmetic, is to show the children that education is the key to a better life.

Many educators and students indicated a desire to see the program carried out through an entire school year, and one school even offered teaching positions to two of the volunteers.

The greatest rewards of the SEC program are to the volunteers themselves, in their opinion.

In her report of her work at Morrice School, Priscilla Moorman said "I feel like a thief. I have taken so much from this experience. I only hope I can give the equivalent."

Lynn Ann Maynard described satisfying moments in her experience at Holt: "When a little boy who 'couldn't do anything right' (and wouldn't try) finally came up with his completed card holder, when a usually uncooperative child volunteered to clean up paper scraps, or when an excited second grader jumped up in the middle of class to say how much he enjoyed art...then I felt that I had really made a contribution to these classes."

Applications for the Student Education Corps are available in their office in 314 Student Services Building.

LIVERMORE, CALIFORNIA

MAJOR PROGRAMS NOW UNDER WAY: PLOWSHARE—Industrial and scientific uses of nuclear explosives. WHITNEY—Nuclear weapons for national defense. SHERWOOD—Power production from controlled thermonuclear reactions. PLUTO—Nuclear reactor for propulsion of a ramjet missile. BIOMEDICAL—The effects of radioactivity on man and his environment... far-reaching programs utilizing the skills of virtually every scientific and technical discipline.

EE, ME, CHEM, MATH, and PHYSICS MAJORS, all degree levels: Laboratory staff members will be on campus to interview students in the physical sciences and engineering October 16, 1963. Call your placement office for an appointment. U.S. citizenship required. Equal opportunity employer.

LAWRENCE RADIATION LABORATORY LIVERMORE OPERATED BY THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA BERKELEY & LIVERMORE

T. R. Thomsen, B.S.M.E., University of Nebraska, '58, came to Western Electric for several reasons. Important to him was the fact that our young engineers play vital roles right from the start, working on exciting engineering projects in communications including: electronic switching, thin film circuitry, microwave systems and optical masers. Western Electric's wide variety of challenging assignments appealed to Tom, as did the idea of advanced study through full-time graduate engineering training, numerous management courses and a company-paid Tuition Refund Plan. Tom knows, too, that we'll need thousands of experienced engineers for supervisory positions within the next few years. And he's getting the solid experience necessary to qualify. Right now, Tom is developing new and improved inspection and process control techniques to reduce manufacturing costs of telephone switching equipment. Tom is sure that Western Electric is the right place for him. What about you? If you set the highest standards for yourself, enjoy a challenge, and have the qualifications we're looking for—we want to talk to you! Opportunities for fast-moving careers exist now for electrical, mechanical and industrial engineers, and also for physical science, liberal arts and business majors. For more detailed information, get your copy of the Western Electric Career Opportunities booklet from your Placement Officer. Or write: Western Electric Company, Room 6405, 222 Broadway, New York 38, N. Y. And be sure to arrange for a personal interview when the Bell System recruiting team visits your campus.

Dean's Office Is Now Streamlined

Editor's Note: This is the first of a three-part series on each of the new divisions created by the reorganization of the Dean of Students Office.

By SUE JACOBY
State News Staff Writer

In keeping with Michigan State University's commitment to education of the "total student"—both in and out of the classroom—is the recent reorganization of the Dean of Students office.

Education of the "total student" means that extra-curricular activities are acknowledged as a significant factor in the development of the student.

Louis F. Hekhuis, director of the new Division of Student Activities explains that its basic function is to coordinate the extra-curricular programs on campus as a means of "providing leadership experience and opportunities for each student to develop his individual skills and talents."

The Division of Student Activities is concerned with fraternities, sororities, the All-University Student Government, more than 200 special interest area clubs and all student organizations and special projects. Off-campus housing for both men and women is also administered by the Division.

Before the reorganization of the Dean of Students Office, coordination of extra-curricular activities was handled by staff members of the Men's and Women's Division of Student Affairs. "Coordination under the old system required a tremendous effort," Hekhuis said. "I believe under this new system we can function more effectively and be of greater service to students because staff members are not divided into the men's and women's divisions rather than by function."

The Division of Student Activities will work closely with the Student Organizations Bureau of AUSG in its advisory activities. It will aid advisers to organizations as well as the students themselves.

Personnel from the office will aid clubs with activities and advise them in areas such as financial problems.

Lessons Offered In Bridge Dance

Students interested in bridge and dancing lessons should sign up at the Union Board information desk on the first floor of the Union Building between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. today through Friday.

Albert Drury, assistant research professor, will teach beginning bridge for one hour on Thursday nights beginning Oct. 10. The cost is $3 for six weeks of classes.

Also on Oct. 10 bridge tournament competition will begin in the Union Building at a cost of $1.50 per team.

Dancing instruction will emphasize ballroom and popular styles. Beginning Oct. 8, this course also costs $3 and consists of six lessons.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. 4--Each year the Rochester Transit Corp. auctions off the hundreds of articles passengers leave on its buses. Among the recent items: eyeglasses, a crutch, a plumber's helper (a suction cup on a stick), a football helmet, baby shoes, costume jewelry, marbles, and a race driver's crash helmet.

gained outside the classroom," Hekhuis said. "It is the aim of the Division of Student Activities to aid students in making the most of these opportunities."

The Division of Student Activities is located in the offices of the Old Women's Division on the first floor of the Student Services Building.

JETS To Hold Confab

The Junior Engineering Technical Society (JETS) will hold its annual Leadership Conference in the Engineering Building Saturday.

The JETS organization was started in 1950 by MSU as an experimental project. It has grown into a program devoted to the enriching of science and engineering programs in high schools.

The JETS utilize the assistance and guidance of professional men to provide high school students with opportunities to make practical application of their knowledge through actual engineering and technical projects.

As of June, 1963, 1125 chapters, located in the U.S. and many foreign countries, were affiliated with the national office.

The Leadership Conference is a one-day program designed to familiarize both student and adult with the year's activities and to discuss various questions of common interest.

John D. Ryder, Dean of Engineering, will give the welcoming remarks. Various panel discussions will follow.

Carl I. Mensendick will preside at the JETS luncheon in Kellogg Center. Elmer J. Tangerman, President of the JETS, will be the main speaker.

More panel discussions will follow in the afternoon, concluded with a speech by J. Bruce Martin, from the Proctor and Gamble Co.

The public is cordially invited to attend the conference. Programs may be obtained in Harwood Phend's office, 116 Engineering Building.

Up Military Pay

through our specialist and general excellence pay plans," he added. "Specialist pay is an addition to the regular base salary and is for the technically skilled who have had long term training."

Also additional pay is given to the non-technical personnel for excellence in their work, he said.

"The additional pay program is designed to retain those in the military services who are particularly good in a given vocation," he said. "It has proved its effectiveness in keeping talent in the services."

The specialist & Excellence plan, which also may be increased, was first proposed in 1958. Skells, who worked in the office of the Secretary of Defense at the Pentagon, helped work on the measure.

The basic pay raise which does not include subsistence or quarters allowances, will raise the scale of a second lieutenant from $251 to $300 monthly after two years service.

Captains will receive $520 from the present $415 and majors will get $625 from $520. A private will receive $12 additional per month.

Most of the increases would go to officers and enlisted personnel in the middle pay grades--those at points in their careers at which they face decisions on whether to continue in the military.

House passage by 332-5 vote Tuesday sent the pay raise to President Kennedy.

The President, who urged the legislation, set 8:30 A.M. today for signing the bill. But the pay boost will be retroactive to Tuesday.

AUSG Seeks Committeemen

All University Student Government will hold petitioning today and Thursday for all students interested in committee work. Petitions are available at 336 Student Services.

Jobs are available for Campus Chest, Spartan, Spirit, Public Relations, N.S.A., and Personnel Offices.

Writer Speaks To Managers

Lee H. Witter, director of salaried personnel at Oldsmobile, will speak on "Progress Formula--Factor 3," at the MSU Management Club, 4:30 p.m. today in 33 Union.

Don Smart, Flint senior and president, said that the club offers business students an opportunity to meet business leaders and tour industrial plants.

All students and faculty members are invited to attend the meeting and the informal discussion period. Refreshments will be served.

Fischel To Discuss Viet Nam 'Nhudism'

Wesley Fischel, professor of political science, will discuss the political situation in South Vietnam at the opening meeting of the International Relations Club, Thursday at 7 p.m., in the Union.

In a speech titled "Nhudism: Viet Nam," Fischel will give his views on the controversial government of Pres. Ngo Dinh Diem, and the influences on it by his brother-in-law, Ngo Dinh Nhu.

Fischel has been intimately acquainted with the political situation in South Viet Nam for the past 10 years.

Viet Nam 1956-58. He returned to the Far East in 1959 to study the Vietnamese government's program of land and village development.

Fischel's talk will be followed by a discussion period. A short business meeting of the International Relations Club will be held before the speech.

The meeting is open to the public.
