Revised EDP Wins Praise; More Suggestions Sought

By CHARLES C. WELLS
State News Staff Writer

Passage of the revised Educational Development Program (EDP) brought favorable comment from several University areas Wednesday. The revised version passed the Academic Council Tuesday by a 56 to 1 vote with several members absent.

Simply stated, EDP is an administration and faculty approach to meeting future problems of rising enrollments and limited funds.

The Academic Council approved both the revised EDP report and an economic profile for 1962 to 1973. Both will be submitted to the Board of Trustees, who are scheduled to send it to a Michigan foundation for study and a possible grant.

EDP spells out three areas where the University must meet future problems. These are: increasing effectiveness of the academic program; evaluating the effectiveness of co-curricular activities; and increasing efficiency in non-academic areas.

Commenting on the Council action, Vice President Milton E. Mueider said:

"It was an indispensable and necessary step toward meeting the future. The report represents a tremendous effort to define MSU's problems and opportunities in future years."

President John A. Hannah said that both the Educational Policies Committee and the Academic Council had done very well. He indicated that the two reports will probably be presented to the Board of Trustees at the next meeting, Oct. 25.

"We were pleased with the Academic Council's approval of the proposal," said Duane Gibson, chairman of the Educational Policies Committee.

The committee is a standing board of the Academic Council. Any faculty recommendations must be presented to the committee, which will pass judgment on whether they will be incorporated into the documents.

"We are very willing to accept suggestions from the faculty," Gibson added.

"It should be understood, however, that EDP is an approach to future problems and not a

U.S. To Send 4 Million Tons

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- President Kennedy has given his long-awaited 'yes' to the sale of American wheat to Russia.

Kennedy told a news conference Wednesday that he had approved the sale of four million tons of American wheat to Russia and her East European satellites.

The President said private American grain dealers will sell $250 million of wheat to the Communist nations at prevailing world prices.

According to Kennedy, Russia will pay the sale price with gold or dollars or on what he termed "normal commercial terms."

The Chief Executive assured those who have doubts about such transactions with the Communist bloc that the sales contracts will include a clause restricting the grain to use in Russia or her East European allies. This would bar any transshipment of the grain to Red China or Cuba.

Kennedy said the United States would also stipulate that the wheat shipments must be carried in available American ships supplemented by vessels from other countries.

The President said steps would

Speed Work On Dorms

Construction is progressing rapidly on MSU's two newest dormitories scheduled to open in the fall of 1964, Lyle Thorburn, manager of residence halls, said Wednesday.

East Campus dorms No. 2 and 3 which will cost $6 million each, are now under construction at Shaw Lane and Hagadorn Road. They are the first two buildings of a complex which is scheduled to include two other dormitories by fall, 1965, and a free-standing library.

"Things are going very well on the new dorm," Thorburn said. "The brick work has already been started."

He added that construction work is being concentrated on the east wings and center sections of the new dormitories.

"We hope to have these enclosed by the time severe weather sets in so that inside work can go on all winter."

13 Americans Dead, Missing

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Four U.S. servicemen were found dead Wednesday in a wrecked helicopter, one of two that crashed with 12 Americans aboard while looking for the Texas pilot of a downed Vietnamese Fighter-Bomber.

All three craft went down Tuesday in Communist guerrilla country in the central highlands.

Darkness hid the fate of the other eight helicopter men and the U.S. captain of the fighter-bomber.

The Chief Executive said consummation of the deal will require no special legislation by Congress.

Cuba Visitors To Speak

Two of the 59 students who recently made a controversial trip to Cuba will speak in the Union ballroom at 7:30 p.m., Monday.

The two speakers, sponsored by the Humanist's Society, are Pat Sopiak, a senior majoring in history at the University of Michigan, and Mike Brown, who intends to study at the U-M.

The two were part of a group who visited Cuba in spite of the travel ban imposed by the State Department. The group received repeated warnings from the State Department, who lifted their passports when they returned to the United States.

While in Cuba, the students talked to government leaders, including Fidel Castro who skinned and played ping pong with them. They said that Castro has the wide spread support of his people, and that press reports of disenchantment with the leader are erroneous.

The two students are being brought to MSU because the Humanist's Society doesn't believe that enough first-hand information is coming from Cuba, said Tom Steinfatt, president of the organization.

Impromptu Rally Shakes Campus

An estimated 5,000 students poured across the campus Wednesday night in the season's first impromptu pep rally.

The rally got its start in the McDonald-Shaw-Snyder area. Chanting "State...State...State" it moved over to the Case-Wilson-Wonders complex, where it doubled in size. From there it moved, on the double, to Landon Field where coeds from the eleven women dorms joined the yelling crowd.

At that point some cheerleaders, it couldn't be determined if they were the varsity crew or not, started shouting "Give me an S, etc. . ." The crowd responded until it seemed like the roof on the Union Building was going into orbit.

Campus police reported at 10 p.m. Wednesday that there had been no damage reports.

Campus police cars stayed close to the crowd, but did not interfere with the rally. However, police on Grand River did warn students not to cross the highway.

As the rally left Landon Field, the only answer an inquirer could get as to where they were going was: "Ann Arbor!"

Ike Asks Aid Cut Support

WASHINGTON (AP) -- An appeal by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower for GOP support of a $4-billion foreign aid program failed Wednesday to alter prospects that Republicans will join in efforts to cut it far below that figure.

At Gettysburg, Pa., Eisenhower said that he doesn't believe Republicans should be in the forefront of those seeking to reduce in the Senate a $3.5-billion authorization bill already passed by the House.

He advocated a five-year authorization under which the annual outlay would be around $4 billion. He said with that amount "I believe we could do a job that would be very good for the world and, above all, for ourselves."

Germany Turning To U.S.—Besson

Although France and Germany together could form the basis of a new world power, the German nation will become Anglo-Saxon oriented under Ludwig Erhard, a top-ranking German political advisor and scholar predicted Tuesday.

Waldemar Besson, director of the Institute of Political Science at the University of Erlangen-Nurnberg, and a close associate of Erhard, appeared on campus as the first speaker in the new Lecture-Concert Series season.

"I personally feel that the decision in the new government is already made in the Anglo-Saxon direction," Besson said. "No open announcement has been made, but this is the situation diplomatically."

Indicating that the decision between France or the United States involves numerous advantages and disadvantages in either direction, Besson said an American-German alliance would necessitate new concepts of working together.

Mantovani Concert

Orchestra On L-C

Mantovani, who has captured the musical hearts of enthusiasts the world over, will appear in the Auditorium Monday and Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. as part of the Lecture-Concert Series.

With his 45-piece orchestra, including 32 strings, Mantovani will present his unique arrangements of music. Interspersed with such standard favorites as "Greensleeves," "Wyoming," "Moulin Rouge," "Always," and "Ave Maria," will be tunes from such recent Broadway hits as "Camelot" and "Carnival."

Mantovani's emphasis on the violin contingent of the orchestra results in arrangements very near the symphonic in scope. Yet the popular songs included in his repertoire usually appeal even to those who do not like symphony concerts.

In 1951 Mantovani became known here for a series of waltzes recorded for London Records for release in this country.

Since that time, Mantovani has not only made more recordings than practically any living artist, but has also branched into television and films, and has played command performances before the Queen of England.

When MSU audiences hear Mantovani in concert next week, they will see a sophisticated, Italian by birth, but when they hear him speak, a decidedly British accent will strike their ears.

Throughout his musical career, Mantovani has remained in England, making tours of the United States frequently.

Tickets for both performances have been sold out.

Algerian Rebels Hole Up In Mountains

ALGIERS (AP)—Mutinuous Berber troops received orders Wednesday to defend the Kabylie Mountains against a possible attack by government forces.

Dissident Col. Mohand Ou El Hadj ordered his men to stand fast in the mountain passes at the entrance to the natural fortress east of the Algerian capital.

MIAMI (UPI)—Reports from Cuba and Haiti indicate the death toll from Hurricane Flora may go as high as 9,000 and the property damage as high as $500 million. The storm has now headed into the open Atlantic.

Police Tear Gas Negro Church

PLAQUEMINE, Louisiana (UPI)—Police here routed some 75 Negro students with tear gas bombs as they met in a Baptist church to plan an anti-segregation demonstration. The students have boycotted their high school four days to protest segregation.

The tear gas bombs sent the teen-agers scrambling from the church through doors and windows, but it is not immediately known if there were any injuries. Police Chief Dennis Sony warned, "If that group goes back into the church, I'm going to take it over."

Huge Activities Carnival To Fill Stadium Tonight

Spartan Stadium will take on an aura of festivity tonight when a campus-size "State Fair" moves into the concourse.

Nearly 50 university organizations will be represented at the 15th annual Activities Carnival from 7 to 10 p.m. Booths and concession stands are now being set up in the stadium concourse.

No admission fee is charged for the Carny, which is open to all students. Alyce Beckmeyer, Sheridan junior, general chairman, said that "State Fair" is presented particularly for freshmen and transfer students to acquaint them with university life.

While students are touring the fair, the Jazz Society of West Circle Drive will provide continuous entertainment. Brody Radio will broadcast the Carny to Brody dormitories from its booth. Organizations participating which have planned special entertainment include the Prom-enaders who will dance and ask onlookers to join.

The Packaging Society will laminate Student ID's free of charge during the Carny. Miss Beckmeyer said that some of the campus clubs are using animals and automobiles to make up their displays.

Participants have been categorized to include general, social and service clubs, honoraries, governing bodies and religious fellowships. Representatives will be on hand to inform students what their respective clubs offer and answer questions concerning eligibility requirements.

"No matter where your interests lie," Miss Beckmeyer said, "we have an organization designed for you—political, religious or social groups; publications, sports music, drama, science and others."

She indicated that this year's Activities Carnival will be "better than any of the others." The steering committee has worked closely with both chairmen to coordinate displays with a "State Fair" theme.

Assisting Miss Beckmeyer in planning the event were: co-chairman Marianna Manica, Detroit junior, secretary Karen Gilliland Burton, Ohio, sophomore; treasurer Sue Lacey, Holland junior; program chairman Marlene Merz, East Lansing senior; publicity chairman, Kaye Camburn, Saline junior; and Sally Lanthorn, Grand Rapids; and organization chairman Sally Smith, Milan senior.

20 Cadets Receive DMS Awards

Twenty MSU Army Cadets will receive the Distinguished Military Student designation during an award ceremony in the ballroom of Demonstration Hall Wednesday. The awards will be presented by Colonel Adam Buykowski, Corps Commander from Sixth Army Corps at Battle Creek.

To receive this award a senior cadet must possess qualities of leadership and high moral character, have a recognized aptitude for the armed service, be in the upper half of his university class or the upper 10 percent of his ROTC class, and have maintained this record through two years as an advanced course cadet.

Cadets receiving this year's award are: Dennis W. Bennett, East Lansing; Charles E. Day, West Grove, Penn.; James R. Day, Lansing; Martin L. Ehrlich, Springfield, N.Y.; Wayne L. Gates, Davison; Allan Grenadier, Selfridge; Frank E. Hoag,

Bay City; Gerald J. Keir, Snyder, N.Y.; Dennis S. Q. Kim, Honolulu; Dwight W. Logie, Mt. Clemens; Richard V. Lowe, Birmingham; Nels V. Marin, Lansing; Frank McCanham, Peck; William L. McInnis, Niles; James R. Moore, Freeland; William N. Sinclair, Flint; Darrell R. Tennis, Charlotte; Robert A. Thompson, East Lansing; David T. Twining, Glen Arm; and Larry Vansteenhout, Unionville.

There's Hope On Bogue

Hopes for alleviating the traffic congestion at the Haslett entrance and on Farm Lane brightened Monday as the East Lansing City Council approved the purchase of the right-of-way for the Bogue Street bridge.

The bridge has been in the planning stage for many years by the University and last year East Lansing agreed to split the cost 50-50 with the University.

Construction of the bridge will provide the University with a second major north-south route on the east end of campus. This route should take some of the burden off the Farm Lane bridge, the only other bridge across the Red Cedar on the east side of campus.

It should also reduce the amount of traffic that uses the Haslett entrance, which is the main feeder into Farm Lane.

One of the major hold-ups to the proposed bridge was convincing East Lansing that the campus traffic problem was also their problem. The one dissenting vote was backed by this issue.

Kenneth B. Dillinger, who cast the dissenting vote, said that other city needs were more urgent than alleviating the campus traffic problem.

The traffic problem, however, is a problem of both the city and the University. It is caused by faculty members and students, many of whom, live in East Lansing.

Many of these are property owners paying taxes to the city while others rent, thus enabling the land owner to pay his city taxes. Still further, the tremendous number of students and faculty members help to support the businesses in East Lansing.

It is only fair that the University asks for some return on the money that is poured into East Lansing because of the University.

Dillinger, also stated that the project should be held up for further study into an east-west street opening onto Bogue street.

Granted the east-west street would help to alleviate the traffic problem even further, but it does nothing to relieve the immediate problem.

War And Pizza

By Jim Yost

Not so long ago, a staunch voice of American Liberty was heard to ring in the hallowed halls of the United States Senate condemning the sale to the USSR, by Canada, of an ostensibly "vital war commodity."

Later it was debated in the Foreign Affairs and Agriculture committees of the House whether or not the US should engage in the sale of said goods to the above mentioned consumer.

The product? Was it so terrible a weapon of warfare as a few gross of old Bufferin commercials; the original lyrics and music to "Davy Crockett;" or Strom Thurmond? Nope. This terrifying, revolting, warmongering weapon was wheat; just plain old grainish amber waves.

I suppose that our public servants on capitol hill are doing their best to prevent such blundering that saw Japanese bombs fall on Pearl Harbor with "PARD" still neatly lettered on the tin cans that went into their construction, but it is hard to believe that wheat could be made into anything more potent than pizza.

One might say that an army travels on its stomach, therefore concluding that a hungry army is a bunch of lousy fighters. All I can say about traveling on your stomach is that you make less of a target that way.

The barbarians that had such a blast breaking up the fat cats of Rome were not overly well fed, and the German depression produced the incentive needed for war when Adolf the paper-hanger made promises of food. Hunger, in fact, is one of the major causes of war, revolution and sit-ins.

The Russian people, not their leaders, are hungry--whether or not its basic cause was a failure in their system is irrelevant. The fact remains that this would be a good way for the US to cut down its enormous wheat supply and at the same time turn a profit. Not only would it be smart economically, but it would at least be a token act of good will in behalf of the American people. Our cold war should not extend to hungry people who really couldn't care less about international political lint-picking.

But then, our able representatives cannot be too careful. At this moment, on some Russian launching pad, there may be poised a gigantic ball of dough, made from Canadian wheat and filled with antipasto and pizza cheese, ready to wipe out downtown Phoenix, Arizona with one very foul blow.

Viet Nam Report Disappointing

President Kennedy has received the first report on South Viet Nam from Defense Secretary Robert McNamara and Gen. Maxwell Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

It is a disappointing document characterized by ambiguities, vague conclusions and carefully hedged language.

The President's personal emissaries found that the war in South Viet Nam might be won by the end of 1965 if the political crisis there did not "significantly affect" the military effort.

They reemphasized that "major United States assistance" was needed only until the Communist insurgency had been suppressed, or until Vietnameese forces "are capable of suppressing it."

To all of this was added the appealing thought that American forces could be withdrawn in another two years, provided President Diem begins fighting the enemy instead of the Buddhists.

Wisconsin Class Officers Fail

A recent and significant proposal brought before the student senate of Wisconsin State College was for the organization of class government. This proposal would abolish the class offices which have no real purpose or responsibility. The offices are class president, class treasurer and class secretary.

In place of these officers the senate would appoint chairmen to coordinate various activities, such as homecoming celebration, graduation and the spring prom.

A junior class officer had trouble remembering the name of the junior class president when asked about the activities of its executive group. This situation is not singular; the present senior class has not had a class meeting the past scholastic year. This inactivity of the class officers is not a new problem, but one that has existed for a long time. The results of the elections last spring shows the lack of interest the student body has in them.

Probably the main reason for this lack of interest in class elections is that the posts being filled have little meaning. It does not really matter who gets the office.

The spectator feels that the idea of having chairmen as coordinators of frosh and senior activities would be a suitable replacement of the class offices to be abolished. The position which would merely add to the office holder's record but would be filled by a competent leader and planner.

Letters To The Editor

March For Dignity...

To the Editor:

My compliments to Miss Linda Miller for her challenging article on the race problem which confronts us today. If I may quote a few lines from her column in Friday's paper: "To so many of us on campus, the crisis is unreal. We sit back and say, 'It's too bad, but what can I do?' It is time we got up and did something." It most certainly is time we "did something" concerning a problem which is a pressing problem for every American.

The fact that we live in the North or are students pursuing our various curricula makes us in no way any less responsible for the scandalous discrimination which contradicts our nation's values and laws. We should not be frightened of "left" activity in this Negro Revolution, especially when it is the only way equality can be attained. We cannot simply sit in our pews on Sunday and pray to an Almighty God and hope that, somehow, the situation will work out or resolve itself.

As students we must accept and prepare for a more militant and vigorous campaign. The United States was not born nor maintained by apathetic people who said, "What can I do?" but by individuals who took it upon themselves to make a concerted effort to establish our nation as the best on this earth. Now that we are faced with a tremendous internal hypocrisy, each of us should be motivated to educate ourselves about "our" problem and to offer, and take part in, expedient solutions. This crisis is not unreal; the more we expose ourselves to it the sooner we will understand what to do. To march for human dignity is beneath the dignity of no one.

Point Of View

The Acid Test

By Dick Wolfe

Every infringement of our basic civil liberties by the government is a just cause for concern. As members of an academic community we are particularly concerned when the rights threatened are those of speech and travel.

Travel as a means of gaining knowledge is a basic part of academic freedom, and its restriction reduces our freedom to know. With these questions in mind, a group of 59 American students visited Cuba this summer as guests of the Cuban government. By so doing, the students tested the right of the U.S. State Department to restrict travel to Cuba. (The ban has been in effect since 1961 and was imposed under authority of the immigration laws.)

While some of the students took the trip for solely informational purposes, others obviously wanted to further test the legality of the ban. Presumably it is these students that have been the main subject of the hearings held by House Un-American Activities Committee and the investigations of a Federal Grand Jury. The hearings were well publicized, and the nation was told by a paternalistic and reactionary press that the beatniks and Communists were just trying to annoy the good honest men of the committee.

The hearings were highly successful to the extent that they discredited the students and completely obscured the objectives and values of the trip. But this sort of trial by congressional committee is too common to receive special attention here.

The less publicized grand jury investigation is of greater concern to us. Indictments have been handed down charging four students with criminal conspiracy to promote the trip. Since three of the four also made the trip they were indicted for going to and returning from Cuba without valid passports. These three have been indicted on a total of 31 counts and face possible prison terms of 15 years.

The government seems vindictively determined to punish these students for their errant behavior. While convictions are almost certain the decision on an appeal isn't nearly so certain.

What is certain is that the legal costs will be high, and the long term social and economic costs to the students even higher. Nothing can be proved by sending the four students to jail and we cannot afford to have our international reputation further damaged.

This is a flagrant violation of the right of free men to travel at will.

International observers are wondering these days whether Red China is making some attempt to change her image as the great advocate of war.

This speculation arises from a statement by Liu Shao-Chi, president of Communist China and Mao Tse-Tung's chosen successor. On September 18th, during a visit to North Korea, he said:

"It is impermissible for any socialist country to be the first to use nuclear weapons under any circumstances."

Further impetus came from a speech delivered in Peking by Mayor Peng Chen marking the 14th anniversary of the founding of the Chinese Communist Republic.

He said world war could be prevented through united effort and "concerted struggle" by the peoples of the world, including those of the United States.

Both statements seemed designed to cast a different light on Chinese foreign policy which has held that force is the only means of settling differences with the western world. The Red Chinese believe that in the event of nuclear war it would be the Communists who would inherit the earth.

Previous attempts over the last 20 years to forecast day-to-day turns of Communist policy have been markedly unsuccessful. So it would be a mistake now to take statements by even two such high officials to mean that Red China is changing its coat.

But as items of temporary expediency they may have some meaning.

This stems from what is known of Red China's own internal situation.

Red China's "great leap forward" in 1958, with its emphasis on heavy industry is a known failure.

Official statements, reported in Chinese newspapers and the accounts of travelers coming out

China's Spots Changing?

None of this should be taken to mean that the Red Chinese are turning swords into plowshares.

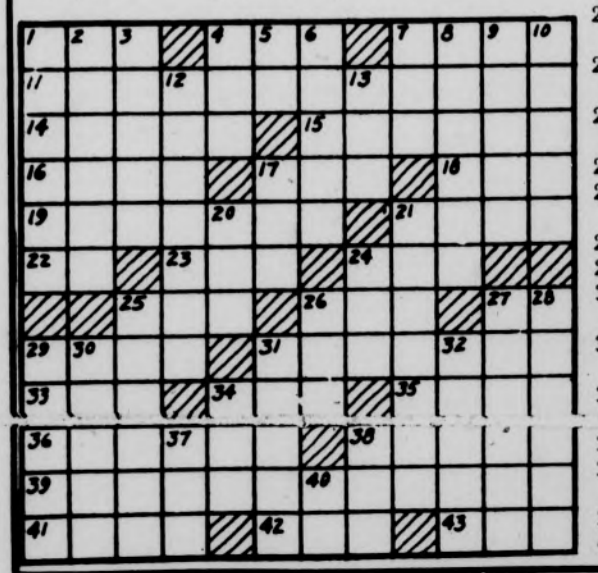

Nor does it minimize the Red Chinese capacity for creating difficulties in such areas as Korea, South Viet Nam and Laos. And certainly it does not mark a change in Chinese long-range ambitions.

Since heavy industry is recognized as the key to any nation's ability to wage all-out war, this would mean that Red China is moving away from the possibility of any immediate threat to world peace.

None of this should be taken to mean that the Red Chinese are turning swords into plowshares. Nor does it minimize the Red Chinese capacity for creating difficulties in such areas as Korea, South Viet Nam and Laos. And certainly it does not mark a change in Chinese long-range ambitions.

Constant Gunfire Routine For Yanks In Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The number of U.S. military men in Viet Nam is being talked about a lot. There are about 15,000 of them advising and supporting the Vietnamese in the war against the Communist Viet Cong.

What is the GI here like? Maybe Ira H. Belford is typical: He is a 24-year-old U.S. Army Specialist fourth class from Texas. He has been in the army over five years. He came to Viet Nam in June with a Military Police unit.

Last month Belford volunteered to serve as a gunner with an army helicopter unit stationed near Vinh Long.

"I thought the work would be more interesting, which it has proved to be," Belford said. "Anyway, I've been able to see a lot of Viet Nam."

Belford has done a lot of his seeing straight down from 2,000 or 3,000 feet, flying combat support missions over the Mekong delta area. Some missions were "more interesting" than others—those with contact with the Viet Cong.

Maybe Maj. Edwin S. McClure, commanding the 114th, could be called a typical officer in Viet Nam.

He is 39 years old and was an Air Force fighter pilot in World War II. He later switched to army aviation.

As commanding officer, McClure activated this air mobile outfit on Jan. 16, 1963, at Ft. Knox, Ky. The company came overseas as a unit, moving directly into the Vinh Long area 60 miles southeast of Saigon.

The 335 officers and men in the company live in a tent city. Permanent-type quarters are under construction.

Sandy-haired McClure, originally from Alabama, now lives in Oklahoma.

"These are soldiers living like soldiers in the field," he said. "Their morale has been high and continues to be high."

"They've got a 'can do' attitude. If somebody wants it done, we can do it."

Sitting in his tent headquarters at a desk, McClure pointed to the record of his company in this Viet Cong-infested region.

"For the past four months," he said, "we have averaged 1,500 hours flying time a month. Most of that has been tactical flying—the lifting of combat troops and supplies, combat medical evacuations and resupply missions."

The 114th has taken uncounted rounds of Viet Cong gunfire. Aircraft have been shot down and men have been wounded. None have been killed.

Sandbag bunkers have been built at strategic points around the 114th's tent city as protection against possible mortar fire.

The heavy thump of artillery can be heard at night while movies are being shown.

"It's part of the routine and no one pays much attention," McClure observed.

Michigan Farmers Urge Sale

The president of Michigan Farmers Union has sent President Kennedy a telegram Wednesday urging the Chief Executive to approve U.S. wheat sales to Russia.

The telegram sent by Ernie Sawyer of Homer said: "Dear Mr. President: 'We sincerely urge you to use your prerogative and sell our surplus wheat to Russia.'

"After signing the test ban treaty for which the Farmers Union lauds you, it would seem to be the height of absurdity to reject their offer to purchase our wheat which we have in abundance and of which they are in desperate need."

Meanwhile, Congressman Gerald Ford of Grand Rapids says he will oppose any Presidential move to sell wheat to Russia.

He said if the deal was made, Russians could make bread cheaper than what it cost to make bread in the United States.

Ford said he would support the proposal only if there was accompanying legislation to change present price-support programs which he says create the subsidy problem for farmers.

must be more effective than previously." In the past the United States was primarily interested in the Soviet Union because of the atomic equality of the two nations, Besson said.

Therefore, with the Cuban crisis and Khrushchev's drawing out of that country, the United States took the attitude that "what is good for Americans in Cuba is good for the Russians in Berlin," Besson said.

"With this idea, the United States gave political recognition of the status quo in Germany, even though this recognition is not technically a legal one." Never has a status quo remained as such in history, Besson said. There cannot be a final word because the situation is changing all the time.

Stressing the need for a more equal basis for partnership with the United States, Besson indicated that such an alliance would be more stable for Germany than would a turn towards Charles de Gaulle and France.

"We have no idea what France really wants. The French nation is now manipulated by only one will—that of de Gaulle. There still remains the question of what happens to the continent when there is no de Gaulle."

In contrast, Besson said that the foreign policy of the United States is based on rational thinking, with established ideas.

Connected to the problem of decision between the United States and France is the question of German reunification.

"A united Germany will have to wait until a new government has been established and is running smoothly," Besson said. German reunification may be the final end but it is first necessary to change the regime to one tolerated by its own people."

Wheat Sale

offset some Congressional criticism to both houses of Congress today.

The Presidential announcement followed a White House conference with Congressional leaders from both sides of the aisle.

This would take nearly 200 million bushels out of American storage bins and cut the surplus supply by more than one fifth. The surplus now is about 900 million bushels.

Kennedy said the sales would give "no subsidy to the foreign purchaser." But the wheat would come out of surplus stocks on which the government has paid a subsidy to American farmers of about 60 cents a bushel—a total of more than $115 million on a $250 million deal.

Russia reportedly has been making feelers for purchasing $250 million of American wheat. Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Bulgaria are understood to want another $60 million worth. Kennedy ruled out sales to Cuba or Red China.

prescription for specific problems." The committee head said that recommendations probably would not change the nature of EDP or the economic profile.

"Any great change on our part would be an injustice to the Academic Council, which has already passed them."

Four proposals for incorporation into EDP came out of the Academic Council meeting Tuesday. They are:

1. Graduate programs should receive more stress. Improvement plans for the graduate program should be spelled out.

2. There are certain advantages to being large. Size provides more funds for research facilities and makes for a greater variety in the kinds of foreign students.

3. The improvement of academic standards should be emphasized more strongly.

4. The future will also bring a greater expansion of knowledge for the faculty to learn and to teach. This is especially true in the physical and social sciences.

The four proposals needed to be emphasized more strongly, faculty members thought.

International Club Applications Open

The largest International Club to date will hold its election of officers Oct. 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the Union Ballroom.

The deadline for candidate applications is Monday.

Positions to be filled are president, vice president, corresponding secretary, recording secretary and treasurer.

Dodge Receives GOP County Post

Robert Dodge, a 1948 MSU graduate, was appointed Director of Public Relations for the Oakland County Republican Party this week.

He will work with Republican groups and candidates to strengthen the overall effort for 1964, as well as the Oakland County party.

He has assisted with the broadcasting of MSU football games for ten years and is vice-president of the Michigan State Alumni Chapter of Sigma Chi.

Radio, TV Must Work With FCC

Today's broadcasters must have a sense of self-discipline if they are able to work successfully with the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) in serving an informed American audience, Tuesday's meeting of the MSU Men's Club was told.

Walter Emery, professor of radio and television, said the responsibility of the broadcaster toward the listener must come from within.

Emery said that the FCC has had difficulty regulating communications because of its many duties and its limited personnel.

While most of the FCC commissioners have been able men, there have been a few appointed politically without the necessary background to serve such an over-worked agency, he said.

Emery added that the FCC is often criticized by many people who simply are not familiar with its jurisdictional powers. Such people, he said, should become acquainted with the Communications Act of 1934 and understand that the FCC also has certain limitations.

The FCC's burden could be eased if the broadcasters would provide America with responsible communications, he said.

"We have to have a federal agency to regulate radio and T.V., but we also must have enlightened people," he said.

'CCC Camps Would Stop Dropouts'

Resumption of Civilian Conservation Corps type camps to combat school dropouts has been proposed by a Lansing man who seeks support from MSU students and faculty members.

Clarence Case, who said he has long been active in politics and government and is now employed by the Lansing Elks Home, calls for a return of the educational philosophy of the CCC.

"The CCC served three objectives: it conserved human resources, it conserved natural resources, and it helped to beautify communities," he said.

Case said school systems of today fail to instill a sense of purpose in students.

"Kids who drop out see no purpose in education. 'Young people of today have everything they need to help themselves except the will. I seek to help create the will.'"

Case, himself an alumnus of CCC camps in Virginia, said that his proposed camps would not be government controlled. Money would be raised from tax funds and private contributions.

Another group he seeks to start in the Lansing area is one tentatively called The Blue Ridge and The Blue Water.

Flu Shots Available

All is not lost if you were not one of the 10,534 University students who got flu shots during registration. Free shots are still available at Olin Health Center.

Shots given this year contain vaccines from all isolated strains of flu, including Asian flu and its mutation, said Dr. James S. Feurig, director of the health center.

He said MSU has given flu shots as a preventive measure since the end of World War II. The University uses a one shot-technique rather than a three-shot series.

However, the vaccine does have some faults, he said. It cannot be given to persons with bad colds or those with allergies to eggs.

The vaccine is generally effective for 12 months.

First Concert Oct. 19

'Singing Statesmen' Busy Group

Amidst rolling green lawns and the beautiful Kellogg mansions, 52 Singing Statesmen prepared for this year's Glee Club performances.

Oct. 19 is the date for their first "live" performance on campus this term. A joint concert with the Indiana University Hoosiers will be presented in the Kellogg Center Auditorium. Tickets for the two performances that night will be sold by Statesmen members and also at the Union ticket office.

The men, all members of the MSU Men's Glee Club, spent three days in September at the Gull Lake Biological Station rehearsing and preparing a television show.

The annual workshop is just part of the busy routine of the Glee Club. Now that classes have resumed, a less scenic yet no less diligent rehearsal schedule has begun. The men meet three times weekly to practice under the direction of Loren Jones. They present nearly 40 concerts or assemblies each year.

It isn't all work and no play, though, for under the coordinating policies of the Cap and Gown Series, the Statesmen also go on an annual tour and give concerts and assembly programs, as well as enjoy the workshop weekend.

Romney Cites Mrs. FDR, Poets

LANSING--The late Eleanor Roosevelt and living Michigan poets will be honored under proclamations issued by Governor George Romney.

Romney has proclaimed the period beginning Friday through Nov. 7 as "Eleanor Roosevelt Memorial Month." Mrs. Roosevelt, described as "The First Lady of the World," died Nov. 7, 1962.

In another proclamation Romney cited the period of Oct. 12 to the 19 as Poetry Week as a salute to Michigan's native poets.

This year tentative plans include an 11 day tour of the New York area during spring vacation.

Special acts are organized as part of the concert, with individual talents featured. This year the Burgundy Trio and a dance act are on the concert agenda.

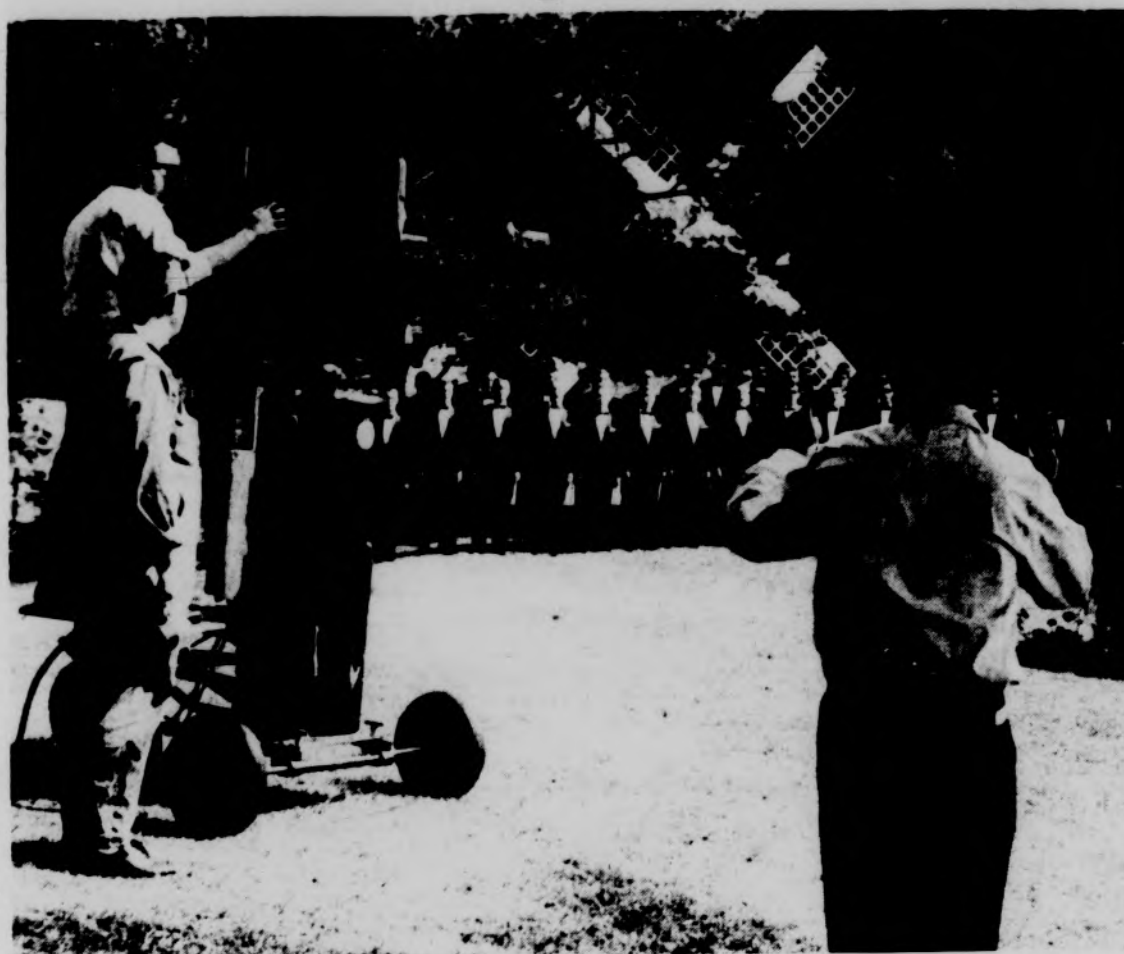

The club is a self-supporting organization. Any concert money earned goes for their olive-drab blazers and social activities. They are governed by an elected cabinet, and most of the group policies are controlled by the students.

Dr. George Steinmetz, assistant professor, has been with the Glee Club for 19 years, and is the only member not a student. Although their extra-curricular interests may lie with music, most of the members are not music majors. Almost every University college is represented.

The unique "Cap and Gown Series" of MSU, takes cultural and educational groups from the campus into the communities, organizes the off-campus tours of the "Singing Statesmen," with Gordon Coats as the co-ordinator.

Taped as part of the "Cap and Gown Series" the Gull Lake televised program will be aired in February, 1964. The singers are also working on other radio and television presentations.

Their records, the latest being "Singing Statesmen 1963," are on sale in the Union Bookstore.

Music Fraternity Holds Talks Here

A state-wide convention of Phi Mu Alpha fraternity was held Tuesday at the house of the Michigan State University chapter.

The Gamma Epsilon chapter of the professional music fraternity was host for the day to officers from the chapters of Central Michigan University, Eastern Michigan University, Algon College, University of Michigan, and Wayne State University.

Called a Province Workshop, the emphasis was on problems of leadership, said Terry Odelli, local chapter president. Groups met through the day to discuss issues of leadership, organization, and chapter relations, he said.

The largest national fraternity, Phi Mu Alpha is divided into provinces with 211 chapters, cover the United States.

Presiding over the workshop was Elwyn Carter, head of music at Western Michigan University and governor of Province Two, which includes all the chapters in Michigan.

Odelli said the program of conventions was set up three years ago and includes a national convention every three years, with workshops each year between.

The local chapter was founded in November, 1938, and is in its twenty-fifth year of action. It now has 29 members, all actively interested in and planning a career in music, said Odelli.

The Gamma Epsilon chapter of Michigan State sponsors an annual American composers' concert, an annual jazz concert, and has its own wind ensemble and chorus.

It is unique in being one of ten chapters in the nation which have their own houses, and is the only one in Michigan to own a house.

Robert Unkefer, head of the music therapy department here, is the chapter advisor.

Men Of Brass Travel To U-M

Michigan State University's 165 man marching band will make its first out-of-town appearance Saturday at the M.S.U. - University of Michigan football game in Ann Arbor.

The band will board buses in East Lansing Saturday morning and arrive in Ann Arbor in time to put on a pre-game precision marching demonstration.

At half time Director Leonard Falcone's unit will use its famous "patterns in motion" formations to present "Old Man River" and "Mountain Greenery."

The highlight of the show will be the performance of "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue," a special arrangement by William C. Moffit, assistant M.S.U. band director.

Gargoyle Sales Top 3,000 Here

Gargoyle, the MSU-U of M humor magazine, sold 7,500 copies Wednesday, 3,000 of them on the MSU campus.

"We thought circulating the Gargoyle would cut down on paint-smearing episodes and create better relations between the two campuses," said Gargoyle Editor John Dobbertin, a U of M student.

Wednesday was the magazine's first day of publication this year. "Three years ago I wouldn't have tried to circulate a U of M humor magazine on the MSU campus, but relations between the two campuses have improved tremendously the last few years," Dobbertin said.

The two-campus humor magazine is produced under the auspices of the University of Michigan Board in Control of Student Publications, he said. It is sponsored on the MSU campus by Campus Chest.

Ends Dorm Integration

Indiana University has adopted a policy which prohibits students from listing racial or religious preferences on residence hall assignment cards in an effort to spur integration on the Bloomington campus.

Students will now be permitted to choose roommates by name only.

MSU residence hall assignment cards ask no specific questions concerning a student's racial or religious preference. A space is provided for the student to list traits he considers desirable or undesirable in a roommate.

Lyle Thorburn, manager of residence halls, said it is highly unlikely that the housing office could fulfill particular requests of students concerning racial or religious preferences even if they list them.

"The fact is that we simply have no way of knowing what race our new students are. There is no place on any MSU application form where a student is required to list his race.

"Students of the same race or of different races are living together purely by chance unless a student specifically names a person he wants for a roommate. The housing office also has no way of knowing a student's religion, Thorburn, added.

Radiation A Problem In Mars-Bound Trips

Space scientists and engineers say they may be able to land a man on Mars by 1975, but it will more likely be 10 years later. "There exist numerous technical problems to be solved and techniques related to vehicle protection against radiation and impingement of micrometeorites," said Amrital M. Dhanak, professor of mechanical engineering and engineering research. Dhanak pointed out that "solar sailing" is also plausible and effective. This system utilizes the "wind" or pressure emitted from the sun in the form of light in much the same way a sailboat does.

The government's Apollo project to land men on the moon by 1970 will take most of our available space exploration resources in the next few years, H.H. Koelle of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said.

Manned interplanetary scouting flights without landing are possible with current chemical propulsion systems and would supply valuable information, Koelle said.

Dhanak said the fly-by of Mars is more likely than landing since it doesn't involve the problems of unknown atmospheric conditions and extreme temperatures.

Drury On Bridge

This column is written for the benefit of a friend of mine who insists that you have to have high cards in order to be able to score at bridge.

Before reading any further, look at the hands and try to decide whether, if you had a choice, you'd rather hold the East or South hands.

East-West vulnerable.
East has 20 points in high cards and 23 with distribution, including a six-card club suit. An opening bid of two clubs is in order with this holding.

South is much poorer in high cards with only 10 honor points, but he has seven likely winners with hearts for trumps.

The bidding:
E S W N
2 C 2 H 3 C 3 H
5 C 5 H P P
Double P P P

Opening lead: J of Clubs.
South's overall with two hearts was entirely in order. West has six points, including four cards in partner's suit, opposite an opening two bid, so a raise to three clubs is reasonable. North now figures his hand should produce three tricks, knowing that partner would not overcall with less than six trumps at the two level, so his call of three hearts is reasonable. (He didn't make the mistake of bidding spades, knowing that if his partner wanted to know about spades, he wouldn't have bid hearts, he would merely have doubled the original 2 club bid).

East has all the information he needs to bid five clubs, as it is apparent no slam is possible with everybody bidding.

Because it is doubtful the five club bid can be set, and because his side is not vulnerable, South now bids five hearts. East doubles for penalties.

The jack of clubs was opened. Now, before going further, stop and take stock of your assets and the information gained from the bidding. The first play is often the critical play of the hand.

Note that if you ruff the first club played, you will eventually lose two diamond tricks and the ace of hearts. But if you discard a diamond loser on the first trick, the second diamond loser can be discarded on the now established king of clubs. Thus the only losers would be the ace of hearts and the first club trick.

Notice that a small diamond as the opening lead would have set the contract. The same result would have occurred with a heart lead and a switch to the king of diamonds.

Five clubs could have been made, as the only losers would have been the king of clubs and the ace of diamonds. Three spades could have been discarded on the long diamond suit.

Third Triumph For Soccermen Cheerleading Requirements Rough; More Than 100 Try Each Spring

By RICHARD SCHWARTZ
State News Sports Writer

GRAND RAPIDS--George James kicked two goals to lead the MSU soccer team to a 4-0 victory over Calvin College in Grand Rapids Wednesday night.

The win was the third of the season for the Spartans and their second shut-out in five days. From start to finish State held the upper hand.

"Considering that they were packing the goals with six or seven defenses, I think we played a beautiful game," booster coach Gene Kenney said.

With 90 seconds gone in the first quarter, Bill Schwarz took a 30-yard pass from James and kicked the ball into the cage for the first score.

In the second quarter James scored with a corner kick from Carl Thiele.

Fed by Payton Fuller, James dribbled around Calvin defenses and kicked the ball in for his second score.

The final score came at 13:30 of the last quarter. Larry Christoff took a pass from Turgud Euston and scored with a seven-yard kick.

State's booters beat Wheaton College 6-0 Saturday. Their next opponent will be Purdue at 1:30 p.m. Saturday on the field south of Spartan Stadium.

Pauline Hess is the coach of one of the toughest sports at M.S.U. She is the director of the cheerleaders.

Cheerleading is a year round sport, unlike the other activities at State. The cheerleaders work during football and basket season. A six week tryout period in the spring takes up the rest of the year.

Cheerleading takes a great deal of training and practice. There are at least six hours of practice a week, not counting games or pep rallies. Cheerleaders must have enough rest to keep looking good and feeling good. "The girls all have an extensive background in cheerleading. The boys do not have such a background, since few high schools in the midwest have men cheerleading groups. If a boy is an outgoing dynamic type, he could be a great cheerleader. He has to be capable of looking good and performing well to achieve success. Creativity is another important aspect for both sexes," she added.

MICHIGAN STATE cheerleaders for 1963 are Nancy LaLonde, Jane Patris, Judy Erkman, Eddie Stone, Carol Gothelf and Peg Sweetland, and Nelson Mead, Jim Ehle, Bob Harris, Gary Hotchkin, Denny Dobbstein and John Darling.

A prerequisite for the girls is to know how to do cartwheels and splits.

The captain of the cheerleaders, Jim Ehle, is chosen by a vote of the cheerleaders. The cheerleaders also elect the manager and a secretary.

The cheerleaders do a lot of work in instructions for clinics and camps. They also help out when schools in the Lansing area need their services in giving instructions to youngsters interested in cheerleading.

Jim Brown NFL Leader

National Football League individual statistics remain about the same this week.

Outstanding is Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns who boosted his rushing yardage to 664, leads the league in scoring with 42 points and maintained a brilliant average of eight and one-half yards per carry.

Y.A. Tittle of the New York Giants is tops in passing, Bobby Joe Conrad of the St. Louis Cardinals is the best pass receiver, and Clendon Thomas of Pittsburgh leads in interceptions.

In punting, Yale Lary of Detroit took over the number one spot from Bobby Joe Green of the Chicago Bears. His average is 49.4 yards for 19 punts compared to Green's 47.7.

The cheerleading corps includes: Captain Jim Ehle, Bob Harris, Gary Hotchkin, John Darling, Nelson Mead and Dennis Dobbstein. The girls include: Judy Erkman, Peggy Sweetland, Eddie Stone, Nancy LaLonde, Jane Patris and Carol Gothelf. The manager is Dave Dobbins.

Tryouts are held in the spring. Any where from 80 to 100 girls and from 15-20 men tryout for the squad. To try out, a candidate must be a 3rd term freshmen and carry a 2.0 honor point average.

The boys must know the cheers, chants, stunts and pyramid and minitramp work. The girls have to know the pom-pom routine, as well as the items listed for the boys, except for the minitramp.

Wisconsin X-Country Title Contender

Michigan State's cross country crew will face Wisconsin's unbeaten Badgers Saturday, in a meet that will match two of the Big Ten's chief title threats. The dual meet will be held at Madison, Wis.

Both the Badgers and State, long-time powers in collegiate cross country circles, are sporting title aspirations again this season.

Last year Wisconsin tagged State's harriers with a 21-34 dual meet defeat, taking four of the top five positions. The Spartans, however, got revenge a month later when they took the Big Ten championship meet, with the Badgers finishing a not-too-distant third.

The Badgers lost two key members from last year's squad, but are expected to field another strong team this season. They showed good overall strength last week in a 24-31 victory over Minnesota. Paul Manley, who won the Minnesota meet in 20:41, and Ken Hendrix are expected to provide the 1-2 punch for the Badgers.

The Spartans will be trying to put the skids to a two-year win streak that Wisconsin holds over them in dual competition.

Hockey

There will be a varsity hockey meeting at 7 p.m. in 209, Jenison Fieldhouse. Anyone interested in managing the hockey team should also report at this time.

For the second evening in a row some teams came up with outstanding offensive power in their quarterbacks. Mike Marshall paced the Red Trojan's attack, as he threw five touchdown passes and ran for the other score in a 42-7 triumph over Bethal Manor. The game between the Duffwacker's and the Raiders turned out to be a two-man showing as Warren Veeter flipped five touchdown passes to Larry Beck in leading the Duffwacker's to a 48-0 win.

Dukes, Odrowski Traded

DETROIT (UPI)--The Detroit Pistons' lanky center, Walter Dukes, has been placed on waivers.

Dukes was the only remaining player on the team who started with the team when the franchise of the club was snatched from Fort Wayne, Indiana, to Detroit.

Dukes, who scaled seven feet, came to the Pistons in a straight player trade with Minneapolis for Larry Faust.

Dukes played his collegiate basketball at Seton Hall. His best season in the National Basketball Association was in 1959-60 when he averaged a little better than 15 points a game and picked up 883 rebounds.

DETROIT (UPI)--Red Wings have traded defenseman Gerry Odrowski to the Boston Bruins for Warren Godfrey, who is also a defenseman.

The trade came less than an hour after the Wings announced that Odrowski and goalie Hank Bassen had been suspended for a failure to report to the Wings' Pittsburgh farm club.

Godfrey is 37 and a veteran of 11 years in the National Hockey League.

Odrowski is 25 and spent three years in the Detroit system.

Sooners Choice

(UPI)--Football oddsmakers see top-ranked Oklahoma as a slight favorite in Saturday's battle against second-ranked Texas at Dallas.

U-M Has Best Pass Mark

Statistics Show Spartans Favorites

Fans who can't wait for Saturday's MSU-Michigan game are eagerly sifting through statistics to try to determine the winner ahead of time.

It's a difficult task since both teams have 1-1 records and compare evenly in most departments. There are, however, two glaring figures which the Wolverines hope will be considerably smaller after Saturday's game.

After two games Michigan has yielded more total yardage and passing yardage than any team in the Big Ten. Wolverine opponents have clipped the Maize and Blue for a 376.5 yard average per game, with 245 yards coming through the air. The statistics tend to give a false impression of the Michigan pass defenders who were up against one of the nation's best quarterbacks, Roger Staubach, when Navy visited Ann Arbor last week.

MSU, on the other hand, has rushed for 227.5 average yards with a total offense average of 325.5 yards per game. This puts the Spartans in second place, behind Wisconsin, for conference leadership in these divisions.

Michigan demonstrated the ability to launch a passing attack of their own last Saturday when Bob Chandler fired two touchdown passes to end John Henderson. Chandler, a third-stringer at the beginning of the season, completed nine out of 10 passes for 138 yards against the Middies and will receive the starting quarterback assignment against MSU.

Largely on the basis on Chandler's performance the Wolverines lead the Big Ten in pass completion with a .708 mark.

The Spartans have the loop's lowest percentage, .297.

Spartan fullback Roger Lopes has carried the ball twice as far as anyone on the Michigan squad, with a total gain of 242 yards in 39 carries, for a 6.2 average.

Michigan's leading ground gainer is halfback Dick Rindfuss who has carried the ball a dozen times for an average of 7.59 yards. Fullback Mel Anthony has assumed bread-and-butter duties for the Maize and Blue and has compiled a 2.36 average in 19 attempts.

Tickets Available

University Ticket Manager Bill Beardsley announced Wednesday afternoon that there still are a limited number of tickets available for Saturday's MSU-University of Michigan game at Ann Arbor. Beardsley said an additional shipment of tickets is expected today and will be put on sale when it arrives. Tickets for the Michigan Stadium game are $5 each. A sell-out crowd of 101,000 is expected.

Bike Thefts Down Since Locking Rule Instituted

An unlocked bicycle is an open invitation to someone to help themselves and ride instead of walk. Last year, one third of the unlicensed bikes stolen from the campus were never recovered, but most of the registered bikes were. Lieutenant Allen Andrews, Department of Public Safety, said. "About $10,500 worth of bicycles were stolen from students last year," Andrews said. "A total of 333 bikes were taken between July 1 and June 30 of last year." In 1961-62, 302 bicycles were stolen. The numbers of stolen bicycles is slowly on the rise. However, due to the increase of bicycles on campus, the rate is actually lower. "Much of the slow growth in bike theft can be accounted for by the fact that more and more students are locking their bikes," Andrews said. "Sometimes we even find the stolen bikes locked in racks." Many of the stolen bicycles end up in Lansing, still others are fished from the Red Cedar River. The police department keeps a "hot sheet" which is distributed to the patrolmen daily. Also, students are hired to canvass the campus, looking for stolen bicycles. "All this wouldn't be necessary if the students would lock their bikes," Andrews said.

Bridge Sale Proposed

The Mackinac Bridge may soon belong to the federal government if two state senators get their wish. Sen. John T. Bowman, D-Macomb, and Sen. Thomas F. Schweigert, R-Petoskey, presented a resolution in a special session of the legislature Monday proposing a committee to study the possibility of a sale. The resolution was reported out of committee and passed Tuesday. According to Bowman, the bridge is an economic detriment to Michigan. He said that the bridge is a part of the federal highway system which connects the upper and lower peninsulas through I-75. "If we had waited," he said, "the federal government would have built the bridge or would have paid at least 90 per cent of its cost. There is no reason why we should be penalized because we took the initiative." If the bridge were to become federal property there would still be a small nominal charge of 25¢ to maintain the bridge, he said. "The federal government participates in the construction of highways on a 90-10 percentage basis, but Michigan still has the responsibility of maintaining her highways," Bowman said. "Therefore, even if the bridge were sold it would still be under the state government."

According to Bowman the present system of tolls is economically unsound. "The present system is creating hardship. The Upper peninsula has been declared an economically depressed area and it is further depressed by the $3.75 toll charged to people who have to cross the bridge to go to work. This amounts to $37.50 a week," Bowman said. "The rates are hard on industry in the UP as well as in the lower peninsula. Every time trucks cross the bridge they have to pay high rates. Therefore there is a tendency to raise the price of the commodity which places those industries in a less competitive position than other industries." He said the Mackinac Bridge has the highest toll in the United States. But it still pays only interest on the principal of the bonds issued when it was built. Since nothing has yet been paid on the principal it follows that tolls will go up—not down imposing further hardships on those who must pay tolls.

Court Opens Petitioning

Student Traffic Appeal Court (STAC) opened petitioning Friday Oct. 4, and will continue until Monday, 3 p.m. with openings for four sophomores. Boxes and blank petitions have been placed at the Union desk and the offices of Student Affairs, Student Services. STAC is the final court for the disposition of summonses written for violations of student motor vehicle regulations. Last year the court heard 540 appeals which was 5.75 per cent of the total number of summonses issued. In the previous year STAC heard 325 appeals. Although the percentage of the total summonses appealed is down, the case load for last year was up 66 per cent from the year before, and should continue to rise this year.

Frosh-Soph Petitions Due

Petitions for Frosh-Soph Council must be returned to 317 Student Services by Monday, President John McQuitty announced. Both freshmen and sophomores are eligible to run for membership. Interviews with the officers and committee chairmen will begin next Wednesday. Students who are selected to serve on the council will work on one of six committees: economic, cultural and service, activities, publicity, newsletter and special projects. Spartan Ambassadors and Parents Weekend are the two main activities of the special projects committee.

Alpha Officers

Officers for the year were elected by Alpha Epsilon Phi sorority recently. New officers are: Marilyn Spiegel, president, Cleveland, Ohio, junior; Ilene Mirvis, first vice president, Detroit, junior; Karen Colby, second vice president, Kalamazoo, senior; and Marilyn Cohn, treasurer, Syracuse, N.Y., sophomore.

'Sneaky' Cyclists Accident Causers

With the number of bicycles on campus growing each year, the chance of bike-car accidents becomes greater.

Last year there were 21 injury accidents involving bikes and cars; in 1961-62 there were only 4; in 1960-61 there were 11. Already this year the Public Safety Department has recorded 4 accidents, according to Lieut. Allen Andrews.

Dr. James S. Feurig, health center director, said that Olin is treating an average of three students per day who have been involved in bike accidents but added many accident victims do not require attention.

"Most accidents are the fault of the cyclist," said Lieutenant Andrews. "A car is stopped at a red light when a bike rider sneaks up on the right hand side. The light changes, the car turns right and hits the bike."

"A real accident hot spot on campus is the South Entrance of Kellogg Center," he said. "Riders come off the foot bridge and then fail to get back onto the bike paths."

Bicycles on M.S.U.'s campus are under the motor vehicle laws, and riders must obey these laws. Riders must give turn signals, stay off sidewalks when possible, and give way to pedestrians in a cross walk.

Bicycles operated during dusk, darkness, or dawn hours must show a white light to the front and a red light or reflector to the rear. Riders failing to obey quite often find themselves paying a $2 fine.

Space Office Reorganizes

WASHINGTON, (AP) - The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) announced a drastic reorganization Wednesday, assigning its 10 research centers and overall management responsibility for major programs to three officials.

The agency has come under sharp criticism recently from Congress and others for alleged administrative confusion which critics said has resulted in long delays in the effort to send a man to the moon and back in this decade.

James E. Webb, administrator, said the changes, effective Nov. 1, are designed "to meet the increasing demands of advanced space programs by strengthening lines of authority and responsibility between NASA headquarters and its field installations."

June Graduate Commissioned

John C. Laing, a distinguished June military graduate of MSU, was sworn into the Army as a lieutenant, Monday, by Colonel James F. Skells, professor of military science.

Laing will attend the artillery and guided missile school at Fort Sill, Okla., before attending both the airborne and ranger courses at Fort Benning, Ga. He will then be assigned to Alaska.

Six Instructors Back From Meet

Six foreign language instructors and one art instructor have returned from a three-day meeting of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese at Pontiac.

Paul V. Love, professor of art, delivered a paper on Latin American art.

Edith A. Doty, assistant professor of foreign languages, is president of the Michigan chapter of the association.

AUGS PETITIONING--Discussing petitions for AUGS posts are Judy Keyser, Mansfield, Ohio, sophomore, Bruce Tuman, New York, junior, and Bruce Webb, Midland, junior. Petitioning closes at 4 p.m. today.

Kellogg Ready For 38 Meets

Bellhops, busboys, cooks and clerks at Kellogg Center will be kept busy this month when an expected total of 4,000 persons arrive on campus for 38 conferences.

Delegates from almost every state will attend meetings on education, business, agriculture, religion, insurance, public relations, mental health, real estate, law enforcement and employment security.

MSU, U-M Plan Pre-Game Lunch

MSU and the University of Michigan will entertain state officials and legislators at a pre-game luncheon, Saturday at 11:30 a.m. The presidents of both universities, their wives, the Board of Regents and the Board of Trustees will meet the guests in a reception.

Costs for the traditional luncheon will be shared equally between MSU and the U-M.

State officers and legislators will then go to the football game. Gov. George W. Romney will sit on both sides of the stadium to avoid partiality. He will cross the field between the two band shows at half-time. Two members from each band will escort him.

June Frosh Enrollment Up

More and more entering freshmen are not waiting until fall to start their college careers.

"Freshmen increasingly are entering state universities in June, rather than waiting until the traditional September entry time," said a recent report from the Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges.

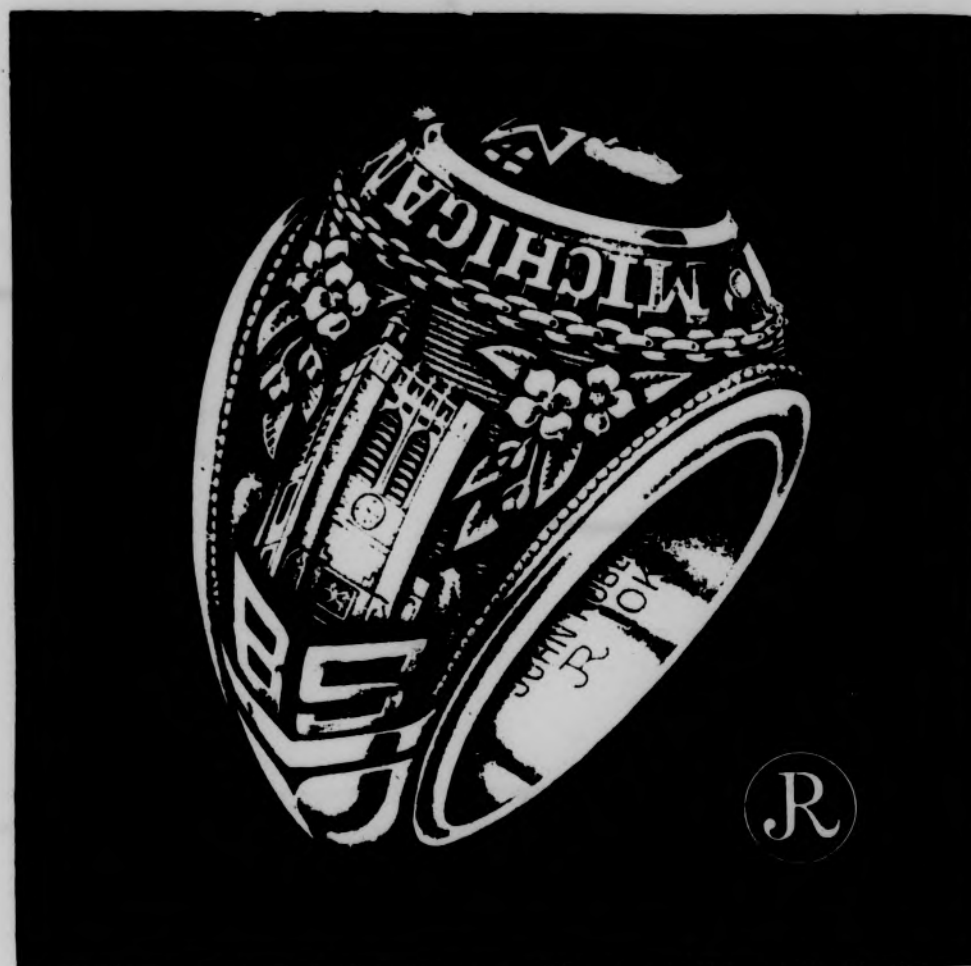

Thirty-three institutions made no effort to have freshmen enter immediately after high school graduation, but 12 said summer enrollments were up from one to thirty-four per cent.

"The number of high school students going directly into their college program is not sizable here yet, but numbers are expected to increase in later years," said Registrar Horace C. King.

First term freshman entering MSU last summer numbered 124, an increase of seven over 1962, he said. Also, 117 enrolled as first-term freshman in 1961.
