Gridders Tie U-M In Tale Of Woe

Group 'Thumbs Down' On Medical School

Chances for a four-year medical program at MSU were torpedoed Friday. A spokesman at the Michigan Co-ordinating Council's Committee on Medical Education said the group decided against establishment of a third medical school in Michigan. Instead, facilities at the University of Michigan and at Wayne State University will be expanded, he added.

learning, except Ferris Institute. Attending the meeting in Ann Arbor as guests were Warren Huff, MSU trustee, and William Knisely, Institute of Biological Science director. Commenting on the meeting, Knisely said: "The members of the committee, the staff support from the University of Michigan and Wayne State, and the visitors present agreed that any decision would arise from the Coordinating Council itself."

Michigan and at Wayne State. --A two-year medical program would be established at Michigan State. --A location for Michigan's third four-year medical school should be chosen. The report said that Michigan's medical needs would support increased medical school facilities.

Hopes had been bright that the present MSU medical program would be extended to four years. In September, an Ingham County delegation to the Michigan State Medical Society meeting introduced a resolution to the effect that MSU is the logical place to expand medical education.

WOLVERINE AERIAL GOES AWRY--Michigan halfback Bill Dodd is hit by one Spartan and jarred from a pass, while two other Green and White pursuers move in from the sides. The action took place in the second half of the 7-all tie in Michigan Stadium Saturday.

Offense Sputters, Defense Sparkles In 7-7 Stalemate

By JERRY MORTON State News Sports Writer

Amid the splendor of an Indian summer afternoon, the pageantry of the 56th MSU-University of Michigan football game unfolded before 101,450 fans Saturday at Ann Arbor. It was a day of good football, great bands and noisy students. There was color galore, but somehow the day was incomplete. The two most important elements were missing--victory and defeat.

There was no wild cheering on either side of the field after the 7-7 tie, but Michigan rooters seemed more willing to accept the result than the MSU delegation.

Campus UN Rejects Arab Bid

The question of U.N. membership for an Arab state of Palestine was brought before the general assembly of the campus United Nations, Friday. The resulting debate was sparked by charges that Israel had no right to exist, countered by cries that even considering the Arab-backed proposal was a "joke" and a "farce."

SOC Booth Questioned

Project Legal?

The legality of the Students Off-Campus booth at the Activities Carnival has been challenged by Ben Taylor, AUSG Campus Chest director. SOC sponsored a gambling booth at which students could win gum or cigarettes. SOC did not get its fund-raising project cleared by the Campus Chest, according to Taylor. An AUSG ordinance states that all organizations or living units sponsoring a money-raising event on or off-campus, the proceeds of which exceed $100, must be approved by the Campus Chest director 10 days before the event. AUSG President Robert Kerr has officially sanctioned an investigation by Campus Chest and AUSG Organizations Bureau. If any irregularities are found, the matter will be referred to the Student Judiciary.

Both Bloom and Miss Beckmeyer said they were unaware of the necessity for clearance procedures. "We're not so concerned with the gambling as such," said Taylor, "but rather with the enforcement of regulations. The gambling is an administrative affair." The settlement of this issue could go before the Student Judiciary, the AUSG Congress or the Dean of Students, said Taylor. SOC could possibly be fined and placed on probation or lose their charter because of this, he added. Three AUSG representatives are formulating a bill for the congress session next Wednesday which would suspend SOC's charter, according to Taylor. Louis F. Hekhuis, director of student activities, said he had not received any report of the incident and could not predict any channels of action. According to Taylor, Bloom is scheduled to meet with Eldon R. Nonnamker, associate dean of students, to discuss the incident.

Taylor said an estimate of the proceeds of the booth should be in his office by today. Judging from the activity at the booth, proceeds should be over $100 Taylor suggested. Alyce Beckmeyer, of the AS-

Ask $40 Million Operating Funds

MSU has requested an $8,232,906 increase in its present state appropriation for the tentative 1964-65 budget. Tentative requests from Michigan institutions are made in advance to the State Department of Administration. The department then recommends the requests to Governor George Romney, who will include them in his budget request to the State Legislature in January. The University of Michigan asked for $9,350,000 more than its present state appropriation. Figures for the U-M budget were released to the wire services Wednesday. MSU's figures were released Friday. "The University of Michigan budget request was not submitted to the department of administration any earlier than ours," said Philip J. May, vice president for business and finance. "However MSU did not release their figures until later." Michigan State's total request came to $40,493,244. This compares to this year's tentative fiscal budget of $32,260,338. The present U-M budget re-

PM Stalemate

LONDON (P)--The bitter battle for leadership of Britain's conservative Party raised a possibility Sunday that Queen Elizabeth II may have to pick a prime minister to succeed Harold Macmillan. The two chief candidates, Deputy Prime Minister Richard A. Butler and Science Minister Lord Hailsham, were encountering stiff opposition from important wings of the party.

PLANETARIUM NEARLY COMPLETE--Adjustments on the projector for the Abrams Planetarium caused the opening, originally scheduled for Friday, to be indefinitely postponed.

TIES DON'T SETTLE MUCH--Neither Michigan Coach Bump Elliott (left) or MSU's Coach Duffy Daugherty were elated over the outcome of Saturday's grid encounter. They exchange the customary handshake, but with neither team winning it leaves much to be desired by both participants and fans.

Police Cooperate At Rallies

When MSU students take to the evening trail, such as in last week's giant pep-rally, the Department of Public Safety and the Dean of Student's office are not far behind. Most of the thousands who are marching and having a gay time never realize their presence, and herein lies the secret of their success.

They have learned through years of experience that when it comes to impromptu pep-rallies, the old maxim of "he who governs least, governs best" is true. Such was not always the case.

In past years large gatherings of students were frowned upon, and police tried to break them up before they got started. This however only succeeded in accelerating the enthusiasm and channeling it into an anti-police demonstration.

Now that police let these student rallies have some leeway, they've found out that students aren't bent on destroying things, and that given the chance they'll gladly let a "Beat Michigan" rally substitute for a panty raid.

It is an interesting note that the latter has lost much of its appeal in the last few years. Older students, who used to live in dorms, have been lured off-campus by revised housing rules.

The younger freshmen, not having been exposed to the old ways, are finding that it's much more fun to let the coeds come outside and join in the merry-making, than to have them locked up behind closed dormitory doors.

Last week's restraint on the part of Campus police went a long way towards proving to students that the police are not there to be killjoys, but simply to protect property and to keep people from getting hurt.

Marriage, Education Compatible

The chancellor of the University of California's new Santa Cruz campus, has served notice that married students won't find his campus a very hospitable place to get an education. He explains that although he isn't opposed to all undergraduate marriages nor will the administration prohibit them, there will be enough obstacles to make those considering marriage think twice.

His reasons are that college students often rush into a marriage that winds up in the divorce courts. "The wife drops out of school to put her husband through," he said. "They grow apart intellectually. Then she gets pregnant and never gets back to class. They wind up in the divorce court."

His solution is to make it hard for students to continue their education if they are married. For example, the Santa Cruz campus will not provide housing for married undergraduates, nor places to park their automobiles, nor will the school make it easy to hold the necessary part-time job while going to school.

The chancellor's plans are extremely short-sighted and are analogous to killing the body to cure the disease. His obstacle course will undoubtedly deter some students from rushing headlong into an unhappy marriage, but it will also prevent many mature couples from completing their education.

The Berkeley campus provides many examples of young couples who sacrifice material wealth and social life to gain an education. They are mature and responsible and with a little support and encouragement are able to see their way through graduation. Not all married students marry while in college which is what McHenry is trying to prevent. Some married right after high school and later realized the mistake of not seeking a college education. Some are military veterans who are returning to finish college. In any case the Berkeley administration has recognized a place in the University community for these students.

One of the obligations of a university is to encourage higher education, not discourage it. The contributions that a person can make to society if he is properly educated should not be lost merely because he is married.

Letters To The Editor

Iranian Shah Stifles Dissent

To The Editor:

During the June 4-6 uprising in Iran, several thousand people who were fighting to free themselves of the Shah's dictatorship were brutally massacred. The "free press" of the "free world" fully cooperated with the Shah's propaganda agents in calling the patriots "reactionaries opposed to reforms and women's rights." Even the true figure of the victims was never reported. The highest figure ever reported was "several hundred."

Taking advantage of the subsequent terror and shock, plus the state of martial law, parliamentary elections, which have been over-due for three years, were held and rigged when all opposition leaders were in jail. Now we have found out that the court martial prosecutor has asked the death penalty for nine National Front leaders.

It is fair to ask, "What are the lessons gained from the last patriotic uprising and its aftermath?"

The most important lesson was indicated by the complete support of the U.S. government for the Shah while his commandoes were gunning down innocent people in the streets of Tehran.

The United States defended their role in Iran by referring to the Russian menace and the necessity of protecting the free world.

It has not occurred to the American government that they have simply been mesmerized by the Russians, and that the secret weapon the Soviet Union has is the bewilderment, despair and hunger of millions of people--also their oppression by their vile dictators--of whose existence the United States are scarcely aware.

Your mistakes and your blind protection of the status quo help bind those people to their misery and bewilderment, and, insofar as they find this state intolerable, the United States are intolerably menaced. For if they find their state insufferable, but are too heavily oppressed to change it, the only alternative will be an open revolt. Thus, when eventually they do change their situation--as in Cuba--you are menaced more than ever by the vacuum and hostility that succeeds all violent upheavals. Name Withheld

Commandos

To The Editor:

As a student who has been bicycling on this campus for over two years, and with at least that many years left, I would like to ask a question about the new emphasis on the "cycle hazard." Simply, has the Department of Public Safety ever thought of issuing uniforms, weapons, steel helmets, and swastika armbands to men to be designated the S.I. (Storm Impounders)? These men would have the authority to not only impound bicycles, but also to make raids at 3 a.m. to seize the owners of these menaces in their rooms. In this way the University would not be forced to sell unclaimed bicycles; the owner would have to bail out his infernal machine or face a Cyclon B shower in a special room of the I.M. building.

What I'm trying to say is, why waste money on this nonsense. The Art Department was out of welding gas for a month because of insufficient funds. The dark-room in the Journalism Building, closed tight against light and air, needs air-conditioning badly. If the Department of Public Safety has nothing better to do with their money, time, and personnel then conduct commando raids with a $3 bounty for every capture, let them simply return the money and say "use it in good health."

Tight Racks

To The Editor:

According to the State News, we bike riders are being watched and our look-alike bikes are in jeopardy. Our bikes must be locked and in the bike-rack they say. They also need a license. The police or administrative head who makes the rules is not asking too much from bike riders but there are a few problems that should be brought to light. There are not enough bike-racks for most class buildings. How far away can you "lock" your bike from the overflowing rack to insure it's safety?

Keeping it in the general area may mean nowhere near the rack because of the number of bikes. Bike racks cost money but we do need more of them. Perhaps they could use some of the funds they receive from parking violations to purchase more racks. (What do they do with that money anyway?)

At any rate let me tip off a few of you bike riders. If you rent your bike from a certain local business, then chances are that the key to your lock will open every lock of every bike which that business has rented out.

As you renters will remember, you signed a card taking full responsibility for the bike in case of theft, etc. Oh well, maybe I'll go back to my motor scooter. That's harder to steal and you can drive it to class and park near the bike racks without any problems. . . . or can't you? I'm confused. At registration they told me that I couldn't ride my scooter. . . oh nuts. . . forget it. I'll see you at the bike auction in the spring.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Feminine Appraisal

So Mme. Nhu's Here

By Sue Jacoby

South Viet Nam's Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu, one of the most bewitchingly feminine creatures to grace the international political scene in years, is now spreading her sweetness and light in the U.S.A.

The enchanting official hostess of President Ngo Dinh Diem, alias "the dragon-lady," epitomizes every conceivable womanly virtue.

Modesty is, perhaps, her most outstanding characteristic. However, patriotism runs a close second. Speaking before a luncheon of more than 1,000 persons in New York City, Mme. Nhu shyly affirmed her patriotism with a flutter of her sooty eye lashes. She said she was, indeed, very patriotic, because she had the power to completely take over the South Vietnamese government but had never chosen to use it!

Respect for others is another hallmark of this winsome lady. She does have a tendency to be overly harsh on little people (like dead monks), but her general regard for those in high places is top-notch. According to Mme. Nhu, Pope Paul VI isn't all bad. Just "misinformed." And President Kennedy isn't engaged in a deliberate plot against her country--he's simply a bumbling idiot who doesn't know what's going on.

Mme. Nhu's only fault seems to be that she leaves her home and family too much. However, her trip has spread so much good will that it would be a shame to keep her out of the public eye.

And while Mme. Nhu is traveling around the world with her daughter Le Thuy for company, she knows her country is in the good hands of little American "soldiers of fortune." Another thing about Mme. Nhu--she appreciates what other people do for her.

With such an abundance of tact, humility, gratitude and good manners, it hardly seems possible that one woman could be beautiful, too. However, South Viet Nam's first lady is just an all-around girl. In addition to being a candidate for Miss Congeniality, she could probably win a beauty contest hands down.

Any MSU student who would like a look at all this feminine pulchritude has his chance Oct. 21, when the dragon-lady arrives in Detroit. It would be well worth the bus-fare. After all, it's only 85 miles to Detroit. She came half-way around the world to see us.

Just imagine--each student can now view the ultimate in femininity for himself. It might be a good idea to stand far enough back to miss the sound of her voice, though.

At least a look at Mme. Nhu in person would explain one newsman's comment after interviewing her.

"I'd like to slap her--but I'd rather get very, very close first."

For the present, just the slap seems to be a better idea.

Self-Protection Best Protection

Amidst all the arguing over the requirement of a campus bicycle license and lock, one fact is often overlooked.

There's a practical reason for most rules and this is no exception.

Recently it was stated that since this rule went into effect, the theft rate for bicycles has decreased while the recovery percentage for stolen bikes has increased.

This means little to most of us. It is not until one is suddenly without a bike, that the full impact and worth of such "nuisances" becomes apparent.

And since when do people assume that locks on their own property are an infringement of their own freedom?

EVERY LITTER BIT HELPS—If you put it in the trashcan. A member of the campus grounds crew posts advice for what Burt D. Ferris, grounds superintendent, calls "thoughtless and careless people."

Campus In Danger—Rubbish Taking Over

"If we let this campus go for one week, it would look like a city dump," remarked Burt D. Ferris, grounds maintenance superintendent.

"I am very concerned about rubbish," he said. "Our problem is the litter that collects on the grounds mostly because of thoughtless and careless people."

Although grounds ordinance forbids the tossing of debris onto the campus, employed men still spend hundreds of hours and thousands of dollars picking up after rubble tossers.

This problem has various sources. The State News is one of them. The wind easily rips up a newspaper in front of a married housing apartment, for example.

Married housing areas also collect a great deal of litter because of the presence of small children.

This problem is not limited to married housing areas, however.

Robert Feyerabend, grounds maintenance assistant foreman, commented, "We have seen rubbish only 20 feet from containers. We try to locate them in convenient spots—like outside of grills and where there is a great deal of foot traffic. But if the container isn't right there, many people won't use it."

This aspect of the problem becomes worse in the winter. Debris melts into the soft snow, not to be seen until spring.

"Then men are working for three weeks to clean up the winter debris," Feyerabend said.

Population increase, too, puts a strain on the grounds department. There is a shortage of rubbish containers and of funds. According to Feyerabend, each container costs between $25 and $30.

Freitag To Talk On Moon Project

Capt. Robert F. Freitag, U.S. Navy director for the National Aeronautics and Space Agency will speak on the development of launchers for the U.S. moon landing program today at 4 p.m. in the Engineering Building auditorium.

Freitag will discuss large vehicles of the Saturn class being developed by NASA with special emphasis on engineering problems in design, fabrication, testing, launching and controlling. The program is part of a series of mechanical engineering seminars featuring authorities on the problems of outer space.

Not only is the limited budget an obstacle in grooming the campus, but there is also the problem of snowplows. Containers can't be placed in many areas because they'd be crushed by snowplows in the winter.

"Meanwhile," said Feyerabend, "all we can do is to use as much imagination as possible in placing the cans. We placed two new cans outside Bessey Hall, and this has made a big difference."

Also, new containers have been attached to posts and fences. These containers look more like baskets than rubbish cans, so the department had to throw in pieces of "dummy" paper so the people would know why the baskets were there.

Since the number of new containers for the campus is limited, the grounds department feels that appealing to the pride of the Michigan State public is the only immediate solution.

"But it seems hard to reach the sense of responsibility of 17- to 21-year-olds," mused Feyerabend. "It seems all we can do is eliminate local hamburger stands and vending machines."

Rail Accident Kills Father of Nine

An Okemos father of nine children, Eugene Sheets, 38, was killed instantly Saturday night when he drove his car into the side of a westbound Grand Trunk Freight train at the Okemos Road crossing north of Grand River.

The engineer, Tony Swanchara of Battle Creek, told investigating officers from the Ingham County Sheriff's Department, that he did not feel the impact of the victim's car as it struck the train. However, when rear brakeman Donald H. Geick of Port Huron smelled burning rubber, the train was brought to a halt approximately three miles from the scene of the accident. One half of the car was dragged the three-mile distance, but the rear half of the automobile was deposited in the Red Cedar River, a half mile from the scene of the accident. It apparently struck a railroad bridge and was thrown into the river. The victim's body was also found one half mile down the tracks.

A witness told police that the Sheets vehicle passed him at a high rate of speed some 200 feet from the crossing and Sheets apparently did not apply his brakes. The Okemos crossing where the accident occurred is a two-track crossing marked by stop signs. There are also signs warning of the stop signs.

Planetarium Research Aid Tests Delay Opening

Abrams Planetarium, first of the new buildings scheduled to open in the so-called science complex, should be dedicated some time this term but no date has been set at present.

The opening of the planetarium, originally slated for Friday, will be rescheduled after further testing of building's instrument, according to Jack Breslin, University secretary.

MSU's planetarium will have a three-fold purpose, say Rollin H. Baker, museum director, and Victor Hogg, curator.

First, the planetarium will serve as a teaching and research aid to the University.

A second use will be the scheduled shows for school children of the area. Special programs will be keyed to certain age groups.

Also, there will be scientific presentations of a popular nature for public viewing.

The planetarium will have three main parts.

The main lobby will contain exhibits which show man's concept of the universe from the time of ancient Egypt to the present. Many of these will be composed of valuable artifacts and models.

Other exhibits will include modern earth and moon replicas and paintings of various aspects of the universe as we now believe it to be.

The lobby was designed specifically as an exhibit hall.

The Abrams Planetarium will not be "earthbound" as are conventional operations. Utilizing the unique third axis of the instrument will make it possible to demonstrate the appearance of the heavens, not only as they look from the earth, but also as they appear from the moon, or any point in space. These effects are easily produced with a multi-channel sound system of eight speakers and various light projectors.

At the controls of a console will be an operator who can in a minute reset the planets, sun and moon.

In conventional, older planetariums, it would take a delay of 15 or more hours to set heavens as they appeared at the time of Christ and then reset them as they are at present.

The seating arrangement in the auditorium will also be unique. Rather than the usual concentric seating pattern, the MSU planetarium will seat 260 people in the same direction under its 50-foot dome.

But, if the viewers are facing the north and want to look at the southern sky, they need not turn around. The sky will be brought around to them.

Alumni and friends of the University are financing the planetarium through contributions made to the MSU Alumni Development Fund. Mr. and Mrs. Talbert Abrams of Lansing contributed $250,000 of the total cost of $530,000.

Detroit Makes Olympic Plea

(UPI)—For the next four days Detroit's Olympic Committee in Baden-Baden, West Germany will be carrying on a "Go Detroit" campaign to win the 1968 Olympic City designation. Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh and the city's Olympic Committee flew to Europe to make its bid for the games.

The committee will get added support Tuesday when Governor George Romney flies to Europe to aid the cause. The International Olympic Committee will decide Friday on the site of the games.

Detroit is competing against Buenos Aires, Mexico City and Lyon, France.

Why Can't You Remember

A noted publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique for acquiring a powerful memory which can pay you real dividends in both business and social advancement and works like magic to give you added poise, necessary self-confidence and greater popularity.

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by remembering accurately everything they see, hear, or read. Whether in business, at social functions or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances, there are ways in which you can dominate each situation by your ability to remember.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in remembering anything you choose to remember, the publishers have printed full details of their self-training method in a new book, "Adventures in Memory," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation. Simply send your request to: Memory Studies, 835 Diversey Parkway, Dept. 5027, Chicago 14, Ill. A postcard will do.

Sophomore halfback Don Japinga was carried off the field on a stretcher after tackling Michigan halfback Jack Clancy. The Wayland halfback suffered a brain concussion and was rushed to the University where he was released to his parents Saturday evening.

Injury also struck late in the second quarter when right halfback Harry Ammon sustained a mild concussion after reeling off a gain of 20 yards. The Holt junior highlighted MSU's first-half efforts with runs of 25 and 20 yards.

The Spartans could penetrate no deeper than the U-M29 during the first half, but the "smallest man" on the field made a big impression on the huge throng in the final half.

It was 152-pound Sherman Lewis who spearheaded MSU's 84-yard touchdown drive in the third quarter. The fleet left-halfback caught a pass for 20 yards, threw one for 10, and rushed for 16 yards before he finally grabbed a seven-yarder from Steve Judy for six points to end the march with 1:59 remaining in the third quarter.

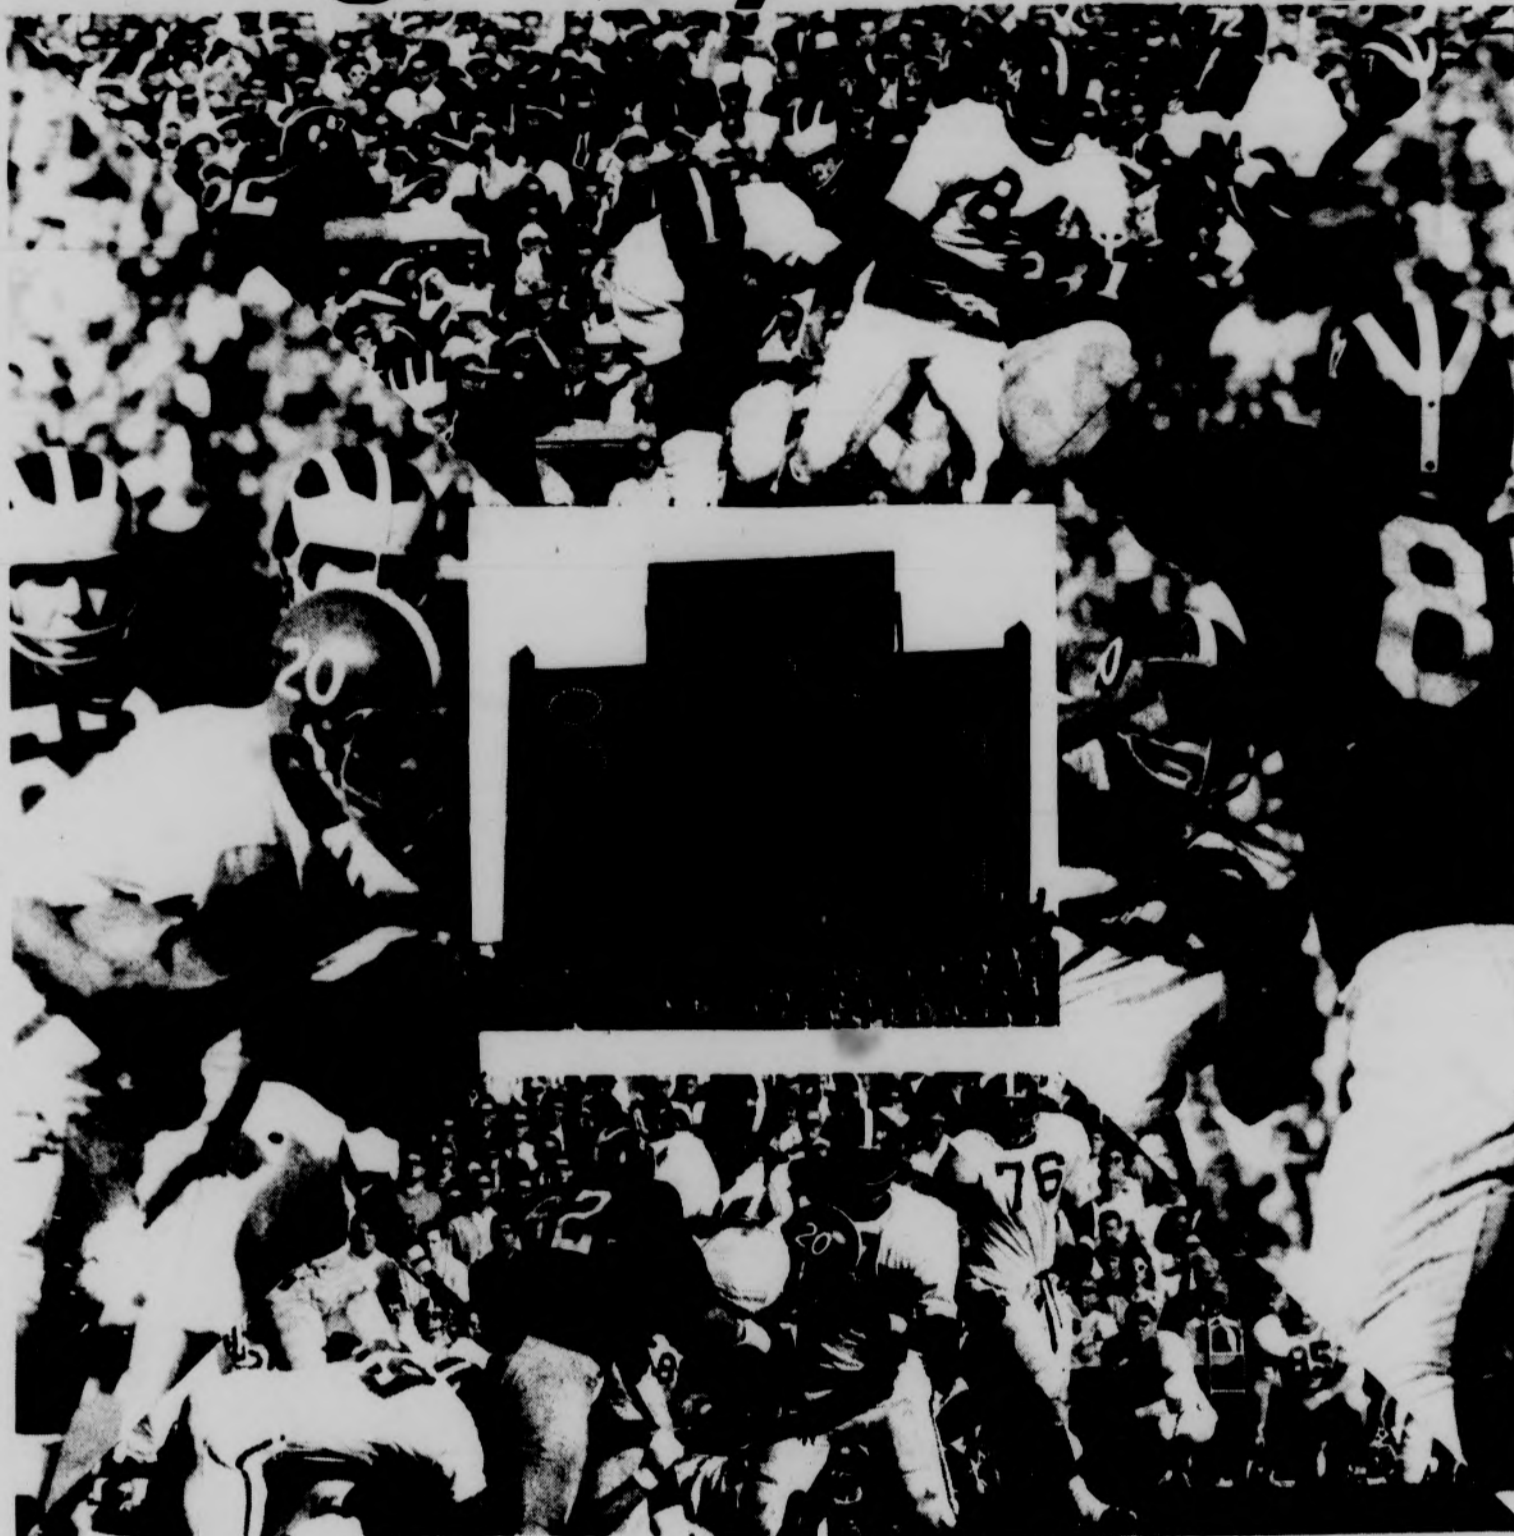

Lou Bobich's kick tied the score and the teams spent the rest of the afternoon in a futile attempt to break the stalemate.

Each squad tried a field goal, but both efforts proved fruitless. Bobich missed from the 22 early in the final quarter and Bob Timberlake failed from the 33 with 55 seconds left in the contest.

The statistics showed the Spartans to have a 128-34 edge in rushing with U-M, and a 78-64 passing advantage.

Michigan completed only seven of 22 passes, but it was enough to satisfy coach Elliott.

Coach Daugherty was a long way from being satisfied but one thing bothered him more than anything else. "It's too bad Michigan's touchdown was set up by that punt return," he said.

Hockeyettes Lose Mark For Chris Kluter, But Swimmers Lose

The University of Michigan DID beat Michigan State this Saturday...at least in women's field hockey.

The Wolverine coeds topped the Spartans for a 3-1 victory in varsity action and a 4-2 win in junior varsity.

With the half-time score knotted at 1-1, Michigan's varsity rallied for two goals to clinch the victory.

State's lone score came on a conversion by Nancy Dash, left inner, early in the game.

Down 3-0 at the half, Pat Specht and Cyndy Gillespie scored two goals for the MSU frosh squad, but the Spartans could not match Michigan's four goals.

"The team played well for their first game," State coach Dorothy McKnight said. "Much improvement is expected with experience."

"Michigan had an experienced team," she said. "They've been practicing much longer due to an earlier school opening. As a result, they played very well."

Christine Kluter, co-captain of Michigan State's coed swimming team, set a new collegiate record and tied another in the face of a losing effort to the University of Michigan, 55-41, Saturday.

Miss Kluter swam the 50 yard freestyle in 26.6, knocking fourth off the standing time for the event. She also matched the national mark of 58.6 for the 100 yard freestyle, set last year at Michigan State's Collegiate Championship Meet.

The Spartans tallied four of ten first places to post the closest score by a Michigan State team competing with the Wolverines.

Marcia Jones, Spartan co-captain, placed first in the 50 yard backstroke. Miss Jones narrowly missed taking the 100 yard individual medley but lost to Cordy Thompson of Michigan. Recording identical times, Miss Thompson was awarded first place by the judges.

The team of Chris Kluter, Pat Schmidt, Marcia Jones and Dolly Graening captured the 200 yard medley relay for MSU. Miss Kluter jumped to an early lead which the Spartans never relinquished.

In the 200 yard freestyle, Carol Kowalewski and Pat Schmidt gave State second and third place finishes. Miss Schmidt also took second in the breaststroke.

Second place in diving went to MSU's Lola Miller and third in the butterfly fell to Dolly Graening.

After four events, the MSU coeds held a 22-17 advantage but Michigan came on strongly in the final events.

Next Saturday, the women's team will travel to Kent, Ohio for a triangular meet with Kent State University and Bowling Green.

Crew Opens On Saturday

The MSU crew team is scheduled to compete in a regatta on Saturday against Purdue, Wayne State, Marrietta and four other schools.

Soccer, Cross - Country Teams Win

Sharkey First For Harriers

By LARRY MOGG
State News Sports Writer

Propelled by the fleet feet of sophomore Dick Sharkey, an aroused State cross country squad hammered out a convincing 25-33 decision over Wisconsin Saturday for their initial triumph of the '63 season.

The victory, coming on the heels of last week's setback at the hands of Ohio University, evened the harriers dual-meet mark at 1-1.

Sharkey, 5 foot 7 inch Detroit prep recruit, set a blistering pace on the predominantly flat 4-mile course at Madison, Wis. The fast moving sophomore took an early lead, increased his gap over the other runners as the race progressed, and coasted home with an excellent timing of 19:47.1 to wrap up first place honors. Sharkey's timing was nearly a full minute faster than his second place effort in the Ohio University and Ohio State meet.

Overshadowed somewhat by Sharkey's sharp performance was another stout team showing by his running mates, which produced the win.

Jan Bowen, who had been bothered by a cold all last week, turned in a time of 20:30, good enough for a third place finish.

State runners garnered four consecutive positions from sixth to ninth place. First year varsity man Rick Zemper turned in his second straight strong performance when he captured sixth place with a time of 20:43. One second separated the finishes of senior Ron Berby and Mike Kaines. Berby ran the four mile course in 21:10 to edge Kaines out for seventh position. Captain Bob Fulcher crossed the finish line ninth, while junior Jack Amie came in twelfth.

Taking some of the lustre off the Spartan victory was the freak mishap that shelved promising soph Russ Pletcher for the remainder of the season. Pletcher, one half of a twin brother combination on the State's cross country team, broke an upper thigh bone, when he stepped in a hole during the race. Pletcher and his brother, Ray came to State unheralded, but through long and hard practice, they found a spot on Coach Fran Dittrich's squad. The injury was a staggering blow to the Spartan squad, as Russ Pletcher had worked into the top eight runners.

The Spartan decision brought to a halt the Badger's 2 game win streak and broke the two-year dual-meet domination by Wisconsin.

The loss nullified a fine team performance by the Badgers, who swept three of the top five placings.

Booters 14 Goals Set Mark

By RICHARD SCHWARTZ
State News Sports Writer

In football, the score would have read 84-6, but the sport was soccer.

So Michigan State booters had to settle for a 14-1 victory over Purdue University, Saturday.

But no matter how you translate the final outcome, it spells a record score for a Spartan home match.

The previous high for an MSU game at East Lansing, 13-2, was set in 1961, with Purdue the victims in that clash, also.

The Boilermakers didn't take it to heart then. Only a year earlier, they suffered a 17-0 blitz at the hands of State. And that was an all-time mark for MSU.

For the 1963 exploit, nearly every man on the Spartan team had a whirl at scoring or assisting:

Larry Christoff gets ball

George Janes chalked up five goals while Payton Fuller and Bill Schwarz had three each. Tallying single scores were Turgud Enuston, Van Dimitriou, Larry Christoff and Lou Eckhardt.

In addition, MSU captain Sam Donnelly recorded three assists, while Eckhardt, Christoff, Schwarz and George Rendon had one apiece.

Striking for five goals in the opening period and three in each quarter thereafter, State left Purdue powerless to mount a defense. No amount of effort on the part of Purdue prevented the Spartans from hitting full stride.

The Boilermakers had few chances on offense, and when they did, passes went awry and found their way to Spartan defenses. The defensive alertness of Donnelly and company allowed State to cash in on Purdue miscues.

Hoosiers Lose

Indiana, MSU's Saturday grid foe, lost to Iowa Saturday 37-26. In other Big Ten games: Northwestern 15, Minnesota 8; Illinois 20, Ohio State 20; and Wisconsin 38, Purdue 20.

Purdue goalie misses

MSU Coach Gene Kenney, pleasantly embarrassed by the soaring score, made what was intended to be a merciful gesture at mid-game. The Spartan head man platooned his entire reserve bench, including second string goalie, Art Dworcen.

However, this backfired:

Each substitute went on to register a score in short order. The only exception was John McLane, whose bid for a fourth period tally at 18:12 was good, but was nullified by an offside penalty.

Dworcen, replacing Charlie Dedich, had more success than his predecessor. Whereas Dedich allowed one ball to escape his defense, Dworcen sealed off the nets completely.

The spoiler of a Spartan shut out, which would have been the third in eight days, was George Tatepo. The Purdue linesman latched on to a MSU pass and scored.

For the undefeated Spartans this season, it was the fourth consecutive win. The Purdue loss was the second in three outings.

Spartan John Perre Diane, who aggravated an ankle injury in the late stages of the game, may be forced out of action for the remainder of the season. Diane's injury was suffered after playing only one minute. It was his first appearance this year.

U.S. Routs British In Ryder Match

From Our Wire Services

The United States Sunday clinched its 12th victory in 15 Ryder Cup golf matches by routing a game British squad, 23-9. The Americans needed only one victory in Sunday afternoon's final eight matches and proceeded to take seven and halve the other.

The clinching points for the Yanks came when Gene Littler downed Tom Haliburton, six and five. Other afternoon matches saw:--Captain Arnold Palmer whip George Will, 3 and 2;--Dave Ragan beat Neil Coles, 2 and 1;--Julius Boros top Harry Weetman, 2 and 1;--Billy Maxwell clip Christy O'Connor, 2 and 1;--Dow Finsterwald top Dave Thomas, 4 and 3;--and Bob Goaly beat Bernard Hunt, 2 and 1.

The Pros

(UPI)--It was a case of too much Jimmy Brown and Frank Ryan for the New York Giants Sunday in the top game of the National Football League.

The unbeaten Cleveland Browns ran up their fifth win and tightened their grip on the Eastern Division League by slugging the Giants, 35-24. Brown, the league's leading rusher, gained 120 yards and scored three times. He bucked over from the one, scrambled 32 yards for another touchdown, and went 72 yards after taking a flare pass from Ryan.

Ryan also hit Rich Kreitling with two scoring passes as the defending Eastern Division Champion Giants absorbed their second loss in five outings.

In other NFL games it was Philadelphia 37, Washington 24; Baltimore 20, San Francisco 3; St. Louis 24, Pittsburgh 23; Detroit 14, Dallas 17; Green Bay 37, Minnesota 28; and Chicago 52, Los Angeles 14.

IFC Now Requires 2.2 Grade Average

It will now take a 2.2 all-University grade point average to qualify for pledging a fraternity, the Inter-Fraternity Council decided Wednesday night.

On a roll call vote, the second reading of the amendment to the IFC constitution received the necessary two thirds majority. The first reading was passed last spring term.

The amendment, which will become effective winter term, states that a student needs a 2.2 to pledge a fraternity and must also earn a 2.2 the term of pledging.

Under the past system a 2.0 qualified a student for pledging. "This change is only an updating of our standards to meet the current trends of scholarship at MSU," Mike Saltman, administrative vice president, said.

According to campus statistics, the student who has over a 2.2 will probably be able to stay in school until graduation, Saltman added.

Opponents of the amendment introduced a substitute amendment which would require fraternities on scholastic probation to pledge only men with at least a 2.2 grade point. It was defeated in favor of the across the board increase.

George Hibbard, IFC adviser, called the amendment one of the most significant changes in elevating fraternity standards he has experienced in his five years as IFC adviser.

This makes the requirements for membership in the fraternity system above those necessary to graduate at MSU.

A 2.0 is necessary to get an undergraduate degree.

Crash Kills Grad Student

Donald J. Robertson, 26-year-old University graduate student, was killed Friday night when his car ran off the Okemos-Haslett Road south of Haslett and smashed into a telephone pole.

Robertson, formerly of Battle Creek, was living at 1215 Webber Drive.

He died in the wreckage of his overturned car about 1:30 a.m. of internal injuries, according to Coroner Dorwin Hoffmeyer.

Police said that Robertson had been driving in a fog when his car skidded 200 feet off the road at a curve and hit the utility pole, pinning him under the car when it overturned.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Hazel Robertson of Lansing, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Jane Beckman of Elmhurst, Ill.

$40 Million

quest is $47,500,000. Harlan Hachen, U-M President, said the request included $3.8 million to hire new teachers and to strengthen the summer session. U-M had an enrollment increase of 1,200 students.

May indicated MSU's increase is based on an anticipated student enrollment of 31,444 for 1964-65. Some 30,019 will attend at East Lansing and another 1,425 at Oakland University, MSU's affiliate near Pontiac.

He said funds are requested in the following areas:

--For MSU in East Lansing, $31,644,786 in 1964-65, up $6,146,963 from $25,497,823 in 1963-64.

--For Cooperative Extension Service, $2,783,988, up $487,507 from $2,296,481 in 1963-64.

--For Agricultural Experiment Station, $3,850,966, up $947,447 from $2,903,519 in 1963-64.

--For Oakland University, $2,213,519, up $650,989 from $1,562,515 in 1963-64.

Salaries in 1964-65 will probably be increased $4,111,713, he added. This includes $2,384,184 for 224 new faculty members and 86 new clerical employees and $1,201,383 for faculty pay increases.

Other increases include $1,312,184 for supplies and $1,066,354 in additional equipment.

SPARTY TAKES THE LEAD--This is how the "Spartan Safari" looked as some of its 175 participating cars passed Spartan Stadium Saturday morning on the way to Ann Arbor.

Highlander Corps 750 Spartans Join Caravan To U-M

If the Scots Highlanders have their way, the skirl of bagpipes will soon sound across the campus.

Bagpipers, male or female, are being recruited by the new 50-man organization sponsored by the Army-Air Force ROTC detachments.

The pipers will take part in six exhibitions this term, including halftime shows for area high school football teams.

Interested pipers can contact Highlander Bandmaster D. L. Jaehrig at 5-8290 or Maj. R.H. Cloherty, 5-2390; or attend Highlander rehearsal at 7 p.m., Rm. 14, Dem. Hall.

The 175-car "Spartan Safari" to the University of Michigan Saturday was a success according to Larry Zaiser, caravan chairman.

"Fine, just fantastic," he said of the 750 participants.

There were no accidents, no tie-ups, not even cars getting lost in Ann Arbor traffic to the parking area, Zaiser reported. Police were stationed at intersections to guide the caravan.

"We had no trouble with cars which were not part of the caravan," he said.

Leading the caravan were the MSU cheerleaders who distributed streamers to the cars.

"Phi Kappa Psi is thankful for the enthusiasm the participants showed so early in the morning," Zaiser said. "For the future, I hope it'll be bigger and better."

Pomolers Hold Apple Give-Away

Forty bushels of apples will be given away by the Pomoler Club on Tuesday afternoon to celebrate the National Apple Week. The apples will be distributed in front of the Horticulture Building.

US Priest Beatified By Church

VATICAN CITY (AP)--The solemn Roman Catholic rite of beatification raised a one-time American frontier priest, John Nepomucene Neumann, to the final step before sainthood Sunday.

He was the second American to achieve the state of "beatus" (blessed) this year. Elizabeth Ann Seton, a New York nun, was elevated last March. The ceremony for Neumann, who became a bishop in Philadelphia before his death in 1860, prompted Pope Paul VI to remark:

"Behold, America, too, has its holy ones. Yesterday it was the Blessed Mother Seton who climbed to the altars....

"Today it is Bishop Neumann whom we venerate as blessed and who opens up a double vision; that of numerous Americans, heroes of the faith and of charity who are equally deserving to rise upon the altars; and that of a sanctity no longer individual but collective, no longer restrictive to single cases but divided among numerous groups of the faithful, no longer of one but of many--a sanctity of the people."

The Pope attended the second of two ceremonies.

The moment of drama in the beatification came during a morning Mass in St. Peter's Basilica. A basilica canon in the name of the Pontiff intoned these words:

"By our own Apostolic authority, we grant permission for the venerable servant of God, John Nepomucene Neumann, to be styled henceforth with the title of Blessed."

WORDS: THEIR CAUSE AND CURE

Today let us take up the subject of etymology (or entomology, as it is sometimes called) which is the study of word origins (or insects, as they are sometimes called).

Where are word origins (insects) to be found? Well sir, sometimes words are proper names which have passed into the language. Take, for instance, the words used in electricity: ampere was named after its discoverer, the Frenchman Andre Marie Ampere (1775-1836); similarly, ohm was named after the German G.S. Ohm (1781-1854), watt after the Scot James Watt (1736-1819), and bulb after the American Fred C. Bulb (1843-1912).

There is, incidentally, quite a poignant little story about Mr. Bulb. Until Bulb's invention, all illumination was provided by gas, which was named after its inventor Milton T. Gas who, strange to tell, had been Bulb's roommate at Cal Tech! In fact, strange to tell, the third man sharing the room with Bulb and Gas was also one whose name burns bright in the annals of illumination--Walter Candle!

The three roommates were inseparable companions in college. After graduation all three did research in the problems of artificial light, which at this time did not exist. All America used to go to bed with the chickens, and many fine citizens were, alas, severely injured falling off the roost.

Well sir, the three comrades--Bulb, Gas, and Candle--promised to be friends forever when they left school, but success, alas, spoiled all that. First Candle invented the candle, got rich, and forgot his old friends. Then Gas invented gas, got rich, bankrupted Candle, and forgot his old friends. Then Bulb invented the bulb, got rich, bankrupted Gas, and forgot his old friends.

Candle and Gas, bitter and impoverished at the ages respectively of 75 and 71, went to sea as respectively the world's oldest and second oldest cabin boy. Bulb, rich and grand, also went to sea, but he went in style--as a first-class passenger on luxury liners.

Well sir, strange to tell, all three were aboard the ill-fated Lusitania when she was sunk in the North Atlantic. And strange to tell, when they were swimming for their lives after the shipwreck, all three clambered aboard the same dinghy!

Well sir, chastened and made wiser by their brush with peril, they fell into each other's arms and wept and exchanged forgiveness and became fast friends all over again.

For three years they drifted in the dinghy, shaking hands and singing the Cal Tech rouser all the while. Then, at long last, they spied a passing liner and were taken aboard.

They remained fast friends for the rest of their days, which, I regret to report, were not many, because the liner which picked them up was the Titanic.

What a pity that Marlboros were not invented during the lifetimes of Bulb, Gas, and Candle. Had there been Marlboros, these three friends never would have grown apart because they would have realized how much, despite their differences, they still had in common. I mean to say that Marlboros can be lit by candle, by gas, and by electricity, and no matter how you light them, you always get a lot to like--a filter, a flavor, a pack or box that makes anyone--including Bulb, Gas, and Candle--settle back and forswear pettiness and smile the sweet smile of friendship on all who pass!
