Worst Hurricane Yet Wallops Gulf

Winds At 150 MPH Threaten Louisiana

Coastal Residents Evacuate Homes; Storm Approaches Texas Low-Land

NEW ORLEANS, P-- Mighty Hurricane Hilda, its top winds a terrifying 150 miles an hour, picked up speed late Thursday and Louisiana and Texas Gulf coastal areas braced for an onslaught.

Hurricane warnings were hoisted along the Louisiana coast from the mouth of the Mississippi River west to the Texas border. Refugees from coastal areas headed inland seeking shelter from the season's most powerful storm.

An Aching Arm Said Good Sign

If your arm is still aching from the injection it received at the close of registration, grin and bear it. The more it hurts, the better immunity you have.

Over 10,000 students received the vaccine as they completed registration procedures, slightly less than one-third of the total who went through the IM building.

Feurig deemed the percentage "highly successful." He said that on voluntary immunizations procedures, 25 per cent is considered good.

He compared the total to 82 per cent on campus who took Sabin oral polio vaccine last spring.

"Polio is a more morbid disease," he said.

Evaluations were underway even before the warning was issued.

The weather bureau put Hilda about 320 miles southwest of New Orleans at 6 p.m. She was proceeding northwestward at eight miles an hour through churning waters of the normally placid Gulf of Mexico.

No one knew where or when Hilda's awesome punch would strike land.

California Clash Promises Color

By JERRY MORTON State News Sports Writer

King Football will begin his annual fall reign at MSU tomorrow when the Spartans take on Southern California at 1:30 p.m. at Spartan Stadium.

A crowd of about 65,000 is expected to be on hand for an afternoon the weatherman says will be fair and mild.

The Spartans will enter the contest as underdogs in the wake of last week's loss to North Carolina and USC's devastating win over Oklahoma that moved them up to the number two position in the national grid polls.

But the Green and White have been underdogs in the past and seem to have a knack for playing their best under those circumstances.

There's always something special about a football Saturday, and tomorrow has been billed as "Band Day" to provide additional color.

More than 3,000 bandmen from 37 Michigan high schools will begin marching into the stadium at 11:30 a.m. and will join the MSU band at halftime for a mass band show.

The Spartan band promises to be bigger, better, and brighter than ever as director Leonard C. Falcone enters his 36th year as MSU bandmaster.

This year's band has 175 members, making it the largest ever, and a set of new uniforms promises to lend added sparkle.

Guest conductor for the halftime band show will be Lt. Cmdr. Anthony Mitchell, conductor of the U.S. Navy band.

The 3,000 band guests are expected to come up with an exciting performance...and the guests from California should do the same.

The Trojans proved themselves to be strong in every department in their 21-0 win over Colorado and 40-14 triumph over highly-touted Oklahoma.

Their convincing victory over the Sooners was the major reason for USC's lofty rating in the second week of polling.

Southern Cal will attempt to prove that they're worth every bit of their rating with a speedy backfield consisting of quarterback Craig Fertig, halfbacks Mike Garrett and Rod Sherman, and fullback Ron Heller.

Garrett scored all three USC touchdowns against Oklahoma and leads the team in rushing with

NSA Man Discusses New Plans

Howie Abrams came from the National Supervisory Board of the Association (NSA) to speak to all University student Government (AUSG) about some NSA programs Wednesday, but never the twain did meet.

AUSG has not yet begun group meeting. Abrams wanted to talk about group life insurance plans for students and a national student identification card.

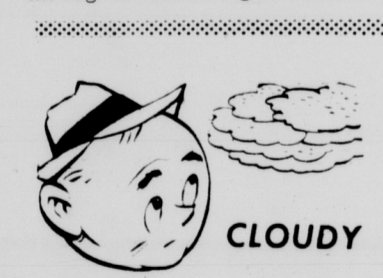

Altering MSU students to the NSA program, Abrams, a University of Chicago law student, said the life insurance plan would cover a student for four years or the length of time in school at a rate of from $22.90 to $30 annually, depending on the student's age.

This plan would consist of term insurance, only covering life, Abrams said, but the graduate could sign up for a fuller plan with extra benefits if he chose.

He said the national student identification card would give a holder discounts in buying certain goods and services, commercial enterprises agreed to the plan. A similar idea is already at work in Europe, Abrams said, and prices are cut almost in half.

He said these plans are being presented to student governments now and are not yet final.

NSA operates in a number of areas involving student life, Abrams said, such as educating the American student on international affairs and university reform, and making it possible for student government from different colleges and universities to discuss mutual problems through student congresses.

Summer Experiments Locate Thresher Wreckage

WASHINGTON P--The Navy disclosed today that underwater search experiments conducted with improved equipment this summer have produced the most conclusive evidence so far in pinpointing the location of the sunken nuclear submarine Thresher.

Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze said photographs taken showed these things, covered by one to two inches of sand crust:

The tail section, with the Thresher's draft number 593 visible, and her stern plates and topside rudder.

The tail, or conning tower, bearing the number 593, and the attached sail plane.

The Thresher went down in about 8,400 feet of water approximately 220 miles east of Cape Cod with 129 men aboard April 10, 1963, during deep sea diving tests. It was believed to have broken apart.

The deep-diving bathyscaphe Trieste I spent the summer of 1963 searching the area until the approach of rough fall weather forced the operation to be halted after 10 dives in early September.

The Trieste's crew found on the ocean floor a single bit of twisted copper tubing from the sunken vessel's ventilating system. It bore the symbol "593 boat" and other markings linked with the Thresher. Great quantities of metal plating thought to have come from the missing submarine's hull and batteries were sighted, but there were the only clues to the sub's fate discovered during 1963.

At the time, the Navy announced that the Thresher search was being definitely ended. It said any further exploration in the area would be in connection with

Total Registration Tops 36,000

31,459 Enrolled On Campus

A three-day parade through the Intramural Building this week sent fall enrollment hurtling past a predicted 30,000 as 31,459 persons registered as East Lansing MSU students.

Total fall term enrollment on the East Lansing campus is up 14 per cent from last year's 27,669, Registrar Horace C. King said Thursday.

Michigan State's record-smashing overall total for the term is 36,235, a 15 per cent increase over last year's 31,538. Oakland University, MSU's affiliate near Pontiac, registered 1,812 students, a 22 per cent increase over last year.

Enrollment at the seven residence centers around Michigan hit 1,661, a 17 per cent jump over 1963. Last year the total for these centers was down 33 per cent from the 1962 figure.

The resident centers are located at Benton Harbor, Grand Rapids, Pontiac, Traverse City, Saginaw, Marquette and the Kellogg Center in East Lansing.

Credit extension course students increased their number by 35 per cent with an enrollment of 1,303. Credit extension courses are offered to off-campus students not enrolled in the resident center program, and both programs are staffed by MSU instructors who travel all over the state.

King said that there were 1964 enrollment increases in every college and at every level. The number of graduate students increased 30 per cent over 1963, and incoming freshmen added over 7,000 to the overall total, topping last year's neophyte number by 25 per cent.

About 85 per cent of the freshmen pre-registered during campus counseling clinics this summer.

Despite the heavy enrollment rise, registration went more smoothly this year, King said.

No Refunds Made On Insurance Fee

No refunds can be made by the University to foreign students who purchased MSU-sponsored health insurance under protest during registration, Comptroller Paul V. Rumpsa said Thursday.

It was incorrectly reported in the State News Thursday that foreign students would get their money refunded if their other insurance policies were adequate, Rumpsa said.

According to University policy, foreign students are required to purchase the health insurance sponsored by All-University Student Government from Aetna Life Insurance Company.

Some foreign students told the State News they expected to get refunds if their other policies proved adequate. One Canadian student said the application of the MSU ruling to Canadian enrollees was being investigated. Rumpsa said that there may be an investigation but as MSU policy stands now, all foreign students must have the University-sponsored insurance.

Dock Strike Injunction Is Sought

NEW YORK (UPI)--A Federal court in New York City has ordered 60-thousand longshoremen on the Atlantic and Gulf Coast to return to work. The injunction was issued at the request of the government, acting under the Taft-Hartley law.

NEW YORK P--The government moved swiftly Thursday toward obtaining an 80-day Taft-Hartley cooling-off injunction to halt a strike by 60,000 dockworkers from Maine to Texas.

Herbert Schmertz, head of a presidential board of inquiry, said he expected to report to President Johnson before the day was over and that a federal court could act by today on issuing an injunction.

Schmertz conferred Thursday with officials of the New York Shipping Association, representing owners, and the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association, (ILA) which called the strike in a contract dispute. Job security was the major issue.

The board's function was to determine whether the strike is imperiling national health and safety.

Bob Harris To Attend White House Dinner

Bob Harris, All-University Student Government president and Bryan, Ohio, senior, will be one of 200 college student leaders to attend a buffet supper and reception at the White House Saturday night.

The party is to honor outstanding student leaders. In a letter to MSU President John A. Hannah, President Lyndon B. Johnson asked him to recommend "a young person...who, while maintaining a good academic record, has also shown special qualities of character, leadership, and interest in college and public affairs. He or she might be the president of the student body, or of the senior class, or of the undergraduate council, or a person who holds no high student office."

The event, from 5 to 9 p.m., will consist of a reception by President and Mrs. Johnson, talks by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz and Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, and a buffet dinner and entertainment at which the President's daughter Lynda will be hostess.

Harris will leave by plane Saturday morning and return Sunday night.

The President said he is inviting the group because "I have a great interest in the young leaders who are emerging in our colleges and would like to get to know them and their thinking as much as I can. With this in mind, I am inviting to the White House a group of student leaders from representative colleges and universities throughout the country."

Harris has been a member of Fresh-Soph Council, West Shaw executive council, Union Board, the men's glee club and ... Key honorary.

He has served as general chairman of the 1963 homecoming, Spartan Spirit director, a cheerleader and public relations chairman of Delta Upsilon fraternity. He also received an Outstanding Junior award.

In the past he has worked on Career Carnival, Water Carnival, Greek Feast and is presently a member of the State News advertising staff.

A Far-seeing Plan; A Short-sighted Flaw

The new motor vehicle registrations which become effective on campus this fall are the result of years of work and planning by MSU officials who anticipated the unbearable traffic congestion which would result when the University grew to its present size.

However, all new rules must be revamped and reconsidered as "bugs" become apparent in their operation.

One of the biggest bugs in the new driving regulations is contained in Article F, No. 2 of the student motor vehicle code.

The article governs full-time MSU staff members who are the spouses of students enrolled for seven or more credits. These employees are not eligible for regular faculty-staff permits. Instead, they are classed with graduate assistants, graduate research assistants, pre-doctoral fellows, assistant instructors and residence hall assistants as "graduate student employes."

For an $18 fee, they may drive anywhere on campus during the day but may not park on North Campus. Those who work on North Campus only pay a $12 fee.

Richard O. Bernitt, director of public safety, explained that there would be a grave shortage of parking space on North Campus if employes who are the spouses of students were allowed to park there.

However, Bernitt's rationale does not explain why such employes are classified with students in the motor vehicle regulations. Why couldn't these employes have been restricted in the faculty-staff regulations rather than in the student code?

Moreover, employes who are student spouses are not eligible to pay their $18 or $12 parking fee through payroll deductions. Instead, they must pay the entire fee at the beginning of the year.

Bernitt said that the reason these employes are denied payroll deductions is that the student motor vehicle regulations do not authorize payroll deductions.

Again, we must ask why employes are governed by student regulations simply because they are married to students.

Moreover, Bernitt added that the University will refund part of the $18 or $12 fee if the employe leaves before the year is up. It seems that payroll deductions would simplify the bookkeeping for the University Business Office in this case.

The restriction of parking privileges of employes who are the spouses of students to South Campus is a measure necessitated by the dearth of parking spaces north of the Red Cedar River.

However, it does not seem justifiable to classify these full-time employes as students and deny them the use of the payroll deduction system to pay their car registration fee.

The restriction of parking of staff members who are spouses of students can and should be written into the faculty-staff motor vehicle code.

Sense And Simplification

Life is a lot simpler at the beginning of the term if academic advising, enrollment and registration aren't all crammed into three days.

Many of the University's 12 colleges have wisely adopted early enrollment procedures for winter and spring terms. For some unknown reason, they have neglected to do the same for fall term.

Since a good portion of the student body and faculty is not on campus during the summer, early enrollment for fall term would necessitate academic advising during the preceding spring.

While some students might decide to change their schedules during the summer, spring enrollment would still cut down on the academic adviser's work load at the beginning of fall term.

Students who have their minds made up early would be freed from the hectic rush of enrollment during registration week. And those who really need academic advising would have a much better chance of getting it.

By The Way

Another comment on the driving ban: we wonder how the lady policemen who are giving out parking tickets are doing. Have they received any offers of dates as bribes for fixing tickets?

On the toilet that wouldn't stop flushing for four hours and 36 minutes: it's too bad the coke machines on campus don't go haywire in the same fashion.

Personality Clashes Hide Real Issues In Election

By SUSAN FILSON, Editorial Editor

As the presidential campaign passes its halfway mark, major issues are becoming increasingly obscured by the sharp personality clashes of this election year.

None of the major candidates have been exempted from personal attacks and, in some cases, downright dirt-dealing. Both parties appear to have delegated the personal infighting to their vice-presidential candidates.

Republican nominee William E. Miller charged several weeks ago that President Johnson owned property in Texas with a covenant restricting Negroes. The Democratic National Committee did some detective work of its own and discovered that Miller's home in Bethesda, Md., also contained a restrictive covenant.

Johnson's property was purchased before the 1948 Supreme Court decision declaring restrictive covenants unconstitutional. As luck would have it, Miller's home was purchased five years after the Court's decision.

The whole incident only seems to illustrate the political axiom that if you deal dirt, you are bound to get it right back.

The "images" of President Johnson and Sen. Goldwater have become issues themselves in the 1964 campaign. While the extensive television coverage of political campaigns in recent elections has given special impetus to concern over "public image," never have the candidates themselves done so much talking on the subject.

Aided by the still unended disclosures of Bobby Baker's nefarious dealings, Goldwater paints a picture of Johnson as a "wheeler-dealer," a slippery political hack.

On the other hand, Johnson and Humphrey characterize Goldwater as a man who would have his country at war in five minutes.

Reports that Goldwater once suffered two nervous breakdowns have also been introduced into the campaign, contributing to the image of the Arizona senator as an "unstable personality." The reports, however, have not been substantiated by concrete evidence.

A great deal of room for exaggeration is conceded to candidates in most campaigns. However, the danger in such a campaign is that generalizations may completely obscure the specific positions and characteristics of candidates. Johnson and Goldwater both know that what they are saying about each other is in many cases gross exaggeration. But does the public also know this?

In Cincinnati this week, Goldwater leveled a charge that President Johnson is "soft on Communism." In Detroit the following day, vice-presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey replied that "that smelly old argument" was "the last gasp of a dying political man," adding that Goldwater would probably drown in the stench of his own words.

This type of an argument is just not useful to voters who want to make an intelligent, informed political decision in November.

Goldwater's "soft-on-communism" charge is one of those blubbery, unsupported generalities which appeal only to persons who demand no evidence to back up statements made during the campaign.

The Democrats have been just as guilty of similar types of generalized invective.

It may be too late in the campaign to hope that the candidates will get down to the basic issues troubling the United States. To this point, personalities rather than problems have been the basis of both the GOP and the Democratic campaigns.

Campus Summary

Last Throes Of Summer

By Michael Kindman

The MSU community, now that fall term has begun, is in a sense going through the last throes of summer, recovering from a series of humorous and some more serious episodes of the summer term.

The term's activities began with as much of a bang as the summer population of campus can muster when the two top contenders for the Republican presidential nomination both came to Lansing within a week of each other.

The two rallies held for Gov. William Scranton and Sen. Barry Goldwater at Capital City Airport were classics of political buffoonery. Scranton sang for his fans, "Oh, how I wish again, I were in Michigan, down on the farm." Goldwater was greeted with signs reading, "Goldwater says in case of attack—pull the wagons into a circle."

The campaign was on. Perhaps the most confused sequence of occurrences around the campus surrounded the institution of the new parking bans on most of the campus and the inauguration of University bus service.

Curbs were torn up all over campus and replaced several inches to several feet from where they had been, to provide turning room for the new buses. The buses themselves were arriving from around the country and were being painted MSU-green and white.

Meanwhile, the campus was still in a summer-sized uproar regarding the right of the University to lock student and faculty cars out on class days. Some of the many questions raised remain unresolved, but are settled by sheer force if not by judicious debate.

While streets and emotions were being disturbed by the imminence of the driving-parking ban, much of the campus was still overrun by construction equipment and workers trying almost frantically to complete the building schedule for fall. A quick look at the new Fee-Akers dorm complex will give some idea of the success of their attempts. Some 2,400 students are now living in a brand-new $12,000,000 replica of a bomb site.

Possibly the main reason for the confusion remaining at the dorms and at other building sites was a series of strikes which halted work on some aspects of the projects and threatened to cut progress off completely. There were few times this summer when some union or other was not complaining about working conditions.

The University found itself caught between the union and management bargaining agents, with nothing to do but assure us that the deadlines would be met.

In a burst of glory and two months overdue, the new International Center opened this summer. Other buildings were so long delayed by strikes that they were hard-pressed to meet opening date deadlines set for fall term. Summer was a nerve-fraying time for both University and contracting company officials.

Also long-awaited, in fact so long that the wait was becoming legendary, was the Bogue Street bridge, which finally opened in August.

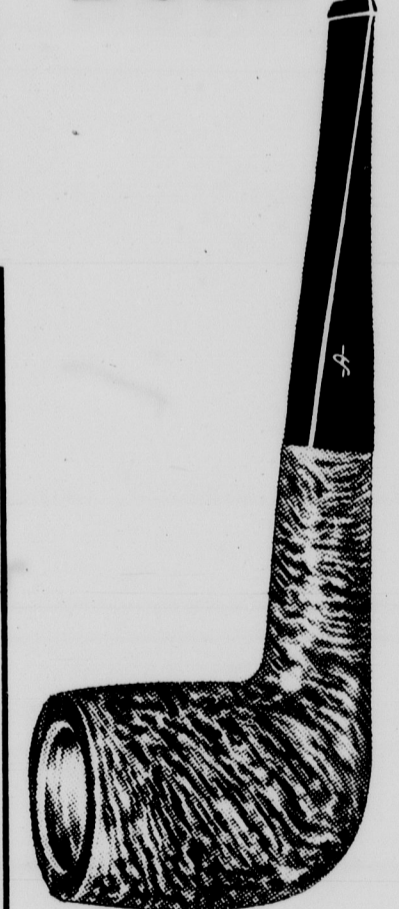

Athletics on campus went into a sort of permanent slump for summer term. About the biggest things going on were the ice skating clinics in Dem Hall and the football practice for this term's varsity team. More interesting were the goings-on at the IM pool, but not as interesting as they might have been if tipless bathing suits had not been banned by the management.

The least funny happenings of the summer concerned racial problems in the area. More than 1,000 East Lansing residents signed a petition opposing an open-housing resolution which had been considered by the City Council.

The campus NAACP chapter, in addition to its usual activities, dealt with the race issue by announcing it would oppose Sen. Goldwater's candidacy for president.

But that was the summer that was around MSU. And the things we did last summer we'll remember—and discuss—all winter long.

Navy Destroyers Identified

U.S. Sailor's Letter Leads To Statement on Sea Battle

DUBUQUE, Iowa (AP)—An Iowa sailor's letter home and a newspaper reporter's diligence prompted the Defense Department Thursday to identify the two U.S. destroyers involved in last month's Gulf of Tonkin shooting incident.

The Pentagon in Washington identified them as the Edwards and the Morton. This confirmed information in a letter written by James J. Kress, a fireman aboard the Edwards, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kress of Dubuque.

Neil Shively, reporter for the Dubuque Telegraph-Herald, had called the letter to the Defense Department's attention and asked for confirmation.

Up to now, the department had refused to identify the two destroyers, which it said fired on four unidentified vessels that menaced them 42 miles off Communist North Viet Nam Sept. 18.

In his letter Kress wrote: "We picked up about seven contacts on the radar screen. The Edwards blew two of them out of the water for certain and shot up another one. I don't know if the Morton destroyed any or not."

The engagement occurred between 8 p.m. Sept. 18 and 1 a.m. the next day, Kress said.

He said two men aboard the Edwards signed statements saying they saw PT boats, although

"I guess the communists said they weren't PT boats."

One PT boat approached to within 2,000 yards of the Edwards

Red Chinese Deny 'Bomb'

TOKYO (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk's statement that Red China may explode a nuclear device soon was termed a fabrication by Communist Chinese sources in Peking Thursday.

A correspondent for the Japanese Kyodo News Service, who arrived in Peking this week under a new exchange of Japanese and Chinese newsmen, quoted the sources as saying Rusk's statement was "without root or leaves."

The sources said "No one--not even Chairman Mao Tze-Tung or President Liu Shao-Chi--knows when Communist China will explode a nuclear device."

before it was sighted and destroyed, Kress said.

He added that there was "a fairly big investigation over it all."

Two days after the incident the Communists said three ships were sunk.

Kress said that the Edwards was on "general quarters" (battle stations) for the five-hour period and at the time he wrote the letter the ship was on 24-hour standby at Subic Bay in the Philippines.

oceanographic studies then underway.

The location of the hull was not definitely pinpointed until Thursday. There has been no report concerning location of the remains of any of the 129 crewmen.

This summer, the Navy sent an improved bathyscaphe, the Trieste II, to the area, along with a cargo ship and a salvage vessel.

weather bureau had added the entire Texas Gulf Coast to a hurricane watch already extending from Lake Charles, La., eastward to Mobile Ala.

The hurricane watch—one step below a hurricane warning—continued in effect along the Texas coast and east of the Mississippi River to Mobile.

The forecasters said Hilda—still growing in size and strength—should continue on its northwestward course at eight miles an hour for the next 12 to 18 hours, then make a slow turn northward.

Winds and tides were expected to increase from Galveston, Tex., to Mobile with winds reaching gale force tomorrow.

Anxious Louisiana coastal inhabitants, mindful of previous killer hurricanes, streamed inland throughout the day. Some schools were closed. Millions of dollars worth of offshore oil rigs were deserted to storm-whipped seas. Ships scurried to safe harbors.

The National Red Cross sent in 65 disaster workers to assist local Red Cross chapters in setting up refuge centers. Civil Defense organizations sprang into action.

Residents of low-lying areas of Cameron Parish in Southwestern Louisiana were ordered to evacuate their homes before midnight. Schools in nearby Lake Charles opened to house them.

Cameron bore the brunt in 1957 of Hurricane Audrey, which hurricane authorities estimate took 550 lives and caused $150 million property damage.

Hurricane Hilda wallowed in the Gulf on the 71st anniversary of the most destructive hurricane ever to hit this area. Records show 1,000-2,000 persons died in a hurricane that struck the gulf coast Oct. 1-2, 1893.

Hilda, spawned off the Cuban coast just two days ago, became the season's most powerful hurricane at midday. Its winds at that time surpassed those of Cleo which struck lower Florida at 140 miles an hour in August.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau at 1 p.m. (CST) said Hilda continued to gather strength as she churned northwestward at six miles an hour. The hurricane is expected to continue on this course, then veer northward early today.

They Liked Cigars Better

ST. LOUIS 1--William R. Farmer, 40, of suburban Lemay has found a new way to herald the birth of a child.

After the birth of his new son, Farmer made a sign saying "It's a boy," ran it up a 15-foot flag pole in his front yard and waited to see if anyone would salute.

Farmer and his wife, Connie, already have one child, William Jr., 2. They want 10. So, Farmer expects to keep the sign around.

Farmer said only two of his neighbors saluted his sign. He said most of them thought the idea was unique but they preferred the more conventional cigar announcement.

Greek Queen Mother Alarmed By Story

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—The wrath of Queen Mother Frederika, a shrewd and courageous fighter, has been kindled by press reports that a $100,000 annual pension would be used to tempt her into retiring to Austria.

The reports said the government wanted Frederika, 47, to retire to her family estate in Austria and had proposed parliament vote her the pension to get her to leave the country.

Frederika often was accused of political meddling and undue influence over the late King Paul.

Her critics fear she might try to dominate King Constantine, 24, her son, Constantine, married Sept. 18 to Princess Anne-Marie of Denmark, still is on his honeymoon.

A government spokesman announced tersely that the pension issue was "now considered a closed subject." But it is doubtful if the political tempest swirling around her will subside.

Frederika has been a focus of political controversy for years. Political opponents have accused her and the rest of the Greek Royal House of living too lavishly at public expense.

A charming woman, the German-born Queen Mother is a formidable opponent.

During the most desperate days of Greece's struggle with Communist rebels after World War II, Queen Frederika and her late husband took an active part in the country's fight.

In private conversation, she will tell you that hostile leftist elements try to attack Greece by attacking her.

"But I'll never surrender to them," she says.

Graduate Students Given Medals

Two Air Force officers now doing graduate work at MSU were presented the nation's Air Medal and the Air Force Commendation Medal September 18.

Lt. Colonel George A. Davies, professor of Air Science, presented the awards to Capt. Anthony E. Rodman and Capt. Donald A. Murray, both graduate students in applied computer science, for meritorious performances in Southeast Asia.

Rodman and Murray both graduated from San Francisco State College with degrees in business. They are now enrolled in MSU under the Air Force Institute of Technology program.

Rodman of Santa Cruz, Calif., was awarded the Air Medal for meritorious achievement as a navigator in South Vietnam from November 11 to December 20, 1963.

The citation accompanying his award stated, "...the airmanship and courage exhibited by Captain Rodman in the successful accomplishment of combat support missions, under extremely hazardous conditions, including continuous harassment by unfriendly forces, demonstrated his outstanding proficiency and steadfast devotion to duty."

The exact nature of the "combat support missions" was not revealed.

The Air Force Commendation Medal was presented to Murray of San Francisco, Calif., in recognition of his meritorious service as comptroller for the Southeast Asia Communications Region from May 21, 1962, to June 10, 1964.

As the first comptroller assigned to 13th Air Force headquarters at Clark Air Force Base, Philippines, he was responsible for the budgeting, contracting and accounting for all communication and electronic facilities at all Air Force installations south of Japan.

Murray also helped devise a highly effective system to control the individual operations of the many communications outposts scattered throughout the Southeast Asian area under 13th AF control.

ease in one's mind," he said. "Many students will not take chances with it like they do with flu."

Students with colds or with egg and chicken allergies were not given influenza vaccine. The vaccine viruses are cultured on chick embryos, producing a vaccine which would intensify the allergy, Feurig said. Colds are also intensified by the vaccine.

Feurig expects a few hundred students to come to Olin before the end of October for the immunization, after their colds are cured.

WMSB Has Stokowski

Sen. Douglas To Speak In Lansing

Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., will campaign for Michigan Democrats at an Ingham County rally scheduled at 7 p.m., Sunday in the auditorium of The Inn-America Motor Hotel, 2736 E. Grand River, Lansing.

A former economics professor at the University of Chicago, Douglas is a member of the Senate Banking and Finance Committee.

He is the author of the Truth in Lending Bill, which would compel merchants to put down in black and white the true annual interest rate and dollar charges for credit on purchases made on time.

Douglas was among those most active in championing the Civil Rights Law. He participated in the recent Senate filibuster against the apportionment rider sponsored by Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill.

The senator will be introduced by a former student of his, Orden Smucker, of the Sociology Department.

The public is invited. There will be an opportunity to talk to the senator at a coffee hour following his discussion.

This is the average man. The men studying him aren't.

Putting together thousands of measurements, Air Force scientists designed this "typical" head. Its purpose? To help provide better protective equipment for Air Force flying personnel.

But the young men working on this project are far from average. As Air Force officers, they are working in a field that requires a high degree of technological insight.

The fact is, most Air Force jobs today call for advanced, specialized know-how. And they give young officers the opportunity to undertake vital missions of great responsibility. For instance, an Air Force scientist may be exploring the complex field of aerodynamics. Another may be engaged in bioenvironmental engineering. A third may be studying the technology of nuclear weapons.

How many other professions give a young man such important work to do right from the start?

You can get started on an Air Force officer career by enrolling in Air Force ROTC. For information, see the Professor of Air Science.

Luther Chapel Has Unique Construction

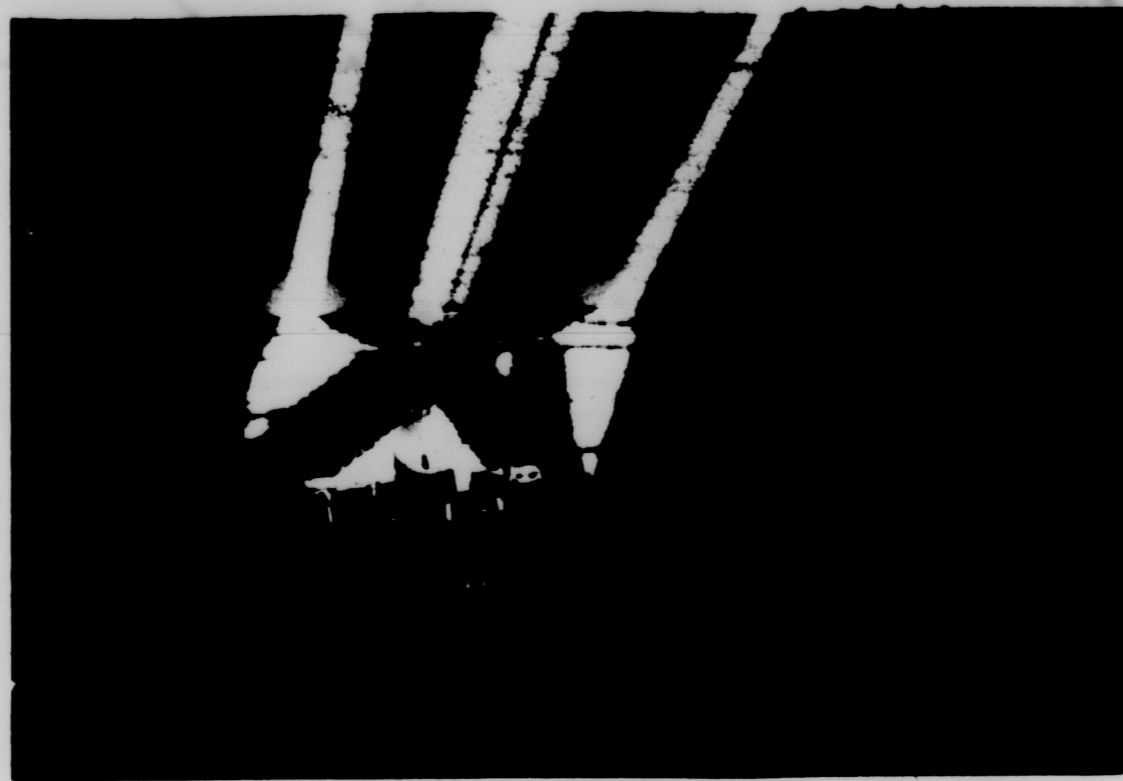

The new Martin Luther Chapel Lutheran Student Center, located at 444 Abbott Road, is truly unique work of art and architecture. The Chapel is of 16th century Scandinavian design, with an arch that has won critical acclaim.

The interior of the chapel is diamond-shaped, with the altar in the center and the pulpit at the north end. The special altar, communion rails, baptismal font, and pulpit have not yet been installed.

The Chapel seats 336 persons. Glass partitions open into the narthex, where an additional 100 persons can be accommodated.

The walls of the Chapel are constructed of hand-made bricks and the steeply sloping roof is shingled with hand split cedar shakes.

Besides the chapel itself, the upper level of the building houses work rooms, the pastor's study,

Probe Of Violence Arrests 3 Men

McCOMB, Miss., (AP)—State and federal officers charged three white men Thursday with two racial bombings in this jittery southwest Mississippi area—the first break in a broad investigation into summer violence.

Sheriff R.R. Warren reported officers arrested Paul Dewey Wilson of McComb after spotting weapons in his car Wednesday night.

"He finally broke down," Warren said, "and told us a little bit of what had happened. He implicated the other two."

Paul Wilson was jailed at Magnolia and the other two were moved to Jackson for questioning.

Distr. Atty. Joe Piggott said all were held without bond for the Pike County grand jury convening Monday.

First announcements of the arrests came from Gov. Paul Johnson in Jackson and FBI director J. Edgar Hoover, who identified the three as:

Wilson, a 25-year-old railroad employee who was moving from McComb to Jayess in adjoining Lawrence County when officers stopped his car under a policy of checking vehicles.

Ernest Frederick Zeeck, 25, of McComb, an employee of an auto accessory firm.

And Jimmy Princeton Wilson, 38, of McComb, a service station employee not related to Paul Wilson.

All three were charged under a state law against unlawful use of explosives, which can carry the death penalty.

Constitutional Amendment Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., introduced today a proposed new Senate rule to require roll call votes on all proposed Constitutional amendments offered for submission to the states for ratification.

Such amendments require a two-thirds vote of approval.

Stennis' proposal grew out of the recent passage by voice vote of a Constitutional amendment on Presidential succession. Later at his request, the Senate reconsidered its action, and re-passed the proposed amendment by a 65-0 roll call vote.

Tavern Owners Seek End To 'Chain-Reaction' Suits

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)--The Michigan Licensed Beverage Association will make another attempt to outlaw the chain-reaction lawsuits against tavern owners who sell alcoholic beverages to persons who become intoxicated and become involved in accidents.

The association, which represents 3,000 tavern owners and others dealing in alcoholic beverages, wants amended legislation to pin-point the liability to the establishment which sells the buyer who has had too many. Similar legislation has been vetoed by two governors after having passed the House and Senate but will be reintroduced at the next session of the legislature, according to Derwood L. Root of Lansing, Root is president of the association, which is holding its annual convention here.

In some cases when a drunk driver is involved in a crash, the suits include everyone in some cases who sold him a drink that day, Root said.

"Under existing laws," Root said, "a tavern owner who sells someone his first drink in the morning is liable despite the number of taverns the subject may have gone into the rest of the day and despite the amount of alcohol he may have consumed before becoming involved in the accident."

Sen. William Milliken of Traverse City, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, represented Gov. Romney at the convention and gave his views on the subject.

Neil Staebler, Democratic candidate for governor, will speak Tuesday afternoon.

Another measure which the association will reintroduce in the next session of the legislature, is a bill to permit Sunday liquor sales if it is approved in local referendums.

The legislature has a committee studying the Sunday sale proposal.

Cape Kennedy Has Lived Down Its Humble Start

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla., (AP)--Fifteen years ago yesterday this missile and space center officially was activated. Back then, the incredible things happening here today were considered the dreams of lunatics or the plots of science-fiction thrillers. On Oct. 1, 1949, the joint long range proving ground--as it was called then--came into being with headquarters at Banana River Naval Air Station.

Preparation for the first launching, on July 24, 1950, resembled a small traveling carnival. The missile was a makeshift vehicle called a "Bumper", the result of mating a captured German V-2 rocket with an Army WAC-Corporal.

The launching gantry was a plumber's nightmare--a 60-foot-tall labyrinth of pipe and scaffolding, weighted at the base by sandbags and festooned with assorted wires, cables and other gear.

Tents were erected to ward off the hot sun and mosquitoes. A jeep raced back and forth on a sandy road leading to the launch site to frighten away poisonous snakes.

After five days of frustrating effort, "Bumper" finally blasted off on a successful flight of 50 miles.

Later that year, a tank served as a blockhouse for the initial firing of a Lark missile.

The changes in 15 years have been astounding. Man has transformed this desolate real estate into a spectacular complex of soaring gantry towers, concrete blockhouses, control centers, hangars, roads and electronic marvels.

Scrub brush still covers much of the land. But beneath it spreads a finely woven network of cables and wires to carry impulses of energy, vital messages and electronic signals that send a missile thundering into the sky.

Originally there were fewer than 100 persons employed here. Now there are 25,000. Brevard County, in which the Cape is located, is the fastest growing, percentage-wise, in the nation.

State Jobless Total Higher

Michigan unemployment was up fractionally in July, although seven of the state's major employment areas had labor gains.

The Michigan Economic Record, a publication of Michigan State University's Bureau of Business and Economic Research, discloses in the current issue that July unemployment was 5.3 per cent. This compares with 5.1 per cent during July, 1963.

Statistics also reveal the state labor market expanded 24,000 in July, from 3,024,000 to 3,048,000.

Saginaw had the lowest rate of its work force unemployed, only 1.9 per cent in July as compared to 2.1 in June. The Upper Peninsula showed an improvement from 7.5 in June to 6 per cent in July, yet it still had the state's highest rate of unemployment.

Percentage improvements were also noted by Benton Harbor, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lansing, and Muskegon. Bay City remained unchanged, while Ann Arbor, Battle Creek, Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids, and Port Huron had fractional losses.

Why Do You Read So Slowly?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique of rapid reading which should enable you to double your reading speed and yet retain much more. Most people do not realize how much they could increase their pleasure, success and income by reading faster and more accurately.

According to this publisher, anyone, regardless of his present reading skill, can use this simple technique to improve his reading ability to a remarkable degree. Whether reading stories, books, technical matter, it becomes possible to read sentences at a glance and entire pages in seconds with this method.

To acquaint the readers of this newspaper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing rapid reading skill, the company has printed full details of its interesting self-training method in a new book, "Adventures in Reading Improvement" mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation. Simply send your request to: Reading, 835 Diversey Parkway, Dept. 5026, Chicago 14, Illinois. A postcard will do.

Exchange Program Started

A two-year faculty exchanging program is being started this fall between the University of Wisconsin and three predominantly Negro colleges--North Carolina College at Durham, North Carolina Agricultural and Technical College at Greensboro and Houston's Texas Southern University.

Visits of Wisconsin faculty members to the three schools will range from consultant stays of one week to a full year in residence.

Combined faculty teams will work on curriculum revision, new teaching techniques, in-service training, preparation of curriculum material, and remedial work at almost every academic level. The possibility of cooperative research programs will also be explored.

Faculty from the three Southern colleges will do some teaching at Wisconsin, complete work for advanced degrees, and generally study the academic life of the university.

A Carnegie Corporation grant is helping finance the exchange program.

Tigers Stall Drive

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Tigers at least postponed an American League pennant victory for New York by taking the Yankees twice Thursday, 4-2 and 5-2.

In the first game, the Tigers had to do it the hard way, scoring three runs in the ninth inning for a come-from-behind win. But in the second game, it was the Tigers all the way.

It's the first time the Yanks have lost both ends of a double-header this year.

However, the Yanks still are the odds-on choice to capture the pennant.

The word from West Coast motion picture experts is that "movies are better than ever," but the same billing could be applied to Coast football as well.

A few years back when a West Coast team played a Big Ten school, it was considered suicide. But times have changed. Coast football has improved rapidly in recent seasons, and now some of the players are as famous as the movie stars.

When Southern California invades Spartan Stadium tomorrow afternoon they will carry with them the rating of number two team in the country and will have every intention of proving that they should remain there, or go a notch higher.

MSU has made a habit of playing a West Coast team once a year, and up until 1962 the Spartans overwhelmingly dominated their western rivals.

During a period from 1946 to 1962 MSU went 16-1-1 against Coast schools with two Rose Bowl victories over UCLA thrown in for good measure.

Two years ago, however, Stanford turned the tide with a 16-13 win over the Green and White, and the Trojans squeaked by 13-10 last year.

The Spartans will not play Southern California next year, but they will resume their rivalry with the Trojans in 1967. The Green and White will, however, play UCLA next season.

In the Rose Bowl, the West Coast representative was victorious only once in the first 14 New Year's games with the Big Ten, but now they've won three of the last five.

The Trojans have two Rose Bowl wins in the Big Ten series; 7-0 over Wisconsin in 1952

Karate Club Formed

A general meeting for all male students and faculty members interested in partaking in a newly formed karate club will be held Monday 7:30 p.m. at 208 men's intramural building.

Plans for the fall will be discussed at that time by Richard Gerdy, Chicago, graduate student, and a member of the school of Oyama, Tokyo.

Three weekly meetings in the late afternoon are tentatively planned, Gerdy said.

Another Spartan organization with similar activities is the Judo Club, which holds practice and training sessions in its own room, third floor Jenison.

Meeting dates have not yet been announced.

and 42-37 over the Badgers after their national championship year of 1962.

Coach Duffy Daugherty is one who agrees that West Coast ball is on the upward swing.

"Football on the Pacific Coast is getting stronger all the time," he said.

"In fact, it's probably stronger now than ever before in its history."

Daugherty attributes this to a strong junior college football system where players can participate for two years against good competition before transferring to a large school.

"Most of those transfer students have more game experience than some of our seniors," Daugherty said.

This season's Southern California team roster lists five new transfer students who have joined the Trojans after successful junior college careers.

Included on the list is fullback Homer Williams, a speedy junior who earned junior college All-America honors last season.

Williams attended Long Beach Junior College, the largest in the United States, and had a chance to take part in the junior college Metropolitan Conference.

Such an explanation may be deceptively simple, and both Big Ten and Coast teams will have their ups and downs throughout the year.

But after all the facts have been analyzed, one thing is certain: these days when East meets West, anything can happen.

Pep Found In Cereal Box Has Company In Fans

Pep is a cereal, yet every so often the spirited Spartans try to generate some of their own.

Spartans gather at a pre-designated empty lot, unused building, or the Gables in all out effort to produce that mystic ingredient.

They yell, make speeches, sing songs, and have the gayest of times. The sole purpose of these rallies is to capture that "Spartan Pep" which spreads quickly once it is caught.

When 1:30 p.m. Saturday finally arrives, Spartans will head for the stadium with all the pep that they stored up for Saturday's use. Then MSU scores, all the pep that has been brewing for several days will reach its boiling point as the crowd goes into wild frenzy.

Until Saturday, students will continue to rustle and yell. Biggie will draw a few chuckles, and Duffy and the cheerleaders will lead a daring energy-packed crew through two choruses of the MSU Fight Song.

On Saturday all this pep that has been brewing will reach a boiling point or a cooling off period.

In recent years, Spartan pep has been especially high because the Green and White have provided the students with something to cheer about.

Good football and thousands of screaming voices have become a trademark of college life throughout the nation on Saturday afternoons during the fall.

This Saturday will give students another opportunity to display their pep.

If that's not good enough, you can always sport a quarter for the boxed variety made by Tony the Tiger in Battle Creek.

HAUNTING MEMORY: Despite the efforts of cheerleaders, band and even Spartan Head Coach Duffy Dougherty himself, the number 15, the score State gridmen managed in an opening loss to North Carolina, somehow crept into the picture. Photo by Jim Hile

Meetings Slated By 'S' Teams

The opening game is still a long way off for many Spartan athletic teams, but organizational meetings are about to begin.

Golf tryouts for varsity members will begin Sunday at Forest Akers at 8:24 a.m.

The tryouts will continue for five Sundays with the six men posting the lowest total scores earning places on the traveling team that will tour the South during spring vacation.

Freshman and varsity wrestling candidates are invited to a general meeting to be held at 4 p.m. Wednesday in 208, Men's IM.

The Spartan hockey team will have its first practice at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday with returning varsity athletes and last year's freshmen taking part.

Gymnastics Coach George Szypula announces that the Acrobatics Club will meet Thursday on the third floor of Jenson Field House.

All men and women interested in learning gymnastic skills are invited to attend.

Fencing will hold a meeting for both freshman and varsity members Thursday in room 208 of the Men's IM. Frosh needn't have had any experience in the sport.

The tryouts will begin at 5 p.m. and will last one hour.

182 yards in 39 carries for an average of 4.7 yards a try.

The Spartans are well-acquainted with the flashy junior since he ran 52 yards for a touchdown while leading the Trojans to a 13-10 win over MSU at Los Angeles last year.

Heller is the Trojans' second-leading ground gainer with 135 yards in 26 carries for a 5.2 yard average.

Sherman has picked up 45 yards in four attempts this year from his fullback slot.

Calling signals for USC will be Craig Fertig who Coach Duffy Daugherty said he thinks is a better passer than Pete Beathard who led the West Coast team to the national title two seasons ago and helped defeat the Spartans last year.

So far, Fertig has lived up to that billing with 21 completions in 39 tries for 302 yards and a touchdown in the Trojans' first two games.

Up front, the visitors will have the services of a hard-charging line that has proved itself last and versatile and able to give USC back plenty of protection.

Spartan Coach Favors Cards In National League Race

By DUANNE LANCASTER
State News Sports Writer

STATE'S LITWHILER

While the National League pennant race has become an outright scramble this season between the surging Cincinnati Reds, St. Louis Cardinals and the faltering Philadelphia Phillies, there is one man who might find it hard to pick a favorite.

Michigan State baseball Coach Danny Litwhiler, who played for all three clubs during his 12-year major league career, does have some opinions on the triple battle however. Litwhiler said he feels the Cardinals hold the edge since the St. Louis club closes out the 1964 season with the hapless New York Mets while the Phillies and Reds must face each other in the season's finale.

"I think the Cardinals will sneak in while the Reds and Phillies eliminate each other," says Litwhiler, "but in baseball you never know and the Mets will go all out to knock the Cards out of the picture."

"The pressure is on the Reds," he said, "because the Phillies, who are in a long losing streak should win a few more just by the law of averages."

CARDS' KEANE

REDS' HUTCHINSON

Currently, the Cardinals, managed by Johnny Keane, lead the pack by a game.

The fact that the Phillies have played one more game and are trailing by three in the important loss column all but counts out Manager Gene Mauch's crew.

Mauch, almost everyone's pick for Manager-Of-The-Year honors a month ago, has seen his Phillies experience the worst late-season slump for a pennant contender since the 1951 Dodgers, and may have lost the award.

Keane, who has been under fire with the Cardinal brass, looks as though he may retain the honor he won a year ago when he piloted the Cards to a second place finish.

Cincinnati skipper Dick Sisler has led the Reds on a tremendous pennant drive since he took over in mid-season and is a serious contender for the award even though he hasn't managed all season.

The Reds have been playing inspired ball under Sisler in an attempt to win the pennant for Fred Hutchinson who is stricken with lung cancer.

Hutchinson guided the Cincinnati club during the first stages of the season and his serious condition has made the Reds play all the harder.

Buildings, Shelter Open

Spartan recreational facilities, including the Men's IM Building, its accompanying fields, Jenison Fieldhouse, the Women's IM and the canoe shelter will maintain full operations this fall.

The shelter, weather permitting, will be open weekdays, 1-12 p.m., and weekends, noon to midnight.

For teams practicing for the upcoming intramural football tournament, fields will be lighted nightly until 9 o'clock. Teams may reserve a field for 45 minute segments at either 6, 6:45, 7:30 or 8:30 p.m.

SOCCEMEN INVADE PURDUE

Confidence Takes Back Seat To Caution

Michigan State's soccer team, enjoying favorable odds similar to those of Southern California, this week's gridiron opponent, takes on Purdue University Saturday in the first road game.

With a 6-1 opening win behind them and a second consecutive undefeated conference slate the target, State will be gunning for a repeat of last year's 14-1 drubbing at the Botlermaker's expense.

If not that, then the 13-2 score of three years' back or the 17-0 smothering handed Purdue in 1960 (a highwater mark for State). Yet things don't stack up as simple in the mind of Coach Gene Kenney.

Instead of these decisions, Kenney thinks continuously of the narrow 3-1 win State barely managed two years' back and the 3-2 and 5-4 victories when State first initiated the sport of soccer.

Why these, when almost every other score over the years would make even the success of the Spartan football team seem un-spectacular?

Talent--Purdue talent--is the reason Kenney taps at.

Something new? Nope, the same talent as last year, the season before that, and so on.

"Individually, their fellows are great," Kenney said, "but when it comes to working the ball around, they never seem to get together."

"Our fellows, on the other hand, strive toward good ball handling and passing 'til the best man is in the best position for scoring," he said.

And no doubt it's struck for fire more times than it hasn't (a 61-7-3 soccer past indicates that). But the old adage "fight fire with fire" could be kindled any time.

U-M Skipper Talking Down Wolverine's Slam-Bang Start

By BILL BULLARD
Sports Editor
The Michigan Daily

ANN ARBOR--Coach "Bump" Elliott's Michigan Wolverines seem intent on entering the Big Ten race as the darkhorse candidate for the championship after an impressive 24-7 victory over Air Force in the season opener here last Saturday.

A tough fight with highly-rated Navy is on tap for this Saturday before the Wolverines drive up to East Lansing for the following Saturday, aiming for their first victory over Michigan State since 1955.

In the first game of the season, Michigan made many mistakes including five penalties and three fumbles. But Elliott said after the game that he was pleased with the overall play of the team and hoped to eliminate more and more errors from the Wolverines' game as the season progresses.

Air Force Coach Ben Martin said, "I think Michigan can go a long way once their team jells." Michigan piled up 311 yards rushing and 91 yards passing in a powerful offensive display. Quarterback Bob Timberlake completed seven of 15 passing attempts and also ran for 80 yards to top the rushers.

Martin praised the diversified Wolverine attack and commented, "Michigan has a quarterback who can throw the ball. But when he can't get rid of it he keeps the ball and gains yardage by running with it."

Senior fullback Mel Anthony picked up 79 yards on the ground and starting sophomore halfbacks Jim Detwiler and Carl Ward gained 72 and 51 yards, respectively. Ward averaged 8.5 yards per carry and Detwiler averaged 6.5 yards to lead the offense in that department.

Detwiler played in place of injured junior John Rowser. Rowser should be ready for action this week but chances are that he'll now concentrate on defense. He spent most of last season as a starting back in the defensive secondary.

This is an area where the Wolverines showed the need for the greatest improvement last Saturday. The Falcon passing attack accounted for 230 yards on 23 completed passes out of 40 attempts.

Air Force scored its lone touchdown on a pass from quarterback Tim Murphy to halfback Dick Czarnota, on a fake field goal play.

Michigan's defensive secondary included sophomore Rich Sygar at safety and sophomore Rich Volk and junior Dick Wells at halfback posts.

Senior Dick Rindfuss spelled Wells quite a bit. Volk intercepted a pass in the end zone for a touchback in the first quarter to prevent an Air Force touchdown.

The other big question mark for the Wolverines this season is the interior line. Offensive line coach Tony Mason was generally pleased with the play of his charges against Air Force. "If Air Force was supposed to be tough on the line, then we were just much tougher. However, I'll expect improvement next week."

The defensive line held the Falcons to only 77 yards rushing. Veteran junior linebackers Tom Cecchini and Chuck Deilin helped out the line in controlling the Falcon rushing attack.

Cecchini charged through the line on one occasion to nail Murphy for a loss and sophomore linebacker Frank Nunley also did this on the first play that he was in the game.

Michigan's offensive line is composed of ends Steve Smith, a junior, and John Henderson, a senior; and tackles Chuck Kines and Tom Mack, juniors; guards Dave Butler and John Marcum, seniors; and senior center Brian Patchen. Kines, Mack, and Butler have not played enough for the Wolverines to letter yet. And this inexperience is the primary worry about the line strength.

On defense are ends Captain Jim Conley and Bill Laskey, seniors; tackles Arnie Simkus, a senior, and Bill Yearby, a junior; and guards Bill Keating, a non-lettering junior, and senior Rich Hahn.

Yearby and Cecchini are the two standouts among the linemen according to Elliott. Yearby is 6'2", 235-pounds, and has been mentioned on several pre-season All-American teams. Cecchini was named UPI Lineman-of-the-Week after the Michigan State game last season but broke a leg in the next game and was out for the season.

Elliott and his coaching staff are talking down Michigan's championship hopes. When the Big Ten Skywriters were here Elliott stressed the problems that his team faced and the tough opposition that the other Big Ten teams would provide.

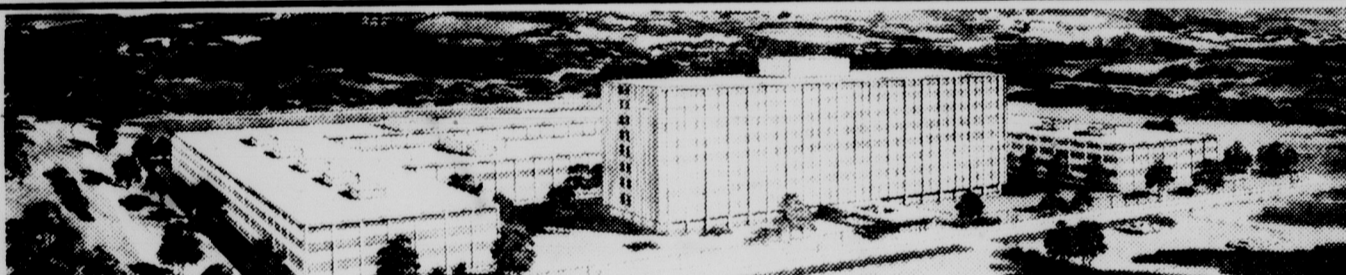

But it is clear from last Saturday that some of the team's problems are being at least partially solved. If enough of them are solved, Michigan should have a shot at the title.

Wages range to $400 monthly and the American Student Information Service awards travel grants to registered students. Those interested should send $2 to Dept. T, ASIS, 22 Ave. de la Liberte, Luxembourg City, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg and request the ASIS 26-page booklet listing and describing every available job, and a travel grant and job application.

THE National Security Agency is a totally unique organization

... and offers creative research opportunities in the art and science of sophisticated communications

There is absolutely no other organization like it. It is the only organization doing the same important work, or offering the same wealth of opportunity for imaginative thinkers in the Liberal Arts, as well as the Physical and Engineering Sciences.

The National Security Agency is a major research arm of the Department of Defense, but its influence and responsibilities are far broader. It works closely with many industrial and research institutions; it has special access to scientific information at universities and other Government laboratories; and it enjoys close consulting arrangements with scientists of commanding stature. NSA staff members enjoy all the benefits of Federal employment without the requirements imposed by the Civil Service system.

What does NSA do that warrants this unique stature?

NSA approaches the subject of sophisticated communications from these original standpoints:

1. Creating secure communications systems and equipments unknown anywhere else, and devising special refinements for computers & edp systems that will increase our handling capabilities. This means that Communications Engineers, Computer Design Specialists, Mathematicians, Programmers, and Systems Analysts, all contribute to the design of antennas, transmitters, receivers, and terminal equipment... to experiments using new semiconductors, magnetic film, superconductive devices, etc., resulting in new logic circuits and memory units, better high-gain arrays for LHF-radio systems, higher-capacity data handling terminal equipment, more effective speech band-width compression... and scores of similar advances.

2. By the very nature of "secure" communications, assuring the continuing invulnerability of U.S. communications through cryptologic procedures and techniques. Because cryptology and its cryptographic counterpart are not taught elsewhere, mathematicians, scientists, and all others with appropriate intellectual curiosity will be taught this challenging new discipline right at NSA. Work in this field may involve specially-designed computers, television, computer-to-computer data links, and edp programming. (Even music, philosophy, or the classics may be useful prerequisites for cryptology!)

3. Translating written data, and presenting the crux of the material in meaningful form. This is the home of the linguistics expert and the languages graduate, enabling the talented graduate to make the most of his or her particular gift, and quickly expand familiarity with other tongues.

In all that NSA does, there is seldom any existing precedent. Only NSA pioneers in secure communications on this broad a scale, so only NSA offers the college graduate the best chance to make immediate use of his disciplined thinking... without years of post-graduate experience. All these features--together with its well-instrumented laboratories, libraries, and professional staff of specialists in amazingly varied fields--provide a stimulating academic atmosphere for individual accomplishment.

On-Campus Interviews for Mathematicians and Engineers will be held later. Consult your Placement Office for dates.

NSA is located in expanding facilities at Fort George G. Meade, Maryland--halfway between Washington and Baltimore. It is handy to transportation facilities, the University of Maryland and Johns Hopkins, suburban or rural living (in town living, too), now that the new circumferential highways are completed... and the Chesapeake Bay resort region.

LIBERAL ARTS SENIORS: Your PQT Application must be mailed before October 14th. This is most important: To apply for an NSA position, all students EXCEPT Mathematicians, Engineers, and Physicists must take the PROFESSIONAL QUALIFICATION TEST. Schedules for this test are available in the application card enclosed inside... fill out and mail in the application card enclosed inside... and bring to the test the ticket you will receive by mail. Even if you are not sure of your career interests yet, get the facts on NSA opportunities now.

Insured Public Pays For 'Claim Padders'

LANSING (UPI)—If you buy auto insurance you're one of the persons who foots the bill for the auto insurance "claim padder."

J. H. Mc Cormick, manager of personnel and training for the Auto Owners Insurance Company, said the insurance buying public pays when a valid claim is "padded" by the man who decides the rear-end of his car was damaged when he ran into a tree.

"The rear-end was probably damaged sometime last year, but the padder claims his car swung around and the insurance buyers pay," Mc Cormick said.

"The cost is simply passed onto the public—and to the padder," Mc Cormick said.

"For the past 10 years car insurance has been mostly a losing business but insurance firms offer it as a kind of sideline to the home owner who has other types of insurance with the company—hospitalization, fire and life," Mc Cormick claimed.

Despite the unprofitability of auto insurance, Mc Cormick said, "In the past 25 years car insurance companies have improved services at relatively lower costs."

Auto owners can now insure themselves against the uninsured driver who runs into them. "Our industry's answer to the problem of the uninsured driver is added insurance to the policy of any individual carrying liability."

"The coverage is so nominal in cost, its widespread use should be encouraged," Mc Cormick said.

He added some companies even insure the man whose credit cards have been stolen and used.

"The severity and increase in the number of car accidents are the important factors in increasing insurance costs. Cars are more powerful and faster than ever before and accidents more expensive," Mc Cormick said.

"These factors are the most important in determining costs. The 'claim padder' is fairly rare and we assume most claimants are honest," Mc Cormick said.

Lee Matthews, manager of the Michigan Insurance Information Service, said that state insurance companies paid $50 million more in 1963 than in 1958 for car damage repair and injuries.

"In the past five years," Matthews said, "claim payments have jumped about 42 per cent but premiums have risen only 21 per cent."

Matthews said, "Hospital costs have gone up to about $40 a day for average patient care. In 1958 average hospital patient care was about $32 a day."

DALLEY

Violinist To Play Sunday

John Dalley, a talented young American violinist, will present a guest recital Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Music Auditorium.

He will perform the "Sonata for Flute and Violin in G Major" by J. S. Bach, the "Sonata in A Major" by Cesar Franck, "Three Caprices" by Niccolò Paganini, the "Madrigrig Sonata" by Bohuslav Martinu and "Tzigane" by Maurice Ravel. Dalley will be assisted by his wife Nancy, flutist; and pianist Henry Harris of the MSU music faculty.

The guest artist began his study of the violin when he was four. He later attended the Curtis Institute where he studied with Efram Zimbalist.

A former member of the Oberlin Conservatory of Music, Dalley is now a member of the Guarneri String Quartet, in residence at Harpur College of the State University of New York.

The young violinist was a featured performer at the 1964 Marlboro, Vt., Summer Music Festival, along with such musical figures as Pablo Casals and Rudolf Serkin. During 1962 Dalley toured Europe and Russia as concertmaster of the Robert Shaw Chorale.

Tickets for his recital will be available at the auditorium before the performance.

Valentino Fades

GREENVILLE, Ohio (UPI)—There is at least one indication that onetime Hollywood idol Rudolph Valentino is losing his appeal—even for those who saw him in his heyday. In Greenville, Mrs. Robert Norris bought an autographed picture of the late Valentino at a flea market sale—and paid only $10 for it.

Brandstatter began 12 days of extensive training Sept. 28, at the 207 year-old WAR College at Carlisle Barracks, Pa.

Brandstatter will join with 15 other commissioned reserve officers in a short course reviewing current strategic military concepts and global capabilities.

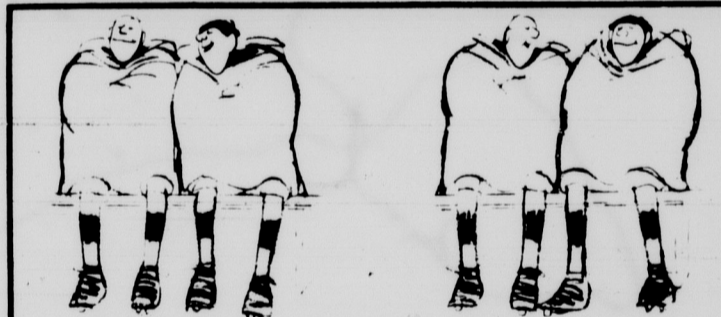

The course will also include a thorough review of the federal government and military service support of national security policies.

Lecturer To Tour Alps In Balloon

Phil Walker takes his audience over the Alps in a basket balloon in "Incomparable Switzerland," first of the 1964-65 World Travel Series.

Part of a series that explores every continent of the globe, the film will be shown Saturday, 8 p.m., in the Auditorium.

Walker flew over the Alps in a balloon of the same type used on the first flight 50 years before. He photographed the trip past the Matterhorn for this film.

In the film Walker also records for his audiences the burning of Old Man Winter and a visit to a bank in Zurich; the Matterhorn and its automobileless village of Zermatt; skiing in Engelberg; and the centuries old Jaquet-Droz mechanical dolls of Neuchatel.

Walker visits Landsgemeinde where citizens still vote by raising hands in the public square, a wine cellar in Lausanne, Geneva, and the capital city of Bern. His journey encompasses the variety of Swiss life.

In 1953 Phil Walker resigned from NBC in San Francisco where he had been a producer and writer and he and his wife, Florence, became full time partners in their present occupation of making travel motion pictures.

Walker has traveled the Americas, Europe, Asia, the South Pacific, and Australia. He has been behind both the Iron Curtain and the Bamboo Curtain.

On one of his voyages Walker sailed a seventy-five foot boat from Sydney, Australia to the Philippines. He has lectured more than a thousand times.

Second film scheduled in the World Travel Series is "Portraits of Mexico," with Curtis Nagel, October 10. It reveals Mexico, from modern Mexico City and the tropical resort of Acapulco to ancient Indian pyramids at Teotihuacan and the ceremonial sundancers of Mitla.

Other films coming in the series are "Provincial France," Oct. 17; "Intrusion" (Florida), Nov. 6; and "Only in Portugal," Nov. 7.

New Jet Fighter Builds Air Defense

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A new jet fighter designed to knock down any bomber known in the world bolted down a runway and into the sky Wednesday in a breath-taking display of new U.S. defense might.

The YF12A, once called the A-11, was deliberately kept below its plus-2,000-mile-an-hour top speed in the demonstration—first public showing since the interceptor was announced by President Johnson last February. Air Force officers told newsmen the YF12A has more than doubled the range at which U.S. fighters can intercept invading bombers and is "many times superior" to current aircraft such as the F106 in detecting and knocking down hostile aircraft.

Also disclosed for the first time was a 2,000-mile-an-hour missile called AIM 47, which the twin-tailed YF12A carries in its thin, 90-foot-long fuselage. The initials AIM stand for air intercept missile.

Opera Proves Key To Conductor Solti

For George Solti, present director of the London Symphony Orchestra, opera conducting has proved the key to high acclaim and world travel.

The tour that brings Solti and the London Symphony to perform in the Auditorium, 8:15 p.m., Monday, will eventually take them to Japan, Korea, Hong Kong, India, Iran, Turkey, and Israel. Solti's performance of two works by British composer Benjamin Britten brought the conductor universal praise. Solti conducted a revival of Britten's "Billy Budd" in honor of the composer's fiftieth birthday this January.

Previously, before taking over as musical director of the Covent Garden Opera in 1959, he had boosted his already well-established reputation with a performance of Britten's "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

The young Solti showed high proficiency as both a concert pianist and an accompanist, but he turned to conducting and was engaged by the Budapest Opera in his native Hungary.

It was his association with Toscanini at the 1937 Salzburg Festival that proved the turning point and definitely established his love for opera conducting.

Forced to flee Hungary for Switzerland at the outbreak of the war in 1939, Solti found no opportunity to work as a conductor until appointed as musical director of the Bavarian State Opera in Munich in 1946.

During his six years with the State Opera he also conducted in Vienna, Berlin, Paris, Rome, Florence, and the Teatro Colon in Buenos Aires. While serving as artistic and musical director of the Frankfurt City Opera, he traveled to San Francisco, Chicago, the Hollywood Bowl, Lisbon, and Mexico.

Deadline Set For Study Grants

WASHINGTON (CPS)--The application deadline for foreign study grants for next year under the Fulbright Act and the Buenos Aires convention is Nov. 1.

Approximately 1,000 grants are available under the Fulbright Act, and two grants for each Central and South American country are available under the Buenos Aires convention.

Applicants must have a B.A., present an acceptable plan of graduate study, be U.S. citizens, and preferably know the language of their host country.

Applications for both programs are available from the Institute of International Education, 1 E. 67 St., New York 1, N.Y.

Low College Board Scores, Poor Grades Linked By Report

AUSTIN (CPS)--Students with low scores on their College Board admission tests have about one chance in 10 of passing university course work, if the results of a University of Texas "provisional registration" project are any indication.

Of 41 high school graduates who attended the University's summer session under the plan, only four earned the necessary grades to enroll as regular students in the fall.

Students who accept "provisional registration" status must make at least four "C's" during the summer session--taking two courses in each of the two six-week terms. Their choices are limited to the basic subjects of English, foreign languages, mathematics and natural science. Seven students satisfied the grade requirement in the first summer term, while 21 dropped out before the term ended and 13 failed to reach the "C" plateau.

Of the seven who went through the second six-week term, four achieved the necessary grades and two did not. One student was released from "provisional registration" when she repeated the College Board test and made a satisfactory score for admission.

In the first summer term, provisional students registered for 246 semester hours of course work which resulted in one "A", three "B's", 24 "C's", 12 "D's" and 42 "F's", incompletes or dropped courses. Second term grades were one "A", three "B's", six "C's", two "D's" and two "F's" in 42 semester hours of course work.

MSU-Civil War Ties Told In New Book

The effects of the Civil War on MSU, then Michigan Agricultural College, are related by Madison Kuhn, professor of history here, in a new publication sponsored by the Michigan Civil War Centennial Commission.

"By the end of the war," Kuhn says, "Michigan State had graduated just 17 men, but eight of them, along with 90 former students, had joined the Union Army."

Contributions to the Union cause by the faculty and students of Michigan State University and eight other Michigan colleges are detailed in the publication titled Michigan Institutions of Higher Education in the Civil War.

The book's nine studies are the work of writers, mostly faculty members, especially conversant with the history of their institutions. The Civil War history of Adrian College, Albion, Eastern Michigan University, Hillsdale, Olivet, the University of Michigan, and MSU are included.

Willis F. Dunbar, editor of the book and professor of history at Western Michigan University, notes the surprising fact that attendance suffered so little from the war. Most of the colleges had larger enrollments in 1865 than in 1861.

The book, illustrated with photographs, was made possible by an appropriation of the Michigan Legislature. It is the second in a series on Michigan Civil War contributions. The first dealt with Michigan Women in the Civil War.

Luring Industry Topic Of C.C.

The problem of attracting industry to communities will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber of Commerce executive vice-president Har yr, Hall said the discussion will concern the considerations made in plant location and what is expected of a Chamber of Commerce. The meeting will be held here Oct. 8.

Graduate School Admission Testing Dates Announced

Examination dates for nationwide admission tests into graduate schools, or for graduate study in business, or admission into law schools were announced by the Educational Testing Service today.

The graduate record examinations, required of applicants for admission to many American graduate schools, will be held Nov. 21.

Dates were also set for the four tests to be held in 1965: Jan. 16, March 6, April 24 and July 10.

The GRE tests are a test of general scholastic ability as well as advance level tests of achievement in 18 different major fields of study.

Each applicant is advised to inquire of the graduate school of his choice which of the examinations he should take and on which date.

The Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business, required for entrance by over 100 graduate business schools or divisions throughout the country, will be offered Nov. 7, Feb. 6, April 3, and July 10, 1965.

The Law School Admission Test, required of candidates for admission to most American law schools, will be given Nov. 14, 1964, Feb. 13, April 10, and July 17, 1965.

Candidates for the GRE test who are applying for graduate school fellowships are often asked to take the designated examination in the fall. Candidates for admission to the 1965 classes in business are advised to take the test as early as possible, and those interested in law are advised to take the test in either November or February.

A bulletin of information for those taking the GRE, the Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business, and the Law School Admission test is available. It contains the test registration form, details of registration and administration, and sample questions.

House Passes Bill Expanding ROTC

WASHINGTON - Congress passed and sent to the White House Wednesday a bill expanding the Reserve Officer Training Corps program in both high schools and colleges.

Final passage, which came on a unanimous voice vote in the House, represented a defeat for Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and a victory for Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La.

McNamara, while asking for expansion of the college program, had proposed the elimination of the high school program. This was fought steadfastly by Hebert, chairman of a House armed services subcommittee. In the end, Hebert prevailed.

In its major provisions, the bill would:

1. Expand junior ROTC from 254 high schools to a maximum of 1,200 schools.
2. Continue the present four-year ROTC program in colleges but allow a two-year ROTC program in those colleges that wanted one.
3. Set up a scholarship program for ROTC students in colleges. These scholarships would go up to $850 a year for tuition and books and $500 a year in monthly retainer pay.
4. Increase monthly retainer pay for all upper class ROTC students from $27 a month to at least $40 a month.

Cloud Nine Off Limits

Johnson Spurs Democrats To More Organized Effort

By GEORGE MARDER
United Press International

President Johnson is putting cloud nine off limits for Democratic politicians.

Larry O'Brien of the White House is making the rounds of key election states on an important political assignment.

To carry it out, O'Brien was shifted some weeks ago from his key post as White House contact man with Congress and put in charge of organization for the Democratic campaign effort.

O'Brien was "lend-leased" back to the liaison job for a day and a half last week only because of the urgency of getting a compromise on reapportionment approved and nudging Congress on the way toward adjournment.

In making the rounds of the states, O'Brien...an old prohibitionist...will be dealing with the same politicians he contacted to put together a winning Kennedy organization four years ago. Only this time, he'll be acting in the name of President Johnson and with the full authority of the President behind him.

the state and the local effort... and that the campaign work of labor's political arm...cope... on behalf of Democrats jibes with vote-getting efforts of the regular Democratic organizations.

A political coordinator frequently has to knock heads together to get a winning organization. But O'Brien isn't by nature a head-knocker. He's more of a trouble-shooter.

But even if he doesn't knock heads together O'Brien is to carry word from the President for the politicians to keep off that cloud nine...to forget about the public opinion polls pointing to a Democratic landslide and to remember there's still a hard election to be won.

The President is very much aware that even when Kennedy was elected in 1960, the party lost seats in Congress and that in 1962 it barely held its own. Going into this election, the party holds 25 fewer House seats than it did four years ago and has 25 Senate seats on the firing line as against only nine for the Republicans.

Democratic political strategists figure only a big Johnson landslide can win back the bulk of those House seats and retain the lop-sided control the party now has in the Senate.

They know any letdown between now and November will blast Democratic hopes for a congressional recoup and make things tougher for Johnson at the next session of Congress... assuming he's elected.

SYDNEY, Nova Scotia (AP)—At age 107, Mrs. Jack MacDonald likes music, especially violin, does some dance steps and doesn't wear glasses or use a hearing aid. And she likes the Beatles. "These four boys fascinate me," she told a birthday interviewer. "It's the beat, I guess."
