Socialist Club Merger Causes Controversy

By WILLIAM PRITCHARD
State News Political Writer

The merger of the MSU Young Socialists Club with the controversial W.E.B. Du Bois Club has brought hot dissension within Young Socialists' ranks and resignation of the club advisor. The club voted for association on Oct. 30 with approximately one-half of the members present, Paul Schiff, club president, said. Schiff said there was a mistake about the date of the meeting and he had to call as many members as he could get. Albert Karson, professor of ATL, was against association and was asked to resign by the club, Schiff stated.

He said Karson had taken no active role as advisor in the last year and had interfered with the club when the association question came up.

The W.E.B. Du Bois Club, a national college organization has been denounced as a "Communist front" by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

A source reported that Karson had not been informed about the meeting and had told club officers he wished to resign. Karson declined comment.

Don Potts, Wyandotte senior, said many of the members did not know about the meeting and consequently did not attend. They did not hear of the vote until the minutes were read at Wednesday night's meeting.

Potts said there is a clique within the club that wanted "affiliation." They got enough for a quorum and voted.

The Young Socialists are now trying to get a Communist speaker for the near future, Potts added, and said he felt that it is no longer a Socialist but a Communist club. Schiff commented that there was little strong opposition to associating with the Du Bois group and that only one member had left the club.

He added any member could have introduced a motion to reconsider the move, but none did.

Schiff said the club is trying to bring a Communist speaker to the campus to balance the talk given by Dr. Fred Schwarz of the Anti-Communism Christian Crusade on Oct. 9th.

He said AUGS has already given its tentative approval to the plan.

As yet, he does not know who the speaker will be.

Congress Coffee

Student congress will sponsor a coffee for AUGS members Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Student Services first floor lounge.

The purpose of the meeting is for member of the executive branch to meet new congress representatives.

RUSSELL G. MAWBY

Assistant To Take New Post

Russell G. Mawby, assistant director of the Cooperative Extension Service here, has resigned effective Dec. 31, to become director of agricultural and rural affairs programs of the Kellogg Foundation, Battle Creek.

The MSU board acted on the resignation Thursday at the same time the Kellogg Foundation announced his appointment.

Mawby is a native of Grand Rapids and is nationally recognized for his leadership in the 4-H Club program and community organization activities. He received the B.S. degree from MSU in 1949, the M.S. degree from Purdue in 1951 and the Ph.D. from MSU in agricultural economics in 1959.

Since 1956 he has headed Michigan's 4-H Club program which was cited in 1963 by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture for its "educational leadership."

Opening Set For '66 By Board Of Trustees

Recommendation By AMA, AAMC Prompts Hannah's Delay Suggestion

By JOHN VAN GIESON
State News Editor
and LINDA MILLER

Opening of MSU's two-year medical school in the fall of 1965 was postponed Thursday by the Board of Trustees to allow more time to complete facilities and fill positions.

The action was taken at the Board's November meeting Thursday following a recommendation by President John A. Hannah.

Dr. Andrew D. Hunt, Jr., Dean of the College of Human Medicine, said Hannah's suggestion stems from a recommendation by a joint accreditation committee of the Assn. of American Medical Colleges and the American Medical Assn.

The liaison committee advised Hunt during October meetings of the AMA and AAMC in Denver, Colo., that if MSU were going to have an outstanding medical facility, it should take more time to prepare it.

The committee's site-visiting team was on campus Sept. 28 and 29 to inspect the MSU program.

President Hannah listed three vital areas in which development of the medical facility was lagging:

- a complete facility has not been recruited.
- construction of a teaching laboratory is running behind schedule, partly because of strike-caused work stoppages.
- agreements for working area hospitals have not been settled.

Trustees urged MSU's administration to proceed as expeditiously as possible in getting the program underway.

Dean Hunt hopes the medical school will open in the fall of 1966.

Art Center To Expand Facilities

Kresge Art Center will be expanded to accommodate the increasing number of students seeking art instruction at MSU.

The expansion will be made possible by a $200,000 grant from the Kresge Foundation. The grant, accepted Thursday by MSU's Board of Trustees, will be matched by University funds.

First opened for classroom instruction and art exhibitions in 1959, Kresge Art Center was built with an earlier gift of $1.5 million from the Kresge Foundation.

The building houses 19 classroom studios, a library, visual aids rooms, workroom shops, lounges for students and faculty and a windowless exhibition gallery, walled by moveable partitions.

Student enrollment in art classes has increased some 40 per cent during the last five years, and the number of art majors has doubled, according to Erling Brauner, chairman of the Department of Art.

"As a result," he said, "the department has had to impose severe restrictions on the number of non-art majors in art practice classes."

Brauner pointed out that the new Kresge grant will allow MSU to open its art-practice facilities to many more students than is now possible with current space limitations.

Jury Conscription

CADILLAC (UPI)--C. Ray Freeman, Cadillac Evening News reporter, went into Recorder's court for news Thursday and ended up on a jury.

The jury was one member short for a drunk-driving trial when Freeman entered the room and was conscripted for jury duty by Sheriff Paul Lance.

McNamara To Shutdown Obsolete Air, Naval Bases

WASHINGTON (AP)--Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara Thursday ordered the shutdown of two naval shipyards, six bomber bases and the removal of 150 older intercontinental ballistic missiles which he said "have served their purpose."

The actions were among 95 consolidations, reductions and discontinuances of military bases which he discussed in broad outline Wednesday.

Most of the actions will be completed by mid-1966, and all but one by 1970.

When finished, McNamara said, the actions will produce $477 million in annual savings, and cut manpower by 63,401 "without in any way reducing military effectiveness."

Eighty of the bases and installations are in 33 states and the District of Columbia. The others are in Europe and the Western Hemisphere, but their identity was not disclosed pending discussions with the governments involved.

Although the Pentagon sought to keep a tight lid on details until McNamara's news conference, many of the bases affected were identified by Congressmen, state governors and others ahead of time.

In addition to naval shipyards and bomber bases, McNamara's economy acts struck at Army and Air Force training bases, radar stations, arsenals, ordnance plants and a variety of other military activities which are considered surplus or obsolete.

The Portsmouth Naval Shipyard, Portsmouth, N.H., was scheduled for a gradual shutdown over the next 10 years.

The New York Naval Shipyard in Brooklyn also was ordered closed within six to 18 months.

In addition, McNamara ordered a merger of the Mare Island and San Francisco Naval Shipyards in California under a single commander, expected to save about $4.9 million a year in overhead.

The New York shipyard had 9,634 workers and Portsmouth 7,305 employees as of the end of October. Together, Mare Island and San Francisco had more than 16,000 workers on that date.

The six Strategic Air Command bomber bases to be closed are Dow Air Force Base, Maine; Glasgow Air Force Base, Montana; Amarillo Air Force Base, Texas; Larson Air Force Base, Washington; Schilling Air Force Base, Kansas; and Lincoln Air Force Base, Nebraska.

The Negro integration leader, smearing under criticism by Hoover, also accused the FBI chief of "faltering under the heavy burden" and the criticisms of his office.

His comments came in reply to Hoover's statement in a rare news conference Wednesday that King "is the most notorious liar in the country."

The FBI, King said, "is following the path of appeasement of political powers in the South. If this continues, the reign of terror in Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia will increase rather than subside."

King, who came to this tiny Bahamian island to write his speech accepting the Nobel Peace Prize, said he was certain Hoover "would not have made such a vicious accusation without being under extreme pressure."

"This pressure," he said, "has come on the racial front and from the Warren Report raising serious questions about the effectiveness of the FBI."

In an exclusive interview with the Associated Press, King repeated some statements he had made earlier in a telegram to the FBI director.

King drew support from six other Negro leaders, who told President Johnson they share King's views that the FBI has not provided protection for Negroes in the South.

"We expressed our disagreement with Mr. Hoover's characterization of Dr. King," said Roy Wilkins, Executive Director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Wilkins said the Negro leaders expressed themselves incidentally about King and the FBI during an hour-long meeting with Johnson in Washington. He said Johnson "simply listened and gave no comment and no opinion."

Johnson's first assignment was to assist in the establishment of the University of Nigeria.

He was made vice chancellor or the chief executive and administrative officer of the University of Nigeria and was the chief of party of the MSU advisory group.

In June 1964, Johnson received an honorary doctor of law degree from the University of Nigeria, and returned to MSU in September.

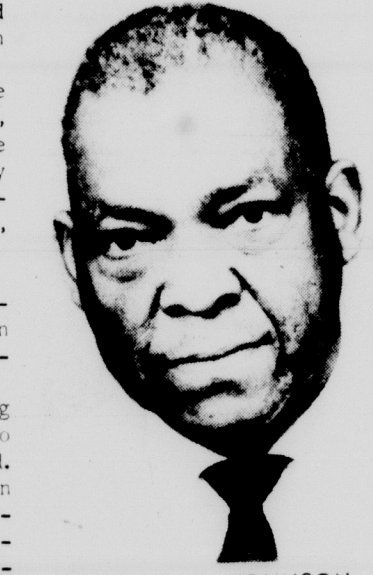

Following Johnson's talk a discussion period will be held.

The event, sponsored by the African Students Association, is open to the public.

cellor from 1960 - 1964, will discuss "Higher Education in the Developing Nations of Africa."

Johnson, who holds bachelor of laws and doctor of the science of jurisprudence degrees from the University of California at Berkeley, served as Dean of Howard University's Law School in Washington, D.C., from 1946 - 1958.

For the next two years, Johnson was a member of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, the same Commission of which MSU President John A. Hannah is presently chairman.

Job Corps Launched By Wirtz

WASHINGTON (AP)--Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz launched the Neighborhood Youth Corps Thursday with the announced aim of helping young people who live economically on "dead-end streets."

"This is one of the most important elements in the President's anti-poverty program," Wirtz said in formally announcing the program and naming to run it a Labor Department official experienced in helping youths with their job problems, Jack Howard, 40.

Wirtz said between $110 million and $150 million will be spent in the first year of the program to help train 150,000 boys and girls age 16 to 21 in both urban and rural areas.

Up to one million youths in the nation need such help, he said, adding that the program will be concentrated on "not the easy cases but the hard ones" in training youths who, in many cases, have never held a job.

The federal program, in cooperation with state and local governments, will employ youths in "work which would not otherwise be done," Wirtz said.

"There is no point in robbing Paul's son of a job to give it to Peter's daughter," Wirtz said.

The youngsters will work in hospitals, libraries, city agencies, playground and school programs, non-profit private projects and others that have a value to the community and a training value for the youths, the secretary said.

Flush Challenge All Washed Up

The toilet trials are on again, but the flushing record of East Wilson's misdirected plumbing still stands, or floats.

The closest present challenge to their 17 and one-half hour flush comes from rooms 231-2 in North Wonders. They reported a continuous flush of 17 hours 19 minutes Thursday.

Thing Haunts 'Rather' Well

"Who's that knocking at my window?" cried a fair young maiden from Rather Hall about 3 a.m. Monday, and campus police were sent to find out.

"Can you see me? Can you hear me?" was the call Rather coeds heard as an unidentified MSU student wandered around the building, knocking on windows.

"I see you," responded patrolman Charles Rinkevich, who had just arrived on the scene.

What Rinkevich saw was something else.

The night visitor was dressed in a trenchcoat turned backwards, and his face was covered with a red knit stocking cap. A white towel was wrapped around the cap, with another hat on top of that. He wore glasses over the hat, and carried a baseball bat to "guide himself along."

King, Hoover Collide Over Policy In South

BIMINI, Bahamas, (AP)--Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said Thursday the FBI under the direction of J. Edgar Hoover is "following the path of appeasement... in the South."

The Negro integration leader, smearing under criticism by Hoover, also accused the FBI chief of "faltering under the heavy burden" and the criticisms of his office.

His comments came in reply to Hoover's statement in a rare news conference Wednesday that King "is the most notorious liar in the country."

Congo Drive Opens

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)--Government troops led by white mercenaries opened a drive Thursday toward rebel Stanleyville, where American medical missionary Paul Carlson and other foreigners are being held as "prisoners of war."

The push started from Kindu, about 250 miles south of Stanleyville. Some 200 white mercenaries were believed to be spearheading between 300 and 500 Congolese troops.

The force has been piling up supplies for the operation for some time. The supplies have been ferried in by U.S. transport planes.

Carlson, 36, of Rolling Hills, Calif., was sentenced to death for spying, but rebel leader Christophe Gbenye postponed the sentence to next Monday following an appeal from Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya. The United States has denied the doctor was spying.

Gbenye said the execution would be carried out if no basis

Resignation Produces Stormy Congress Meet

Diane Ruppe, former National Student Association (NSA) coordinator set off lengthy debate and charges of coercion in the executive branch of AUGS with her resignation in student congress Wednesday night.

Mike Hannah, last year's North Wonders representative and former NSA co-ordinator, appeared before congress to question Miss Ruppe's resignation for what she called "academic reasons."

After discussion, including comments on "using the congress floor for personal vindication" by Speaker Howie Wilchins, congress agreed to drop the matter until Hannah's charges can be investigated.

Hannah retracted his comments in a statement to the State News Thursday morning.

Congress put on special orders a bill which would appropriate $300 to send AUGS President Bob Harris and Executive Vice President John McQuilty to observe the Associated Student Governments convention in Oklahoma City, Okla., over the Thanksgiving vacation.

AUGS is considering membership in the organization.

In an executive report, Harris said that AUGS would not begin sales of the Student Sample Book until winter term. He explained that there is not sufficient time before Christmas holidays, with the Thanksgiving break to plan an effective advertising campaign.

Congress voted to send congratulatory messages to Jim Tanck, Spartan Spirit director, for his work with pep rallies and creating freshman class spirit.

SNOWTABLE OCCASION-- Thursday will be long remembered (perhaps for the rest of the day) as the day the fall term 1964 snow first came to MSU. Judy McClarin, Buffalo, N.Y., sophomore, was so impressed that she scraped the date on her car windshield. State News Photo

Kennedy Ideals Live On

In the grief-stricken hours following the assassination of John Fitzgerald Kennedy last November, a shaken President Johnson appealed to the American people to observe a day of national mourning and pay homage to the memory of a "great and good man."

The time for wrenching grief, for tears, is over. The time for reflection on the ideas and ideals which John F. Kennedy represented will never be over.

A torchlight procession in honor of the late President will begin at 7:45 p.m. on Sunday, the anniversary of Kennedy's death.

It will start at the Auditorium, go up Farm Lane and East Circle Drive and end on the lawn north of Beaumont Tower.

President John A. Hannah has been asked to give a short memorial speech.

A single torch, signifying the eternal flame which burns at Kennedy's grave in Arlington National Cemetery, will lead the procession.

MSU students and faculty would do well to join the nation and the world to pay homage a year later to the memory of a great and good man.

The Strike Mess

The shadow of big government may fall conspicuously over collective bargaining if labor and business are unable to settle their disputes with more efficiency than they have displayed in recent weeks.

The nation is now in the midst of at least three serious labor crises which were obscured by the hoopla surrounding the presidential election.

The four-month-old Detroit newspaper strike deprived residents of the nation's fifth largest city of the news throughout the political campaign. Citizens have become so exasperated that they are purchasing advertisements expressing their disgust in newspapers throughout southern Michigan.

Attempts at mediation by Gov. George Romney have failed twice.

Numerous Ford plants throughout the nation are shut down because of inability to settle local contract disputes. The disputes are left over from September, when a threatened nationwide auto strike was averted at the personal insistence of President Johnson.

The nation now faces the possibility of a rail strike beginning next Monday. Two unions of railroad operating workers have settled their differences with the railroads. However, craft union workers, who are responsible for the repair of most rail equipment, are scheduled to go on strike at 6 a.m. Monday.

All of these labor disputes, strikes and threatened strikes have caused rising public irritation throughout the country. This irritation is completely understandable when strikes last as long as four months, when they threaten paralysis of a large segment of the nation's transportation system, when they pose grave dangers for the economic welfare of the nation.

Much of this public aggravation appears in demands for government intervention in labor disputes.

Federal mediation boards have virtually become a partner in negotiations over important labor disputes. If mediation boards fail, the nation has a President who has already shown that he is ready to use more-than-gentle persuasion to settle such disputes.

Government intervention in collective bargaining is detrimental to the freedom of labor and business in the United States.

However, it may be inevitable if labor and management do not move swiftly and responsibly to settle their differences.

Letters Requested

The State News will publish a tribute to the late President John F. Kennedy on this page of Monday's edition.

President Kennedy's death left the deepest imprint of any event in modern history on the lives of millions of Americans. We urge students, faculty and staff to share with us any thoughts they have on the life and death of the late President.

Letters should be typed, double-spaced and not longer than 300 words. Due to space requirements, we will not be able to accept longer columns for Monday's issue. Poems are acceptable.

Letters To The Editor

Do We Fight For America Alone?

To the Editor:

When I read the headlines of Nov. 13 concerning the tragic loss of life in Viet Nam, I was really shocked. However, when I read the article that followed concerning our views on this, I found something equally tragic. Our primary concern was neither for the loss of life, property or the possibility of disease setting in. Our first thought was that this was a severe blow to the war and our first statement bemoaned the fact that this flood has "hurt our communications." The U.S. military advisers went on to tell about the troubles that they are now faced with in rebuilding their physical structure.

It seems that we are engrossed in this fantastic chess game and are so concerned with winning for that sake alone, that we have lost sight of some of our values. If 5,000 MSU freshmen were suddenly killed, I doubt very much if officials would be so materialistic as to say: "Damn it! We're behind in the space race (or any other race) already, and this setback sure isn't going to help us any." We just might be a little more pensive about the entire situation.

I think that we have gotten so nearsighted that we are not at all concerned with the welfare of these people, but can only relate the war into terms of being one ahead of the Communists, whether this casts a bad light on Washington or how other nations look upon us.

My point is not whether we should or should not withdraw from the war, but that we should re-examine our position and see whether we are fighting for Americans alone, or the people we are supposed to be interested in, also.

Greek System Valuable To State

To the Editor:

Although the fraternity system on this campus is less than perfect, I don't feel that there is any need for it to "prove itself," as was stated in your recent editorial.

Aside from sponsoring student and community projects and providing a majority of the student leaders on campus, the fraternity prepares its members for life better than a dormitory in two ways. First, a fraternity provides the opportunity to live closely with a group of "brothers," just as you will have to live in society after college.

Second, the expansion of knowledge gained through intellectual associations within the fraternity system is a natural, rather than planned occurrence. The dormitories at this University, with each student living in his cubicle, and intellectual activities generally consisting of planned sessions between one intellectual and a group of knowledge-seekers, offer a student little opportunity to expand his personality.

Finally, a look at last year's grade sheet, published by the University, shows the all-fraternity average to be higher than the all-men's average. Surely there is more to fraternity life than the "gentleman's C" and the "beer blasts" your editorial envisions.

Questions Student Parking Rules

To the Editor:

Now that we are official victims of a poorly thought out regulation, and are still smarting from our punishment, we submit these questions and opinions.

Why are students not permitted to park in front of or behind the Library, Wells Hall or Olds Hall during hours when all other parking restrictions have been lifted? We are completely frustrated in our attempts to find a reason for the "no parking at any time" regulation in this area. Some have said it is to keep the area clear in case of fire in any of the adjacent buildings, but if this is the case, then daytime parking for staff and faculty should also be prohibited.

We are left with only two lines of reasoning.

One, that an honest mistake was made in defining the no parking areas. There is no reason why the authorities cannot correct such a mistake.

Two, that the Library authorities have enlisted the aid of those in charge of parking regulations for the purpose of reducing the use of the Library by those students who live beyond walking distance. Such a reason would be more difficult to change for obvious reasons, although this reason seems unlikely in a free society.

Until we see a satisfactory explanation for these regulations, or else a change in them, we will continue to feel like second class students.

MSU A 'Brothel' Due To Kisses?

To the Editor:

This is the first letter I have ever written to anyone about a complaint.

In the dark ages, I, too, attended college and had all the normal instincts of my sex. I don't think these have changed much since Adam and Eve. However, I think their application has.

On weekends when we come to visit our daughter at your lovely school, we feel she is attending a brothel, not a college.

Everywhere on campus, inside the dorms and out, we see passionate kissing going on in broad daylight.

Do you students know how this looks? Would you like to come home and see the same demonstration among your parents and their friends inside your home and on the lawn outside?

Please students, don't discard the instincts, but keep them in their proper place.

Cleaning Price Raise Not Due To Wage Law

To the Editor:

It is interesting the local dry cleaners blame the Michigan minimum wage law for the increase in prices. (State News, Nov. 18) especially since the new law does not go into force until Jan. 1, 1965, and prices were raised Sept., 1964. Also, one employer is quoted as saying the minimum wage is $1.25. This is in error; the Michigan law calls for a $1 minimum, for employees with 4 or more employees, provided the latter are between the ages of 18 and 65. The federal minimum wage law is currently $1.25, but laundries and dry cleaning establishments are exempt from the provisions of the law. Under no circumstances can the minimum wage laws, either state or federal, be responsible for the price increase which occurred in Sept., 1964.

Point of View

Baez Stood Up To Be Counted

David J. Pino

Editor's Note: David J. Pino is a graduate in music.

I am compelled to reply to a letter which appeared in the Nov. 17 issue of the State News, which attacked Joan Baez's refusal to pay that portion of her taxes which would eventually go for armaments.

The first question at hand is why Miss Baez did this. She is a pacifist and make no mistake about it, pacifism can be supported by stronger arguments than those which would be brought against it. However, whether one is sympathetic with pacifism or not, how could any right-thinking American feel comfortable knowing that 60 percent of his income taxes go for military purposes?

The author of the letter claimed that we need all those soldiers to protect the Negroes in the South. I submit that if some of that 60 cents on every dollar went for the education of both whites and Negroes in this country, there would be no further need for an Army to do the job which local police should be doing. Education is the key to this problem, not bigger and better guns.

The letter's author was also concerned about the tremendous increase in unemployment which would be brought about by doing away with armed forces. Again, if some of that "defense" money could be used to create new, constructive civilian jobs, there would be no additional unemployment. And surely, in this day of increased research, new jobs could easily be created with the sufficient funds.

I have not said that I necessarily agree with Joan Baez's type of civil disobedience, but I wholeheartedly support her cause. It can be argued that the pacifist is not patriotic, because he refuses to "protect" the nation which nourishes him. I submit that the pacifist is, indeed, so patriotic that he does not wish to condone his homeland's participation in the slaughter of his fellows. He loves his country, but his first allegiance is to personal integrity and the belief that killing is wrong.

The pacifist believes that a criminally unbalanced person, of course, must be apprehended for the good of himself and all society, because the criminal's forceful arrest is consistent with love and charity for all. He needs help, and he should receive this help following his arrest. War, on the other hand, is not carried out in the spirit of love. I cannot believe that there are entire nations of criminally insane people, and that includes Red China. Let us not forget Gandhi's success with the concept of pacifism.

Wherever people live together, coercion is necessary under certain circumstances. However, the fact is that most of life's unavoidable situations can be healed without physical force. Intelligent people can talk things over.

Finally, I hotly contest the view that Joan Baez has imitated the ostrich. She has personally stood up to be counted for what she believes is right. I am under the impression that this form of courage is an American institution to be admired by all. And I am dismayed that the author of the letter accused Miss Baez of not offering a solution to the horrors of war. To me, her solution is obvious. She would pay her taxes in full if she knew that they were not going to be used ultimately to contribute to the terrible folly of the arms race, but rather, to some useful, constructive purpose such as education.

"Come, let us reason together." This is my point of view. Much more could be said, but I recommend these few thoughts to your attention.

Trunk Captive Says He's Israeli Fugitive

ROME—The man found chained in a Cairo-bound United Arab Republic diplomatic mail trunk now says he is an Israeli fugitive forced to spy for Egypt, police reported Thursday.

Why he was being air-freighted to Cairo still was a mystery. Whichever his game, police said, it was one of life and death.

Pilot Dies After Plane Downed Over Laos

WASHINGTON—The pilot of an Air Force F100 jet fighter shot down by the Communists over Laos was picked up by a helicopter but was dead on arrival at a medical base, the Defense Department announced Thursday.

He was Capt. William R. Martin of Alexandria, La., who had been listed as missing after his jet fighter, one of two escorting a photo reconnaissance plane over Laos on Nov. 18, was downed.

There was no word on where Martin was picked up or where the medical facility was located.

Government May Suggest High Command

LONDON—The Labor government's searching reappraisal of Britain's world role may produce a plan for a new Washington-based allied high command.

The purpose of some such body alongside the National Security Council of the United States would be, in the words of the Labor government's own pre-election promises, to integrate:

"...all Nato's nuclear weapons under effective political control so that all the partners in the alliance have a proper share in their deployment and control."

Ford, UAW Hopeful Of Early Settlement

DETROIT—Top Ford and United Auto Workers bargainers said Thursday they were hopeful for a speedy end to local strikes that have nearly shut down the auto firm.

M.M. Cummins, Ford's top bargainer, and Ken Bannon, director of the UAW Ford department, both said they hoped for settlements by the weekend at three plants that remained on strike over local contracts.

Mrs. Oswald In Hospital With Stomach Pains

DALLAS—Marina Oswald, the slim, blonde widow of President Kennedy's assassin, was reported resting comfortably in a suburban hospital Thursday.

Mrs. Oswald, 23, entered Doctor's Hospital in Garland Wednesday, complaining of stomach pains.

Dr. Robert Bishop, her physician, said today, "She has no diagnosis and is resting comfortably. She will probably be in the hospital for a few days. No surgery is anticipated."

Public Opinion Enters Paper Strike Talks

DETROIT—The power of public opinion was injected Thursday into efforts to end the 129-day old Detroit newspaper strike.

A citizens committee for community affairs urged striking Local 13 of the Pressmen's Union to agree to arbitration of the last remaining issue in dispute...how many men should man the new 8-unit press, at the Detroit News.

Irish Begin Observation Of Kennedy Death

DUBLIN—The Irish capital officially began observations of the first anniversary of President John F. Kennedy's assassination Thursday with flags at half staff and a mass attended by President Eamon de Valera and members of the government.

On Sunday, the actual anniversary date, there will be another official observance at Wexford, seat of the county where Kennedy's forebears lived.

$2.3 Million In Grants, Gifts Accepted By MSU Trustees

Gifts and grants totaling $2.3 million were accepted Thursday by the MSU Board of Trustees.

Included was a grant of $200,000 from the Kresge Foundation for expansion of the University's Kresge Art Center.

MSU will contribute an equal amount. Kresge Art Center was built with an earlier gift of $1,500,000 from the foundation and was first opened for classroom instruction and art exhibitions in 1959.

The grants included $507,000 from the Atomic Energy Commission to be used for the operation of the MSU-AEC Plant Research Laboratory.

Anton Lang, who has been named director of the project, begins his duties at MSU Jan. 1. A contract for construction of the building will be let at the December meeting of the Board.

The National Science Foundation granted $264,300 for operation of MSU's 60th Annual Academic Year Institute in General Science for secondary school teachers. The grant provides for participation by 40 graduate students during the 1965-66 academic year and also for 15 summer stipends.

Clarence E. Schloemer of the Science and Mathematics Teaching Center, is the institute director.

A grant of $239,162 from the U.S. Dept. of the Army will enable MSU to continue its advisory assistance program in Okinawa for the next two years.

MSU has been aiding the University of the Ryukyus since 1951. Ralph Smuckler, acting dean of International Programs, is in charge of the grant.

The U.S. Office of Education granted $139,080 to be used under the direction of Norman Kagan, associate professor of guidance and personnel services, for the Counseling and Guidance Full-Year Institute. This institute, provided for by the National Defense Education Act, provides graduate training for high school counselors.

The U.S. Office of Education also granted $110,000 in support of MSU's National Defense Education Act graduate fellowship programs. In charge is Milton E. Muelder, dean of the School for Advance Graduate Studies.

A grant of $86,549.14 from the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. will be used by Theodore W. Forbes, professor of psychology, to continue basic studies on the effectiveness of various types of highway traffic signs.

Leroy Augenstein, chairman of biophysics, will use a $58,995 grant from the National Institutes of Health for research pertaining to the molecular basis for mental functions.

International Business Machines Corp. granted $53,020 for continuation of studies on the development of computer programs for use in analysis of proposed circuits for new computers. The work is the responsibility of Richard J. Reid, associate professor of electrical engineering.

A grant of $43,262 from the U.S. Office of Education will be used for research on the relationship between self-concept and academic achievement of high school students. The study is being carried out by Wilbur B. Brookover, director of the Social Science Teaching Institute, Donald E. Hamachek, assistant professor of guidance and personnel services, and Edsel Erickson, assistant instructor of education.

Gifts to the University also included 11 silos valued at $54,852.45 from several silo firms. They will be used in beef cattle feeding experiments.

National Education Television gave a videotape recorder valued at $50,000 for use in television broadcasting.

A 21-pound iron-nickel meteorite found near Kalkaska was given for the Department of Geology meteorite collection by Arthur R. Stieting of Kalkaska. No monetary value has been placed on the meteorite, which is on display in the Abrams Planetarium.

Also on the agenda were scholarship grants totaling $58,512.46 and gifts and grants for Oakland University totaling $39,635.50.

Vets Hold Election

The MSU Veterans Association elected R. Thomas Shane, Kalamazoo junior, to their seven-man governing body at the regular club meeting Tuesday.

Shane is a police administration major and Marine Corps veteran.

The club-sponsored car wash scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 21, has been cancelled due to cold weather.

AWS Holds State Day

"The Freedoms" will be the theme of the annual Associated Women Students (AWS) State Day to be held on campus today and Saturday.

Michigan State will be hostess to more than 250 representatives of AWS chapters in Michigan colleges and universities.

The conference will bring the women together to exchange ideas on AWS and student government, according to Jan Seidman, Brooklyn, N.Y., junior and conference chairwoman.

"We hope to gain ideas from the experiences of other schools and to discuss what is possible for our organizations to achieve," she said.

The conference will include a panel discussion on "Freedom and Feminine Fables" and workshops on such topics as AWS activities and group decision-making.

MSU staff members who will participate in the meeting include Laurine Fitzgerald, assistant of students; Louis Hekhuis, director of student activities; Gordon L. Thomas, professor of speech; Eldon R. Nonnemaker, associate dean of students; and James B. McKee, professor of sociology.

Jackie Robinson To Present Speech On Brotherhood At Methodist Church

Jackie Robinson, former baseball star with the Brooklyn Dodgers and a member of Baseball's Hall of Fame, will speak on "Brotherhood" in the sanctuary of the University Methodist Church, 1120 South Harrison Road, at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Robinson will be speaking to Lansing, East Lansing, and MSU people in his capacity as President of the United Churchmen Division of the National Council of Churches of Christ in America.

Jackie Robinson scored many firsts in baseball. He was the first Negro to play in the major leagues, he led the national league in batting and he was voted the National League's Most Valuable Player.

Since his 1956 retirement from baseball, Robinson has been active as a Christian witness, as a champion of human rights and as a business executive.

He has spoken extensively giving his personal witness, and was recently elected President of the United Churchmen.

As a leader in human rights he is a member of the Board of Directors of the NAACP, of the Board of the YMCA of Greater New York, of the Advisory Board of the Harlem YMCA, of the Board of Directors of Lenox Hill Hospital and a member of the New York Organization for the Prevention of Crime.

As a business executive, Robinson is the chairman of the board of Directors of the Freedom National Bank of New York and the executive director of a candy company.

Jackie Robinson was born in Carlo, Ga., Jan. 31, 1918, then moved with his mother, three brothers and a sister to Pasadena, Calif., where he attended Muir High School, Pasadena Junior College, and UCLA. He holds a Ph. D. Degree from Howard University.

THE HOT CORNER--No longer playing third base, Jackie Robinson's "hot corner" is his office, where he works actively as a Christian witness, a champion of human rights, and a business executive. He will be speaking on "Brotherhood" Sunday night at 7:30 p.m. at the University Methodist Church.

At UCLA, his four letters in baseball, basketball, football and track were prophetic of his sports career. Before that career began he served in the United States Army as a Lieutenant during World War II.

Chi Alpha Group To Meet Tonight

The newly-formed Chi Alpha group will meet tonight at 8 p.m. in 36 Union. Election of officers and appointment of a program committee will precede a discussion on "How to Live an Effective Christian Life on Campus."

The purpose of the Chi Alpha organization is to bind together full-gospel college students and to help them work together in serving God and promoting the cause of Christ.

Christ Topic Of Meeting

The historicity of Christ is the topic of discussion at tonight's Spartan Christian Fellowship meeting at 7 in Bethel Manor, 803 E. Grand River.

Ward Wilson, Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship staff representative, will present a talk entitled "The Historicity of Christ," giving a scriptural basis for Jesus Christ's historical authenticity.

Preceding Wilson's talk, Chuck Miller, a member of the Peace Corps, will speak briefly.

Center Plans Meal, Dance

Catholic international students have been invited to attend a dinner to be held at St. John's Student Center Saturday at 6 p.m.

Entertainment and slides on Nicaragua will be presented at 7:30 p.m. and will be open to the public.

The regular Saturday night dance will follow at 8:30 p.m. in an international setting. The Social Pro's will present an array of American folk songs and will be followed by the Integrated Duo, who will present folk music with an international flair.

Faith On Campus. To Establish Faith, Read The Scriptures

By George Reynolds

"Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God." This advice from St. Paul to the Church at Rome applies to faith on campus and anywhere else.

What is faith? One meaning for faith found in Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary is "trust in God." The more general meaning is given as "complete confidence," which, when applied to spiritual things, again implies this trust, and emphasizes its magnitude.

Paul, in his letter to the Hebrews, puts it this way:

"Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen."

This implies again the thoroughness of faith in God. It is not an ethereal, intangible "something," but is solid substance and actual evidence which the Christian can have.

Like a person walking through a pitch-black field on a dark, moonless night, if the area is familiar to him, he has faith that he won't come to harm or meet with pitfalls. His faith is his evidence, and it is based on experience.

However, if the area is strange property, he takes every step with anxiety, for he has no basis for faith in this case.

QUESTION: How can one arrive at the basis for faith in God? ANSWER: "Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God." In other words, read the Bible, God's Word, in order to establish faith.

What is your basis for faith? Have you read the textbook? Are you passing or failing the course?

St. John Student Parish recently elected four members to the parish Activities' Council.

ships with area hospitals is being worked out by Hunt.

The W.K. Kellogg Foundation provided a five-year grant of $1.25 million to MSU to help initiate the pre-clinical program. Hunt said that the postponement will have no effect on the grant.

"The Kellogg Foundation supports the notion of waiting to open the school," he said.

"Other medical schools have sometimes waited three or four years after the arrival of the dean to start classes," Hunt said. He filled his position July 1.

There are currently 86 recognized four-year medical schools and three two-year schools in the United States. MSU is one of six two-year schools being established. Michigan has four four-year facilities at the University of Michigan and Wayne State University.

Hunt considers the postponement "favorable in the long haul" because it provides opportunity for more effective recruitment and planning and therefore better programs for students.

The problem of securing a complete faculty rests in augmenting and developing 12 departments already on campus and filling the new department of medicine with MD's.

Strikes have slowed work on the new Veterinary Medicine Clinic, which will leave Gilmer Hall vacant for conversion and use by the medical school.

The accreditation committee will write a letter in a few months to the federal government approving MSU's medical program, Hunt predicted.

A bill passed in Congress last year provides federal funds to aid construction of buildings for new medical and nursing schools. Once the letter is sent, Hunt anticipates federal funds to help construct the proposed Life Sciences Building on campus.

International Fury In Campus UN

Meeting in emergency session Wednesday night, the Security Council of the Campus U.N. failed to condemn either Syria or Israel for recent incidents along their mutual border.

Each nation had submitted a resolution accusing the other of instigating the whole affair.

The motion condemning Israel came near passage in the 12-member body, as the only veto was that of the Republic of China.

Seven nations voted in favor of the censure motion, led by the Peoples' Republic of China and the Soviet Union. The remaining delegates abstained.

In contrast, Israel's move to put the blame on Syria received only three concurring votes.

Assailing the Israelis for successive border infractions beginning Nov. 13, Syria's delegate said "what they really want are pieces of territory of the Arab states."

"Their peace is aggressive," he continued. "They refer to the charter but are the first to violate it."

The representative charged that there have been 190 meetings of the Security Council dealing with Israeli provocations, and that more than 90 resolutions have been passed condemning Israel.

In their most recent attacks it was claimed that Israel had used jets to drop napalm bombs--jelled fire bombs--on Arab villages.

Israel's delegate lashed back, charging that "Israel is being attacked on all sides by Arab nations." Syria was the real aggressor, he said.

Israel further claimed it was maintaining a cease fire at the moment.

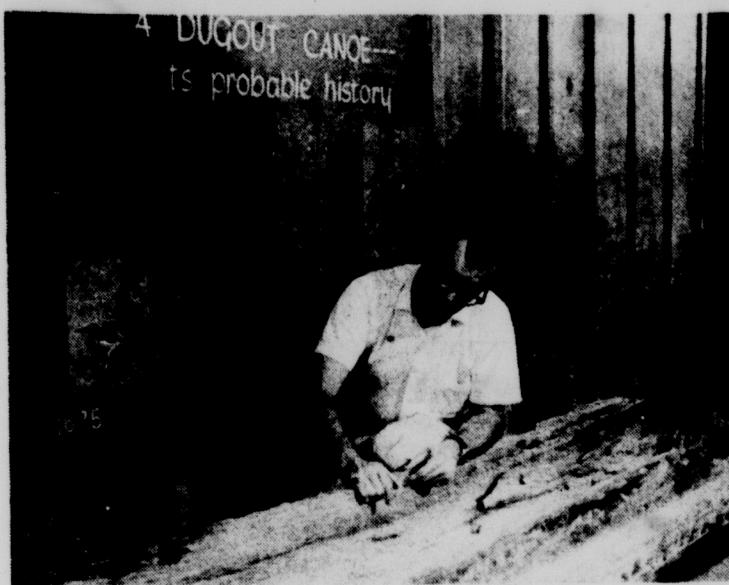

"We wish peace, warned the delegate, but we will not confine ourselves to chains."

Syria was accused of bringing the situation to the brink of disaster which only swift condemnation by the U.N. can quickly put in the background.

Entering the fray, the Communist Chinese representative said, "Israel has become a pawn for the U.S."

Morocco in turn attempted to relate the entire dispute to control of the Jordan River water. He said the current furor was best seen as an outgrowth of this abiding issue.

France called on the other delegates to condemn both nations, while other delegates abstained in favor of waiting for the impartial report on the matter to be presented soon by U.N. investigating group headed by Norway.

Ojibwa Dugout Canoe Displayed In Museum

A 16-foot dugout canoe which is believed to have been made by the Ojibwa Indians before the arrival of European settlers, is now on display in the Museum.

The canoe, which was found in the Sturgeon River in the Upper River is believed to have been made between 1650-1750.

The canoe has traces of seats and iron nails in it. But these are attributed to early French settlers who it is believed got the canoe from the Indians and used it.

The canoe is made of white pine and was donated to the museum by Lester Johnson of Iron Mountain.

Johnson found the canoe submerged in mud in the Sturgeon River while hunting.

He floated it down the river and a year later contacted Frank Molinare, MSU extension service representative in that area.

Molinare notified the Museum of the find and members of the staff took the "Foot Loose Moose," the museum truck, and picked it up.

Senior Receives ROTC Award

Cadet Col. Charles D. Dobias, Scottville senior, has been named a Distinguished Air Force ROTC Graduate.

Dobias, a political science major, received the honor for his outstanding leadership and academic achievements while enrolled in the ROTC program.

Upon graduation this term, Dobias will be commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Air Force.

Dobias is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Dobias of Scottville.

Conference To Discuss Handicapped

A two-day conference on Type "A" Elementary Mentally Handicapped Program Personnel will be held at Kellogg Center beginning today.

Earl C. Kelley, distinguished professor of education at Wayne State University, will open the meeting, speaking on "The Three B's: Being, Behaving and Becoming."

Some 400 public school teachers, diagnosticians and administrators who work with educable mentally handicapped elementary students are expected to attend the conference.

Melvyn I. Semmel of the School of Education, University of Michigan, will round out the first day's program with a report on creativity for the mentally handicapped.

Speaking on the final day are David Weikart, director of special education for Ypsilanti Public Schools; Elsie Edwards of the MSU Department of Speech; Agnes Rogers of Eastern Michigan University and Ross Mooney of the Bureau of Education Research and Service, Ohio State University.

Pool Player Sought To Work With Boys

Alpha Phi Omega (APO) is looking for a pool player--one who would like to work with underprivileged teenage boys.

APO, a national service fraternity, is currently involved in projects dealing with underprivileged children from the east side of Lansing.

A group of these children are spending an excessive amount of time around dingy pool halls. "We would like to get them out of this atmosphere and bring them over to the 'Y' to play pool," Jim Hewitt, Lansing senior and president of APO, said.

The needed enticement, he said, is a clean-cut pool shooter who would be willing to give these boys lessons at the "Y."

Contest Planned In Creative Arts

For the fourth year MSU is offering creative arts scholarships to qualified Michigan high school seniors.

Outstanding applicants in the fields of art and sculpture, creative writing, theater (acting) and music composition will be invited to submit their work for competitive judging. Finalists for the theater scholarships will be invited to MSU for performance competition.

Owen Hall To Expand

Contracts on $2.7 million worth of construction at Owen Hall were approved by the Board of Trustees Thursday.

The addition to Owen will provide for 514 additional spaces for graduate students, many of whom are now forced to live in undergraduate residence halls.

Companies awarded the contracts were Granger Construction Co., Lansing; Spitzley Corp., Detroit; Hall Electric Co., Muskegon; and Detroit Elevator Co., Detroit.

Sorority Initiates

Recent initiates of Alpha Xi Delta sorority are Alice Maring, Grand Rapids sophomore, Beth Ceker, Cheesaning, sophomore and Marty Bell, Mt. Clemens sophomore. Also initiated was Nancy Morse, an honorary member of the Ferris Institute of Technology chapter of Alpha Xi Delta.

Three Tell Of Africa

"African Night," held in West Wilson Hall Wednesday, featured the slides of three West Wilson Hall staff members who had recently visited Africa.

Austin Moore, professor of humanities, Kay White, graduate assistant and former Peace Corps member and Bee Donovan, resident advisor, presented their slides in three categories.

Miss White told of her experience in training for the Peace Corps in the Sierra Leone region.

The people of Nigeria were the main topics of Miss Moore's slides. She spent part of her time at the University of Nigeria as part of MSU's exchange program.

Moore toured Africa from Cairo to Cape Town.

Engineer Seminar

The second modern engineering seminar will be held today and Saturday at the Engineering Building and Kellogg Center.

The theme of the meeting is "Mathematics--The Language of Modern Engineering."

Faculty members will discuss determinants, matrices, vectors, tensors, operational methods and numerical methods.

All interested faculty are invited to attend the Friday session beginning at noon at the Engineering Building and the Saturday morning session at 8:30 at Kellogg Center.

This is the second of eight weekend seminars offered monthly by the College of Engineering and the Continuing Education Service.

Planetarium Reps Gather

Representatives from 17 of Michigan's 19 planetariums and from five planetariums in Ohio will attend a day-long conference at Michigan State Saturday.

The morning session at MSU's Abrams Planetarium, will be devoted to a demonstration of the MSU facility and a business meeting. Representatives attending the meeting will present recommendations for establishment of an organization of planetarium personnel in the Michigan-Ohio area.

At a noon luncheon in Kellogg Center, James Stokley, associate professor of journalism and former director of the Fels Planetarium in Philadelphia, will discuss uses of the planetarium in science education.

Following the luncheon, the group will gather for presentation of six papers dealing with planetarium organization and use.

Case Festival Will Be 'Light'

"On the Lighter Side" is the theme of the music festival at Case Hall Saturday night.

The "lighter" music, as opposed to the more heavy, serious type, will consist of jazz, folk and popular music.

The entire festival will be performed by students, the majority from Case Hall.

The festival, sponsored by the Case Cultural Committee, will be in the Case multi-purpose room at 9 p.m.

'S', Maryland Vie In NCAA Soccer

GEORGE JANES EBERHART KLEIN

By RICK PIANIN
State News Sports Writer

Sparks, perhaps even snow, will be flying Saturday, as MSU's soccer team takes on tough Maryland University in the first round of the NCAA Championship tournament.

Goalie Charlie Dedich will be in the net for MSU, despite a painful back injury. He will have to contend with such outstanding Maryland players as All-American Eberhart Klein, center forward, who has 17 goals and 13 assists to his credit this season, and outside left Bill Oxenham, who has tallied 10 times.

Not to be outdone, the booters will counter with All-American George Janes, inside right, who has 15 goals and two assists, and Clare DeBoer, outside right, with eight goals and two assists.

The Spartans will be at full strength for the first time since the beginning of the season. Manny Ruschieski, right fullback, who suffered a pulled abdomen muscle, will be ready for the game and Pete Dedich will start at left fullback after recovering from a muscle strain.

"The players weren't going at full speed during practice," explained Coach Gene Kenney, "but they'll be ready and up for Saturday's game. It'll be an exciting and hard-fought contest."

Captain Louie Eckhardt will be starting at left halfback, where he performed well throughout the entire season. Eckhardt, a senior, will be playing in his final NCAA tournament for MSU.

"Louie has been an outstanding player all season long," added Coach Kenney. "He started playing for us when he was a sophomore, but was hurt early in the season. He then came back the following year and played fine, steady ball ever since."

Maryland enters the game with one of the most impressive records in collegiate soccer history. The Terrapins have won 12 straight Atlantic Coast Conference titles and have played since the NCAA tournaments first began in 1959.

MSU closed out its regular season with a 7-0-2 record. The Spartans amassed a fine team scoring record with 59 goals and 32 assists. Opponents were held to a mere five goals.

Van Dimitriou, center forward, scored six goals and three assists despite a knee injury while Sidney Alozie, a standout all season at inside left, tallied seven goals and four assists.

State will be competing in the tournament for the third straight year.

Loyalties Split 2 Ways For Field Hockey Coach

Most coaches are happy when they have a good season. That's why Mrs. Fran Koenig is doubly proud. Mrs. Koenig is the coach of MSU's number one and number two girls' field hockey team, and both squads recently completed successful schedules.

The number 1 team finished with a 6-1 record, their only defeat being at the hands of Eastern Michigan University, 2-1, in the second game of the season.

Although undefeated, the number 2 squad did tie both Eastern Michigan and Central Michigan, compiling a 3-0-2 mark.

During the final two games, 10 MSU girls were selected to play in the U.S. Field Hockey Sectional Tournament, which was held last Saturday and Sunday in Dayton, Ohio.

Six of the girls played on the first college team, while the other four were members of the second team.

Years Bring Change To Harrier Contest

By MIKE BROOKS
State News Sports Writer

In 1938, fifty runners lined up at the Old College Field baseball diamond for the start of the first NCAA cross-country championships.

The runners headed down the first base line toward the Red Cedar, and then followed it around the golf green and back to the ball field.

They passed the site where Sparty is now located, heading through campus on Red Cedar Road, and then made a bee-line for the site of Shaw Hall. After running a loop of the woods near Hagadorn Road, they followed the same route back to Old College Field, for a final lap around the field before finishing.

That cold, calm afternoon, Greg Rice, coach of Notre Dame runner of the thirties became the first national cross country champion, and Indiana captured the team crown over five opponents.

The teams like State's facilities so much that they decided to hold the NCAA meet here every year.

Between 1938 and Monday morning's 26th running of the event, there have been many interesting developments.

In 1953, Wes Santee, internationally known Kansas miler was favored to win the meet. It was an easy chore for Santee, and when reporters interviewing him after the race asked when he felt victory was in his grasp, he replied: "When I left Lawrence, Kansas."

After winning the 1957 meet in record time, California runner

Max Truex disappeared. When reporters finally located him, he explained that he had given in to an urge to run part of the course again.

Houston harrier Al Lawrence warmed up for his 1959 victory by jogging 16 miles.

Bill Easton will tell you that if you want to have the most individual champions, you have to change schools.

While Easton was coaching at Drake in the forties, Fred Feiler won the 1944 and 1945 titles. When he took a job coaching at Kansas, his fortune got even brighter. Herb Stiemper won the 1950 and 1951 races, Wes Santee triumphed in '53, and Allen Frame was king in '54.

A total of six titles, and four individual champions.

In 1958, State decided that with a larger and more truly representative national field running every year, the old flat course would have to go.

Forest Akers Golf Course was named as the new site. Akers is as much a challenge as any course in the nation, and is known for "Cardiac Hill" and many lesser mountains. Runners have walked up "Cardiac" on-occurring it for the third time.

Competition Monday will be fiercer than ever. With more than ten of the 38 teams entered given a chance to win the team crown, the title is really up for grabs.

Spartan Coach Fran Dittrich said that Georgetown and Notre Dame bear watching on the basis of their respective first and second place finishes in the ICAA meet last week in New York.

San Jose State, the defending champions, will not send a team this year, but the West Coast will still be represented by two fine teams. Stanford and Oregon State will both send highly rated squads.

Other powerful teams running are: Houston, Kansas, Miami of Ohio, Villanova, Minnesota, and Western Michigan.

Competition must be stiff when the team which has won more NCAA crowns than any other school isn't rated in the top five.

Monday's meet will start at 11:30. Admission is free.

Winning Season At Stake In Finale

Gridders Eye Revenge For '63 Illini Setback

By JERRY MORTON
State News Sports Writer

A winning season... an assault on the record book... a bit of revenge. These are the goals the Spartans will be hoping to attain in tomorrow's season finale against Illinois at Champaign.

The game will also give MSU a chance to set two school records and expand six additional marks that were set earlier in the year.

Steve Juday is likely to break the record for yards gained passing tomorrow and end Gene Washington could set a mark for yardage gained on interceptions.

Juday has thrown for 849 yards to come close to the record of 941 held by Earl Morrall and Tom Yewic.

Washington is a mere ten yards shy of the record 523 yards accumulated by Bob Carey in 1949.

There's also a case of revenge. The Illini defeated the Spartans 13-0 last year in a contest that deprived the Green and White of a trip to the Rose Bowl.

The Spartans will also be seeking to become the first MSU team to win a game at Illinois.

Illinois holds a 4-3 edge in the series and has won the three previous contests held on their home field.

Besides the team battle tomorrow there will be a personal contest for the Big Ten rushing championship between MSU's Dick Gordon and fullback Jim Grabowski of the Illini.

Gordon has picked up 541 yards in five conference games with Grabowski earning 538 yards in six league contests.

If common opponents mean anything, the Spartans should be given a slight edge. Both teams easily defeated Wisconsin and North-western and both were beaten by Michigan. The Green and White stopped Purdue 21-7 but the Boilermakers whipped the Illini 26-14.

MSU will depart for Champaign this afternoon at 1 and will work out on the Memorial Stadium turf shortly after the arrival.

Injuries to halfback Dave McCormick, linebacker Ed Macuga, and defensive back Don Japinga have caused a rearrangement of the Spartan lineup.

Jerry Jones will fill in for Japinga with John Walsh playing in Macuga's position, and Clinton Jones will be at left halfback with John Tinnick and Harry Ammon backing him up in place of McCormick.

Ammon will return to the Spartan squad after recovering from a heel injury that has hampered him most of the season.

The game will mark the last appearance for 18 MSU seniors who have played on teams that have compiled a 15-10-1 record on their three years with the varsity.

Spartan backfield losses for next year will include Harry Ammon, Dick Gordon, and John Tinnick.

In the line, MSU will lose Rahn Bentley, Dick Flynn, Tom Krzemienksi, Steve Mellinger, Don Ross, Jerry Rush, and John Yewic.

MSU will suffer heavy losses in its defensive backfield with the departure of captain Charlie Migyanka, halfback Lou Bobich, and firerman Johnson.

'ROSES' TO WINNER

OSU, U-M Set For Battle

Just like in the western movies, Michigan and Ohio State are headed for a showdown, and only one team can come out alive.

That will be the picture tomorrow afternoon at Columbus, where the Wolverines and Buckeyes will meet to determine this year's Big Ten champion.

U-M will enter the contest with a 5-1 mark, with the home team standing 6-0 in conference play.

The league title and a trip to the Rose Bowl await the winner of the game, but Ohio State would be conference champion in case of a tie.

Playing for the Big Ten championship on the last day of the season is not a new thing for the Wolverines and Buckeyes.

They met for the title in a blinding snowstorm at Columbus in 1950 with Michigan earning a 9-3 decision.

In 1955, the weather was clear at Ann Arbor but the outcome was anything but pleasant for U-M. Howard "Hopalong" Cassidy paced Ohio State to a 17-0 triumph over Michigan.

The Buckeyes will enter the contest as slight favorites to win their first Big Ten crown since 1961.

Ohio State has gone 7-1 overall this season with the lone setback coming two weeks ago by a 27-0 score to a tired-up Penn State squad.

Michigan's perfect season has been marred by a 21-20 loss to Purdue when the Maize and Blue failed on a two-point conversion late in the game.

The Spartans could finish 4-2 in the Big Ten with a victory over Illinois and have a mathematical chance to place as high as third.

Iowa will travel to Notre Dame in the hopes of pulling a major upset with a triumph over the Irish.

'S' Collector's Item: Records, Records...

MSU fans won't be counting as many victories as they did last season but they're still enjoying counting records.

The Spartans are likely to topple two school records tomorrow at Illinois.

They've already set six records and have tied three. Records likely to fall tomorrow:

--Most yards passing in a season: Steve Juday has 849; record is 941 by Earl Morrall and Tom Yewic.

--Most yards pass receptions in a season: Gene Washington has 513; record is 523 by Bob Carey.

Records tied:

--Passes intercepted: Juday, 9.

--Field goals in one season: Dick Kenney, 3.

--Passes attempted in a game: Juday, 26.

Records set:

--Passes attempted: Juday, 129.

--Passes completed in game: Juday, 16.

--Passes completed in season: Juday, 72.

--Receptions in game: Washington, 9.

--Receptions in season: Washington, 33.

--Yards gained on pass receptions in game: Washington, 150.

Other notable performances:

Season rushing: Dick Gordon ranks fourth on all-time season list; George Guerrero is third with 734.

Touchdown passes: Juday has thrown 9; record is 11 by Gene Glick in 1948.

Punting: Lou Bobich is averaging 40.5 yards a punt; third best behind Earl Morrall (42.9) and Jesse Thomas (41.8).

Peace Corps Seeks Liberal Arts Majors

The most frequent question asked Peace Corps representatives is "if I'm a liberal arts major with no special skills, how can you use me?"

This is Peace Corps week at Michigan State and these representatives are members of the Peace Corps Recruiting Team which will be available today from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily at the Peace Corps Information Center in the Student Union lobby.

Over half the volunteers serving in the Peace Corps today have had only a liberal arts education.

Many liberal arts majors teach math, science, English, art, music, economics, political science and psychology on both the secondary school and university level.

Many volunteers who have participated in sports or have delved into the areas of mechanics, raising vegetables, starting libraries or teaching first aid, are using these skills for community development.

Peace Corps Placement Tests will be given Nov. 18-24, at 12:30, 4, and 7 p.m., and on Saturday at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

National Honorary Initiates Fifteen For Leadership

National leadership honorary, Omicron Delta Kappa, which has both faculty and student members, has recently initiated 15 members from MSU.

The new members from MSU represent scholarship, government, publication, art and athletic phases of campus life.

Also initiated were J. Michael Kelly, Midland freshman; Charles Wells, East Lansing junior; Kenneth Beachler, Greenville, graduate student; John Lewis, Arlington, Va., senior; Er Shah, East Lansing graduate student; Charles Baugh, Crystal Lake, Ill., senior; and Richard Sawdey, Battle Creek senior.

The first chapter was founded at Washington and Lee Universities in 1914. The MSU chapter started in 1963 with 35 members.

Japanese Club

The Japanese Club will have a dinner Saturday from 6 to 9 p.m.

The dinner will be held in Methodist Wesleyan Foundation Student Center. Tickets are available for $2 in the Union U.N. Lounge.

After the dinner the club will have a program which includes a film on the 1964 Olympic Game in Tokyo and a film titled "A Day with a Japanese Family".

Pi-Phi Football

The women of Alpha Omicron Pi will meet the men of Pi Kappa Phi Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in Alton Park for their annual one-handed touch football game.

The contest, played for the past three years, has been won by the women two out of three times.

Each half is 15 minutes long, but the men must wear belts around their legs and may throw the ball at any time.

Solar Energy Must Be Used

By BUD CHAPMAN, State News Staff Writer
 "Most of the world's energy materials like coal, gas and oil will not last much longer than the time of our great grandchildren," Farrington Daniels told an MSU audience Wednesday night.
 Daniels, one of America's leading chemists, speaking before the Sigma Xi scientific society, said that the search for harnessing the sun's energy is a crucial one.
 "I am confident that we will find a way to do the job unless a nuclear war prevents us," he said.
 He pointed out that even the use of atomic energy is limited because of the supply of radioactive materials.
 Daniels described the research that has been conducted to provide solar energy to the two billion people in the world that are without electrical power. He said that the sun's rays are already used to cook with, heat or cool homes, distill salt water, generate electricity and do mechanical work.
 Daniels described the research that has been conducted to provide solar energy to the two billion people in the world that are without electrical power. He said that the sun's rays are already used to cook with, heat or cool homes, distill salt water, generate electricity and do mechanical work.
 He described a small solar cooker that concentrates the sun's rays on a cooking pot. This cooker costs $20. He took some of the cookers to Mexico to try out their usefulness and found that the major problem was social acceptance.
 He said women have a great dislike for cooking outside and besides this the meals cannot be cooked late in the evening.

Community Circle Requests Talent For 'Crossroads'
 The Community Circle Players need singers, dancers and a comedian for their next production "Dirtywork at the Crossroads."
 All material must fit the mood of the play which is an 1890's melodrama.
 There will be an audition for the alto acts, specialty numbers between the scenes and acts, Sunday from 8 to 9 p.m. at the Community Barn Theatre, 4208 S. Okemos Road.
 Sheet music will be furnished to anyone wishing to tryout who hasn't been able to find any songs from the 1890's period.
 Musical accompaniment will be provided by the theatre.
 The director wants soloists, quartets, song and dance soloists or teams and a stand-up comedian.
 The play will run Dec. 11 and 12, and 16 through 20.

Sonata To Be Played By Honored Pianist

Jacqueline Jo Schmitt, Dearborn senior, will debut Harold Shaper's "Sonata No. 3" in this area 4 p.m. Sunday in a piano recital in the Music Auditorium.
 Since beginning piano at 5, Miss Schmitt has won honors in the International Auditions seven years in a row and performed with chamber music groups throughout the state.
 In addition to the work by Shaper, who was the winner of the American Prix de Rome award in 1945, Miss Schmitt will perform works by Bach, Beethoven and Chopin.
 "The last movement of Beethoven's 'Waldstein' contains every technical difficulty possible," Miss Schmitt said, commenting on the virtuosity demanded by the recital.
 "I think Chopin's 'Scherzo in B Minor' to be the most perfect in form, with a whirlwind of frenzied activity at the end and gentle lyricism in the middle."
 An Honors College student, she has accompanied soloists in concerts at the University and in Detroit. Last year she played for the Performing Arts Company production of "The Fantasticks," a fabulous experience, she said. "The jazz score was difficult, but I enjoyed it. I think the University production of the play was better than the recent television show."
 Miss Schmitt, who describes her experiences in concert and teaching as rewarding, came to State on the recommendation of her piano instructor in Detroit.

Coed Hit By Bike

A coed pedestrian was knocked down by a bicycle at the Brody crossing on Harrison Road Thursday afternoon when she tried to cross the street against the light.
 Dorothy Calen, of Dansville, received a face bruise when Stephen Peterson, Rockford junior, was unable to avoid her with his bike East Lansing police said.
 Miss Calen was treated and released at Olin Health Center.

MSU Debates At U-M
