

MSU Ranks Ninth In Full-Time Enrollment

In full-time enrollment among the nation's universities, MSU ranks ninth, the University of Michigan 12th and Wayne State University is 27th.

In grand-total enrollment, MSU is 11th, U-M is 14th and WSU is 18th.

The figures released Monday are reported in School and Society, an educational journal, but Garland G. Parker, registrar and admissions officer at the University of Cincinnati.

The annual report was based this year on a survey of 1,111 accredited universities and four year colleges, enrolling 2,090,638 full-time and 4,118,735 grand total.

MSU and other leading universities dropped one place in full-time and grand-total enrollments due to the listing for the first time this year of the state colleges of California as a single unit. Otherwise, MSU retained its previous relative standing.

Similarly, U-M retained its same relative standing in full-time enrollment but went from 12th to 14th in grand-total enrollment.

Wayne State was 29th in full-time enrollment last year, moving up to 27th this year. In grand-total enrollment, WSU advanced from 22nd to 18th.

According to Parker's report, Michigan State's full-time enrollment is 28,587, an increase from 26,170 in the same survey last year. The grand-total is 36,102, up from 31,538.

Michigan's full time enrollment gained from 22,058 to 24,642. The grand-total was 30,799 in 1963 and 32,415 this year.

The full-time enrollment at Wayne State is 14,075, up from 12,154 last year. The grand total is 25,200, a gain from 22,310 in 1963.

Nationally, Parker found enrollments up 10.1 per cent full-time, the greatest gain in recent years. Grand-total enrollments increased 9.3 per cent.

The national freshman enrollment is up 17.3 per cent. The most substantial increases are in education (18 per cent), the liberal art and pure sciences (17.3 per cent), business administration (16.8 per cent), nursing (15.9 per cent), agriculture (12.4 per cent) and engineering (11 per cent).

Of all full-time students, Dr. Parker said, 38.5 per cent are in the large public universities.

The 30 highest in terms of full-time-enrollment according to the survey are:

(1.) The California State Colleges, 92,220; (2.) University of California, 66,980; (3.) State University of New York, 60,569; (4.) City University of New York, 48,787; (5.) Minnesota, 38,403; (6.) Wisconsin, 33,912; (7.) Ohio State, 32,737; (8.) Illinois, 30,992; (9.) Michigan State, 28,587; (10.) Texas, 27,492; (11.) Indiana, 26,199; (12.) Michigan, 24,642; (13.) Missouri, 22,529; (14.) Pennsylvania State, 21,326; and (15.) Washington, 20,107. (16.) Purdue, 18,839; (17.) Maryland, 18,609; (18.) Louisiana State, 17,093; (19.) Puerto Rico, 16,338; (20.) New York University, 15,179; (21.) Southern Illinois, 15,143; (22.) Brigham Young, 14,963; (23.) Florida, 14,913; (24.) State University of Iowa, 14,480; (25.) Arizona, 14,454; (26.) Harvard, 14,360; (27.) Wayne State, 14,075; (28.) Tennessee, 13,863; (29.) Colorado, 13,743; and (30.) Rutgers, 13,483.

Rebellious Cal Students Reject Amnesty Offer

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—President Clark Kerr offered Monday a full amnesty for charges against four leaders of a campus revolt in hopes of ending strife which has torn the huge University of California campus. The offer was swiftly rejected.

Kerr urged the rebels to join with others of the 27,400 students in abiding by a new rule allowing in one certain campus area the right to recruit and solicit funds for such off-campus causes as civil rights work in the South. The rebels insist the rule be lifted so they can do it anywhere on campus.

Kerr said he would leave the students involved in last Thursday's wild campus sit-in to the courts because civil charges are "far more serious than those made previously by the University."

After hearing Kerr's proposal "to end anarchy" on the campus, Mario Savio, leader of the insurgents, announced the proposal "is totally unacceptable." Any further plans of his followers will be announced today he said.

Savio, Arthur Goldberg, his sister, Jackie, and Brian Turner, were cited for disciplinary action after a demonstration in October. Savio called the action trickery, saying the demonstration then ended in a University promise not to punish anybody.

Kerr's peace offer was made to a mass meeting of 13,000 students, called while morning classes were canceled.

Savio, 21-year-old philosophy junior from New York City, then tried to speak from the same platform. Police carried him away, struggling, held him for 10 minutes and released him.

"Let him talk," some of the crowd shouted. There were loud boos.

Just before the meeting, a municipal judge told 768 demonstrators—arrested for a massive sit-in last Wednesday and Thursday in the University's Administration Building—they faced charges which "may seriously affect your future." He continued the arraignment so they could prepare their cases.

The 768 included 590 students.

On Tax Charge

Rep. West Arrested

DETROIT (AP)—Federal agents Monday arrested Daniel W. West, a Detroit Democrat and member of the Michigan House of Representatives, on charges of filing false information on income tax returns in what they say may amount to a $250,000 tax swindle.

Ironically, the arrest took place as West was posting bond on other charges resulting from a vote registration fraud charge being heard in Detroit recorder's (criminal) court.

Federal officials also said they are preparing to go before a federal grand jury today to seek other indictments against West.

West already is accused of hiding a prison record by masquerading for ten years as a prominent New York attorney who died in 1961.

At West's arraignment on the income tax charge, Federal Judge

Thomas P. Thornton set bond of $10,000 and scheduled examination of West Jan. 6 before Federal Judge Wade H. McCree.

West's alleged tax swindle involves "in excess of 1,500 Detroit area victims," said R. L. Nixon, district IRS director.

The 54-year-old West refused to make any statement about accusations that he had impersonated the New York man named Daniel W. West.

U.S., England Tackle Hazy NATO Future

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson and Prime Minister Harold Wilson began Monday a joint search for guidelines the United States and Britain may follow in tackling the controversial problem of NATO's nuclear future.

In the course of a busy 90-minute, mid-day session, opening a two-day conference, the two men covered not only issues within the Western Alliance, but also discussed problems they face over the rest of the world.

These include Britain's pressing financial difficulties, the cost and distribution of defense forces, efforts to raise world living standards and the conflict with Communists in Southeast Asia.

U.S. officials predicted that no "blueprint" for a NATO nuclear force will emerge from the conference which runs through this evening. Both Johnson and Wilson, however, are reported hopeful that they can agree on some formula for a new approach to the problem which can then be taken into negotiations with West Germany and other interested allied countries.

There is no hope here that France, which is flatly opposed

Schedule Completion Continues

Students who made requests last month for winter term courses can pick up section reservation reports beginning today in the Men's Intramural Building.

During a free period between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., students may report to the building according to the following schedule:

N-Z, today
G-M, Wednesday
C-F, Thursday
A-B, Friday

ID's and student schedule cards must be presented for admission to the class card arena.

Those who receive a full schedule of reserved courses for winter term may depart from the arena. Others will turn to an adjacent area to secure class cards to complete their schedules.

Registrar Horace C. King reported last week that 72 per cent of the 26,017 students who registered in the Union in November will receive a full schedule this week.

Of the 28 per cent who will not get full schedules, nearly 70 per cent need just one more card to complete winter term courses.

Only 33 students do not have any sections reserved which they requested last month.

Students who cannot pick up reports as scheduled may do so on a subsequent day in the week, except those not scheduled until Friday.

After this week, reports will be available in 107 Administration. Class cards to complete schedules must be secured this week in the IM Building. Otherwise, students have to wait until registration Jan. 4 and 5 to complete schedules.

Students may not drop or add courses this week. This procedure will also be handled in January.

Since students filled out section requests in the Union, departments have been adjusting sections wherever possible to accommodate student demand.

Class lists for each course section were arranged giving priority to graduating seniors, then Honors College and special groups, graduate students, juniors, sophomores and freshmen.

Department representatives determined the limit for each section, and dropped the excess number. This number comprises the students who need to reserve other class cards.

Fishel Finds Viet Nam Situation Distressing

"Distressing, depressing and discouraging" is the way Wesley R. Fishel, described the Viet Nam situation to 90 students and faculty members at a political science coffee hour in 34 Union Monday afternoon.

Fishel is professor of political science and a consultant on Viet Nam to the U.S. Department of State. His last trip to Viet Nam was several weeks ago. He left for Viet Nam immediately following the coffee hour Monday.

"Every Vietnamese I talked to is concerned about the weakness of the government and the strength of the Viet Cong," he said. "And everyone was uncertain about the future of Viet Nam."

"But everyone is willing to fight," he said. "They've been fighting to maintain their freedom from Communist rule since 1945 and they'd still rather fight the Communists than join them."

He said many, if not most, of the Vietnamese citizens have lived under Communist rule in North Viet Nam and moved to South Viet Nam at great risks to escape the Communists.

Many Vietnamese who migrated originally from South Viet Nam to Communist North Viet Nam have migrated back, he said.

"There are two comments," Fishel said.

"The first is that the Viet Nam situation is very complex. The second is that the Viet Nam situation is very complex."

"The first is that the Viet Nam situation is very complex. The second is that the Viet Nam situation is very complex."

Psychology Building Due For Completion

A $890,000 psychology research building located on the corner of Auditorium Road and Bogue Street is scheduled for completion Dec. 20.

Construction began last January, and when completed the building will house all research activities of the Psychology Department.

The project represents the first establishment of permanent and adequate laboratory space for psychology research, Clarence L. Winder, professor and chairman of psychology, said.

"The new building will permit expansion of both individual and research grant activities," he said.

Of the total cost of the project, $300,000 was granted by the National Science Foundation. The rest came from University funds.

Winder said the new facilities will permit more research work with human beings and other animal subjects.

The lab space will be used mainly by graduate students, he said, but all faculty members, graduates and undergraduate majors in the Psychology Department are potential users of the facilities.

The department is usually involved in about 20 outside research grant projects, Winder said.

Activities include studies of vision and other sensory processes, learning, perception, problem solving and personality.

GOP Leader Resigns Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Under sharp fire from within the party, John Grenier resigned Monday as executive director of the Republican National Committee.

His resignation, announced by GOP National Chairman Dean Burch comes two days after the Republican Governors' Association called for a shakeup of the National Committee leadership in the wake of Sen. Barry Goldwater's landslide defeat in November.

Burch said he had accepted with "deep regret" Grenier's resignation effective as of Dec. 31, 1964.

Said Burch in a statement: "John Grenier has worked brilliantly and effectively for our party throughout this presidential year, and his full time presence will be sorely missed by the National Committee."

"However, he will continue to contribute his political skill to the Republican party as a valuable state chairman and will be available for consultation and special assignments as the need arises."

Spartan Spirit Asks Help On New Booklet

Spartan Spirit needs persons to work on a traditions booklet, which may be published spring 1965.

The booklet will explain MSU's history, philosophy and little known but interesting facts to both present students and incoming freshmen.

Anyone interested should call Eddie Leitman at the Spartan Spirit office in 318 Student Services, phone 355-8282 weekday afternoons from 1 to 5.

Registration Note

Students are being reminded to complete both sides of Card No. 3, the Dean of Students card, when they register.

The reverse side of this card is for listing activities and group memberships.

The office of the associate dean of students uses this information for the permanent transcripts of graduating seniors and for selection of undergraduates for honoraries.

Mississippi's Opening Society

The closed society of Mississippi, which is rapidly becoming a cliché of American sociology, may be opened up a bit by the repercussions to the murder of three civil rights workers near Philadelphia, Miss., last summer.

The FBI last week arrested 20 people, including Sheriff Lawrence Rainey and Deputy Sheriff Cecil Price of Neshoba County, where the murders took place, for the federal equivalent of hate murder. The arrests were made on charges of conspiring to interfere with federal rights and being accessories after the fact of a crime.

It is obvious from the list of those arrested that justice, even the double-standard of Mississippi justice as proclaimed by the state's defenders, was severely lacking in this instance. The law enforcement officers of Neshoba County not only weren't on the trail of the kidnap-murderers of James Chaney, Andrew Goodman and Michael Schwerner; it appears they themselves were acting with the other murderers.

The account of the murders written by Negro author Louis Lomax which appears in a special supplement to Ramparts Magazine, entitled "Mississippi Eyewitness," is particularly revealing. Lomax states repeatedly that everyone in Neshoba County, white and Negro, knew the exact circumstances of the three murders within a few days after the occurrence, June 21.

Lomax claims that the random murder of some of the several hundred civil rights workers who crusaded in Mississippi last summer was planned months before the workers arrived. The three specific victims may not have been chosen or even known, but Lomax claims that residents of Neshoba County were prepared long in advance for a violent murder. They had planned a burial designed to make the murders look like an intentional disappearance.

Moreover, Lomax shows that the facts of the murders were only revealed to investigators when a white resident of the county broke under the temptation of the $25,000 reward offered by the FBI for information about the murders. Anyone in the county could have done the same.

With the names of the probable murderers of the three workers now known, it only remains for the state of Mississippi to prosecute them on charges of murder. Federal authorities have no power to make arrests for murder.

It is frequently claimed that Mississippi authorities ignore common standards of justice and human rights when those rights concern Negroes. This may or may not be the case.

Mississippi authorities, however, will need superhuman will power to ignore the overwhelming weight of public opinion against the murderers of Chaney, Goodman and Schwerner. More likely, the representatives of Mississippi "justice" -- who tried to defend their state's honor by killing two of the white "invaders" from the north and one of the "upstart" Negroes from their own state -- will do more harm than good to that honor.

It is probable that the entire nation will be so appalled by the facts of the multiple murder when those facts are made known that the pretense of Mississippi as a righteous and honorable state with a dedication to constitutional freedoms will finally be broken down.

Mississippi could remain a closed society and could present its fictitious convictions to the world only as long as in so doing it did not perpetrate a violent attack on the nation's moral standards. It has now, it appears, overstepped those bounds.

MSU, NCAA: Names In The News

The soccer team has turned in an admirable performance in the NCAA championship meet in Providence, R.I. Coming in second against Navy is hardly a reason to be upset at the loss, particularly with a 1-0 score.

Michigan State has not come this close to an NCAA championship since 1959, when the cross-country team ranked first in the nation.

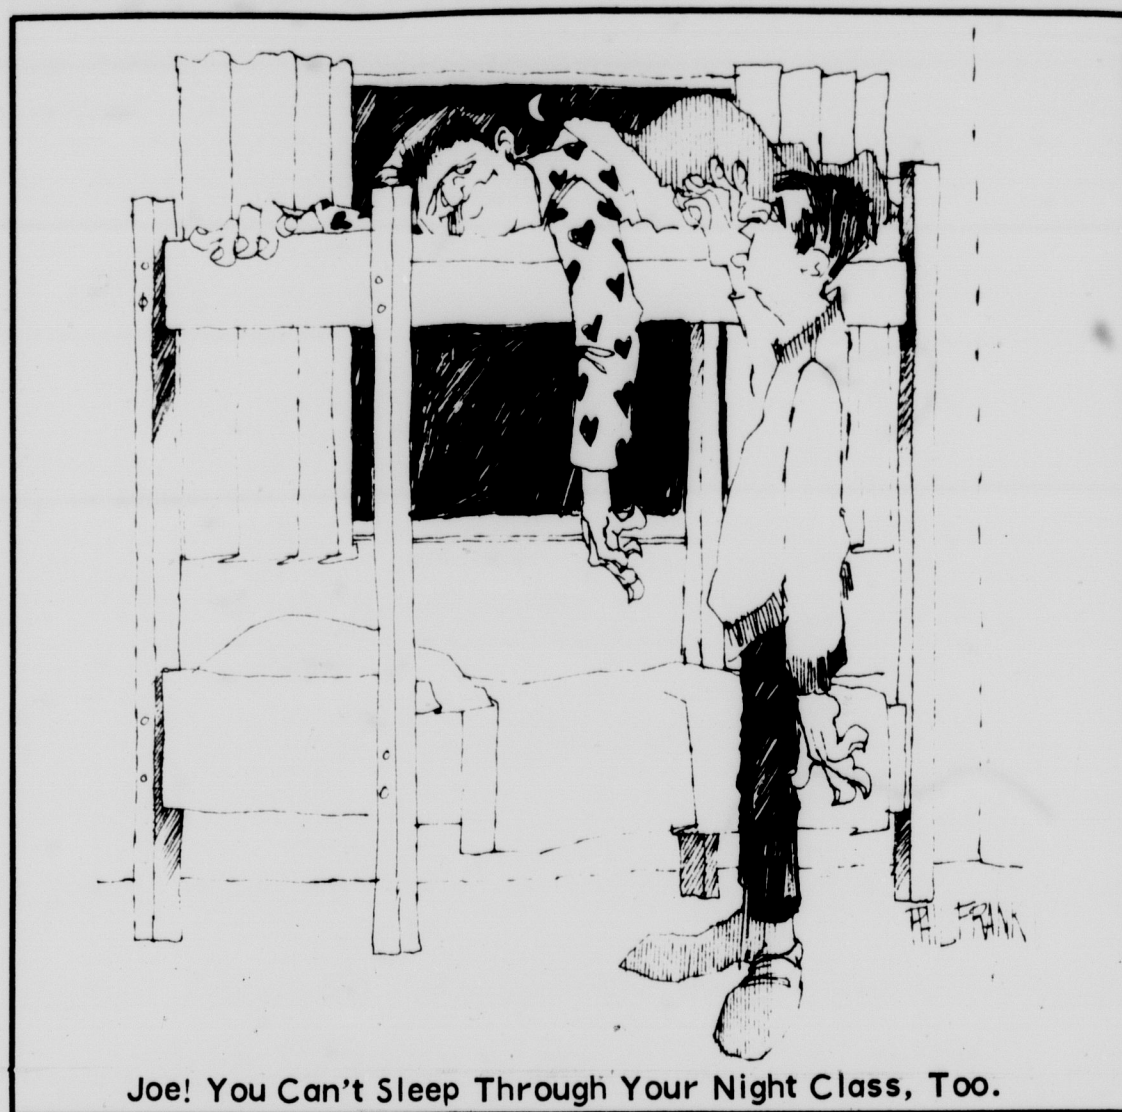

This year's record is the best the soccer team has yet made, and is something of which every team member can be proud.

An interesting comment on last weekend's tournament is that it marked the second time this fall that the names of Navy and Michigan State have turned up in the news in connection with the NCAA.

Both schools were involved in the NCAA censorship of four schools which had violated its rules. Both were put on probation, State for three years and Navy for one.

One wonders what would have happened to this year's soccer competition if both schools had been removed from competition for NCAA titles. Would there have been a three-way tie for first, with the third-place team taking the title, or would Army and St. Louis, which were knocked out in the first tournament games, have fought for the championship?

In either case, the experience of the State and Navy soccer teams demonstrates that a school shouldn't fool around with NCAA rules.

New Dorms Have Faults

Akers For People, Not Mice

To the Editor:

We live in a new dorm, Forest H. Akers, especially designed for comfort, study, the convenience of dorm living, and space economy. MSU is reputed to have one of the best dormitory systems in the country. Yet, does it not seem odd that mice exist in these new and elaborate dorms?

We realize that a pest problem such as this often accompanies the construction of new buildings. But, is it too much to ask of a university so renowned in research to cope with this problem of mice extermination?

Constant complaints over the last month have brought no action from the management of our dorm. One brave co-ed took the matter into her own hands and was seen carrying her particular mouse in a plastic bag.

Is this the answer?? Are we all to use plastic bags, or to wait for the mice to be electrocuted in candy machines, as was the fate of one poor mouse?

Now that finals are approaching, students no longer have time to track with talcum powder or trap with cheese.

Please, Help!!!!

Akers Desks Strain Eyes, Backs

To the Editor:

If anyone notices the Akers Hall residents leaning slightly to the right it's because of another of MSU's famous mass mistakes. Our desk lamps are on the right side of the desk, the work area on the left. Not everyone is upset over this slight error; that half of the students with right side desks can use the lamp on the desk next to their own.

The problem might be relieved if we turned on the overhead light. However, in one of their great economic moves, the planners of this dorm decided the study rooms didn't need overhead lights.

Well, what's done is done; but for the sake of the student's eyesight and spinal cord, please plan the new million-dollar dorms with two minutes more care.

MSU Heading For Vast Split

To the Editor:

Extrapolating from the present 31,000 students attending MSU to the proposed 100,000 student carnival in 1984, I can only foresee extended groups of self-sufficient dormitories peopled according to class and major.

With the Social Science Complex consisting of four dormitories, one for each year at Michigan State, and with similar non-interacting Arts and Letters, Engineering, etc., complexes, the main concern of the administration would then be how to rescind the title of "university" for the more provincial, but inescapable, title of "Michigan State Colleges."

We will inevitably be able to carry on our private lives in an unimposing, non-threatening environment. We will not have to give in or be plagued with compromise. And social scientists may not even recognize engineers as people.

Meal Quality Declining

To the Editor:

Having spent two years in a boarding school, a year and a half in one university, two years and a bit in the Army and two years here at MSU, I'm likely to be tolerant of mass cooking.

I don't usually listen when people complain. In fact, I've laughed when people have been unhappy about the dorm food here at Michigan State because I've been places where it has been worse. I'm not laughing any more. This year I've heard many complaints and I completely agree with them. The food this year in Snyder has been plain bad.

A story in today's State News helps to explain why. This year, it seems, standard menus have been adopted, and apparently this has the effect of leveling down menu quality.

Of course, it doesn't explain why we have veal three or four times a week. It doesn't explain the Sunday a few weeks ago when the choice was pork or ham. It doesn't explain poorly prepared food, unattractive and unappetizing.

I suppose "economy" is the official answer, but it is a pretty poor one. In the name of economy they could stack us up like cordwood and feed us dog food.

They haven't done the one yet, but they're pretty close to the other, and I, for one, don't like it.

Bike Spaces Insufficient

To the Editor:

It seems apparent to me that something must be done about the parking problem. Not the car parking problem, but what to do with your bicycle while you are at class.

I noticed an article, or rather picture, in a previous State News pertaining to some new racks in front of Bessey Hall. To me a more logical place to put them would have been outside the Natural Science Building.

It is quite disturbing to come out of class, be in a hurry, and realize that you have received a violation because you have omitted to place your vehicle in the racks provided. As you look around, you ask, "What rack?"

All you see is a sea of bicycles, as far as the eye can see. You can tell that there is no room in these racks for your machine, and it is supposed that the "meter maids" have as good eyesight, if not better, than you, a lowly student.

We know, or should know that the rules say that if there is no room in the racks provided, we are to place bicycles near this rack.

Here again you wonder if these "police women" have failing eyesight. The racks are completely surrounded by the conveyances of other students, who are also much dismayed when they realize that they are completely penned in near the racks.

I have found this situation particularly evident near the west end of the building mentioned earlier.

You might be inclined to ask, "Why not park it on the other side, or in front?" If those who ask this would stop to think a minute, they would see that it is rather silly to park out there when you have just come from the west side of campus, are planning to go to the west side as soon as you leave there, and or have a class in the west end of the Nat. Sci. Building.

The only solution I can offer is that more racks be installed, although I cannot imagine where they could be put. I do hope someone thinks of a way to end this situation. Too many violations are being given out, and too many bikes are being hauled off.

Kenney Praises Soccer Squad

To the Editor:

The State soccer team read the many telegrams sent us before Saturday's game with Navy, and found a great incentive in them. Although we were not fortunate enough to win the tournament, the men played their hearts out.

As we played, the team felt the spirit of the university standing behind us.

Thanks everyone for your support.

Readers Criticize Anti-Bible Letter

McFarland Lacks Knowledge Of Bible

By BRUCE HARRISON

Editor's Note: Bruce Harrison is a Manassquan, N.J., graduate student majoring in guidance and personnel services. He is an ordained pastor and has helped organize churches in New Jersey, in addition to working as a teacher and counselor.

In my 12 years as a pastor I have yet to meet a really honest and informed critic of the Bible and the letter you printed by David McFarland has not changed my opinion.

Since the college set is notorious for accepting anything spoken on campus as "sacred truth" perhaps it would be wise to set this youngster straight on a few facts.

First, Davey boy, it is a rule of scholars that no one has the right to criticize any book unless he has read it several times in its original text or at least studied it diligently in several translations.

I would judge that you have made the mistake of many a student and acquired your criticism of the Bible from the Union Grill philosophers as they expound over a cold cup of coffee.

Following the logic of your distaste for the figure of speech, I am sure you do not believe in the existence of the U.S. Marine Corps, for the sign in the post office says "Join the Marines and see the four corners of the earth."

Your criticism of the light of the moon was turned over to my son, a 7th grader, and the science expert of the house.

Now, the scriptures plainly state that "the sun shall be darkened and the moon shall not give her light." This was no problem to my son, who immediately reasoned that is a perfectly scientific statement since the reflected light of the moon could not shine on the earth if the sun went out.

There is no evidence when the Bible is read correctly that we indicate that the moon is its own source of light. However, you must admit it is a bit brighter when the moon is "shining".

Concerning Satan and psychiatry, the Bible is way ahead of the profession. Had you read the Bible as you claim you have you would have found in its pages much of what psychiatry is just finding out today. (I.e., "I'll show you some passages.")

Even some psychiatrists admit that there is an area beyond which he cannot go and it is recognized as some moving force of evil that could be attributed to demonology.

There is much more that we could say but time will not allow. I therefore take the liberty to recommend you and other doubters to read the Bible without the critical narrowness of much of today's scholarship.

Try also to read "Modern Science and the Christian Faith" by Bernard Ramm of Baylor University. It might be tough for you but give it the old college try.

Hope you don't mind the joshing, Davey boy. Let's get together and take a look at just how wonderfully scientific the Bible can be. Keep in mind, however, that the Bible is not a science textbook but a record of redemption that is broad enough to take in the greatest skeptic and give him peace and joy, and everlasting life.

Bible Written For Average Reader

By RANDALL C. ROWE

Editor's Note: Randall C. Rowe is an Oak Park sophomore with a major in biological sciences.

In response to David D. McFarland's letter of Dec. 1, on reading the Bible as "a supplement to a student's textbooks", I would ask him to consider the circumstances under which these particular passages were written.

In reference to casting out "devils" in Mark 5:1-13, one must remember that the populace of Palestine at that time had no conception of modern bacteriology and naturally attributed disease to "demons" and "devils".

Therefore, when Christ healed a person so "possessed" he had to do so in a way that the people would comprehend. This is not to say that Christ accredited disease to "devils", but that He simply brought Himself down to the level of the people.

Revelation 7:1 tells us that the Earth is square only in the sense that anyone talks of the "four corners of the world", and Matthew 4:8 shows that it is flat only in the allegorical sense that one feels he can see the "whole world" when scanning the horizon from a mountain.

In Genesis 1:16 and Mark 13:24, where the light of the moon was mentioned, the connotation that the light originated from the moon itself is certainly not present. Furthermore, one must still realize that these two scriptures were written for the average Palestinian who had no conception of astronomy.

The story of creation as set forth in Genesis has been a stumbling block to many, and yet if one examines it he will find a surprising correlation between it and the modern conception of evolution.

Even Genesis 2:7, if one takes into account that this was written for the lay reader with a pre-1000 B.C. knowledge, closely correlates with the modern idea of the first organisms being formed by a coagulation of organic substances (dust of the Earth) in the primitive seas.

It seems clear to me that if anyone is going to examine any document he must do so in the light of the circumstances under which it was written.

George Reynolds recommended reading the Bible "in order to establish faith". This goal, though, can only be attained if we search the scriptures diligently, using the insight and intelligence with which we are blessed.

Talks Expected To Lead To Cong Bombing

SAIGON, Viet Nam.--Secret planning talks expected to lead to bombing of Viet Cong supply lines in Laos got under way Monday between U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor and South Viet Nam's premier, Tran Van Huong.

A two-hour session at the premier's office opened urgent consultations on the anti-Communist war, in which President Johnson wants consideration of "measures that should be taken to improve the situation in all its aspects."

Elaborate security precautions surrounded the talks and officials declined to discuss the trend. But one said, "I think as time goes on the results of the decisions will become apparent."

Tito Accuses Red China Of Power Politics

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia.--President Tito, an increasingly powerful voice in international communism, accused Red China Monday of playing power politics with the aim of "assuming a decisive role" in the world.

He said the Communist Chinese intended "to achieve a dominant influence on world politics regardless of the means it may have to use to attain this end."

U.S. Reacts Politely To Gromyko Speech

WASHINGTON.--U.S. officials reacted politely to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's policy speech in New York Monday but the obviously did not see much in it.

The general initial impression in official quarters here was that the Soviet Union is marking time on major issues and that the speech shows this--as have various other statements by high Soviet officials recently.

Northeast Gripped By Frigid Wave

BOSTON.--Thousands of homes were without heat and light Monday as a frigid wave gripped the northeast section of the region on the heels of snow and ice storms.

Ten traffic deaths were recorded in New England on roads made treacherous by freezing rain and sleet before snow fell.

Three deaths in New York State were attributed to the storm.

In the eastern portion of New York State thousands of families were without electric power for light and heat. Schenectady reported 40,000 homes were affected. Approximately 32,000 Massachusetts houses were hit by power failures, nearly half of them in the Worcester area.

U.S. Recognizes New Bolivian Government

WASHINGTON.--The United States Monday recognized the new military junta government of Bolivia.

The State Department said the new regime in La Paz, which overthrew the government of President Victor Paz Estenssoro Nov. 4, had promised to hold elections May 30 for selection of a new representative government.

It also pledged respect for the country's international obligations, the department said.

Trustworthy Prisoners Will Be In The Pink

NASHVILLE, Tenn.--Inmates at the Women's Prison here will soon have added reason for good conduct. The State Department of Corrections announced that new uniforms to be distributed will vary in color. Inmates considered most trustworthy will wear pink.

Hamtramck Legislator Dies Of Cancer

DETROIT.--State Rep. Walter J. Hyso, a Hamtramck Democrat, died late Sunday night at Henry Ford Hospital.

Hyso, who was first elected to the legislature in 1962, had been re-elected to his House seat Nov. 3 and was due to begin a second term Jan. 13.

Hyso, 49, died of cancer.

Court Sets Aside Ruling On Hughes Case

NEW YORK.--The U.S. Court of Appeals Monday set aside an administrative ruling that would have permitted industrialist-financier Howard Hughes to resume control of Trans World Airlines (TWA).

The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) had said that Hughes could resume control of TWA if the Hughes Tool Co. would divest itself of control over Northeast Airlines.

'Kill' The Cry In Khartoum As Negroes, Arabs Clash

KHARTOUM, Sudan (P)--Black Africans and Arabs clashed in bloody waves through the night and into the morning Monday over the Arab majority's domination of South Sudan's Negro belt. When troops brought the fighting to a halt, the government counted 14 persons dead and 400 injured, including an American couple.

Hundreds of Blacks were herded into jails and police stations and the Prime Minister, Sir El Khatem El Khalifa, told a news conference troops were standing by to crush any further rioting.

The fighting started when blacks marched into Khartoum from the airport and the Negro quarter last night shouting slogans for autonomy in the south and hunting down Arabs.

The Americans who were not identified, and several Europeans apparently were mistaken by the blacks for Arabs and attacked in the darkness last night.

After the fighting ended, a crowd of tattered Arabs surrounded El Khalifa's residence and demanded protection. They said they lived in an area bordering the Negro quarter.

At the news conference, El Khalifa came under fire of Sudanese women charging the police took two hours to intervene in the rioting last night.

Champ Wether Sold At Top Price

Michigan State sold the grand champion wether of the International Live Stock Exposition to the Jewel Tea Co. Tuesday for a record price.

The 105-pound, eight-month-old Southdown was bought for $11.20 a pound. The total was $1,176.

The Jewel Tea Co. plans to put the wether on display in a food exhibit at the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago. The animal will remain on display for several weeks but plans for his ultimate future have not been decided upon.

It's A Real Grind

Two MSU employees received hand wounds from meat grinders in separate accidents on campus Sunday.

Sammy Ewing, Reading freshman, received a deep cut to his right thumb from a grinder in the kitchen of Fee Hall, campus police said.

In a similar accident at Wonders Hall, Maxine Mizner, 4551 Don St., Holt, sustained a three-inch cut to the right forefinger, police said.

Both employees were taken to Olin Health Center where stitches were taken in the wounds, and they were released.

"The forces of order were simply not keyed up to this situation," the premier replied. "They expected a friendly gathering."

The crowd swelled to about 10,000 and marched into Khartoum attacking Arabs and smashing their shops and cafes. Arab cars were overturned as their drivers fled for cover.

Police dispersed the mob but an hour later thousands of Arabs armed with sticks and iron rods charged into the Negro quarter shouting, "kill, kill, kill." The battles spilled over into the center of Khartoum in the morning.

The rioting began after about 5,000 blacks turned up at the Khartoum Airport to greet Interior Minister Clement Mboro, who had been touring in the south. African tribes there have been rebelling against the Arabs of the northern Sudan who dominate the government and the army.

Sudan has a population of about 10 million Arabs living in the north and about 4 million Negroes who inhabit the south.

Supreme Court Says Mixed 'Rooming' O.K.

WASHINGTON (P)--The Supreme Court knocked down as racial discrimination Monday a Florida law prohibiting Negro and white persons who are not married to each other from habitually occupying "in the nighttime the same room."

At the same time, the High Tribunal sidestepped ruling on Florida's law which bars interracial marriage. "We never," the wording of the unanimous opinion read by Justice Byron R. White cast doubt on such laws, which are in effect in 19 states.

Jack Greenberg, Director-Counsel of the legal defense fund of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he views the decision as a long step toward legal equality of the races.

In Florida, State Atty. Gen. James Kynes said the ruling "has little or no practical effect on Florida because we have

Professor Tours

George Borgstrom, professor of food science, is lecturing in Germany and his native Sweden through Dec. 20.

He recently gave the opening address to an international symposium in Stockholm on "The Role of Chemistry in World Feeding."

He is also slated to address numerous organizations throughout West Germany and Sweden.

Grad Assistant Study Unveiled

A depth study of the use of graduate teaching assistants will be unveiled by the Educational Policies Committee today at the Academic Council meeting.

The Council will convene at 3:15 p.m. in the Con Con Room of the Center for International Programs.

Michigan State's Educational Development Program, at the request of the Educational Policies Committee, made this study to determine reasons for using graduate teaching assistants, criteria for selection, responsibility assigned to them and supervision of assistants.

Chairmen of the 15 departments, which make the greatest use of graduate teaching assistants, were interviewed.

Student Employment Opportunities

READY, SET, GO--The drama of the game unfolds as the Spartans dress for battle, get instructions from Coach Forddy Anderson, and do battle against another opponent. Capt. Marcus Sanders is shown scoring a basket against Western Michigan Saturday night as the Spartans earned an 89-80 win over the Broncos. State will face its stiffest challenge of the young season tonight when it takes on Notre Dame on the Irish home floors.

Cagers Face Stiff Test In Irish Clash

By JERRY MORTON
State News Sports Writer

As far as Coach Forddy Anderson is concerned Notre Dame may be a team that has everything.

"They've got nothing but power, size and depth," Anderson said.

That will be the situation facing the Spartans tonight when they attempt to capture their third consecutive win this season as they go against Notre Dame at South Bend.

The Irish have used their attributes to good advantage already this year by posting triumphs over Lewis College, 99-87, and Ball State, 116-82. The ND scoring output in the Ball State game set a school record.

The Notre Dame game is traditionally one of the biggest contests on the Spartan schedule and Irish opponents have found it difficult to win in South Bend's dank field house.

"The biggest thing is the challenge that is wrapped up in the contest," Anderson said.

"It's early in the season, we're young and inexperienced, and it is an invaluable way to get road experience in a hurry."

One of the major problems facing the Green and White so far this season has been their inability to handle the ball well.

"We're still turning the ball over too many times," Anderson said.

"It's an individual problem," he said. "When we find an opening, we over-handle the ball. There's usually an extra step or an extra dribble and by the time we decide to do something, the opening is no longer there."

After their first two games last season, the Spartans had a total of 210 points but this year they've scored only 171 so far.

That leads to the question as to whether MSU is capable of scoring 100 points in a game this season.

"This team can hit 100 points," Anderson said. "We've just been over-holding the ball too much. You can't shoot if you're dribbling."

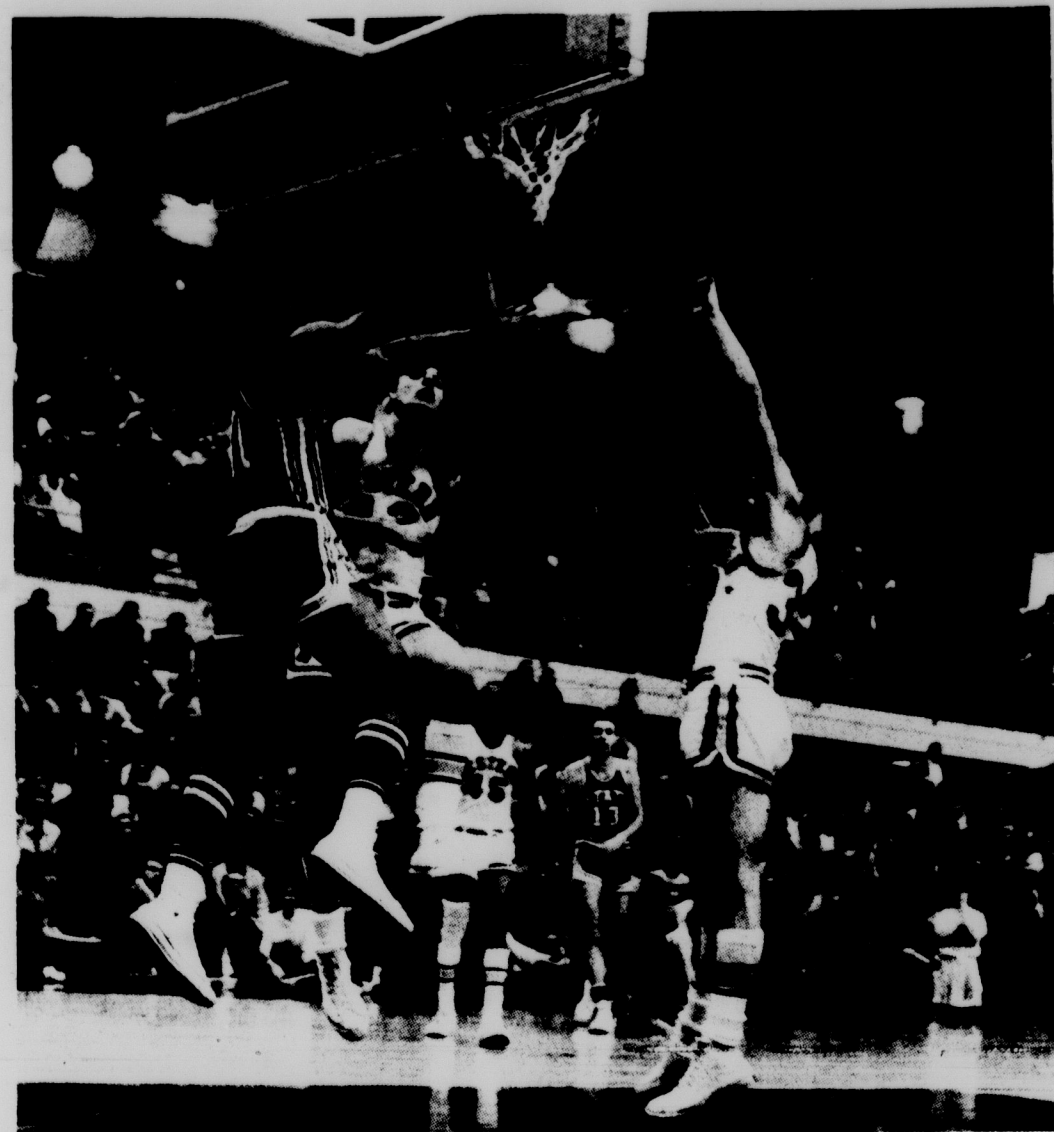

Anderson said he thinks that each man on the club has a difficult assignment during a game but that Bill Curtis may be facing a tougher job than any of the others.

Tonight's game will give the Spartans a chance to defeat the Irish for the first time since 1961.

Notre Dame won last year's game, 95-80, and holds a commanding 55-27, series which began in 1908.

Gymnasts Show Potential In Pre-Season Invitational

Heavy snow and strong gymnastic competition made for a rough and tumble Midwest Open, Saturday in Rockford, Ill.

The bad weather conditions forced cancellation of the preliminary round scheduled for Friday. Saturday's competition began at 10 a.m. and lasted straight through until 11 p.m., with both the preliminaries and finals being held during that time.

"The competition was some of the finest in the nation," said Spartan Coach George Szypula. "Iowa, Michigan, Southern Illinois and Iowa State posed the greatest threats."

No team titles were contested in the open meet. Considering the competition, Szypula rates Iowa as the team to beat in the Big Ten this year. The Hawkeyes were, in his opinion, State's hottest competition in the Midwest Open.

Jim Curzi took first place for the Spartans on the horizontal bar, taking the highest score with a 9.8 average.

"One of the most pleasant results was Ron Aure," commented Szypula. "He turned in excellent performances for a sophomore, and looks to be a great threat in the future, as well as a big help to us."

Aure was fourth in tumbling, fifth in the floor exercise and tied for sixth spot in the long horse competition.

Two freshmen who figure high in Coach Szypula's plans for the future both turned in fine performances. Dave Thor took the fourth spot in all-around competition, placed second to Rusty Mitchell in the floor exercise and tied for third in the long horse event. He also came up with a seventh-place finish on the parallel bars.

Ed Gunney, the second half of this frosh combination from California, tied for seventh in the horizontal bar.

Tigers Slate Atlanta Tilts

DETROIT (UPI)--The Detroit Tigers have announced they will play a three-game exhibition series in April against the Milwaukee Braves in Atlanta, Georgia.

The game will be played in Atlanta's new 18-million dollar stadium. The stadium will house the Braves after their transfer from Milwaukee in 1966.

The stadium will be used for the first time by the Tigers and the Braves.

The Tigers also announced that their home opener for the major league season will be April 21st against Kansas City.

Detroit will begin its season April 12th, also against Kansas City.

A team composed of Russ Everett, Bill Swallender, Warren Cook, Dennis Whitehead, Dave Foster and Brian Minor won the University of Michigan's invitational paddleball tournament with six points.

Michigan was second with four and Eastern third with two.

Russ Everett, Grosse Pointe junior, won the number one singles by winning the final 19-21, 21-17 and 21-16. Bill Swallender, Hopkins, Minn., junior, long in the semi-finals as did the doubles team of Warren Cook, Lansing senior, and Dennis Whitehead, Brooklyn, Mich., senior.

Dave Foster, East Lansing, and Brian Minor, Lansing, won the graduate doubles final to give MSU the trophy, 21-14, 20-21 and 21-16.

Million In Grants For Chickens

More than $1 million in federal appropriations and grants have been awarded to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) poultry research laboratory here to continue a 26-year search for the cause and cure of the one of the major killers of chickens.

Ben R. Burmester, lab director, estimates that avian leukosis, a chicken leukemia, results in a loss of about $64 million yearly to the chicken industry.

The lab's budget for 1965-66 has been more than doubled—from about $300,000 last year to $695,957.

An additional $450,000 allotted nearly three years ago by Congress for additions to the facility will be used as soon as the University and the USDA agree on a new site.

Because of increasing enrollments, the University wants the land back that it gave up to the government for the research site in 1938, Burmester said.

"However, the $450,000 allotment is for additions, not replacement," he said.

Burmester said the move from the present site on Mount Hope Road to a new one farther south on University farm property will take place in about two years.

A $52,524 grant from the American Cancer Society and a $38,518 grant from the National Institutes of Health will also be used to further the lab's work.

A talent hunt is now being conducted to increase the laboratory staff from 38 to 55 scientists, including biochemists, immunologists, veterinarians and technologists.

Lab scientists have so far been able to prove that a specific and unusual virus is the cause of the leukosis.

Burmester said researchers are now studying the genetics of the disease with the ultimate hope of discovering a vaccine that will prevent or cure it.

'S' Spirit Adds To Projects

Spartan Spirit Board voted recently to add a tradition and a goals committee to its winter term project of a pep club.

How to improve participation in off-campus living units is under study and a special projects committee may sponsor broom races at basketball games.

The traditions committee, headed by Cindie Leitman, Detroit junior, will gather information on past and present traditions and perhaps re-start some of them.

This committee is considering publishing a book to inform present and entering students of their University's history and philosophy.

The goals committee, headed by cheerleader Nancy Lalonde, Midland senior, is trying to define the duties of Spartan Spirit, discover areas where spirit is deficient, propose new programs and co-ordinate groups involved with the organization.

Former pep rally chairmen, Ann Larenz and Susy Cope, have been placed in charge of special events, such as the Homecoming midnight sing, cheerleaders' activities at games and broom races between living units at basketball games.

Off-campus trophy director Sharon Waters will be investigating how Spartan spirit can best reach these students.

A pep club, to carry on the group spirit formed by the all-freshman Block S, will form shortly, under the direction of Bob Amsler, former Block S chairman.

Professor To Direct Choral Fest

J. Loren Jones, assistant professor of music, here will serve as guest conductor at the Oklahoma All-State Choral Festival in Stillwater, Okla., Friday and Saturday.

Billed as the world's largest choral festival, it will boast the participation of some 5,000 high school students. This is the 23rd annual event.

Besides leading the student singers in a performance of works by Palestrina and Perichini, Jones will direct them in choral settings of a number of German folk songs.

A teacher of voice, Jones was a guest soloist at the festival in 1959. Previous years have seen such distinguished choral musicians as Roger Wagner and John Raymond conducting the chorus.

A performing tenor, Jones graduated from Southern Methodist University. He joined the MSU music faculty in 1962.

In addition to his teaching duties, Jones also directs the Singing Statesmen.

Salt, New Equipment Take Up Ice Issue

Slippery walks and snow-packed paths might prove to be a nuisance to students traveling to classes, but it proves to be an even bigger problem to the Grounds and Maintenance Department.

The Department has been working around-the-clock since Friday's welcome snow storm to eliminate driving hazards on campus streets and parking lots, according to Burt D. Ferris, superintendent of the department.

Ferris said that all available equipment is being used to make both walking and driving conditions safe, but that the one-quarter inch packed snow on sidewalks is impossible to remove with snow removal equipment.

To combat the winter elements, truck and tractor plows, road graders and front-end loaders are being used. Also utilized is newly purchased equipment including three trucks, a jeep, one loader and a salt spreading machine.

Ferris said that all roads and parking lots on campus are in good condition and that salt is spread on these areas. Salt is not, however, used on the sidewalks.

The sudden surge of snow in Michigan made the ground's department job a difficult one and with Monday's one-inch addition, made a total of eight inches to remove on campus.

"We have more snow now than normally falls in the entire month of December," Ferris said. Grounds and maintenance department workers will keep around-the-clock shifts until weather conditions improve, Ferris said.

And as a final note, weathermen predict even more snow for the area. The only advice to students is walk slowly, wear boots and watch out for those icy booby traps.

Professor Attending Conference

Herbert J. Oyer, professor and chairman of the Department of Speech, is participating in a Vocational Rehabilitation Administration conference today through Thursday in Tucson, Ariz.

Oyer is one of 30 specialists in audiology and education of the deaf attending the conference sponsored by the Vocational Rehabilitation Administration of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Conference objectives include an evaluation of audiological services and training of audiologists and educators of the deaf in this country.

Oyer and the other conferees will serve as leaders of subsequent regional conferences throughout the nation.

Delta Chi House Chooses Officers

Delta Chi fraternity recently elected its house officers for 1965.

Ray O'Malley, Grand Rapids junior, was chosen president with Robert Winterhalter, Plymouth junior, as vice president.

Psi Upsilon Lists House Officials

Psi Upsilon fraternity announced their officers for the remainder of the academic year.

9 Will Go To ASAE New Orleans Meeting

Nine MSU staff members will attend the annual meeting of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers (ASAE) Wednesday through Saturday in New Orleans.

Fred Bakker-Arkema, assistant professor of agricultural engineering, will give reports on drying hay wafers and a mechanical cabbage harrow being developed to reduce labor and harvesting costs.

Rainfall variations in Michigan will be the subject of a paper by Hugh A. Curry, Michigan Soil Conservation Service. He will show that rainfall varies over one half inch per mile in a single storm. The paper is co-authored by R.Z. Wheaton and E.H. Kidder of MSU.

A report on grain bin design by J.D. Issacson and J.S. Boyd, MSU, will show that maximum pressure in circular grain bins is not at the bottom, but one-third of the way up.

B.F. Cargill, MSU agricultural engineer and chairman of the Michigan ASAE, will attend the convention and ask that Detroit be considered as the site for the 1967 national meeting.

Religion Is Forum Topic

Higher education and Christian faith will be discussed by church leaders at Kellogg Center Wednesday.

The conference called by the Association for Ecumenical Ministries and the Christian Faith and Higher Education Institute is concerned with the question, "Should the campus ministry be expanded and should the church concern itself with the definition of Christian concepts in various university disciplines."

Guest speaker for the conference is Parker Rossen of the Yale Divinity School. His topic is: "The Church and Higher Education Since World War II."

Other topics which will be discussed are, how to extend the lay ministry to reach all young people, and the changing university—how is it affected by the population explosion and the demand for knowledge.

SAE Names New Officers

Population Boom Conference Theme

The population explosion and resource potential will be discussed at the annual Winds of Change conference at the Kellogg Center Feb. 5, 6 and 7, Margie Phillips, National Student Association international director, announced today.

Acknowledged authorities in the fields of birth control and resource potential will address the representatives of the 106 schools participating.

Names of the scheduled speakers will be released later, following the confirmation of final commitments.

Police Probing Reported Theft

East Lansing police detectives are investigating today the reported theft of about $3,000 from a local residence.

Police said Wilbur D. Collier, 811 Pebblebrook Lane, told them Saturday that from $2,900 to $3,100 was stolen from a dresser drawer in the bedroom of his home.

MAKE BELIEVE

Come to Rivers Edge this week-end. Park in our lot. Then pretend you live in a similar apartment building, only more luxurious and situated right on the river. Imagine how convenient it would be living close to campus- walking to classes- no parking problems. How elegant it would be to live in a new apartment building with many floor plans to choose from, large floor space, two bathrooms in each unit. Sound nice? Then call and speak to Thomas Danker at Rivers Edge, ED 2-4432. He will supply you with information on the Waters Edge, a new apartment building, under the same management as the Rivers Edge.

Lack Of Fresh Air Causes Study Fatigue

Dormitory residents who find themselves dozing off more often than usual while they study winter term, shouldn't put all the blame on their books. The problem may stem partially from an unavoidable reduction of fresh air.

The heating problem could become a crisis this winter if the thermometer reading falls low enough according to Theodore B. Simon, Physical Plant director. Simon said that by limiting the frequency at which fresh air is sent into campus buildings, the already overtaxed power plants could supply the needed heat.

"While the air will not be as fresh as it is the other three terms, the only effect it might have on students will be to cause slight drowsiness," he added.

At the present, the University has two power plants. The one on south campus was built in 1946, and the other on north campus was begun in 1900 and completed in 1940. They supply the campus with both heat and electricity.

When the new plant now under construction is completed, heating problems should be solved for at least several years, according to Simon.

Plant 65, located two-thirds of a mile south of Spartan Stadium between the Grand Trunk Western and the Chesapeake & Ohio tracks, should be completed by next November.

The new plant will be able to produce electric power at nearly double the capacity of the plants now in operation, said Jesse M. Campbell, superintendent of power plants.

"It will be capable of delivering 500,000 pounds of steam an hour without soot."

Unlike the present power plants, Plant 65 will burn pulverized coal. It will be equipped with mechanical dust collectors as well as electrostatic precipitators to keep dust and smoke down to an absolute minimum.

For several years most dormitories have been turning off the corridor lights at 7 p.m. in order to ease the burden on the power plants.

Signs have been placed in classroom buildings urging instructors and students to help by turning off lights not in use.

Plant 65 will allow for additional equipment to be added which can increase its capacity as needs require.

Nonfarm Bias Discussed

Do non-farm employers discriminate against farm people? "No," says a Michigan State agricultural economist, "but they do discriminate on the basis of formal education, absenteeism, poor attitude and attitude, long distance commuting, poor health and inadequate job performance."

"These discrimination standards apply equally to farm and non-farm people."

Ralph Loomis, agricultural economist at MSU, recently reached these findings after interviews with industrial firm managers. His research findings indicate that farmers as a group were neither favored nor disfavored in industrial employment.

Loomis listed upgrading education in rural areas as one of the most important means for helping farm people get and keep non-farm jobs.

"As long as the level of rural education, in quantity and quality, lags behind urban levels, the movement of rural people into the non-farm labor force will be dampened," Loomis said.

Christmas Party

The men and women of Emmons and West Yakeley dormitories are holding a Christmas party for 17 underprivileged children in the Emmons lobby Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m.

Lora Bex, co-chairman with Jim Burk, said that the children will be given new toys valued at $120 plus toys and clothing donated by the students of West Yakeley and Emmons.

The movie, "Littlest Angel," will be shown at the party.

'Pep' Petitions

Students interested in forming a Pep Club at Michigan State may pick up petitions from 1-5 p.m. this week in 318 Student Services.

Petitions must be into the offices by Friday. The purpose of these petitions is to form a committee to investigate the possibilities of a Pep Club here.

Doctoral Students To Hold Meeting

All doctoral students planning to take the general comprehensive examinations winter and spring terms will meet at 3 p.m. Wednesday in 201 Erickson.

Although attendance is not compulsory the meeting should be of special interest to those concerned about forming study groups.

A faculty member will present to discuss general guidelines for study.

NYU Faculty Member Displays Handmade Paper

Making paper by hand was the unique demonstration of Stanley F. Kasprzyk at a recent meeting of a graduate curriculum seminar group of education students.

Kasprzyk, an assistant professor of graphic arts at the State University of New York, is here working on his doctorate in education.

In explaining his approach to organizing curriculum content in teaching, he used paper making as a unit of study.

"Students can learn better," he said, "if they can experience directly what they are learning."

Through a paper-making demonstration, he is able to teach some history, art and geography to classes in graphic arts.

Kasprzyk dipped a fine mesh screen into a vat made from salvage yard materials. From a milky solution, the screen picked up a layer of pulp.

After pressing and drying the pulp, Kasprzyk finished the process by giving the paper a texture.

He also showed the students how to make paper from the papyrus reed as the ancient Egyptians did.

MSU Men's Club To Attend Lunch

The MSU Men's Club will meet for its final luncheon of the quarter today at 12:10 p.m. in the Union Parlors.

John B. Jazell, district plant engineer of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., will discuss communications and American's air defenses.

He will present a color film, "Second for Survival," and then by special hookup, allow members of the club to hear reports from stations throughout North America and to ask questions which will be answered directly by an officer at the North American Air Defense (NORAD) Headquarters in Colorado Springs.

MSU Will Sponsor Turtle Race- All-American Reptile A Possibility?

On your mark. Get set. Go. 0-0-0-0-0.

The first all-University turtle race will be held during winter carnival, in connection with the International Inter-Collegiate Turtle Race, sponsored by American University, to raise funds for muscular dystrophy programs.

"We received a letter from American University asking us to enter their turtle race to be held in Washington, D.C., Feb. 26," Warren Platt, AUSG vice president for special projects, said.

"Ordinarily they ask each university to send a $6 entrance fee and they supply the turtles. We decided to have our own run-off here and charge each organization a $5 entrance fee."

The winning turtle and a representative from his sponsoring organization will get a free trip to Washington to enter the international race.

AUSG will have a supply of turtles for living units who do not want to furnish their own, Platt said.

Turtles should be between three and six inches long. "They should be as close to six inches as possible so that the big ones don't step on the little ones," Platt said.

The race is run on a 35-foot sloping incline to prevent turtles from going in the wrong direction. A tub of water at the bottom is an added inducement.

Platt said that no artificial means of hurrying turtles, with the exception of turtle love calls, will be allowed.

He also stated that each turtle must have a name.

Complete rules will be sent to all living units and organizations near the beginning of winter term.

University To Star On WMSB; Canadian To Handle Production

When the University is the star of a television program, the campus TV station calls in a news and public affairs director from the Canadian Broadcasting Company to produce the show.

David Marcus-Roland, who broadcast all CBC public affairs specials during his five years on the CBC news staff, is producing and directing a program designed to show all facets of University life.

WMSB plans to broadcast the show in magazine format weekly beginning winter term.

Marcus-Roland and the WMSB staff are now video taping material for a backlog.

They are gathering their material primarily through coordinators appointed to each college through the continuing education program, Marcus-Roland said.

"Producing the show requires extensive use of WMSB staff time and equipment," he explained.

"It's amazing we've accomplished what we have," he commented. "If we are to produce this program as it should be, we are going to need more equipment."

The total crews of all three WMSB studios will be used to produce the show. The mobile unit is being sent out several times a week.

The show requires its own full-time producer, director and production assistant. As producer-director, Marcus-Roland said he makes as many as 21 appointments a week.

ROTC has staged a "war" for the WMSB cameras. Brody students, the activities carnival, AWS, the Campus U.N., and the Veterinary College have contributed sequences.

Now the WMSB staff must begin fitting the 10-minute sequences together to form the show.

"Although many sequences are pre-taped, spontaneity is the keynote," Marcus-Roland said.

"Planned features can be held off for a more current special." Whatever makes a good story about the University, whether concerning students, faculty or employees is subject matter for the program, Marcus-Roland emphasized.

Who's Whose

Pinnings

Sharon A. Scott, Saginaw junior, to John David Dupree, St. Charles graduate student.

Dale Gelvan, Wilmette, Ill., sophomore, to Ted Busch, Lansing graduate and Alpha Epsilon Pi.

Ricki Gilbert, Norfolk, Va., senior, to Gary Shumaker, Haslett, junior.

Diane Lane, Detroit to Howard Stears, Wyandotte senior and Triangle.

People with ideas should contact the head of the department concerned with the subject.

"We want to capture the thrill of learning in this program," Marcus-Roland said.

"We want this show to encourage its audience to continue its education and to give the public a more comprehensive image of the University."

Seminar Studies Shock, Vibration

"Recent Developments and Current Trends in Shock and Vibration Research in Europe" is to be the topic of a talk to be given at 4 p.m. today in 146 Engineering Building.

The speaker will be Karl Klotter, a professor from the Technische Hochschule Darmstadt, Institute for Mechanik, Fernsprecher, Germany.

This is one of a series of seminars being conducted by the College of Engineering.

Worker Injured

A workman at the construction site of Holmes Hall was seriously injured Friday morning when he fell from the top of an eight-foot ladder.

Campus police said Gordon Stiles, 63, of Earlton, Kan., broke his shoulder in the fall.

He was taken to Edward W. Sparrow Hospital where his condition is listed "fairly good."

TAKE FIVE--After being filmed for a WMSB-TV program, advertising 433 students take a break. This sequence will be part of a program cataloging University activities the WMSB staff is producing for winter term.

AUSG Studies Seminar

All University Student Government academic affairs is studying the possibility of having an "Impact" program here similar to the one at Vanderbilt University.

"This program would bring in a series of outstanding speakers on some subject like the 'changing role of society,'" John McQuitty, AUSG executive vice president, said.

The program would be either a weekend seminar or a lecture series running several weeks and utilizing both on- and off-campus speakers.

McQuitty said that because of the Winds of Change seminar and the provost lectures, AUSG may decide that such a program would not be beneficial this year.

Spirit To Aid Winter Sports

Spartan Spirit will sponsor a winter sports pep rally Jan. 8 at 7 p.m. in Jenison Fieldhouse.

"The rally is to acquaint the students with the winter sports programs and show the teams that the student body supports them," Jim Tanek, Spartan Spirit director, said.

"I have talked with several coaches and Athletic Director 'Biggie' Munn and they feel it is an excellent opportunity for students to find out about and meet the winter sports teams," he added.

Winter sports include wrestling, swimming, gymnastics, basketball, hockey, fencing and indoor track. Representatives will give demonstrations and explanations of these activities.

The brass ensemble which plays at home basketball games and the cheerleaders will also perform.

Noon Meeting

President John A. Hannah will lunch at noon today with newly-elected members of the state legislature at Kellogg Center. The president talks to the legislators each election year.

Non-Academic Party Scheduled

"The Carols of Christmas" is the theme of the non-academic employees' Christmas party this year.

MSU's Christmas party will be held 8-11:30 p.m. Dec. 18 in the Union. Entertainment will include dancing, refreshments and prizes.

Polkas, twisting and square dancing will be highlights of the party. Brahm Ward's orchestra will provide music in the main lounge and Red VanSickle's band will play in the parlors.

In addition to dancing, many other activities will be available. Bowling, billiards, card playing, movies and exhibits are also planned. C.E. Wildon will return again this year to create his Christmas floral arrangements and give them away.
