Mancini, Beach Boys, Minstrels Scheduled

Henry Mancini, The Beach Boys and The New Christy Minstrels will fly to East Lansing this fall for three pop entertainment shows on the Friday nights before home football games.

The pop entertainment committee of the Associated Students of MSU (ASMSU) received word from talent agent Kay Falk that Mancini and The Beach Boys had signed contracts by Friday afternoon. The New Christy Minstrels have agreed to perform, but the airline strike has delayed pre-signing negotiations.

Mancini, conductor and arranger, will appear Oct. 7, the night before the Michigan game. He has won an Oscar for his orchestra's rendition of "Breakfast at Tiffany's" and Oscar nominations for his scores for "Pink Panther" and "Peter Gunn."

Numerous Grammy awards for such numbers as "Moon River" and "Days of Wine and Roses" have also gone to the conductor.

Oct. 21, the Friday of Homecoming weekend, in which the Spartans will meet Purdue, The Beach Boys will make the scene. The West Coast vocal sensations have celebrated surfing, motorcycling and hot rodding in dozens of songs, including "Surfin' Safari," "Little Deuce Coupe," "California Girls" and "Barbra Ann."

The spontaneous humor of Beach Boys Brian, Dennis and Carl Wilson, Mike Love and Alan Jardine makes each of their concerts unique, according to their New York City publicity agents.

The New Christy Minstrels will storm the MSU campus Nov. 4 in a Friday night prelude to the Iowa game. "Green, Green," "Chim-Chim-Cheree," "Today" and "Saturday Night" are four of this wholesome, folksy group's hit records.

Tickets will be available through a special coupon in the State News Welcome Week edition, which will be mailed to all new students late this summer, and available to the rest when they report for fall term.

Wally Lewitz, newspaper publicity chairman for the ASMSU pop entertainment committee, said that tickets will also be sold at on-campus locations during fall term.

AND PRAVDA PROTESTS

USSR Girls Wear Crosses

MOSCOW (UPI)-- Soviet teen-age girls have taken to wearing Christian crosses on necklaces, a Communist newspaper complained Sunday. It called crosses "the banner of slavery."

"This silly showing-off makes the heart ache for these young people," Komsomol Pravda, organ of the atheistic Young Communist League, said. "Who has to be told that the Red Star and the cross are not medallions?" the paper fumed. "They are the banner of freedom and the banner of slavery. Even a child knows this."

Komsomol Pravda said teen-agers attach no religious significance to the crosses--a point confirmed privately by some of the youths who wear them. "But this is not the point," it said. "It's the indifference to the possible significance that is important."

"Why such non-resistance to silly desires, to silly fads?" it asked. "Why does our Slavic ancestry precede over our social personality?"

With Moscow girls acting as taste makers, the fad has spread throughout the nation, Komsomol Pravda said.

It reprinted letters from readers in the Ukrainian coal mining region of the Donbas.

"I was shocked to see a friend's daughter wearing a cross," one woman wrote. "I couldn't imagine that such souvenirs are produced in our country at Socialist factories."

The newspaper did not say where they are made, but it was doubted the five-year plan includes the manufacture of crosses. Most crosses were believed to come from churches and monasteries, from illegal home workshops or from the keepsake boxes of old people who bought them before the revolution.

The writers said they had heard that salesgirls at Moscow's GUM, the nation's largest department store, were selling the crosses to impressionable tourists from the provinces.

IN CIVIL RIGHTS DRIVE

King Urges Bi-Racial Unity

CHICAGO (UPI)--Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., ignoring 100-degree temperatures and a group of teen-agers carrying a sign proclaiming "black power!" asked a mass rally Sunday for "a coalition of conscience" in an apparent attempt to reunite Negro factions.

Before King spoke to a crowd estimated at 35,000 by police, a group of 200 Negro youths marched onto the infield of Soldier Field carrying the black power sign. There were no incidents.

King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference who is conducting an anti-slum campaign in Chicago, did not refer specifically to "black power," a concept which has put members of the Negro community at odds across the nation.

"A doctrine of black supremacy is as evil as a doctrine of white supremacy," he said in remarks prepared for delivery before a massive march to city hall.

"In seeking the profound changes full integration will involve," King said, "Negroes will need the continued support of the white majority. We (Negroes) must face the realistic fact that we are only 10 per cent of America's population, and no-leader of the Congress Of Racial Equality (CORE), preceded King to the rostrum. He said he was willing to meet with King in a "summit conference" of national civil rights leaders. "Black power does not mean violence," he said. "Black power means black people getting together to have voting strength. It means gathering power with their money and votes."

King Sunday urged the formation of "a non-violent army that no violent force can halt and no political machine can resist."

China Claims U.S., USSR In Collusion

TOKYO (UPI)--Communist China Sunday accused the Kremlin of deploying troops along the Sino-Soviet frontier in "collusion" with America's stepped up bombing raids on North Viet Nam.

Chinese Communist Foreign Minister Chen Yi, in a blistering attack, charged the Kremlin leaders of cooperating with an alleged American policy of encirclement of China.

"They (the Russians) are making military deployments along the Chinese border in coordination with the U.S. imperialist encirclement of China," Chen told a mass rally in Peking.

His address was distributed by the official Communist New China News Agency (NCNA) and received here.

Chen, who also is a Vice Premier in the Peking government, said the Soviet leaders were seeking better relations with the West in Europe "and a reduction of armed forces so that the United States could draw away forces to cope with the Vietnamese people."

He called for opposition to the Kremlin leaders whom he charged were "rendering service to Lyndon Johnson's 'peace talks.'"

In his address, which appeared to be as much of an attack on America as the Soviet Union, Chen said the U.S. bombings near Hanoi and Haiphong were "entirely the result of U.S.-Soviet collusion." The United States has admitted it too, he said.

"The U.S. State Dept. admitted that the United States had informed 'various key interested governments,' including that of the Soviet Union, in advance of its decision to bomb Hanoi and Haiphong," Chen said, according to NCNA.

"(Secretary of State) Dean Rusk had bluntly urged the Soviet revisionist leadership to 'get busy and start helping us (the United States) make some peace out there,'" he continued.

Machinists Warn Unstruck Lines

WASHINGTON (UPI)--The chief union negotiator in the biggest airline strike in the nation's history warned Sunday against any attempt by operating lines to lease struck equipment.

The warning by Joseph W. Ramsey came as Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz, just returned from a trip to Japan, entered negotiations in an effort to end the three-day strike that has shut down 60 per cent of the nation's airline service.

The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) relaxed its rules Saturday to permit nonstriking lines to lease equipment whenever available to expand their scheduled runs. The CAB also permitted the operating lines to extend their routes to areas cut off by the strike.

But Ramsey said the striking International Assn. of Machinists (IAM) would refuse to service any equipment leased, borrowed or loaned to operating carriers from struck lines.

Negotiations resumed Sunday with the addition of Wirtz and IAM General Chairman flown to Washington in military aircraft. Assistant Labor Secretary James J. Reynolds, mediator, said inclusion of the general chairman would make the talks "serious and meaningful."

Before the Sunday afternoon session began, Wirtz met separately with Ramsey and the airlines' chief negotiator, William J. Curtin.

The strike against the five airlines--Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United--started Friday after the carriers refused to meet union demands for more pay and broad improvements in health, welfare and pension benefits.

The struck airlines carry 60 per cent of U.S. airline passengers--150,000 per day--and 70 per cent of U.S. airmail.

All Airlines Hampered

The current airline machinists' strike is giving problems to the lines not directly affected by the walkout.

North Central, one of the two major airlines with connections at Capitol City Airport, reports having trouble making connections for passengers in other cities.

"Even if we can get a passenger, say, to Cleveland," said Don Nygaard, North Central Airlines station agent, "it's hard to make connections for him from there to another city, because that airport may only have connections with United or one of the other lines affected directly by the strike."

All of the North Central flights for Sunday were booked full, but none were full when they took off.

"Perhaps this is because the passengers realized they couldn't make connections in other cities," said Nygaard.

Motorcycle Accident Fatal For Vet Medicine Student

Tentative funeral plans have been made for an Ashaway, R.I. veterinary medicine student who died Friday evening when his motorcycle collided with a car at West Grand River Avenue and Coolidge Road, a funeral home spokesman said Sunday.

Bruce A. Remor, 25, of 1018 Porter St., Lansing, will be buried at St. Sebastian Cemetery in Westerly, R.I., said a spokesman from Palmer-Bush Funeral Co. Details as to the time of the funeral have not yet been sent from Rhode Island.

Mr. Remor died at Sparrow Hospital at 6 p.m. Friday from a fractured skull and internal bleeding, East Lansing Police said.

A rider on the cycle, Myron E. Essex, 26, also a Rhode Island veterinary medicine student, received severe cuts to the face and a broken nose in the accident, Essex, also of 1018 Porter St., was treated at Sparrow Hospital and released.

The accident occurred at 5:35 p.m. when a car made a left turn off Grand River Avenue onto Coolidge Road and collided with the motorcycle travelling west on Grand River. The car was reported to have been driven by Josephine Morales of 6352 Porter St., East Lansing.

Police said that the accident marked the third traffic fatality this year in East Lansing, all of which have been students. Two of the three fatal accidents involved a motorcycle.

Mr. Remor, a member of Sigma Chi fraternity, is survived by his wife, Barbara, and a daughter, Maria.

Prof Says Attacks Aided Unionist's Rise

Government actions against Teamster Union President James R. Hoffa solidified his position in union tremendously and paved the way for his complete control of union affairs at its recent convention in Miami Beach, an MSU professor of economics said Sunday.

Charles P. Larrowe, who devotes a good portion of his labor and industrial relations course to a discussion of Hoffa, said that mismanagement by Dave Beck, Hoffa's predecessor, left the Teamsters' presidency relatively weak when Hoffa was elected in 1957.

At each re-election, his powers have been expanded, Larrowe said. Hoffa was re-elected to a third five-year term at last week's convention.

He is currently appealing two convictions, carrying with them a total 13 years in prison, for jury tampering and mail fraud. The current convention has illustrated the Teamsters' support of Hoffa by giving him almost unlimited power. His annual salary of $100,000 was given a $25,000 boost.

Larrowe said that in determining the salary of a union official, he should be viewed in the same position of a public official, a mayor or governor, for example.

Hoffa, he pointed out, heads a union with more members than the populations of some states.

"You can also view a union official in the same perspective as a corporation executive," Larrowe said. "In that case, the pay scale is unlimited."

The union has also agreed to pay the costs of legal defenses of Hoffa and other Teamster officials, plus a $1 raise in union dues and creation of the new post of general vice president.

Filling this position will be Frank E. Fitzsimmons, who has

U.S. Plan To Disarm Called 'Jeopardizing'

WASHINGTON (UPI)-- A panel of non-governmental foreign policy experts said Sunday the long-standing U.S. proposal for "general and complete disarmament" is unrealistic and might jeopardize national interests.

The report was prepared by seven associates of the Washington Center of Foreign Policy Research under a $87,308 grant from Johns Hopkins University, with which the center is affiliated, for the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

The center spent two years of studying the American plan, which was presented at Geneva in 1962 and has been one of the papers under debate since then. A Russian plan was considered even more unworkable and unsound.

The 1962 U.S. plan calls for a gradual, step-by-step approach to disarmament, with each stage accompanied by inspection and control safeguards to make certain nobody is cheating.

The report finds that any real progress toward major disarmament is unlikely until there is some solution of major political problems plaguing the world.

Arnold Wolfers, former director of the center, said that the United States might find its national interests "jeopardized" under general disarmament unless there were some sort of international military force. However, if such a force were controlled by the United Nations it might endanger the safety of "vulnerable American interests."

Summer Students Pay ASMSU Tax For Nothing

FINANCING MICHIGAN STATE'S student government is not a job to be taken lightly. Because of the nature of students and the size of student government, every nickel and dime ASMSU collects (and this amounts to about $13,000 per term) must be watched and spent with the frugality of a Jack Benny.

TWICE DURING THE last school year, ASMSU's plans went awry and student government found itself mopping up rather considerable debts. The campus populus clamored for heads to roll.

Now the managers of its financial affairs have left ASMSU open for more richly deserved criticism.

Summer term has seen student government activity all but stop. Gone for three months are the various ASMSU activities—legal aid, popular entertainment, etc.

BUT REMAINING DURING summer term registration was the regular 50 cent tax for all full-time students. In all, total receipts for the summer are expected to reach $2,000.

The board claims that the 50 cents charge is necessary to pay for secretarial fees and student government displays at orientation clinics.

But, according to a student government source, these expenses amount to only a fraction of the expected income.

THE REST OF the money will be used for a political move this fall to raise ASMSU's image among students. By creating a surplus during the summer and combining it with a profit from popular entertainment, the board hopes to lower the student tax winter term to 25 cents.

The move sounds a little to us like robbing Peter to pay Paul. Although the board would save students money this winter, the saving is at the expense of summer students who won't necessarily be around to benefit.

Fifty cents from each student is a meager amount to be concerned with. However, the fact that summer students paid 50 cents for nothing indicates that the board is more concerned about its self-image than its obligation to those students.

THIS IS NOT the philosophy on which a government should perform.

Snow Melts

FOR AN HOUR and a half last week, Lansing Mayor Max Murningham, flanked by half a dozen city department heads, explained that one of his new ideas was not intended to "snow" local TV, radio and newspaper representatives. We congratulate him on his press conference, which was well-managed, interesting, and indicative of a wholesome sensitivity to public opinion.

We repeat the statement which we made in the editorial which triggered the press conference: Lansing may well need a full-time coordinator for federal and state aid, but it is neither necessary nor desirable that this man also be expected to do research for local news media.

WORK WAITING

Congress Ends Break

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress returns from its 11-day summer vacation Monday facing immediate matters of national security and a long haul of work on a big pile of President Johnson's legislative proposals.

The House and Senate this week are to consider a $17.5 billion defense spending bill and the administration's $3.3 billion foreign aid authorization measure.

And Senate leaders hope on Thursday once and for all to resolve an intramural struggle over which Senators should oversee the Central Intelligence Agency's secret operations.

There were signs that the legislative process, barely moving so far this year, was starting to pick up speed. This will mean action on key parts of the President's program and some difficult weeks for his Congressional lieutenants.

Complicating the leadership's task this year is the fall elections.

Most congressmen, especially freshman Democrats, are chafing to adjourn and begin their campaigns, but the amount of unfinished business on Capitol Hill indicates it will be at least late September before the 1966 session can adjourn.

The controversial anti-poverty and civil rights bills are due on the House floor soon, and both are threatened with significant alterations. The House Judiciary Committee already has toned down the controversial fair housing provision of the Civil Rights Bill, and there will be attempts to weaken it even further on the floor.

The Administration's $1.7 billion, one-year extension of the war on poverty got through the House Education and Labor Committee without any fund cutbacks. But it faces a stiff fight on the floor from Republicans who want to revamp it and who are hopeful of getting some Democratic support.

Little trouble is expected in sending the defense appropriations bill to the President by late Wednesday. Both chambers already have passed similar measures, and the latest version is thereby a compromise.

The bill would authorize spending on ships, planes, missiles, tanks and for related research and development. It also carries authority for a 3.2 per cent military pay raise.

In the bill is about $500 million more than was recommended by the President, including funds for such projects opposed by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara as two nuclear-powered frigates.

The squabble over the CIA involves the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's attempt to be represented on the special committee that keeps tabs on the intelligence agency. This now is the task only of members of the Armed Services and Appropriations committees.

1st Infantry Hunts Down Trapped Cong

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. 1st Infantry Division troops, many of them draftees, hunted down and fought brief, bitter firefights Sunday with units of a battered Communist regiment fleeing after getting caught in its own trap. The Communist death toll in the two-day action near the Cambodian border soared to at least 184.

In the north, an Air Force seaplane made a daring rescue of two downed American airmen under heavy fire just off the North Vietnamese coast after U.S. warplanes hit the Communist north with 93 more missions. Pilots reported the Communists fired seven surface-to-air missiles (SAMs) at them Northwest of Hanoi but all missed.

(The Communist north) Viet Nam News Agency claimed two American planes were shot down over North Viet Nam Saturday and Sunday.

In the ground fighting Maj. Gen. William De Puy's 1st Infantry Division pursued a 2,000-man Communist force that was breaking up into small groups in hopes of escaping through the jungle and bamboo thickets about 50 miles north of Saigon.

Units of the Division reported fighting sharp clashes with Viet Cong forces Sunday not far from the scene of Saturday's battle in which the Americans put out an armored squadron as bait in a move that drew waiting Communists out of a jungle for an ambush. The Red ambush plan backfired and U.S. troops killed at least 184 of them by body count. The battle toll raised to nearly 800 the Viet Cong killed by the 1st Infantry in Operation El Paso.

Student Injured

An MSU student remained in serious condition at Sparrow Hospital Sunday after being struck by a car Friday afternoon in Lansing.

Layne Triplett, 20, Birmingham Junior, received a fractured left arm and left leg and numerous lacerations when his head smashed through the windshield of a car driven by Catherine B. Carrol of 2035 Robinson, East Lansing.

Triplett was crossing at Washington Avenue and Ottawa Street when he ran into the car, Lansing Police reported.

Saugatuck: 'Three Ring Circus Come To Life'

To the Editor:

Did you ever wonder why people who have so much tend to seek that which amounts to so little? Michigan State University has often been labeled a "country club" . . . by myself, anyway. It's got everything a person could possibly want (within reason) to say, amuse oneself. And yet, with the arrival of a holiday (a holiday is defined as an extended period of time in which one can seek the pleasures he or she normally seeks during a more limited time interval) comes a mass exodus to various places, of which most have less to offer than this campus.

For instance, one such unique place of interest is called Saugatuck—a small, dug-out resort town, harboring along the shore of Lake Michigan. For many Michiganders, this seems to be the place to go to seek entertainment. Having been invited by a good friend of mine, and Michigander, I decided to "trip the light fantastic" in this little resort town, unaware that I was about to witness more than I had bargained for.

The day by day occurrences in Saugatuck are reminiscent of those occurring on the "Andy Griffith Show." However, there is one difference, Andy Griffith and his crew must rehearse to get this same effect! Saugatuck must be the only place in the world where the tourists attract the natives—or rather I should say, scare the natives. This fine upstanding group of elite look down upon tourists, and whenever a big holiday befalls Saugatuck, traffic is heavy in both directions—tourists coming in, and natives moving out.

Since both sexes are obviously after the same "goals," it would seem to be a lot safer, economical and prosperous to arrive in Saugatuck as couples. However, because the "culture" of the area and, therefore, the law, is influenced by a rather unique strain of Dutch people just north of town, in reality, it is safer to arrive with members of your own sex, and intermingle later on.

As the holiday progresses, I begin to visualize a "three-ring circus"—sort of like a 72-hour New York Mets baseball game. The center attraction seems to be in the main road of town which runs parallel to a combination restaurant-bar called the "Old Crow" (the name typifies the atmosphere). Here you can find all sorts of excitement . . . like a group of rambunctious male tourists yelling obscenities at a few cute girls who, of course, respond immediately by running in the opposite direction.

This excitement becomes too overwhelming for those involved, and is soon replaced by the second show, "the mob." The prime purpose of the mob is to prevent the passage of traffic in any direction, which leads to the final and most comical show, the Saugatuck police escapade.

I remember seeing two police cars pass each other in the daytime, and one officer said to the other: "Ralph, you go to the east end of town, and I'll go to the west, and if you see anything, just yell . . . kind of makes you wonder if the whole town would blow away with the first strong gust of wind.

It takes the police, sometimes loosely referred to as the riot squad, several hours to clear out the mob. Why? Because previously, they were too preoccupied with more pressing matters, like ticketing tourists for walking into a barricaded men's room. This is very interesting. It almost happened to me. Couldn't you just see me in jail for the weekend talking to the prisoners: "What are you in for?" "I killed my mother-in-law." "How 'bout you?" "I clubbed this cop and stabbed this old man. . . what are you in for?" "Well, I got caught breaking into a barricaded men's room!" You might also find this frolicking police force ticketing a person for parking his car on the "wrong side" of a one-way street.

The beach is really the only consolation—no matter what else happens, you get tan. Of course, it doesn't rain much in Saugatuck—it's against the law, the town might be washed into Lake Michigan. With all this, one might ask, "Why go there?" Well, I can't really answer that. . . but if nothing else, it's good for a laugh.

Letter Had Valid Point On Campus Bus Cost

To the Editor:

The "Editor's Note" following the letter by Marvin R. Zell is another example of the irresponsible journalism to which Mr. Zell was objecting.

Anyone who has taken high school economics knows that when there are fixed costs, and variable costs decrease proportionately to the number of units, the average cost per unit goes up. However, in the case of the MSU buses, the variable costs do not decrease as rapidly as does the number of units, i.e. passengers. Thus, the increase in average cost per unit is even more striking.

The "Editor's Note" was misleading in that it didn't point out that total revenue is drastically reduced.

Mr. Zell's point was clearly valid, and the editor of the State News should have had the decency to recognize this. Instead, he gave a mealy-mouthed "rebuttal."

Those of us who attend Michigan State during the regular school year know that the arguments presented in State News editorials are of two types: trivial and erroneous. If one wishes for intelligent social comment, he must look elsewhere.

NEGROES CHARGE WHITE MEN

'Fired At With Machinegun'

STORMY MSU -- Dark cloud formations Saturday gave warning of an ensuing rain storm that showered down on campus. The storm gave some relief from the heat wave. Photo by Chuck Michaels

GRENADA, Miss. (UPI) -- Two white men were jailed Sunday after three civil rights workers claimed they were fired upon with a submachinegun.

Grenada County Atty. Jim Criss said no formal charges had been filed against the two men. He declined to identify them until he had completed an investigation of the alleged incident.

The three civil rights workers, Oliver Rosengart, Jim Draper and Henry Aronson, claimed they were fired upon Saturday night at a church that was the scene of an earlier civil rights rally. No one was injured.

Rosengart, a New York University law student, said he had gone to the Bellflower church to pick up some food Saturday night. As he got out of his car, he said he spotted two white men in a nearby car.

"I got out of the car and started for the church, and these two guys started toward me with a gun," Rosengart said. "One guy had a submachinegun."

He said Draper, a representative of the Community Relations Service, and Aronson, a member of the Lawyers Constitutional Defense Committee, arrived about this time and "I told them quietly that those men have a gun."

Rosengart said when the two men started toward them, they broke and ran. He said several shots were fired and he heard one bullet whiz by as they ran. Rosengart said they hid in a vacant lot near the church and the white men returned to their car, searched for them briefly, then left.

The two white men were taken into custody about midnight, less than an hour after the three civil rights workers reported the incident to police.

The alleged shooting came about 30 minutes after Southern Christian Leadership Conference worker Leon Hall addressed about 200 Negroes and called for a mass attempt Sunday to integrate local churches.

Only a handful showed up early Sunday and they were turned away from five different churches by men stationed outside the church doors. There were three integrated teams of less than six persons each that attempted to enter the First Baptist, First Presbyterian, Central Baptist, Second Methodist and Church of God here.

Each group was turned away and left peacefully. At the First Baptist Church, an integration team was told by one of the men guarding the door that "we aren't ready to integrate yet."

SCLS director Martin Luther King launched a civil rights campaign here after about 40 civil rights marchers were arrested Thursday during a demonstration at the county courthouse.

King claimed that local and county officials had reneged on promises they had made to civil rights leaders during the recent Mississippi "freedom" march. King said officials had promised longer hours for voter registration and had given permission for Negroes to hold demonstrations.

Saturday, one of King's top aides, Hosea Williams, presented a list of 51 demands to city and county officials and gave them until today to answer.

The demands called for first class citizenship for Negroes and demanded city and county governments open for "full and equal participation by all of its citizens."

Hoffa

(continued from page 1) been running the Detroit local as a surrogate for Hoffa. If Hoffa loses his appeal, Fitzsimmons will assume union leadership, rather than having a convention called to elect a successor.

"This is a man Hoffa trusts to mind the store when and if Hoffa goes to jail," Larrowe said. "He wants to avoid taking a chance."

Larrowe said again there is a good chance that the Supreme Court will reverse both decisions.

In the case of jury tampering, he said that the methods used by the government seemed unfair, noting the invasion of the privileged relationship between defendant and counsel.

During the course of the prosecution, Larrowe said that the government either hired or planted the man who was his sergeant-at-arms outside the rooms where Hoffa and his lawyers were planning their strategy. The man reported it all to the Justice Dept., who shouldn't have been privy to this information.

In the Chicago trial for illegal handling of the Central States' pension fund, the jury was locked up for two months on grounds that if they were not kept away from the press they would be influenced by it.

Larrowe pointed out that by taking such action, the jury could have been equally influenced against the defendant.

ASMSU Slides Shown Tonight

"An Introduction to ASMSU" will be presented in the Case Hall Multipurpose Room at 7 tonight.

Art Tung, Student Board member-at-large, will present some 50 slides covering various student government - sponsored events, including homecoming, water carnival, legal aid, winter carnival, human relations commission, Miss MSU, the Rose Bowl tour and others.

Also attending are Student Board members John Mongeon, president of Men's Hall Assn.; Anne Osborne, president of Women's Inter-Residence Council, and Greg Hopkins, president of Off-Campus Council.

Although the presentation is aimed primarily at first term freshmen, all students are welcome to attend.

Goldberg, Pope Agree Killing Ought To Stop

ROME (UPI) -- Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, said Sunday he had assured Pope Paul VI and Italian leaders the United States still feels "all killing ought to stop" in Viet Nam.

Civilian casualties in recent American air strikes on North Viet Nam were "miniscule," he said.

In a news conference concluding a three-day visit to Italy, Goldberg said he had found Pope Paul and Italian leaders concerned about possible escalation of the Viet Nam war. He declined to give their reaction to the bombings of oil depots outside Hanoi and Haiphong but said:

"I cannot speak for the Pope but he has made it clear in his public declarations that he believes all killing should stop," Goldberg said the U.S. "shares that view--all killing ought to stop."

"We ought to have a cessation of hostilities which could be arranged as the first order of business at any conference that could be convened."

"The difficulty has been that our unilateral actions in the past have not been matched or reciprocated in any way" by the other side.

Civilian losses among North Vietnamese as a result of the bombings, he said, "have been miniscule--virtually none. Certainly none in the civilian populated areas of Hanoi and Haiphong."

Goldberg, who arrived here from Geneva Thursday night, spent nearly an hour with Pope Paul at the Vatican Friday. He later called on President Giuseppe Saragat and Premier Aldo Moro and spent most of Saturday with Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani on the island of Ischia.

The ambassador's visit to Italy was not previously announced but he said it was arranged before U.S. air attacks on North Vietnamese oil depots began June 29.

It was his second meeting with Pope Paul on the Viet Nam war in little more than six months. He called on the Pontiff in December to express President Johnson's appreciation of the Pope's efforts for peace in Viet Nam.

Richard Miller, played by Jay Davis, is a teenage son revolting against the world in general, and his parents in particular. His eloquent complaints echo complaints heard by today's parents.

Like most modern parents, Nat and Essie Miller, portrayed by Richard Thompson and Nancy Cole, can do little to help their son. He must deal with the dragons of growing up himself.

Young children should never be allowed to play with deflated balloons. A child who breathes in, instead of out, while blowing up a balloon can easily inhale the rubber and choke to death, warn MSU safety specialists.

Reds Claim Yank Decries Viet War

TOKYO (UPI)--North Viet Nam Sunday broadcast what it said was a statement signed by a captured U.S. Navy pilot in which the American acknowledged he was a war criminal and demanded an end to the war.

The Communist broadcast said the statement was made by Lt. Edward Anthony Davis, 26, who was captured on Aug. 26, 1965, after being shot down over Quang Binh province in North Viet Nam.

The broadcast identified Davis as "U.S. pilot Lieutenant of the U.S. Navy, 658959, Oriskany Squadron 152." It did not give his hometown.

The alleged statement echoed the standard Communist line. A sample:

2 Rob Doctor's Home Of $100

Local police remain alert today for two men who robbed an East Lansing doctor of over $100 in cash Saturday night.

One of the men was described to police as Negro, about 5 feet 7 inches tall, and of a slender build. He also reportedly wore a brown jacket, brown slacks, brown loafers and sunglasses at the time of the robbery.

The other male subject was not seen, but his voice was heard, police said.

Dr. E. J. Robson of 721 Audubon Rd. told police that the man apparently entered his house by the back door, and forced the doctor and his wife at gunpoint to give him the money.

Area police set up a road block Saturday night for the two men but failed to apprehend them.

SOOTHES MEDICARE PATIENTS

'Doctors Won't Boost Fees'

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- Social Security Commissioner Robert M. Ball said Sunday that Medicare patients have little reason to fear doctors will raise their fees because the federal government is helping pay their bills.

In an interview with United Press International, Ball noted the government will pay only a "reasonable fee" to doctors who treat patients 65 or older.

Deciding what is "reasonable" is the job of private insurance carriers--such as Blue Shield--which have been chosen by the government to handle the actual reimbursement of physicians.

"I would think that most of them would still charge their patients their customary fee and not something higher just because they were Medicare patients," Ball said. "I think that would be quite unusual."

Asked if a patient should "shop around" to make sure he is not being overcharged, Ball said, "I don't really think that would be necessary. I truly believe that practically all doctors will take into account the circumstances of the particular patient."

Ball indicated that he expected doctor fees to remain stable, no matter whether the physician sends his bill to an insurance carrier for government payment or whether he bills the patient directly.

The Medicare law permits doctors to use either billing method. At a recent meeting, the American Medical Assn. (AMA) voted its preference for direct billing. Ball said he expected most physicians generally will ignore the AMA recommendation, using direct billing mostly for patients who have no difficulty in paying. Doctors can get their fees guaranteed and paid sooner by dealing with insurance agents, he said.

Three of every four persons entitled to Medicare are "people of quite low income" who would have considerable difficulty paying doctor fees before being reimbursed, he said.

In direct billing, doctors can charge any fees they desire. A patient first would pay the bill, then would be reimbursed by the government for what is considered a reasonable fee in the area. The patient would have to pay the difference himself.

Ball also said: --Doctor incomes will rise under Medicare because doctors no longer will have to treat the elderly poor as charity patients, or charge any of them less than a normal fee. --No reports have reached

Washington of elderly persons being deprived of needed treatment at 300 hospitals in the South whose federal assistance funds have been cut off for non-compliance with the Civil Rights law.

--There is evidence that pressures within southern communities will force civil rights holdouts to desegregate, and that after July there may be only a handful refusing to mix white and Negro patients.

RUHR CRISIS BRINGS REVERSAL

Chancellor's Party Downed

DUESSELDORF, Germany (UPI)--The Social Democrats Sunday wrested political control of Germany's largest and most important state from the Christian Democrats for the first time since the end of the war.

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's Christian Democrats suffered their worst electoral reverse in 20 years as the Social Democrats overwhelmed them in North Rhine - Westphalia's legislative election.

Unofficial complete returns from 96 of the 150 election districts gave the Social Democrats 47.7 per cent, the Christian Democrats 44.8 per cent and the Free Democrats 7.2 per cent of the popular vote.

Unofficial complete returns from 125 of the 150 election districts gave the Social Democrats 49.1 per cent, the Christian Democrats 43.1 per cent and the Free Democrats 7.5 per cent. The chancellor campaigned throughout the state, and had considered victory there was necessary to consolidate his federal parliamentary election win last September.

Will Rasner, chief federal parliamentary whip for Erhard's Party, blamed the Christian Democratic defeat on the states' industrial crisis resulting from the closure of many coal mines in the face of foreign competition.

Coal miners protesting the government's refusal to give them more protection prevented Erhard from speaking several times during the final week of the campaign.

The Christian Democrats hoped to drive voters into their camp by citing such incidents as examples of the terrorism that they alleged would result from Social Democratic control. They calculated the demonstrations would work to their advantage.

The major public opinion survey companies encouraged them with predictions of yet another victory.

But both were wrong. The miners whom Erhard denounced as "rabble," "hoot owls" and "ruffians who would have died in their diapers had it not been for me and my economic policies" were more representative of the state's mood.

In this campaign as during the federal election last year Erhard simply pointed to his record as the architect of Germany's reconstruction and recovery during the 1940s and 1950s, and said that was proof his party deserved to be kept in power.

The argument was effective 10 months ago, but in the face of the industrial crisis in the Ruhr, it lost its conviction.

Girl Hit By Car

A 15-year-old girl was in good condition Sunday at Sparrow Hospital after being hit by a car on West Circle Drive at noon Friday.

Ann Rutledge of 1035 Northlawn St., East Lansing, received bruises and scrapes to her arms and face in the accident, University Police said.

SURVIVES 'MOON FEVER'

Surveyor May Still Work

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)--Prospects of resumption of television experiments with America's Surveyor spacecraft on the moon improved Sunday.

Engineers at the jet propulsion laboratory of the California Institute of Technology reported that the near-fatal fever--a temperature of 141 degrees Fahrenheit--experienced by the craft Friday has subsided.

Sunday morning temperature, as ascertained by radio signals, was 115 degrees, the engineers said. The operating range is from 40 to 125 degrees for the craft's sun-powered battery.

"If things keep going as well as they have been," said a JPL spokesman, "the engineers may start new television experiments Tuesday."

Surveyor has already sent back to earth more than 10,000 pictures of the moon's surface.

Surveyor was silent during the lunar night ending June 29 and then sent back more pictures during the subsequent lunar day.

The high temperature, due to causes unknown, cut off further transmission. "The trouble aboard is not easily understood," said a scientist. "We think it's a short circuit. Sometimes electronic equipment heats itself."

If Surveyor goes back into action it should get some spectacular photographs of the lunar sunset Wednesday night, scientists said.

Surveyor made a soft-landing on the moon June 1 in one of America's most notable space achievements.

Mobs Stone U.S. Library In Malaysia, Protest War

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI)--More than 200 leftists shouting anti-American slogans attacked the U.S. Information Service Library Sunday with sticks, rocks and bottles, shattering front windows of the building.

Steel-helmeted riot police with rattan shields and tear gas broke up the demonstration, which lasted about eight minutes, and arrested one youth. It was the second attack on the library in a little over a year.

The demonstrators, mostly Chinese youths and including a few women, were protesting the U.S. air attacks on oil installations outside Hanoi and Haiphong in North Viet Nam and the American ground war in South Viet Nam.

The youths poured out of buses at the central bus terminal here about 200 yards from the American library.

Unfurling banners and placards reading "Yankee go home," "stop bombing Hanoi and Haiphong," "murderers stop your acts," and "killers," they marched to the library building located in the heart of this Malaysian capital.

As the crowd began shouting anti-American slogans, two Malaysian police guards stationed permanently at the building ordered the demonstrators to disperse. They refused and threw bottles, stones and sticks, shattering the front window glass panes of the library.

Riot police were rushed to the scene and quickly dispersed the mob.

This was the second time in 17 months that the windows in the USIS library have been broken by anti-U.S. mobs, and the second anti-American demonstration staged in Kuala Lumpur in four months.

Although there was no indication of which party backed today's demonstration, it was believed that the Leftist Labor Party of Malaya (LPM) had supported it.

All previous anti-American demonstrations had been staged

Say Poland Won't Bar U.S. Stamp

WARSAW, Poland (AP)--U.S. Ambassador John A. Gronouski said Sunday he doubts Poland "would do such a silly thing" as to turn back U.S. mail bearing a controversial new stamp commemorating the Polish millennium.

U.S. government sources in Washington said the Polish Embassy there had objected to the design and warned that air mail with the stamp might be barred from Poland. The objection was that the stamp pictured a pre-World War II Polish eagle instead of the postwar Communist eagle.

A Polish postal ministry official said there have been no orders so far to stop the mail and added he was doubtful about the report.

The controversy is over a five-cent stamp to be issued July 31. It bears a cross, commemorating 1,000 years of Christianity, and the eagle, commemorating the 1,000th anniversary of the first Polish state. The eagle wears a crown, as it did when Poland was a kingdom.

Washington reports said Poles objected neither to the cross nor the crown but to the design of the eagle itself. Except for the crown, however, the eagle on the stamp is almost identical to those on coins minted by the Communist government.

Asked to comment, Gronouski said there has been no statement by the Polish government that mail would be stopped "and I am highly doubtful that they would do such a silly thing."

The government of Prime Minister Tengku Abdul Rahman has repeatedly expressed support for American actions in Viet Nam.

More Purged In China

TOKYO (AP)--Red China disclosed Sunday the dismissal of its propaganda chief and the creation of a special committee to direct the "cultural revolution," suggesting the Communist party is pushing on with its sweeping purge.

There also was a hint of a shakeup in the army headed by Defense Minister Lin Biao, seen as a key driving power behind the purge.

Two men shot into prominence as executors of the "proletarian great Socialist cultural revolution" aimed at inculcating the minds of China's more than 700 million people with Mao Tse-tung's thoughts.

One was Chen Po-ta, about 62, Mao's former secretary and close aide, now chief editor of the party theoretical journal, Red Flag, and alternate member of the Politburo. He was referred to by official Peking news outlets as "leader of the group in charge of the cultural revolution under the Central Committee." It was the first time Peking had reported the existence of this group and the name of its leader.

Dismissed was Lu Ting-1, deputy premier, culture minister and director of the Central Committee's propaganda department. His propaganda post, now vital in the "cultural revolution," was given to Tao Chu, a former military commissar who was made a deputy premier in January, 1965.

As has been the case with other top-ranking officials who have fallen into disgrace, Peking did not mention Lu directly. His downfall became known when Peking referred to Tao Chu as director of the propaganda department.

Lu was ranked 16th in the 100-man Central Committee and was third among the six alternate members of the Politburo, had been deputy premier since 1959, minister of culture since 1965 and the party's propaganda chief since the Communists took over the mainland in 1949.

He was the second most important figure, next to once powerful Peking Mayor Peng Chen, to fall in the current purge that also has struck down Deputy Culture Minister Lin Mo-han, former Peking People's Daily chief editor Teng To, the deputy director of propaganda, Chou Yang, the rectors of Peking and Nanking universities and many other party officials and intellectuals.

There has been speculation that another top figure, the army chief of the General Staff, Lo Jui-ching, a former security minister, has been dismissed. He was again absent from an important military public function in Peking on Saturday, a reception to observe the 23rd anniversary of the Albanian army, Red China's greatest ally.

Lo has been absent from other functions held by the army. It was the deputy chief of the General Staff, Wang Hsin-ting, who attended.

In addition, Peking radio said Yuan Tzu-chin, deputy director of the army's General Political Department addressed the reception for the Albanians. Yuan appears to be a new figure in the top echelon. His name is not listed in reference books on Communist China, among the four deputy directors of the army General Political Dept.

Cherry Aids Earn Honors

A team of U.S. Dept. of Agriculture researchers including three persons from Michigan State, were honored Friday for its outstanding contributions to the improvement of cherry harvesting, handling and quality.

The Superior Service Award, one of only three such awards presented to USDA research groups, went to a team of five agricultural engineers and two chemists.

Receiving the award were Jordan H. Levin, leader, fruit and vegetable harvesting, USDA Ag. Engineering Research Division; Harold P. Gaston, Robert T. Whittenburger, Claude H. Hills and Richard J. Wolthuis.

Also part of the research team but not present to receive the award were Scott Hedden and Gordon E. Monroe.

Levin, Gaston and Wolthuis are stationed at Michigan State, while Whittenburger and Hills are located at the USDA Utilization Laboratory at Philadelphia. Hedden is now working out of Lake Alfred, Florida, while Monroe is now operating out of Honolulu, Hawaii.

Motorcyclist Hurt

A student motorcyclist was injured Saturday when his bike collided with a car on the south side of the Union Building, University Police reported.

Robert I. Zagorin, Lakewood, N.J., junior, was released from Olin Health Center Sunday after treatment of a one inch laceration to his right leg.

Police said the accident occurred when a car driven by Michael L. Sweet of Bloominghill made a left turn into the path of the motorcycle.

Capitals Sign Curtis To Cage Contract

By JOE MITCH
State News Sports Writer

Former Spartan basketball player Bill Curtis is a professional.

He signed a contract with the newly-formed Lansing Capitals of the North American Basketball League for the 1966-67 season.

He was the first player to sign for the team, although it is reported other players are nearing contract agreement.

"I'm going to enjoy playing for them," said the 6-4, 190-pounder who captained the Spartans to a 15-7 record last season.

"It will be convenient. This way I can play basketball and still continue my education."

Curtis, who turned 22 in June, said he needs about another year before he'll receive his bachelor's degree in biological science.

Drafted in the seventh round by the Chicago Bulls in the National Basketball Assn., Curtis was also a territorial pick by the Capitals.

He didn't try out for the Bulls, fearing he would be unable to further his college education.

"There are no fringe benefits with the contract," Curtis said. "I just agreed to play on a per game basis."

The Capitals, a member of the four-year-old NAEL along with seven other area teams, are scheduled to play a 21-game schedule beginning this winter at the Everett High School gymnasium.

Most of the games are set for the weekends and Curtis said that the schedule would not interfere with his studies.

"I wanted to stay in basketball," he said, "but I didn't want to lose my education. I couldn't have gone on in school playing with the Chicago team. Here I can."

Curtis, who concluded a three-year career at MSU last season with a 16.0 season average and a berth on the All-Big Ten third team, is a welcome sight to the Capitals' new coach, Bill Tosheff.

Curtis was a forward for Coach John Benington last season and a center for Fordy Anderson the year before, but Tosheff thinks he might switch him to guard.

"As a former pro myself, I like a running ball club," Tosheff said. "And I think Curtis may just be the man to run it."

"He's a smart boy. . . a high-type character and I think he could play guard as well as forward."

Curtis had no qualms about the possible switch to a new position.

SPORTS

"With the type of offense Tosheff has planned," Curtis said, "it looks like there will be a lot of movement. I'll probably be swinging from forward to a guard position.

"Of course, a lot depends on the size of our team. We may match up players—a big man with a big man and so on."

Curtis, happy to be able to play within the greater MSU area, is also optimistic about the future of the new pro team in Lansing.

"There will be some good brand of ball here and elsewhere in the league," he said. "Grand Rapids has eight All-Americans on its team."

"Not having played before a paying public, I can't really speak for them. But it will, I think, go over well."

Curtis says that the pros definitely will be a lot rougher than college ball.

"There's more pushing and pulling," he said. "And too, there is the three-point play. This could appeal to people."

Curtis is now working for a factory in Lansing where he is helping to make parts for bombs. "It's nothing glamorous," he said. "Just plain old factory work."

The Lansing Capitals and Coach Tosheff are hoping that Curtis can make a few "bombs" for them as well this season.

QB Johnson Stops East In All-America Football

ATLANTA (UPI)—Unheralded Randy Johnson staged his third amazing all-star performance with a record passing show, Saturday night to lead the West to a 24-7 victory over the East, coached by MSU's Duffy Daugherty, in the sixth annual Coaches' All-America Football game.

Johnson, the former Texas A & I quarterback, was the surprise high draft choice by the new Atlanta Falcons, passed for two touchdowns and ran for a third in the first college all-star game ever played in Atlanta.

Throwing short dead-eye tosses, Johnson completed 24 of 38 for 237 yards. This was two more completions than the previous record for this game, set by George Mira of Miami for the East in 1964.

Johnson was an overwhelming choice in balloting by newsmen as the most valuable player in the game.

The underdog East took a 7-0 lead early in the first period when a pass interference call gave them the ball at the West one-yard line. Fullback Jim Grabowski of Illinois went across on the next play, and Charles Gogolak of Princeton kicked the extra point, soccer-style.

But Johnson took control of the game in the second period. Fullback Walt Garrison of Oklahoma State went over from 11 yards out after Johnson's passes got the West in scoring position, and Johnson passed five yards to Jim Lindsey of Arkansas for another tally with barely a minute left in the first half.

In the fourth period, Johnson ran over from three yards out and five minutes later passed 15 yards to Donnie Anderson of Texas Tech for the West's final touchdown.

The East threatened only one other time after scoring in the first three minutes of the game. That was in the second period when Sloan hit on two long passes to carry his team down to the nine-yard line.

But the West stiffened, and the East lost 12 yards before yielding the ball.

At that point, the East held a 7-6 lead, but Johnson cranked up and it soon became, mainly, a question of how much the West would win by.

(MURFIELD, Scotland) (AP)—Jack Nicklaus packed his bags for the trip back to the United States Sunday with the last big major tourney that he had never won in his trophy case.

Big Jack won the British Open with a fast finish yesterday, posting a score of 282, one stroke ahead of Doug Sanders of this country and Dave Thomas of Wales.

That gave Nicklaus a sweep of the grand slam of pro golf, although not in the same year. Nobody has done that . . . win the Masters, American PGA and Open and the British Open in one season.

When asked what golfing goals lie ahead for him, Nicklaus grinned, "win some more tournaments."

(ST. LOUIS) (AP)—A baseball airlift may be put into effect to bring players to St. Louis for the All-Star Game on Tuesday.

Because of the nationwide airline strike, some men may have trouble getting from whatever cities they are playing in today to St. Louis by game time on Tuesday.

Commissioner William Eckert, a former Air Force general, is ready to put a small force of private planes into action, planes owned by major league teams.

However, at the moment, no major problems are anticipated and there is a good chance that "Operation Airlift" will not be needed.

One problem that could spring up on Tuesday is the chance that some players will have to leave the game before it ends in order to make connections for their next city.

Ex-WJIM Sports Director WVIC General Manager

Mark Ahmann, formally sports director of WJIM radio and television in Lansing, has been appointed general manager of radio station WVIC, East Lansing.

Ahmann, 33, came to Michigan in September, 1963 when he joined WJIM. He covered sports as well as state and national events. At WVIC he will continue to cover sports at high schools and Michigan State.

Before coming to Lansing, he worked at radio and television stations in Iowa, Minnesota and Detroit.

He lives with his wife and three children at 4125 Arlene Drive, Lansing. He graduated from the American Institute of the Air in Minneapolis in 1956.

Weather Hot, Tiges Cold; Twins Score 4-2 Victory

MINNESOTA (AP)—Home runs accounted for all the scoring as the Minnesota Twins topped the Detroit Tigers, 4 to 2, in a game played in 97-degree heat in Minnesota Sunday.

Harmon Killebrew of the Twins got the payoff blow, a two-run shot into the left field stands with Tony Oliva on base in the sixth inning. Don Mincher of the Twins put his team out in front with a two-run homer in the fourth inning, and Al Kaline of the Tigers clubbed a two-run homer in the sixth to tie it.

Dave Boswell picked up the win with help from Pete Cimino in the ninth. Earl Wilson, the starter for Detroit, drew the loss.

Information Service Receives Honors

MSU's Dept. of Information Services received national honor Wednesday for its recent two-year study entitled Project '80. A $250 incentive grant and certificate were awarded the department for information compiled on Michigan's rural potential for the next 14 years.

The American College Public Relations Assn. (ACPR) honored three other entries from across the nation during its annual meeting in Boston.

Directed by the College of Agriculture and aided by major farm organizations and rural Michigan industries, the project resulted in more than 1,000 pages of information on the ruraleconomy, now and in future years.

Coordinating the research program were Mark Allen, MSU Agricultural Experiment Station editor, who served as the project's editor and organized publications and public relations efforts; Joseph J. Marks, MSU agricultural research news editor, who directed the program's news coverage; and Richard K. Arnold, WKAR farm director, who drafted radio and television features on project reports.
