Johnson Pleased With Peace Efforts

Time Is Short For Viet Reply

WASHINGTON (AP)--President Johnson's "peace doves" will be flying high for at least another 10 days but the "war hawks" too are becoming active in Washington. Clearly, the time remaining for North Viet Nam to make a responsive move to join in efforts to settle the Vietnamese war is slowly running out.

So far, Johnson is pleased with the results of his personally orchestrated peace offensive--because he is confident many of the countries, friendly and otherwise, contacted by his roving diplomats are getting his message to Hanoi. The response from the other side has been discouraging, however, and has prompted some official pessimism about the likely outcome.

No matter how Johnson's efforts turn out, there will be those in Washington who will say, "I told you so." Within the administration itself, there have been significant differences of opinion about the presidential peace initiative. Some top military men clearly are getting restive about the Johnson-ordered pause in bombings of North Viet Nam.

Hanoi to the peace table is to step up, rather than lessen, military pressure. They believe the military pressure exerted to date has not been sufficient. In the State Department as well as the Pentagon, some officials favor a harder line than Johnson has been taking.

There even has been speculation, not confirmed, of friction between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the White House. Some Johnson aides, if not the President, apparently feel Rusk has taken too skeptical a stance toward peace moves.

Also, it is known that successive State Department drafts of proposed language for a major Johnson statement on Viet Nam last month were rejected. The President, with the help of staff aides, came up with his own language.

Johnson's traveling envoys still were on the road Thursday--Ambassador W. Averell Harriman in Tokyo and Asst. Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams in Africa.

These and possibly other U.S. officials are expected to be on the circuit until week after next.

Some Johnson critics have argued that the Williams mission to Africa supports their claim that the White House peace offensive is a sham prelude to a bigger war.

The big question, however, was whether Shelepin would counsel Hanoi to try to bring a negotiated peace in Viet Nam or whether he would report back to Moscow that more weapons should be sent in hopes of a Communist military victory.

The composition of the delegation suggested more weapons. In view of savage Chinese accusations that the Russians have failed to provide much military equipment support for Hanoi, the delegation might have been made up this way to avoid Chinese charges, some quarters suggested.

The basic Soviet position is believed to favor peace in Viet Nam in order to allow the Soviet Union to concentrate on domestic economic development without a danger of expanding war.

The last top-level Soviet group to visit Hanoi, led last February by Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, stopped in Peking to talk with Mao Tse-tung.

The Chinese charged Nov. 11 that Kosygin had in February "stressed the need to help the

Dorms Raise Grill Food Prices

By LEO ZAINEA State News Staff Writer

Prices in all dormitory grills were raised up to five cents an item starting Jan. 1.

Michael Dmochowski, Union manager and chairman of the foods committee, said the price hike is an economic fact of life that students will have to face.

Students can expect prices to rise every six months, Dmochowski said, because the grills are trying to keep their prices in line with off-campus restaurants.

Prices on all cold meat and bacon-lettuce-tomato sandwiches were raised five cents. No item was raised more than five cents, Dmochowski said. None of the cold or hot drink prices were raised.

"When costs go up prices must go up too," Dmochowski said. "It's as simple as that."

All dormitory grill prices are reviewed every six months by a combined pay cafeteria and grill committee, Dmochowski said. The committee is made up of representatives from the Union, Kellogg Center, dormitories and the Crossroads Cafe.

Dmochowski cited the cost of bacon rising from 30 cents to one dollar a pound, as an example of increases in costs.

A rising cost of wages paid to grill personnel is another reason for the price hike, Dmochowski said. Student wages were raised from $1 to $1.25 an hour a year ago, while wages for non-students went from $1.25 to $1.45.

At Owen Graduate Hall the grill charges five cents for ice and 10 cents for hot water, Manager George Van Buren said.

The reason for the additional charge, Van Buren said, is that too many students come into the grill with a tea bag and expect to make their own tea. They bring their own pop too, he added.

"I don't know where it's going to end," Dmochowski said. "I don't think even a protest demonstration would help."

Enrollment Estimated At 32,000

Over 32,000 students were enrolled for winter term during pre-enrollment and the regular registration period Tuesday and Wednesday, Registrar Horace C. King announced Thursday.

King added that this figure is a preliminary estimate. The final winter term enrollment total for the East Lansing campus will include late registrations, he said.

An estimated 7,000 students went through registration at the I.M. arena Wednesday afternoon. King indicated that over 25,000 students had completed registration by noon Wednesday.

Wednesday afternoon was the most crowded registration period. Compared with over 7,000 students Wednesday afternoon, 3,300 students enrolled Tuesday morning, 5,300 Tuesday afternoon and 5,600 Wednesday morning, King said.

Registration figures through noon of the second day of registration are lower than for comparable periods last year. King attributed this, and the last minute registration rush, to students returning late from California.

The preliminary figure of 32,000 winter term students compares with 29,034 students enrolled winter term of 1965, King said.

Our Students In L.A.: Outstanding & 'Mild'

By JANE KNAUER State News Staff Writer

No one arrested, no serious or malicious destruction. Behavior -- outstanding.

Reports from complex coordinators Thursday praised MSU students on the official ASMSU-University sponsored Rose Bowl tour during last week.

"I've heard from many sources in Los Angeles about the over-all enthusiasm, spirit and excellent behavior of our students who attended the Rose Bowl festivities," John A. Fuzak, vice president in charge of student affairs, said Thursday.

"Their behavior was outstanding," he said. "Behavior was what we anticipated," George B. Hibbard, associate director of fraternities and complex co-ordinator for the downtown Los Angeles area, said.

"The kids acted just like they do in the residence halls," Robert R. Fedore, assistant to the dean of students and the Long Beach area complex co-ordinator, said. The Kent Hotel, part of the downtown Los Angeles complex, reported some damage during the students' stay. Glass fixtures were pulled out of the walls and some of the glass was thrown into the hotel's swimming pool. Carpets were also stained.

In one room water overflowed from the bathtub and seeped through the ceiling of two rooms on the floor below.

Total damage at the Kent amounted to $255.

"We feel it was a minority of the students who caused this damage, though," the manager of the hotel said Thursday.

The assistant manager of the Biltmore Hotel, the complex headquarters for the downtown area and the co-ordinating hotel for all the complexes, said for all the complexes, said

'SCREAMING MASS'

Hotel Fire Kills 9 In St. Paul

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)--Three women, one of them pregnant, ran screaming from the old Hotel Carleton their clothing afire, here Thursday, as firemen arrived to fight flames that took nine lives and injured 17 persons. Some of the injured were badly hurt in leaps from second and third-floor windows. One man suffered a broken back. Both legs and feet of another man were fractured.

"It was a screaming mass when we got there," said Asst. Fire Chief William Maurer. He said people were shrieking from windows when firemen arrived.

Some terror-stricken occupants, trapped on upper floors by smoke-filled hallways, jumped as firemen were putting up rescue ladders in the zero cold.

"We heard them fall as we were moving ladders to the building," said Det. Chief Clarence Freiermuth.

The three women, met by firemen as they dashed from the building were doused with water from a hoseline to extinguish their flaming clothes. None was seriously hurt.

Among the dead were six men and three women. Two bodies were recovered quickly, the other after firemen were able to enter the ruins.

Ray Umbreit, 42, a survivor, said the smoke apparently woke him. "I grabbed the door knob and it was hot. I grabbed a shirt and shoes and broke a window and just then the fire ladder came up." Firemen helped him to safety.

"Thanks to God I'm here," said Cora McCarrell, 76, one of several elderly among the hotel occupants. She said firemen pounded on her door to awaken her and helped her out of the building.

Jacob Reyer, 50, who with his wife, Violet, 41, occupied a second-floor room, said they stepped out on a fire escape, but returned to their room when they saw flames shoot from windows on the floor above.

As they dashed into the hall, Reyer said, a screaming woman, her clothing on fire, came rolling down the stairway. Fire from the woman ignited Mrs. Reyer's

LBJ Sends Wirtz To Aid In Strike

NEW YORK (AP)--President Johnson dispatched Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz to Washington on Thursday night to lend a hand in New York's transit crisis, growing out of a six-day citywide bus and subway strike.

The request came from the Democratic national administration came from Republican Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York.

The development occurred near the end of a day of drenching rain during which sodden millions were buffeted about in the longest, roughest rush hour in New York's history. Traffic was badly snarled in Manhattan almost all day.

Lindsay had been in touch with Wirtz earlier. Later the mayor called Johnson and the two had their first personal talk about the transit strike.

Speaking of Lindsay, White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said: "He said he had been talking in the last few days and today with Secretary Wirtz and he thought it would be a good idea if the President would ask Secretary Wirtz to come Thursday night to New York for informal conversations with him and possibly with the panel of mediators."

Moyers told newsmen of Wirtz' intervention: "The simple purpose is to explore the transit situation with the mayor."

Peace talks between the striking AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union and the Transit Authority moved almost as sluggishly as traffic in the streets during the worst day of the monumental tie-up.

Motorists in vast numbers took to the highways as early as 5 a.m. in a vain effort to beat a traffic crush that continued until noon -- only to resume again in the opposite direction later in the afternoon.

The rain stalled many cars, and vehicles backed up for miles at Manhattan's bridges and tunnels.

Traffic Commissioner Henry A. Barnes blamed the combination of the city's weather and its transit strike for "the longest rush hour it ever had."

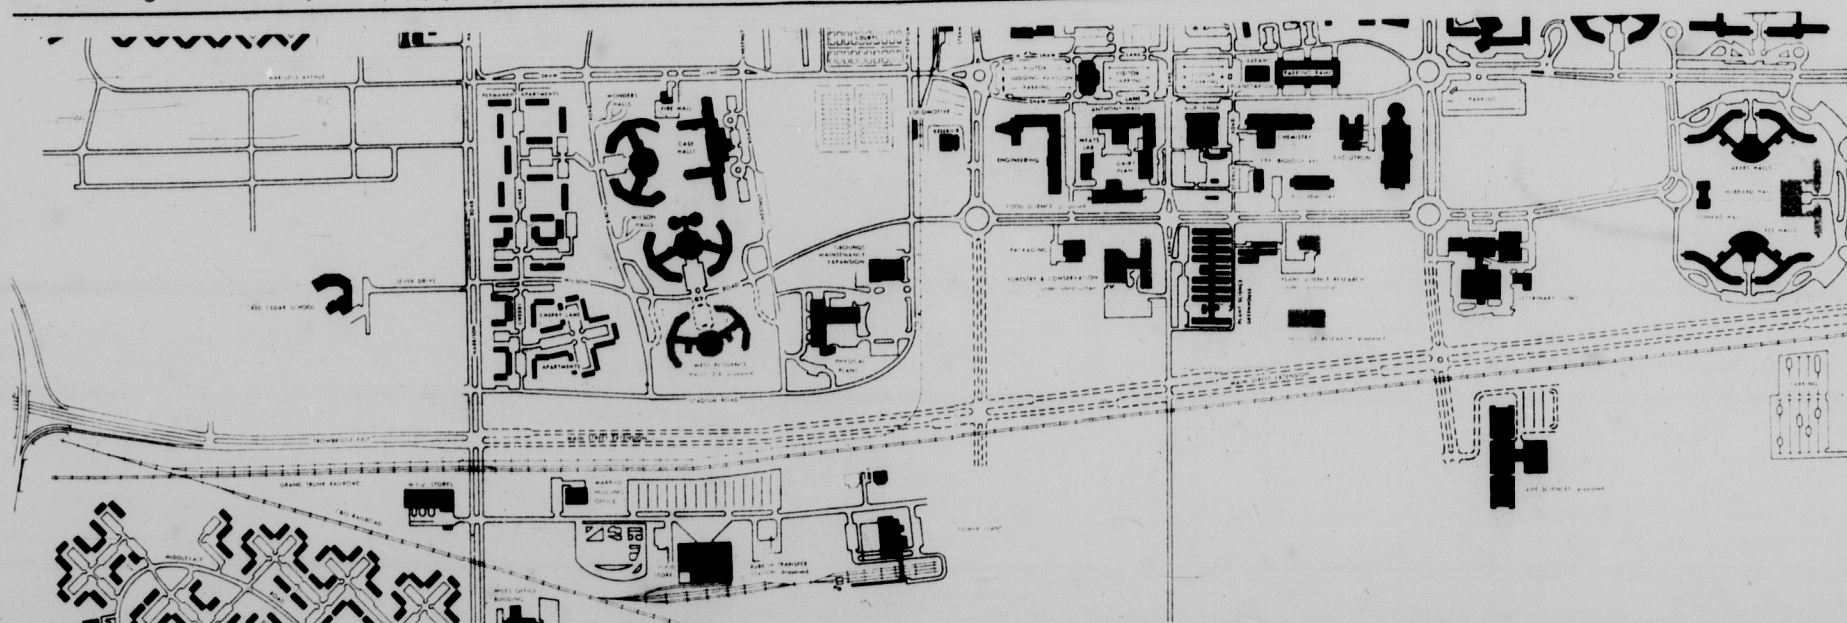

Commuter rail traffic was somewhat smoother but very heavy, as hundreds of thousands waited in the rain to board crowded trains.

A spokesman for the Long Island Railroad said: "We're moving a lot more people today than Wednesday, or even Tuesday. It looks like World War II when gasoline rationing forced people to use the railroads."

The strike of 34,400 employees of city-owned bus and subway lines began at 5 a.m. New Year's Day, cutting off transit facilities normally used by five million passengers a day. The first citywide transit tie-up ever to hit New York was estimated by business sources to be causing an economic loss of $100 million per day.

Meanwhile, union President Mike Quill, 60, suffered "new complications" while hospitalized for a possible heart attack earlier in the week.

Though Quill has a history of heart troubles, he was seemingly on the mend when doctors were called in again.

CROSS-CAMPUS ROUTE--The proposed route to carry M-43 across the University campus, instead of along Grand River Avenue, is marked on MSU maps as the proposed Main Street extension. Starting from the intersection of Trowbridge Street and Harrison Avenue, it follows the Grand Trunk Railroad right of way eastward to Hagadorn Road. The highway would continue eastward to Grand River and then follow its former route. The map shows proposed exits at Red Cedar Road, Farm Lane and Bogue Street, in addition to ones at the edges of the campus.

Hoover Links Communists To Peace March

WASHINGTON (UPI)--FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today Communists played an active and ever-increasing role in 1965 demonstrations against U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

He said the American Communist party also spent large amounts of money in an effort to torpedo U.S. "progress toward peace."

In his annual report on FBI activities, Hoover said Communists and other subversive groups had a hand in many of the major anti-Viet Nam protests. Among these he said, were the Nov. 27 "March on Washington" which drew about 25,000 persons.

India And Pakistan Near Agreement

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (UPI)--India and Pakistan were reported nearing an agreement tonight on a non-aggression pact following direct intervention by Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin.

Authoritative diplomatic sources said the two sides had made "substantial progress" towards the pact and that it may be signed in the next few days.

India and Pakistan also were reported virtually agreed on an agenda for their summit talks which have been stymied through Pakistani insistence Kashmir be discussed and Indian refusal to do so.

Viet Cong Terrorists Strike

SAIGON (UPI)--Viet Cong suicide squads stepped up their terrorist attacks against Saigon tonight. They bombed the main military gate to Tan Son Nhut airport and the national police headquarters in suburban Gia Dinh province.

One Vietnamese was killed and four persons wounded, including three American servicemen, in the blast at the airport gate. One national policeman and seven civilians were wounded at Gia Dinh. No Americans were involved there.

African Republic Breaks With Red China

BANGUI, Central African Republic (AP)--Col. Jean Bedel Bokassa broke relations with Red China today, accusing the Chinese of trying to build up a revolutionary army in the Central African Republic.

Bokassa, who took power in a New Year's Day coup, ordered the immediate expulsion of all Chinese communists in the country.

The army chief of staff told newsmen a cache of arms and documents had been discovered showing that the Chinese communists were in the midst of training and equipping a secret army.

Negro Rights Worker Murdered

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (UPI)--Authorities say a white service station attendant admitted firing two shots at a Negro civil rights worker whose body was found about 120 feet from the station.

Macon County Sheriff J.H. Sadler Wednesday quoted the attendant, Marvin Segrest, 69, as saying the youth had been harassing him.

Segrest was being held on a first degree murder charge in the slaying of Samuel L. (Sammy) Younge Jr., 21, late Monday night at the all-night station next to the bus depot in this predominantly Negro town.

Traffic Safety Agency For U.S. Proposed

DECATUR, Ga., (AP)--A freshman Georgia congressman who seeks creation of a national traffic safety administration says the organization would work like the Federal Aviation Agency except that it would be concerned with highway and not air traffic.

Rep. James A. Mackay said he will introduce a bill in Congress by Feb. 1 aimed at providing over-all leadership for 16 federal agencies and about 45 private agencies interested in traffic safety.

He said such an organization could provide vigorous and effective leadership in an area "which has not had much visibility in the national establishment."

"I'm going to Washington with blood in my eye to fight for this," Mackay said in an interview Thursday. "No death on the battlefields is more agonizing than the death of loved ones on the highway."

Mackay said that the FAA employs 47,000 persons in an attempt to avoid air accidents although "only 12 per cent of the American population flies each year and only 40 per cent of the American population has ever been in an airplane."

A national traffic safety organization would not do away with other federal agencies now working on the problem, Mackay said, but it would be a collecting point for ideas and its administrator would be responsible for putting together the efforts of all other groups.

Mackay said some efforts of the proposed traffic safety administration could be aimed at cleaning out highway "trouble spots" and perfecting readable traffic signs.

"We need harmony on the highways," Mackay said. "Horsepower is now so far ahead of roads that it almost insures accidents."

"About 10 per cent of the people on the highway are not legally licensed to drive," he said. "We need a more rigorous system."

Mackay said his bill will also propose a national testing center to set standards for tires, horsepower, lights, brakes and other auto equipment.

Kashmir Talks Baffle Kosygin

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (AP)--Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin was the sole communication link Thursday between the leaders of India and Pakistan on the third day of their deadlocked summit conference.

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India and President Ayub Khan of Pakistan stayed put in their separate country villas outside Tashkent and their large delegations of ministers also stayed home.

Kosygin obviously was having difficulty with the explosive India-Pakistan quarrel that has bedeviled Washington for years.

The Soviet leader spent hours in secret talks with Shastri and Ayub but as the day ended about the only thing certain was that the three men would attend the theatre together Friday night.

It was not even certain when Shastri and Ayub would resume their private sessions together - their first since India and Pakistan went to war in September.

The stumbling block was the Indian-Pakistani quarrel over Kashmir, the issue that for 18 years defeated the many and expensive efforts the United States made to bring peace to South Asia.

Kosygin, making his first personal venture into the quarrel, apparently felt compelled to find a way for some agreement to come out of this summit, the first on Soviet soil involving India and Pakistan.

Both India and Pakistan were sticking to opposite stands on Kashmir - and were taking pains of their own to make it publicly obvious.

The Pakistani spokesman, Information Minister Altaf Gauhar, told newsmen Pakistan maintains that to achieve peace this conference "should discuss in depth the problems of Kashmir which is the cause of trouble between the two countries."

India's foreign secretary, C.S. Jha, told newsmen a few minutes later this is "the traditional view of Pakistan which we do not share."

India and Pakistan fought over Kashmir in 1948, shortly after gaining independence from Britain. They divided it, with India getting the better share, and have been quarreling ever since.

Shastri and Ayub have not even been able to agree on an agenda for their talks because they differ on whether to discuss Kashmir.

Cagers-Gophers In 'Mystery' Big Ten Opener

Surprising 'S' Boasts 7-3 Mark

By BOB HORNING
State News Sports Writer

The first Big Ten game could turn out to be the most critical for Michigan State's basketball team.

The Spartans meet Minnesota here Saturday night in a mystery game. Is State as improved as its pre-conference mark of 7-3 indicates? Can Minnesota fight off Big Ten opponents without its All-American Lou Hudson?

The winner of the game will become established as a solid title contender since Minnesota is already recognized as a top threat, and the Spartans have edged into the picture with their surprising record.

Minnesota started the season winning its first four games before losing Hudson, who broke his wrist in the Creighton game. Since then the Gophers have won only half of their six games, but have played better than expected.

Coach John Kundla's team staged off a tough University of Detroit team, 92-88, in its first game without Hudson. The determination of the Gophers caused Kundla to remark, "It's difficult for me to remember a more gratifying experience in my entire coaching career."

After the Detroit game, however, Minnesota ran into trouble. Its first loss was to Utah State, 97-72. After nipping Cornell, 84-82, the Gophers were clobbered by St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania, currently ranked as the number four team in the nation, 91-66.

Minnesota rebounded with a 92-87 victory over La Salle, but in their last outing were soundly beaten by a rapidly improving Loyola of Chicago team, 82-69.

Hudson was originally expected to be out until the end of January. Lately there have been rumors that he will play against State, but that is nearly impossible since his hand is still in a cast.

Hudson naturally is eager to play, but Kundla says he will need the okay of the team trainer and doctor. So Hudson now is just waiting, trying to provide his team with inspiration from the bench.

Captain Archie Clark has taken over the scoring burden in Hudson's absence. The Zollo Versailles of Minnesota now has a 24.1 average, hitting on 50 per cent of his shots. Last year Clark averaged 15.9 in league games. Hudson was averaging 22.3 this year in four games.

Following Clark in scoring is 6-5 forward Paul Presthus with a 14.7 average. He is leading the team in rebounds with 100.

Rounding out the starting five are 6-7 center Tom Kondla (10.5

scoring average), 5-11 guard Wes Martins (10.0), and 6-6 forward Dennis Dvoracek (8.7). Kondla is the team's second leading rebounder with 86, and Dvoracek has 81.

Minnesota has been shooting at a .420 clip from the field, and .610 from the foul line. The Gophers have averaged 79.8

points and 42.4 caroms a game, while their opponents have 79.9 and 43.2 averages against them.

Clark has the individual high scoring mark this year with 38 points against Detroit.

Against the big front line of Minnesota, the Spartans will receive a real test on the boards, which Coach John Benington admits will be the team's main problem in the Big Ten.

However, Kondla, a newcomer at center, may prove to be the most vulnerable spot as he gave up 44 points to Detroit's Dorie Murray, and State has its own tough center in Matthew Aitch.

The Gophers lost their big center from last year, Mel Northway, by graduation. Northway averaged 16 points in conference games and his 13.3 rebounds a game was the third best record in the Big Ten.

The clash could easily turn out to be a low-scoring battle, as Minnesota has always been known for its tough defense, and was second in the league in defense last year. And of course, the Spartans have a new look in holding down the opponent's score, allowing only two teams to score over 80 points this year.

A bad start for the Gophers may get them into a hole that even Hudson can't dig them out of. For State, it's a chance to start off right before the home fans and to gain confidence for the rugged fight ahead.

Gymnasts 'Unpolished' For Opener

By ROBERTA YAFIE
State News Sports Writer

A dozen "diamonds in the rough" take the spotlight away from student registration at the IM Arena Saturday, with the hopes of cutting visiting gymnasts from the University of Illinois down to size.

That's how Coach George Szypula tabs his Spartan gym squad, a group he called the best that he's ever coached, and only a part of which will be on display.

"Despite the talent here, they're still unpolished. It's understandable," he explained. "We just got started again this week with regular workouts after a series of more or less informal workouts during the vacation.

"This is a good opener. This will be a good test to see just how good we look on tramp," he went on. "We show good depth in every event, and we'll see how they show up under competition conditions."

Trampoline can prove to be one of the most exciting of the Spartan events. Because it was the weakest spot on the program last season, it necessitated consistently superior performances in the other events to compensate for it.

Along with Ron Aure, who worked the event last season in addition to floor exercise and long horse chores, are a trio of trampolinists expected to give the Spartans a needed shot in the arm.

Ray Strobel returns to the Spartan ranks after a two-year absence. Joining him is Bob Cordaro, a transfer student from Ft. Lauderdale and sophomore Keith Sterner, who'll be competing in his first varsity meet.

"It's nice to have Strobel and John Rohs back after two years," Szypula remarked.

Rohs is expected to be a strong contributing factor to the Spartans in floor exercise. Joining (continued on page 7)

Injury To Key Wrestler Dims Tourney Hopes

By ED BRILL
State News Sports Writer

An injury to sophomore Dale Anderson has left Michigan State wrestling Coach Grady Peninger trying to defend the Northwestern Quadrangular championship Saturday at Evanston, Ill., short a 137-pound entry.

Anderson, who gained varsity eligibility this term, injured his elbow in practice Wednesday.

Anderson gained a varsity position with his showing in the Midlands wrestling tourney, Dec. 29-30, when he finished second, wrestling unattached, to Michigan State star Don Behm, a junior in the 130-pound division.

Sophomore Dale Carr, who had been impressive in his bouts at 137, was moved up to the 147-pound class by Peninger to make room for Anderson. There is no possibility, according to Peninger, of moving Carr back down in time for this Saturday's tournament.

Either Peninger will present no entry or he will move up 123-pound Kirton Tsiminaki, to wrestle two classes above his weight.

Two footballers, Mike Bradley and Jeff Richardson, are back from Pasadena, but will not try out for berths until next week. This means that Peninger will use Mike Johnson at 177, and Jim Maidlow at heavyweight, as he has done for most of the season.

Northwestern, Minnesota and Purdue will provide rough competition for Peninger's depleted forces.

Don Behm, the team leader in points, will head Spartan hopes tomorrow as he wrestles at 130 pounds. Behm is undefeated in three dual meets and finished first in the Midlands tourney last week.

Fran Larsen, recently recovered from a bad skin infection, will take over in the 123-pound class. Dale Carr, the sophomore sensation at 137, will wrestle the regular 147 pounder, Dave Campbell, in a fight for the 147-pound spot in the Spartan lineup.

Dick Cook will go for the Spartans at 157, where he is unbeaten in three dual meets.

Tankers Name Captain; Relays Pose 'Big Test'

By LARRY WERNER
State News Sports Writer

With the conclusion of what Head Coach Charles McCaffree terms a "very successful Christmas training period," State's tankers have elected a new team captain to lead them into Madison, Wis., Saturday, for the Big Ten Relays.

Denny Hill, a senior from Lansing Eastern, was elected captain for the current campaign by his teammates. Hill is expected to be a consistent performer in the distance events. The chemistry major has earned two varsity letters.

"Denny is a fine representative for the swimming team. He is a good worker and a capable leader," McCaffree said. "He has improved greatly and is worthy of this highest accord a swimmer can receive from his teammates."

University of Wisconsin will play host to at least seven other tank squads in this Big Ten "opener." Michigan, Indiana, Southern Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Northwestern, State and possibly Iowa State will compete at Madison.

"This meet is different from the type we'll be swimming all season. It's to get the conference competition underway. It's an exciting and attractive meet, but, actually, little can be proven by it," said the veteran coach.

This is because State will swim in only three events similar to distances used in regular contests. These are the 400 and 800 freestyle relays and 400-yard medley.

Each swimmer is limited to three events. McCaffree will take a squad of 20 on the trip. Darryle Kifer, Jim MacMillan, Ken Walsh, Gary Dilley, Bill Scott, Dan Pangborn, Denny Hill, Rolf Grosseth and Ed Glick are slated to handle the freestyle chores. Dilley, Glick, Pete Williams and Bob Wolf are the backstrokers making the jaunt.

In the butterfly, three of a quintet including Glick, Dan Harner, John Ladd, Dick Mull and John Musulin will swim. Lee Driver, Jack Marsh and either Dennis Manrique or Bob Ahlgren are slated for the breaststroke relay.

Walsh, MacMillan, Wolf, Driver, Kifer, Scott, Harner, Musulin, Glick and Dilley are all available for the medley relays. Williams, Ladd, Marsh, Ahlgren, Buys and Harner are individual medley performers.

Fred Whitford and Ken Genoa, both improving rapidly under the new diving coach, John Narcy, will be in the diving relay. This event will consist of each contestant making three dives.

In last year's Big Ten Relays, held at Ann Arbor, State finished third, Michigan won the meet and Indiana finished second.

State could manage only one first place in that meet. The 400-yard freestyle relay team, composed of Kifer, Dilley, Walsh and MacMillan, copped top honors in 3:12.4.

Despite being a somewhat orthodox meet, McCaffree said, "We had an excellent holiday practice session and the boys are really anxious to get into Big Ten competition. The relays should be an excellent test."

'Fit' Ice Squad Meets Colorado

By JOE MITCH
State News Sports Writer

Michigan State's hockey club will finally present its entire team rather than part of one this weekend against Western Collegiate Hockey Assn. foe Colorado College here at the Ice Arena.

Coach Amo Bessone's skaters will tangle with the swift Tiger outfit with a squad in its best physical condition since the first day of practice. The Friday and Saturday night games are set to start at 7:30 with students being admitted for 25 cents and an ID.

Three Spartans who have been missing from the lineup since before the mid-term mark and a score of others who have been nursing aggravating bumps and bruises will combine for the first time this season as a full-fledged unit. A 10-day layoff after Christmas was a determining factor in bouncing the Spartans back on their feet.

"We've been practicing since Dec. 28," said Bessone, "and with everybody back in fair shape, we're hoping to stay that way for the rest of the season."

Wingman Mike Jacobson and defenseman Doug French return after recovering from injuries earlier in the year and defenseman Bob Brawley is back after completing his tour with the football team.

Brawley was in the Denver series, which was State's last appearance before the holiday vacation. He picked up one point in two games with an assist. Colorado College will face

State for the second time this season. Both teams opened their WCHA season against each other, with the Tigers sweeping the two-game set, 4-0 and 4-3 in overtime.

This time the Spartans feel it will be a different story. "They've been our toughest team all year," said the Spartan skipper. "But they've been on the road for several weeks and they may be tired."

The Tigers have just returned from several holiday tournaments where they won one and lost three. Their season record now stands at 8-4-0. They are presently lodged in third place in the WCHA with a 3-1 mark.

State might appear to be a less formidable opponent on paper with an overall mark of 3-6 and a sixth place in the WCHA with 2-4 record, but Bessone doesn't think so.

"We've improved tremendously since our opening games," he said. "Our offense is one of the best in the league. We just need some more aggressiveness on defense."

Through the halfway mark of the season, six Spartans rank among the top 12 individual scorers in the WCHA. Doug Volmar is tied with North Dakota's Terry Casey for top honors with 12 points.

The NEWS in

SPORTS

Colorado College is the defensive leader in the conference with a 1.8 average on seven goals in four games. Aided by goalie Bill Howard, the Tigers have the only two shutouts in the league. One of these shutouts came against State in the opening game of the season.

The Tigers have a relatively weak offensive punch. Their first line, composed of center Dave Peterson and wings Bob Lindberg and John Genz, is a fast skating unit and all are veterans from last year. Lindberg leads the team in scoring with 21 points on 14 goals and seven assists.

Possibly Peterson may make the trip as an onlooker, since he fractured the radius bone in his right shooting arm nearly a month ago.

Two Booters All-American

Two Michigan State soccer players were named to the college All-America team by the nation's coaches.

Captain Nick Krat was selected for the halfback position and sophomore Guy Busch was named to the center forward.

The Spartans were runners-up to national champion St. Louis in the NCAA tournament, losing to the Billikens, 1-0. Krat was the mainstay in the State defense all year as the back line held opponents to an average of only one goal per game. Krat was particularly outstanding in the championship game when he didn't allow St. Louis' high scoring center forward Jack Kinealy one good shot on goal.

Busch scored 24 goals in 12 games, a new State record, and led the booters to a 10-2 mark. Busch scored five goals in his first varsity game against Wheaton and played his best game of the year in the NCAA semifinal against Army when he scored twice in a 3-1 victory.

St. Louis also placed two men on the All-America team, forwards Pat McBride and Carl Gentile. Gentile scored the winning goal against State in the title game on a penalty kick.

PROSPECTS LOOK BRIGHT

Track Squad Starts Work

By PHIL PIERSON
State News Sports Writer

Michigan State's Big Ten championship track team opened practice in earnest yesterday and Coach Fran Dittrich appeared optimistic about Spartan prospects for a repeat of last season.

And he should be—all five trackmen responsible for last year's championship are back.

Last year's efforts produced the Big Ten outdoor title and the Spartans missed taking the indoor title by only a half point, losing out to Wisconsin, 46 to 45 1/2.

The team's first "hard" workout according to Dittrich, saw the return of two-sport star Gene Washington, who won the 70-yard low hurdles title in the indoor championships. He was also a winner in the 120-yard high hurdles outdoors.

Another returnee is three-time winner Jim Garrett, who won both the indoor and outdoor broad jump titles and also took the 220-yard dash in the outdoor meet.

Keith Coates will attempt to win his third straight mile run championship. Coates won this event in both the indoor and outdoor championships a year ago.

Mike Bowers, the Big Ten outdoor high jump champion, is also back. Bowers finished tied for second in this event in the indoor competition.

Daswell Campbell is the fifth returning champion. Last year

Campbell was the indoor victor in the 300-yard dash.

Garrett is the only senior among the five. The others are juniors.

"The experience these boys acquired as sophomores last year should make them even better," Dittrich said.

Graduation losses took only two letter-winning seniors, Jan Bowen and Mike Kaines.

However, two trackmen are out with injuries. Eric Zemper, a senior and letter winner in the mile and two mile events, will

Yankees 'Gamble' On Maris

NEW YORK (UPI)—Oft-injured Roger Maris, the only major leaguer to hit 61 home runs in one season, signed for $72,000 Thursday and the New York Yankees admitted they were "gambling" because he played in only 46 games last year.

"We'll gamble on Roger even though he couldn't play in many games last season," said Yankee General Manager Ralph Houk. "To me Roger is a star. He's proved it."

"I got to think it's a good contract," Maris grinned, "because it's the same one as last year. I feel in wonderful shape --just eight pounds over my playing weight at 213 pounds--and miss both the indoor and outdoor seasons due to an operation of his heel for the removal of bone spurs.

Another injured athlete is senior Paul McCollam, who was a prospect in the two mile run. He will miss the indoor season because of a hernia operation.

The return of Dick Sharkey in the distance events partially offsets the losses of Zemper and McCollam.

Sharkey was out with injuries last year, but his performances on this year's cross-country team indicate that he should be back in top form.

The first competition for the Spartans will be a dual meet Jan. 29 in Columbus against Ohio State.

State's biggest dual meet of the season should be their Feb. 26 date with Wisconsin at Madison.

Dittrich rates the Badgers along with the Spartans and teams from Michigan, Illinois and Iowa as the leading contenders in the Big Ten championships to be held in Jenison Field House March 4-5.

the doctor just gave me a clean bill of health."

The 31-year-old Maris suffered three injuries last season, did not start a game after June 28, batted .239 and hit only eight home runs, both lows in his eight-year major league career. He underwent surgery on his right hand Sept. 28 to remove floating bone chips. Houk admitted that several clubs had approached him since the end of the season seeking to make a trade for Maris.

WEEKEND FEATURES

Game Tops Entertainment

By LEO ZAINEA
State News Staff Writer

Everyone has returned to school and is prepared to resume his intellectual calisthenics for another term. But not the first weekend back.

This weekend provides students and faculty an opportunity to rest up after their three-week respite. It's like the calm before the storm.

After unpacking, rearranging the room, and buying books you'll find a lot happening on and off campus.

Much more is in store for students later in the term.

Performing Arts Company already is holding tryouts for the musical production "West Side Story," to be staged in late May.

Its schedule of plays for winter term includes: Melville's "Billy Budd," Mar. 8; "The Lovers," an Italian comedy translated into English, Jan. 25; and "The House of Bernarda Alba," a Spanish tragedy.

The MSU Film Society has scheduled films through Feb. 25. A rundown of this weekend's entertainment looks good.

* ON CAMPUS *

State's surprising basketball team, owners of a 7-3 record, opens its Big Ten schedule against a tough Minnesota team at 8 p.m. Saturday in Jenison. The Gophers will be playing without their prized All-American, Lou Hudson, who has a broken wrist.

MOVIES: For old-time movie fans five Charlie Chaplin comedies will be shown at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in Conrad Hall. Any one of these classic films would equal any modern comedy.

"Tales of the Blue Danube," filmed and narrated by Phil Walker, will be presented by the MSU World Travel Series at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Auditorium.

Leslie Caron, Charles Boyer, and Maurice Chevalier star in

The main damage was to the thermostat, although wood samples in the unit were burned.

the musical "Fanny," at 7 and 9 p.m. in Fairchild.

MIXERS: McDonel and Case Halls will hold their weekly dances at 9 p.m. Saturday while Shaw Hall stages its always-packed hop at 9 p.m. Friday.

* OFF-CAMPUS *

MOVIES: The Campus Theater is showing another Bond thriller which may last as long as "Goldfinger" did. Sean Connery stars in "Thunderball," a typical Ian Fleming extravaganza, with gadgets, guns and gals. Although the plot is sadly lacking it manages to hold together with Bondo.

"The Magnificent Men in their Flying Machines" starring Terry Thomas, Red Skelton, and Gert Frobe of "Goldfinger" fame, is playing at the Michigan. Time magazine has called it "magnificent."

Roman Polanski's "Repulsion," a Psycho-type thriller starring Catherine Deneuve, is showing at the State.

Walt Disney's hilarious movie "That Darn Cat," starring Hayley Mills and Dean Jones is at the Gladner.

Confidence Boosts Spending

ANN ARBOR (UPI)--Most Americans think the economy is stronger than ever and plan to spend more money themselves to prove it, the University of Michigan's quarterly consumer study reported today. Americans are worried about the war in Viet Nam but believe it helps the economy, the report said.

The survey results also indicate another record-breaking year in new car sales. Sales of television sets also will increase but purchases of houses and other durable goods will hold at about the present level, the report said.

The survey said in both 1964 and 1965 about one-half of the nation's families experienced an income increase, the highest proportion since World War II.

The survey said 54 per cent of all respondents and 67 per cent of upper income respondents said current business conditions were better than a year ago. The response was "a more favorable evaluation of business trends than ever obtained before," it said.

Few respondents expect the Viet Nam situation to improve during the next few months, the survey reported, but "the war is thought to have favorable effects on the domestic economy," the report said.

It said more people plan to buy a new car this year than a year ago, when the auto industry was launching its best year in history. This year's new car plans are the biggest ever, the survey said.

"The conclusion emerges that the automobile market will be very strong in 1966," the economists said. "Desires and plans to own two cars have not diminished at all and may have even increased. The proportion of multiple car owners among American family units increased from approximately 23 to 25 per cent during the last two years."

"Yet in November, 1965, the proportion of one-car owners who said that they had thought of becoming two-car owners was somewhat higher than in November, 1963."

Faculty Facts

Dimitru Chitoran of the University of Bucharest, Rumania, will be a visiting professor in comparative literature winter and spring terms. Adrian Jaffe, acting chairman of the Comparative Literature Dept., has announced.

Chitoran will teach a course in Rumanian literature and an introductory course in Rumanian. He has degrees from London University and the University of Bucharest where he teaches English and English literature. Chitoran is in the United States under the provisions of a cultural exchange treaty with Rumania.

Helene Tzitsikas, associate professor of romance languages, has authored a study of literary works by Spanish biologist, Santiago Cajal.

The work was published in Spanish in Mexico City.

Miss Tzitsikas, born in Athens, Greece, holds degrees from Lake Forest College and Northwestern University and has written several papers in the field of science, including three on electron microscopy.

M. Thomas Inge, assistant professor of American thought and language, has co-authored a bibliography entitled "Donald Davidson: An Essay and a Bibliography." Thomas Daniel Young, an editor of the Literature of the South, is the other co-author.

Both are former students of Davidson at Vanderbilt University.

1,000 Flee As Floods Hit Coast

Rains flooded out 200 more families Wednesday night and Thursday in southwest Oregon and northwest California.

But the worst appeared over of a four-day storm which forced evacuations of more than 1,000 persons, blocked major highways and stopped trains.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said a protective wall of high pressure is holding back the threat of heavy rain storms brewing in the Pacific.

Rain kept falling Thursday on southwest Oregon; streams rose, some over flood stage; and about 200 families were evacuated as a precaution along the Rogue river in the Grants Pass area.

Rains gave way to showers and, in some cases, to welcomed sunshine in the flood-beset northwest corner of California. But Wednesday night it rained so hard that the Smith River went out of its banks north of Crescent City. Some 200 lowlanders took to higher ground.

As flooding streams receded, northwest California evacuees in the Eureka area moved back from Red Cross refugee centers and from highland neighbors to their own soggy homes in that rugged, mountainous lumber country.

"All we have left now are 50 milk cows," said Cecil Jo Hindley, a Civil Defense coordinator, at a refugee center in Ferndale, south of Eureka.

"There were no flood fatalities. The people had enough warning. And this time they knew we were not going after them."

The same area figured in the 23 deaths and multimillion-dollar damages of the 1964 Christmas week floods.

The State of Washington still was digging out four Cascade passes closed by snowslides. Only Snoqualmie reopened Thursday.

Powerlines still were down from gusty winds. Some Seattle roads were closed because of a threat of earth slides.

Rain and wind decreased in Washington on Thursday.

Prof Criticizes Lake Zoning

A fisheries professor said Wednesday that designating certain areas of Lake Michigan for industrial waste dumping would be only a short-range solution to the pollution problem.

Eugene W. Roelofs, associate professor of fisheries and wildlife, commented on a set of standards expected to be approved by federal and state representatives from Indiana and Illinois.

The standards call for a zoning of the Lake's southern end into regions in which different levels of water purity are to be maintained. The zoning has been heralded as a step toward the cleaning-up of Lake Michigan.

"Something like this zoning is needed," Roelofs said, "especially since cities such as Grand Rapids get their drinking water from the lake."

But Roelofs pointed out that, except in bays, water moves from one part of Lake Michigan to another so that setting a part of the lake aside for waste dumping with the hope of keeping another section clean is not realistic.

"We must decide what goes into a lake-period," he said.

A little pollution now may seem a fair compromise but the ruin of a lake or river starts slowly and snowballs over a period of time into a major problem, Roelofs explained.

Water conservation measures must aim at long range effects in order to be both practical and easy on the taxpayer, he said.

"In Michigan we have leaned over backward to protect industry," he said. Roelofs added that this has encouraged much legislation that seemed in the interest of clean lakes and rivers but was in fact only token action.

The former adviser on water problems for industries said that nothing will be done until the public demands clean water.

The water purity standards were drawn up by a technical committee of engineers and federal health experts.

Alum Visits

Hiroshi Naito, president of Tokyo University of Agriculture and one of MSU's oldest overseas alumni, will return to East Lansing today for a series of conferences with MSU officials.

Tokyo Agricultural University, with an enrollment of more than 5,600, is the largest agricultural university in Japan. Naito previously directed its Isotope Institute.

Astronomy For Parents, Children Offered At Night

A special course in astronomy for parents and children is one of 52 courses being offered by the MSU Evening College this term. Parents may attend this course only if accompanied by their child.

The Evening College is also offering a course with Wayne State University titled "Eight Evenings with the Professors." Eight scholars from the two universities will lecture on such topics as "Has Man a Chance?" and "The Death-Makers."

Courses are also being offered in speed reading, art, philosophy, bookbinding, modern math and languages.

No grades or credits are given for the courses. Registrations are being accepted in 10 Kellogg Center from 8 a.m. to noon and 1-5 p.m. or 6-10 p.m. at the conference desk in the main lobby of Kellogg Center.

him in the event are Ted Wilson, Aure and Dave Thor.

Thor, who'll be working all around for State, tied Olympian Rusty Mitchell in that event and went on to capture the side horse crown in the Midwest Open Dec. 4.

Side horse will introduce three new faces. Along with Thor, sophs Gerry Moore and Dennis Smith are slated to compete.

Wilson, Thor, Ed Gunny and Captain Jim Curzi pose a four-man high bar contingent promising plenty of MSU points and strong performances.

"All four high bar performers look great," Szygula beamed. "This along with rings could be our best two events."

Wilson and Thor are set for parallel bars and long horse, S, Fairview Ave., Lansing, and while Aure and Gunny round off the vaulting contingent and Curzi heads the "P-bars" group. Another possible started in that event is Dennis Smith.

In the rings department, Szygula narrowed the field to four from what is his most plentiful group of top-flight specialists. Going in that event are Thor Wilson, Ken Fox and Gunny.

Out for three weeks with a dislocated elbow suffered in a wrestling class a month ago is Bill Diggins, who was expected to provide the Spartans with additional depth.

Church Membership Hits New High

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Council of Churches reported Thursday that membership in U.S. religious bodies has reached a record high of 123,307,000, an increase of two per cent over the last year. It was the 17th time in 18 years that America's churches and synagogues have posted membership gains greater than the nation's population growth rate, which is about 1.5 per cent a year.

II, the proportion of Americans affiliated with religious bodies has grown from 50 per cent to 64.4 per cent. No other nation has experienced a comparable upsurge. Membership statistics for 250 denominations were reported in the yearbook of American churches, which is published annually by the National Council of Churches. Based on official reports from the denominations themselves, the figures are mainly 1964 statistics.

The only postwar year in which membership gains have fallen below the population growth rate was 1961. In that year, churches and synagogues reported membership increases amounting to 1.4 per cent. The lag behind population growth was widely interpreted at the time as evidence that the postwar religious revival had run its course.

Protestant bodies at 68,229,000, up two per cent over 1963. The Roman Catholic Church reported 45,641,000 members, a gain of 1.7 per cent. This is the first time in many years that the Protestant growth rate has exceeded the Catholic growth rate. The 1963 figures showed Catholic membership up 2.4 per cent, while net Protestant gains were 2.3 per cent.

Jewish congregations reported 5,600,000 members, an increase of only three-tenths of one per cent over the previous year. Eastern Orthodox churches reported 3,166,715 members, an increase of 2.3 per cent. The Buddhist population soared from 60,000 to 110,000—a phenomenon explained by the inclusion of figures for Hawaii for the first time.

The yearbook showed a total Sunday school enrollment of 46,752,000, up two per cent. The Southern Baptist Convention remained the nation's largest Protestant body, with 10,598,000 members. The Methodist Church was a close second, with 10,304,184. The National Baptist Convention U.S.A., a Negro body, was third with 5,500,000 and the Episcopal Church fourth with 3,341,000.

Others in the top 10 were the United Presbyterian Church, 3,292,000; the Lutheran Church in America, 3,131,000; National Baptist Convention of America, 2,669,000; Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod, 2,651,000; American Lutheran Church, 2,587,204; and Churches of Christ, 2,250,000.

This verdict now appears to have been premature. In 1962, the growth rate of religious bodies rose to 1.6 per cent, slightly above the increase in population. In 1963, the membership increase was 2.6 per cent.

The new yearbook places the total membership of 221 U.S.

'Grease Paint' Priests Bring Church To Stage

LONDON (P)—Drums roll, the orchestra launches into "God Save the Queen," and another performance of "Passion Flower Hotel," a musical at the Prince of Wales Theater, is beginning. The white-haired man in clerical collar and black suit, who has been talking at stage center with a bevy of chorus girls, retires to the wings. For the next two hours the stage is given over to the sexy high jinks which occur when the boys of an exclusive school get together with the girls from a nearby school. It's really no place for a clergyman to be. Not that the Rev. Christopher P. Bryan would be shocked at anything. He is one of a hundred or so Anglican priests who work as chaplains in the theaters, movie and television studios of Britain. Twice a week Father Bryan leaves his parish of St. Thomas in the drab Finsbury Park district of north London to visit his other parishioners amid the bright lights of West End theaterland. His particular responsibilities are the Prince of Wales and the Garrick Theater. He has been an Actors' Church Union chaplain for a dozen years, first at the Finsbury Park Empire, an old-time music hall, now pulled down. The Actors' Church Union was founded in 1899 to serve the theatrical profession of all denominations or none. For $1.40 a year, which is reduced in case of long unemployment or sickness, members can use the actors' club in the crypt of St. Martin-in-the-Fields, Trafalgar Square; get a list of theatrical lodgings approved by both chaplains and members of the profession, and a list of chaplains and their churches. St. Martin is the patron saint of actors, though he once said no actor should be baptized until he gave up acting. The bishop of London has assigned the Church of St. Vedast-Altus-Foster as chapel for the union.

Speeder Arrested After Night Chase

An East Lansing man was arrested Tuesday morning after a three-mile chase that wound through Lansing streets.

Campus Police spent a night tracking down a license plate number, then arrested Ronald Albert Melvin, 23, of 2158 Raby Rd., for reckless driving.

The pursuit began around 4 a.m. at Harrison Road and Saginaw Street, when Campus Police said Melvin was exceeding the speed limit.

Lansing and East Lansing police joined the chase which course through Kipling Boulevard, Miflin Avenue, East Kalamazoo Street, South Fairview Avenue, Harton Street and South Hayford Avenue at speeds up to 80 miles per hour, Campus Police said.

Police said Melvin ran several stop signs and three stop lights.

Melvin stopped his car on South Hayford Avenue and escaped in the dark on foot but was picked up later Tuesday by Campus Police.

Lansing Township Justice Court fined Melvin $80 plus $19.90 court costs and sentenced him to 60 days in Ingham County Jail.

Students

Thursday it would welcome MSU students next year if they could make it to L.A.

"Those students behaved like any other person would New Year's Eve," he said.

The Hacienda International Hotel in the airport complex said in a letter received by the State News, "We would like the students who were our guests during this time to know how much we appreciated their business and how much we genuinely enjoyed their stay at our hotel."

"We have never seen such a well behaved group of students in our entire vast hotel experience," the letter said.

The letter continued to say the students were courteous, gracious, appreciative, undemanding and extremely well controlled and behaved.

Board Meets At 6 Sunday

ASMSU will hold its first formal meeting of winter term at 6 p.m. Sunday to discuss registration, solicitation and distribution policies.

The Student Board will also discuss the ASMSU sponsored Rose Bowl Tour, and general plans for winter term, according to Frannie Frei, Dearborn graduate student and board member-at-large.

Miss Frei said that the winter term popular entertainment series, winter carnival and the tentative judiciary system will also be discussed.

Builders Set Mark With Urban Unit

By JOHN BEAUPARLANT, State News Staff Writer

The Urban Planning and Landscape Building, opened this term, set a record in campus construction.

The three and a half month period from August to December required for the building is the least time ever taken to complete a permanent building on campus.

Located at the corner of Red Cedar and Wilson roads, the three-story structure was built at a cost of $450,000.

The new building replaces the "temporary" quarters the department has been housed in since 1946. During the process of clearing the department's former location, the temporary buildings were demolished. On this site, east of the stadium near the river, a new foreign language, statistics and mathematics building will be erected.

A special feature of the new building is its studio laboratories, with six-foot-long drafting tables. Here students are provided with over 60 square feet of working space to work on land and city design problems and architecture.

Other features include lecture, seminar and graduate study rooms. "Virtually every room is being used every hour of the day," said Miles Boylan, director of urban planning and landscaping.

PARADE WATCHERS--The two million persons who watched the parade in person used every conceivable method for obtaining a good view. Some stood on ladders and bleachers; others on scaffolding.

Bumble Fund Hits Ban

RICHMOND, VA. (P)—The Beadle Bumble Fund, namesake of the character in "Oliver Twist" who called the law "a ass - a idiot," has buzzed off against book burners.

It acted immediately after the Hanover County School Board this week ordered Miss Harper Lee's novel, "To Kill a Mockingbird," removed from all school libraries.

An immoral work, the school ruled.

"An asinine performance," said James Jackson Kilpatrick, Kilpatrick, editor of the Richmond News-Leader, organized the Beadle Bumble Fund "with the sole object of redressing the stupidities of public officials."

He announced that the fund would purchase and mail copies of Miss Lee's novel, winner of a Pulitzer Prize in 1961, to the first 50 pupils of Hanover County's Lee-Davis High School who write requests for it.

The board chairman, B.W. Sadler, said "To Kill a Mockingbird" was not on the list of books approved by the state book committee for supplemental reading.

"We would make a mockery of the state committee if we disregard their disapproval of books," he said.

"A more moral novel scarcely could be imagined," said Kilpatrick.

The book deals with the efforts of a white lawyer to obtain justice for a Negro in a rape trial in Alabama.

The fund was organized in 1959 and straightaway went to the financial rescue of a pedestrian. The man started to cross a street on a "walk" light but found the intersection blocked by a car whose driver had stopped to chat with a friend.

So he stepped on the fender and walked across the hood. The driver turned out to be an off-duty policeman. The agile pedestrian was fined for malicious mischief.

The fund also paid the fine of a Charlottesville painter who ran afoul of a blue law. He was convicted of painting parking guidelines on a supermarket lot on Sunday - the only daylight time when the lot wasn't occupied.

Whenever the fund supports what it considers a deserving cause, the modest kitty is quickly replenished, Kilpatrick said.

And from the tone of the fund's mail, it appears that some people find it a welcome outlet for a bit of armchair anarchy.

University, East Lansing Bicker Over Highway Cost

The University believes that the cross-campus highway would be of no benefit to it, James H. Denison, assistant to the president, said Thursday.

The proposed relocation of route M-43 from Grand River Avenue to a six-lane divided highway bisecting the campus parallel to the Grand Trunk and Western Railroad tracks was discussed at an open hearing at East Lansing High School Wednesday night.

The University's position was voiced by Secretary Jack Breslin. East Lansing City Manager John M. Patriarche spoke for the City Council.

"We feel this highway would be a barrier across the campus," Denison said.

The University has requested that the highway be depressed below ground level to allow for the construction of overpasses carrying extensions of Bogue Street and Red Cedar Road above the highway route.

"The change in design... to a depressed roadway has not materially assisted the movement of traffic. It has materially increased the cost," Patriarche said.

"The proposed design," he added, "is more expensive for the city without providing any additional benefit to the city. The cost of the proposal within the city of East Lansing is estimated at $3,930,100," he said.

"The city's share of this project is eight and three quarters per cent or $344,000."

"We therefore request," said Patriarche, "that the cost of the project be reduced so the city's share is reduced, or that other governmental agencies benefiting from the project be requested to participate in the financing to reduce the city's share.

"The University believes the proposed M-43 relocation would carry local and not University traffic," Denison said.

"Actually, businesses in Lansing would benefit more from the proposed highway than would the University," he said.

Several members of the East Lansing City Council have said the University should pay a portion of the costs because of the increased amount of traffic it has brought and will bring to the East Lansing area.

In addition, East Lansing Mayor Gordon L. Thomas, professor of speech, has objected to the University's charging $160,000 for right of way fees as part of the cost of the project.

"We have no objection to the highway," Denison said, "but we feel we should be paid for the use of the right of way."

Some Impact Seen From Peace Efforts

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Special Correspondent

There has been just the merest whisper of a hint that President Johnson's diplomatic peace offensive has had some impact in North Viet Nam.

This does not necessarily mean that peace is about to break out. Indeed, things might get a good deal rougher in Indochina before long. But in the long run, the peace drive may prove to have had a salutary effect.

Hanoi propaganda has furiously denounced the U.S. moves as a hoax to permit Americans to negotiate from strength. Yet the propaganda now suggests a distinction, however slight, between North Vietnamese demands and those of the Viet Cong's political organization, the National Liberation Front.

There is no indication yet that this distinction is sharp enough to permit agreement on negotiations. But with renewed Soviet interest in taking a hand in the situation, it represents something which might eventually be developed.

On Dec. 29, when Ho Chi Minh responded to the appeal of Pope Paul VI for peace efforts, he repeated the four-point demands of North Viet Nam's government. But he left out one phrase which always had been attached before. He said the Americans must "let the Vietnamese people settle their internal affairs themselves," but failed to add the customary line: "In accordance with the program of the National Front for Liberation of South Viet Nam."

By itself, this might have meant little. But with the U.S. diplomatic drive in full swing, the Hanoi paper Nhan Dan a few days ago said that if there were to be a political solution, the United States must acknowledge Hanoi's four points and "stop indefinitely and unconditionally all acts of war against North Viet Nam."

The sentence ended there. It did not add, as it customarily did in other statements, a demand for an end to "aggression in South Viet Nam."

Ordinarily this might not mean much. But the Hanoi article was signed "Observer," a tag used for official party statements. It could represent just the slightest backdown from the all-or-nothing demands of the past.

The United States would not object to having the Viet Cong at talks as observers, or even within a North Vietnamese delegation, but will not recognize the Viet Cong or its front as a political entity or negotiator. That would mean recognizing Viet Cong jurisdiction over a big portion of South Viet Nam which the Communists now hold.

What might develop if the latest peace effort fails may worry not only Hanoi but the Russians as well. The Hanoi paper professed to see in the U.S. drive a sort of ultimatum to North Viet Nam to agree to unconditional negotiations or face expansion of the war.

This seems to worry the Russians. The leaders, under the watchful eye of conservative elements and much of the military brass, are committed to an internal economic development program. But there seems to be among some top Soviet elements a feeling if not a conviction, that the U.S.S.R. could become embroiled in conflict growing out of Asian events, and that thus Moscow should concentrate efforts and wealth on fullest preparation for any eventuality.

The fact that U.S. planes attacked Soviet surface to air missile sites in North Viet Nam at will could lead to questioning in Moscow about whether the regime is as prepared as it might be.

As the Viet Nam war escalates, so does the danger. By March 29, when the Soviet leadership must go before a party congress with its program, the Viet Nam situation could be frightening. The Soviet leaders could be faced with an internal quarrel and a crisis threatening their political scalps.

Alexander N. Shelepin, the Soviet party's No. 2 man, has been assigned to a Hanoi mission, perhaps to explore for a way out of burgeoning Soviet difficulties in Asia. Since Hanoi now depends heavily on Soviet economic and military help, Shelepin's word would carry much weight.

Hotel Fire

Grim said people were bunched by a fire escape and that he helped eight or 10 get out.

Then, Grim said, a man came running down the hall afire.

"All you could see was his face. All the rest was flames. It was awful. I saw firemen there and I yelled at them: 'Douse this guy. He's burning.'"

Freiermuth said the fire appeared to start about 4:30 p.m. in a second-floor bathroom in which one of the dead was found.

Dilts said a tenant had entered the hotel "pretty drunk" about 4 a.m. and insisted he was going to take a bath. He said the tenant woke up other tenants to ask for a smoke.

"The open court from the second to the fourth floor acted like a flue to spread the fire," said Freiermuth. Most of the interior burned out and large part of the roof collapsed. A tavern occupied one ground-floor section. Another business section was vacant.

Samuel Goldberg, official of a real estate firm that operates the property for a trust fund owner, estimated loss at $100,000.

RESIDENTS PRESENT PETITION

Want Progressive Stoplights

The Michigan Highway Dept. is conducting a study which may bring a progressive traffic light system to M-78 (Saginaw Street) in East Lansing.

Progressive traffic lights are designed to move traffic at a designated speed so that a motorist can travel through the section of highway without stopping.

Traffic signals on the road have been requested by both East Lansing residents and the East Lansing Traffic Commission.

Last June four MSU students were killed in a two car collision at Abbott Road and M-78. The car in which the students were riding was hit while attempting to make a left turn from M-78.

East Lansing Traffic Commission recommended the highway department study at its meeting last Tuesday.

The study will be made on M-78 from Grand River Avenue to Hagadorn Road.

If the highway department adopted the M-78 signal system, it could be in effect by next spring.

Two weeks ago petitions containing 512 signatures were filed with the State Highway Dept.

The petitions ask for a traffic signal at the Hagadorn Road and Harrison Road crossings, and for a speed reduction along the section presently designated for 50 miles per hour to help ease traffic volume.

The petitions, presented by Howard P. Stoddard of East Lansing, had been circulating since last August, Stoddard said, and are intended to show that residents are concerned with the problem.

He also said he was aware that a Harrison Road signal is already being planned but he hoped it could be installed sooner than planned. Installation of the Harrison Road signal is scheduled for sometime this spring.

The traffic commission is conducting a turning movement study at the Hagadorn-Haslett-M-78 intersection, but have made no plans for the installation of a signal to date.

One of the problems in erecting signals is the periodic high volume of traffic flow, said Lowell J. Doyle, assistant director of the highway department traffic division. One answer to this, he said, could be traffic actuated signals. These are lights which are phased by electrical actuation from approaching cars and are the type currently in use at the Farm and Shaw Lanes intersection at MSU.

"This is very expensive," he said.

Seven deaths have occurred on M-78 in the last two years. East Lansing police say that this is not an unusually high number.

VISTA Reps To Speak

Four representatives of VISTA (Volunteers In Service To America) will be on campus Jan. 31 to Feb. 4. They will be available to speak and show films for any student organization.

VISTA is one phase of the War on Poverty. A domestic Peace Corps, it concentrates on six areas: Indian reservations, migrant camps, rural areas, urban slums, Job Corps camps and mental health.

VISTA volunteers are often after-class teachers. They may explain hygiene, food preparation and mother-child care in slums or work with the tribal council on Indian reservations.

There are no educational requirements for volunteers. All must complete a six-week training period.

Further information on the representatives can be obtained from Rick Hollander, 351-4029.

House To Cite Klan For Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Proceedings for contempt of Congress were initiated Thursday against Imperial Wizard Robert M. Shelton and six other Ku Klux Klan leaders who refused to supply records to the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

A subcommittee voted to cite the seven, who have appeared in its hearings into Klan activities. All declined to produce records for which subpoenas had been issued. They also refused to answer virtually all questions, citing amendments to the Constitution.

The subcommittee action was announced by Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., at the end of a luncheon recess which followed testimony from a committee investigator that Klansmen were receiving and distributing rifles in case lots in Louisiana during recent years.

Willis also heads the full committee, which must pass on the subcommittee contempt action. Then approval by the House itself is required to refer the citations to the Justice Department for possible prosecution.

Contempt of Congress is punishable by a maximum of a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Shelton, imperial wizard of the United Klans of America, has headquarters at Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Others against whom contempt citations were voted by the subcommittee are:

Robert E. Scoggin, grand dragon of South Carolina.

Calvin F. Craig, grand dragon of Georgia.

Marshall R. Kornegay, grand dragon of Virginia.

George F. Dorsett, imperial kludd or chaplain of the Klan Real of North Carolina.

Robert Hudgins, imperial kludd of North Carolina.

Aides indicated the subcommittee action was based on failure to produce records and not upon the witnesses' refusal to answer questions on constitutional grounds.

Willis announced that the group was canceling outstanding subpoenas for two of the men for whom citations were recommended, indicating that it is not interested in trying to obtain more testimony from them. The two are Shelton and Craig.

At Thursday's hearing, the committee ran into a wall of silence, buttressed with Fifth Amendment pleas, when it questioned men from the area of Bogalusa, La., about reported movement of rifles and other weapons.

But Donald T. Appell, chief investigator for the committee, told of finding records of extensive purchases from Howard M. Lee, whom he described as a holder of a firearms dealer's license who went to jail for violating the federal firearms control law requiring keeping of accurate records.

Appell said Eric Peterson, 41, of Sun, La., leader of a Klan Klavern, bought 25 rifles and 700 rounds of ammunition from Lee and distributed the rifles to members of the "wrecking crews" of the Klan in St. Tammany Parish, La.

The investigator said also James M. Ellis Jr., head of a Klan unit in Bogalusa, worked with Lee in the distribution of about four cases of 6.5 caliber Italian rifles, mostly to Klansmen.

Peterson, owner of a barge line, the Pearl River Towing Co., and Ellis, operator of an automobile repair shop in Bogalusa, refused to answer questions after identifying themselves.

Witnesses refused to tell the committee what the duties of "wrecking crews" were.

Randle Cozell Pounds of Bogalusa repeatedly invoked the Fifth Amendment as Appell asked whether he was a member of such a crew.

Appell said Pounds engaged in various acts of harassment and violence, principally against Negroes and civil rights workers.
