Student Freedom Report In Steering Committee

Would Relax Rules, Give Senior Power

BY ANDREW MOLLISON State News Staff Writer

The Steering Committee of the Academic Council is now considering a 42-page report on the University's rules and policies which affect students' academic freedom.

The report, which sums up the results of six months of research by the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs, suggests ways in which "maximum freedom and minimum order" can be maintained in the classroom, the dormitory and in students' on and off campus

See text of Faculty Committee Report on p. 4.

It includes the following recommendations:

-- Creation of the position of "ombudsman," a senior faculty member with wide powers to help students cut red tape and settle grievances, complaints and requests.

--Further study of classroom instruction by the Faculty Committee because "many student complaints about inferior classroom instruction are valid, and. . . the University cannot afford to ignore

--Revamping of the State News structure, so that a studentfaculty advisory board appointed by President Hannah and the Student Board of Associated Students of MSU would replace the present student-faculty-administration Board of Student Publications. ## Freedom Report Is Sound

TWO WEEKS AGO, the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs delivered to the Academic Council its report on the rights and freedoms of students.

The report is a sound and workable guide for academic freedom on this campus. Its contents read like a constitution. Among its contents are a Bill of Student Rights. The ideas and words set forth are high sounding, idealistic goals for the university community

IT'S SUCCESS IN achieving academic rights and freedoms for students will depend on the interpretation given the report by the persons in key positions recommended by the report.

Basically, the report demands that all governing groups and policy making bodies review their rules and policies to conform with the report's guides. Moreover, students can be held accountable for only those rules, regulations and policies stated in ANY STUDENT WHO feels a rule or policy contradicts the guides is free to challenge the rule before what would be, in effect, the University's Supreme Court, the Student-Faculty Judiciary. This body will be charged with determining whether the regulation conforms with the guides.

This judicial committee, which is the pinnacle of a judicial process starting in the living units, is a step forward in the due process policy concerning students and regulations. In the past the highest court of appeals that a student could appear before, the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs, had no student representation

WHAT'S MORE, A STUDENT need not break a rule to challenge it, as is the case in civil law. A rule, regulation, or policy may be challenged at any time if a student believes it does not conform to the guidelines for academic freedom set down in the report.

Success of this judicial process will be achieved only if men friendly to the rights and freedoms of students are appointed to this student faculty committee. Guides to students' freedoms and rights are so general that strict interpretation by a strict judiciary could actually limit those freedoms. Charged with appointing faculmembers is President Hannah; ASMSU will appoint the students.

TO CUT THROUGH red-tape, the report recommends that the office of ombudsman be created. To be manned by a senior faculty member appointed by President Hannah, the office would act as an informal mediator to "establish simple, orderly procedures for receiving requests, complaints, and grievances of students." Patterned after a similiar office in Sweden, the ombudsman could serve well with troubles with the university.

Again, however, the success of the recommendation will hinge on the man named to the position. The ombudsman's guidelines list only his functions. They do not specify the degree of willingness he should have to fight for the rights and freedoms of students. To be successful, the office must be manned by a person willing to do this fighting. And so it goes with other offices and committees the report would create.

SINCE THE SUCCESS of the report hinges so much on the men feel much more comfortable if their nomination rested with the Academic Council, rather than President Hannah. To date, the council has been more liberal than the administration in this area of academic freedom for students. President Hannah, then, would have approval rights on the council's nomination.

Merely having rules is not enough. The Faculty Committee recommends that a handbook be made available listing all current rules and regulations of the University. Members of the committee have also suggested that the book contain other rights of students, such as with the campus police. Implementation of this recommendation is a must.

OVERALL, THE REPORT pleases us. With minor changes, we hope it is approved. The free structure it molds is needed.

We worry, however, about the practical implementation and success the report's recommendations will yield because of the emphasis placed on interpretation.

If adopted, the guidelines have the potential of insuring and expanding academic freedom for students. On the other hand, unjust interpretation of broad wording could actually hamper that freedom. We hope the latter will not happen.

(Since rules concerning student publications have been a prime controversy in recent months, we will reserve comment on the publications area of the report for a separate editorial in the future.)

The Editors

Editors Express Dissent

A CONSENSUS is a rare birdon college campuses. Youthful idealism and strong opinions breed an atmosphere of dissent among college students. And this atmosphere is especially strong in a college newspaper office.

The editor-in-chief and his editorial board (managing editor, campus editor, sports editor, executive reporter and editorial editor) determine editorial policy. But these editors seldom agree unanimously on

IN THE PAST, any staff member who held an opinion contrary to that expressed in an editorial had the opportunity to express his dissent in a signed column. Beginning this term, we are carrying this a step

EDITORIALS WHICH HAVE the consent of all members of the editorial board will be signed "the editors." But when one of the editors disagrees with an editorial, his name will be listed at the end of the editorial as dissenting, and he will write a signed column expressing his dis-

Though editorials are not signed on most newspapers, we think it best that a college newspaper clearly indicate which editors favor and which oppose an editorial, and that dissenting opinions be printed.

A COLLEGE NEWSPAPER has the function of intellectually stimulating the academic community. This new system will help the State News fulfill this function.

Committee's Academic Freedom Report

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the Faculty Committee On Student Affairs' report on Academic Freedom for Students at Michigan State University.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Committee is indebted to many members of the academic community who offered helpful suggestions and advice. We wish to thank the graduate and undergraduate men and women who assisted the sub-committees while the study was in progress. Special mention should be made of the many weeks of dedicated work contributed by Donald V. Adams, Louis F. Hekhuis, James M. Elliott, Michael E. Kaelke, M.L. Upcraft, John McQuitty, Webb Martin, Frances Frei, Andrew Kramer, and Gary Steinhardt.

INTRODUCTION

The Faculty Committee on Student Affairs prepared this report after an extensive and intensive review and study of the University's rules and structures relating to academic freedom for students. The report recommends guidelines which represent the Committee's attempt to identify rights and duties of students in regard to conduct, academic pursuits, the keeping of records, and publications. It proposes structures and procedures for the formulation of regulations governing student conduct, for the interpretation and amendment of the guidelines, for the adjudication of student disciplinary cases, and for channeling to the faculty and administration student complaints and concerns in the academic area. The report also contains a section of general recommendations on a number of important subjects.

The Committee did not complete some of the specific tasks it had scheduled for itself. Although a careful study was made of the considerable literature on academic freedom for students, lack of time prevented us from presenting a history and analysis of recent developments here and on other campuses. Lack of time also prevented adequate study of many matters in the academic area. For example, we did not complete our study of classroom instruction; nor did we review and study rules and structures of departments and colleges, or the rules and procedures relating to student education which appear in the University catalog. The Committee plans to continue its study of classroom instruction in the fall, and suggests that officials, committees, departments, and colleges evaluate all rules and structures relating to academic freedom for students which are properly their concern or for which they are responsible.

We wish to caution against one possible kind of misinterpretation of our recommendations. In some respects, what we propose represents major changes in present policies, structures, and procedures. But that is not true of all of our proposals. In some important respects, our recommendations simply make explicit what has long been understood and practiced at Michigan State University.

Although the Committee's study centered on academic freedom for students, we made no attempt to formulate a general and abstract definition of that term, or to explain it in an interpretive essay. Instead we have directed our energies to the formulation of an operational definition and concrete application of the concept. This report identifies rights and duties of students and provides for them a carefully prescribed system of substantive and procedural due process; and we submit these guidelines, structures, and procedures as a testament of the Committee's concept of academic freedom for students.

ON STUDENT RIGHTS AND DUTIES AT MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

The University is an institution which serves a community of scholars whose members include its faculty, students, and administrators. The basic purposes of this community and the University are the enlargement, dissemination, and application of knowledge. The most basic necessity for the achievement of these purposes is freedom of expression and communication. Without this freedom, effective sifting and testing of ideas ceases and research, teaching, and learning are stifled. Since knowledge is as broad and diverse as life itself, the need for freedom is equally broad. Yet absolute freedom in all aspects of life means anarchy, just as absolute order means tyranny. Both anarchy and tyranny are antithetical to the purposes and necessities of the academic community and the University. Therefore, the academic community and the University always must strive to strike that balance between maximum freedom and necessary order which best promotes their basic purposes by providing the environment most conducive to the many-faceted activities of research, teaching, and learning.

Each right of an individual places a reciprocal duty upon others: the duty to permit the individual to exercise the right. The student, as a member of the academic community, has both rights and duties. Within that community, the student's most essential right is the right to learn. The academic community and the University have a duty to provide for the student those protections, opportunities, and environment which best promotes the learning process in all its aspects. The student, in turn, has duties to his fellow members of the academic community and to the University--the most important of which is to refrain from interference with those rights that promote the essential purposes and processes of the academic community and the University.

The academic community and the University cherish many values, modes of thought, and standards of behavior that are better taught by example, persuasion, social pressure, and rewards than by the threat of penalties. Regulations governing the activites and conduct of student groups and individual students should not be comprehensive codes of desirable conduct; rather, they should be limited to the prescription of procedures to meet the practical, routine necessities of a complex community and to the prohibition or limitation of acts which cannot be tolerated because they seriously interfere with the basic purposes, necessities, and processes of the academic community and the University, or because they deny the essential rights of other members of that community or the University.

The student is not only a member of the academic community; he is also a citizen of the larger society. As a citizen, he retains those rights, protections, and guarantees of fair treatment which are held by all citizens, and neither the academic community nor the University may deny them to him. The enforcement of the student's duties to the larger society, however, is the responsibility of the authorities duly established for that purpose and not that of the academic community or the University.

To protect student rights and to facilitate the definition of student duties at Michigan State University, the following guidelines are established:

1. All regulations shall undertake the best possible reconciliation of the principles of maximum freedom and necessary

2. There shall be no regulation unless there is a demonstrable need for it which is reasonably related to the basic purposes and necessities of the academic community and the University as recognized herein.

3. To the maximum extent feasible, students shall participate in formulating and revising regulations governing stu-

6. Regulations dealing with conflicting rights shall, to the maximum extent feasible, permit reasonable scope for the exercise of each right under appropriate circumstances of time, place, and means.

7. Regulations relating to communication of ideas shall encourage the competition of ideas.

8. Procedures and penalties for the violation of regulations shall be designed for guidance or correction of behavior rather than for retribution.

9. Penalties shall be commensurate with the seriousness of the offense. Repeated violations may justify increasingly severe penalties.

10. There shall be clearly defined channels and procedures for the appeal and review of:

a. The finding of guilt in an alleged violation of a regulation. b. The reasonableness, under the circumstances, of the penalty imposed for a specific violation.

c. The substance of a regulation which is alleged to be inconsistent with these guidelines. d. The fairness of the procedures followed in the original adjudication. 11. Every regulation shall specify to whom it applies and ~ whether responsibility for compliance lies with individuals, with groups, or with both.

ON STUDENT RECORDS AT MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Achieving educational goals, providing direction to students, and extending service to society demand that the University keep records. All policies and practices concerning records shall be based on respect for the privacy of the individual student. Because of the professional and legal responsibilities involved, record keeping must be delegated only to responsible persons.

To protect the privacy of the student and to facilitate the definition of responsible policies and practices relative to student records, the following guidelines are established:

1. No record shall be made or retained unless there is a demonstrable need for it which is reasonable related to the basic purposes and necessities of the University and the academic community.

2. The University shall not make or retain records of a student's religious or political beliefs.

3. No record shall be kept without proper authorization, and each record shall identify the source of authorization. 4. Authorization for keeping a record shall specify for what purpose the information may be used and who may have access to it. The need to know must be demonstrated before access may be had to a record.

5. A student shall have the right to inspect the official transcript of his own academic record. He shall also have the right to inspect reports and evaluations of his conduct, except letters of recommendation and similar evaluations which are properly prepared on a confidential basis.

6. All policies and practices dealing with the acquisition of information for records shall be formulated with due regard for the student's right of privacy.

7. Every record containing information about a student's character shall state when the information was acquired and the name and position of the person who gave it. 8. Evaluation of students shall be permitted or required only by persons who are qualified to make the evaluation 9. All persons who handle confidential records shall be instructed in the confidential nature of such information and in their responsibilities regarding it. 10. No record of a student's offenses against University regulations shall be preserved beyond the student's gradu-

11. Duplication of records shall be kept at a minimum. 12. All policies relating to the keeping of records shall be brief, clear, and specific.

13. All policies governing the maintenance and release of records shall be made public in an appropriate manner.

ON ACADEMIC RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILTIES OF STUDENTS

The freedom and effectiveness of the educational process depend upon the provision of appropriate conditions and opportunities for learning in the classroom. The responsibility to secure, respect, and protect such opportunities and conditions is shared by the academic community and the University. The primacy of the faculty's role, functions, and responsibilities and its essentiality in the educational process must be recognized. The core of the University's purpose, its intellectual content and integrity, is expressed by

It is the instructor's role to encourage free discussion, inquiry, and expression among his students in their quest for knowledge. He should hold before them the best scholarly standards of his discipline. By rigorous self scrutiny, by fairness and courtesy, he should conduct himself in keeping with the dignity of his profession. He should adhere closely to his proper role as intellectual guide and counselor. He should foster honest academic conduct and evaluate his students fairly and accurately. He should respect the confidential nature of the relationship between instructor and student. He should avoid exploitation of students for private advantage and should acknowledge significant assistance from them. He should protect students' rights as defined herein.

The establishment and maintenance of the proper classroom relationship between instructor and student are fundamental to the University's function, and require both instructor and student to recognize those rights and responsibilities which derive from it. The relationship between instructor and student as individuals should be founded on mutual respect and understanding; it assumes a common dedication to the educational process. If problems arise from these relationships, whether personal or related to instructional materials and methods, both student and instructor should attempt to resolve them in informal, direct discussions as between wellintentioned, reasonable persons.

To identify and define the academic rights and responsibilities of students at Michigan State University, the following guidelines are established:

The Responsibility of the Faculty

1. Faculty shall have final authority and responsibility for course content, classroom procedure, and grading.

The Responsibility of the Student

2. The student is responsible for learning the content of a course of study according to standards of performance established by the faculty.

3. The student's conduct in the classroom shall be conducive to the learning process for all concerned.

The Protection of the Student's Rights

4. The student shall be free to take reasoned exception to data and views offered in the classroom, and to reserve judgment about matters of opinion, without fear of penalty. 5. The student has a right to competent and informed classroom instruction.

6. The student has a right to fair and competent academic evaluation.

7. The student has a right to competent and informed academic advice.

8. The student has a right to protection against improper disclosure of information concerning his grades, views, beliefs, political associations, or character, which an instructor acquires in the course of the academic relationship.

9. The student has a right to accurate and clearly stated information which enables him to determine: a. The general qualifications for establishing and maintaining an acceptable academic standing. b. His own academic relationship with the University and any special conditions which apply. c. The graduation requirements for his particular curriculum and major.

10. The student has a right to be governed by educationally justifiable academic regulations.

11. To effect the rights identified and defined in the preceding guidelines, students shall have channels for communicating to the faculty and administration their concerns and recommendations relation to courses, systems of grading, methods of instruction, programs of study, and other matters pertaining to their education.

THE STUDENT-FACULTY COMMITTEE ON ACADEMIC RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF STUDENTS

At present there is no duly established student-faculty body on the campus which is authorized to handle student complaints relating to courses, systems of grading, methods of instruction, and the like. If the guidelines on the academic rights and responsibilities of students are approved, a structure must be created to implement them (see guideline 11 under Academic Rights and Responsibilities of Students).

It is recommended that there be established a Student-Faculty Committee on Academic Rights and Responsibilities of Students. Its function shall be:

1. To provide a channel to the faculty and the administration for student complaints and recommendations relating to courses, systems of grading, methods of instruction, programs of study, and other student interests in the academic

2. To study problems relating to the academic rights and responsibilities of students referred to it by the Provost, Ombudsman, Faculty, or other members of the academic community, and to make recommendations regarding such problems to the Provost.

3. This Committee shall not have the authority to overrule the judgment of an individual instructor, department chairman, dean or other academic administrator, but shall have the responsibility to accept or reject individual student requests for a hearing concerning alleged violations of student rights in the academic area. Recommendations resulting from such hearing shall be referred to the appropriate academic officer.

Composition

The Committee shall be composed as follows:

a. Five students appointed by the Board, ASMSU. b. Five faculty members selected by the President from a slate nominated by the Committee on Committees. c. One member of the Provost's staff who shall serve as secretary without a vote.

JUDICIAL PROCESS

I. Introduction

The basic fundamentals of fair play in the adjudication of student violations or student complaints derives from

Article VIII of the Bylaws of the Michigan State University Board of Trustees. This Article states:

"It is the policy of the Board that the President shall develop a program, structured along the fundamentals of basic due process, for the hearing and resolving of important, significant, and serious student complaints."

In the interest of fair play, any student accused of violating a student regulation has the opportunity of appearing before one or more members of a duly constituted judicial body. All such bodies shall adhere to the basic fundamentals of due process as listed below.

Due Process

The following principles are enunciated for the guidance and direction of all bodies hearing students accused of violating regulations.

1. The student shall be notified by an appropriate University official that he is accused of violating a regulation. 2. The student shall be notified that he may elect one of three courses of action.

a. The student may admit the alleged violation and request, in writing, that the administrative officer take whatever action seems appropriate. Should the student elect this course of action he shall be notified that he is entitled to appeal the administrator's decision to the Student-Faculty Judiciary.

b. The student may admit the alleged violation, and 1 request a hearing before the appropriate judicial body.

c. The student may deny the alleged violation, in which case the administrative officer shall refer him to the appropriate judicial body.

3. At least 72 hours prior to the hearing the student shall be entitled to the following:

a. Written notification of the time and place of the b. A written statement of the charges of sufficient particularity so that the student may prepare his defense. c. Written notification of the names of the witnesses who are directly responsible for having reported the alleged violation to the judicial body, or, if there are not such witnesses, written notification of how the alleged violation came to the body's attention.

4. The student shall be entitled to appear in person and present his defense to the judicial body, and may call witnesses in his behalf. The student may also elect not to appear before the judicial body. Should he elect not to appear, the hearing shall be held in his absence.

5. The student shall be entitled to be accompanied by coun-

6. The student or his counsel shall be entitled to ask questions of the judicial body or of any witnesses. 7. The student shall be entitled to refuse to answer ques-

8. The student shall be entitled to an expeditious hearing of his case. 9. The student shall be entitled to an explanation of the reasons for any decision rendered against him. 10. The student shall be notified of his right to appeal the decision of the judicial body. Should the student appeal, any action assessed by the judicial body shall be held in suspense until acted upon by a higher body.

The above shall serve as general guidelines with respect to the hearing of students accused of violating regulations. The implementation of the guidelines shall be left to the several duly constituted judicial bodies.

II. Judicial Structure

A. LIVING UNIT JUDICIARIES

Each fraternity, sorority, cooperative, or residence hall shall establish a judiciary unless it shall, by majority vote, waive this responsibility and assign it to its respective governing group. 1. Composition: The members of the judiciary shall be elected by the members of the living unit according to procedures established by its constitution. 2. Original Jurisdiction: A living unit judiciary shall have original jurisdiction over its-members in the following areas: a. House and Hall Rules: Living unit judiciaries shall hear cases of students accused of violating regulations established by the hall or house. b. Major Governing Group Regulations: Living unit judiciaries shall hear cases of students accused of violating regulations specific to all residences in a major governing

c. All-University Regulations: A living unit judiciary shall hear cases of students accused of violating other regulations when such cases shall be referred to it. Such referral may be made by a higher judicial body or by the Office of the Dean of Students, Living unit judiciaries shall also have original jurisdiction over violations of regulations governing women's hours and sign-out procedures.

3. Non-members: Cases involving students accused of violating regulations of a living unit of which they are not members shall be heard by the All-University Student Ju-

4. Referral of Cases: Cases involving alleged violations of regulations under the jurisdiction of a living unit judicary shall be referred to that judiciary by the administrative officer of the unit. A living unit judiciary may waive jurisdiction over any case and refer it to the All-University Student Judiciary.

5. Appeals: If a student is heard by a living unit judiciary and is not satisfied with the decision he may appeal that decision to the All-University Student Judiciary. The All-University Student Judiciary may, after reviewing the case, decide as follows:

a. There are sufficient reasons for another hearing. In this case the All-University Student Judiciary will follow its regular hearing procedures.

b. There are not sufficient reasons for another hearing. In this case the decision of the living unit judiciary shall stand, unless the student appeals to the Student-Faculty

6. Counsel: Any counsel accompanying a student before a living unit judiciary must be a member of the faculty, staff, or the student body of the University. 7. Decisions: After hearing a case, a living unit judiciary may decide as follows: a. Not Guilty. No violation of a regulation has been

b. Guilty. A violation of a regulation has been proved. In this case, the living unit judiciary may select from the following penalties: 1.) Warning: An official written reprimand.

2.) Social Probation: This probation shall require the student to be in a specified place between specified hours for a specified length of time; such specifications to be designated by the living unit judiciary. In no case shall . the probation exceed ten days.

B. GOVERNING GROUP JUDICIARIES

The following major governing groups shall have judicial responsibility in cases involving both individual and group violations:

- 1. Men's Hall Association.
- 2. Women's Inter-residence Council.
- 3. Inter-fraternity Council. 4. Pan Hellenic Council.
- 5. Inter-cooperative Council.

Individuals The major governing groups shall delegate the responsibility of adjudicating individual student violations to their respective units, unless such units, by a majority vote, waive this responsibility and request that the major governing group maintain a hearing body for individual violations. Should a major governing group maintain such a judiciary, it shall follow the procedures and policies outlined for living unit judiciaries.

Groups

Each major governing group shall be responsible for the adjudication of cases involving violations of a regulation by any student organization under its jurisdiction.

Procedures for the adjudication of such cases shall be determined by each major governing group and shall be consistent with the guidelines governing due process. All appeals from this body shall be directed to the All-University Student Judiciary.

C. ALL-UNIVERSITY STUDENT JUDICIARY

The Constitution of the Associated Students of Michigan State University establishes an All-University Student Judiciary. The Judiciary is advised by an administrative officer appointed by the Vice President of Student Affairs.

1. Composition: The membership of the All-University Judiciary shall be determined according to procedures established by the Constitution of the Associated Students of Michigan State University.

2. Jurisdiction: The All-University Student Judiciary shall have jurisdiction in the following areas: a. Appeals: The All-University Student Judiciary shall consider appeals from living unit judiciaries. The student may submit an appeal in writing to the Chief Justice of the Judiciary indicating the reasons for appealing the decision. The Judiciary may then request all evidence upon which the previous decision was made. On the basis of this evidence and the student's written statement the Judiciary shall decide whether there are, or are not, sufficient reasons for another hearing. If the Judiciary decides to hear the case it shall follow its regular procedures. If the Judiciary decides not to hear the case, the decision of the living unit judiciary shall stand unless appealed to the Student-Faculty Judiciary.

b. Original Jurisdiction: The Judiciary shall have original jursidiction over:

1.) Alleged violations of regulations under the jurisdiction of living unit judiciaries if the student violating the regulation is not a member of the living unit in which the violation allegedly occurred.

2.) Alleged violations of other regulations when such cases shall be referred to it by the Office of the Dean of Students, a living unit judiciary, or the Student-Faculty

3.) Alleged violations of regulations specific to an organization registered with Associated Students, Michigan State University. 4.) Alleged violations of the Associated Students Constitution or Student Board action.

5.) The constitutionality of Student Board decisions. 6.) The constitutionality of any action taken by the chief officer of the Associated Students Michigan State University Cabinet.

7.) The constitutional conflicts between any campus organizations and/or major governing groups.

8.) The constitutionality of any act taken by a student organization or governing group.

3. Appeals: If a student is heard by the Judiciary and is not satisfied with the decision, he may appeal the decision to the Student-Faculty Judiciary. The Student-Faculty Judiciary may, after reviewing the case, decide as follows:

a. There are sufficient reasons for another hearing. In this case the Judiciary shall follow its regular procedures. b. There are not sufficient reasons for another hearing. In this case the decision of the Judiciary shall stand unless appealed to the Vice President for Student Affairs. 4. Counsel: The Judiciary shall implement the guidelines established for due process in hearings except that counsel accompanying the student must be a member of the faculty, staff, or student body of the University.

5. Decisions: After hearing a case the Judiciary may decide as follows: a. Not Guilty: No violation of a regulation has been

b. Guilty: A violation of a regulation has been proved. In this case the Judiciary may select from the following penalties:

1.) Warning: An official written reprimand.

2.) Warning Probation: A probation indicating that further violations of regulations shall result in more severe disciplinary action. This probation shall be imposed for a specific period of time and the student shall be automatically removed from probation when the imposed period expires.

3.) Disciplinary Probation: A probation indicating that further violations may result in suspension. In addition, the Judiciary may notify the student's parents of his probationary status, and may withdraw any or all of the following privileges:

a.) The operation of an automobile on campus. b.) The holding of an office in a campus organization. c.) The representation of the University in any inter-University events.

This probation shall be imposed for a specific period of time, and the student shall automatically be removed from probation when the imposed time limit expires. 4.) Suspension: The student shall be suspended from the University for a definite or indefinite period of time.

D. STUDENT-FACULTY JUDICIARY

A Student-Faculty Judiciary shall be established.

1. Composition: The Judiciary shall be made up as follows: a. Four students appointed by the Student Board. Initially, two shall be juniors and two shall be seniors. Subsequently, two juniors shall be appointed each year and shall serve for a two year period.

b. Seven members of the faculty appointed by the President. A slate of faculty shall be submitted to the President by the Committee on Committees in accordance with the procedures established by the Academic Council. Faculty shall serve for a period of three years. Initially, three faculty shall be appointed for three years, three for two years and one for one year. c. The Vice President for Student Affairs shall appoint one member who shall serve ex-officio with no vote. This person shall serve as secretary to the Judiciary. 2. Jurisdiction: The Student-Faculty Judiciary shall have jurisdiction in the following areas: a. Appeals: The Judiciary shall consider appeals from students or student groups who have appeared or who have asked to appear before lower judicial bodies, or from students who are appealing administrative decisions of a disciplinary nature. 1.) In the case of an individual, the student must submit an appeal in writing to the chairman of the Judiciary, indicating the reasons for his appeal. The chairman shall then request all evidence upon which the previous decision was made. The Judiciary, upon reviewing the evidence, together with the student's written statement, shall decide whether there are, or are not, sufficient reasons for another hearing.

The Judiciary may direct a lower body to hear or rehear the case. If the Judiciary decides to hear the case, it shall follow its regular procedures. If the Judiciary decides not to hear the case the decision of the lower body is final unless appealed to the Vice President for Student Affairs.

2.) In the case of an appeal from a student group, the same procedure is followed, except that a designated representative of the group shall file the appeal. b. Original Jurisdiction: The Judiciary shall have original jurisdiction over: 1.) Cases involving the alleged violations of regulations which are referred to the Judiciary by the Office of the Dean of Students. 2.) Cases involving academic dishonesty.

3.) Cases involving request for readmission after a student has been suspended or has been held from readmission by an adminstrative officer.

3. Appeals: All decisions of the Judiciary with respect to individual and group actions are final unless appealed to the Vice President for Student Affairs.

4. Counsel: The student has a right to be accompanied by legal counsel. 5. Decisions: After hearing a case the Judiciary may decide as follows: a. Not Guilty: No violation of regulations has been

b. Guilty: A violation of a regulation has been proved. In this case the Judiciary may select from the following

1.) Warning: An official written reprimand.

2.) Warning Probation: A probation indicating that further violations of regulations shall result in more severe disciplinary action. This probation shall be imposed for a specified period and the student shall be automatically removed from probation when the imposed period expires.

3.) Disciplinary Probation: A probation indicating that further violations may result in suspension. In addition, the Judiciary may notify the student's parents of his probationary status, and may withdraw any or all of the following

ganization.

c.) The representation of the University in any inter-University events.

4.) Suspension: The Judiciary may suspend a student for a definite or indefinite period of time.

5.) Readmission: In cases where the student is applying for readmission the Judiciary may accept or reject this request. 6.) Other: The Judiciary may take other action that may seem appropriate for any given case. 6. The Student-Faculty Judiciary shall review the substance of a regulation or an administrative decision which is alleged to be inconsistent with the guidelines on student rights and duties and student records. The procedure for such review shall be as follows:

a. The student or student group making the allegation shall submit to the Office of the Dean of Students a written statement of the reason for the appeal.

b. The Office of the Dean of Students shall promptly send a copy of the letter to the Chairman of the Student-Faculty Judiciary.

c. Within a reasonable time the Judiciary shall consider the appeal, undertaking such investigation or hearings as it deems appropriate. The Chairman shall send to the Office of the Dean of Students a written statement of the decision and the reasoning behind it.

d. The Office of the Dean of Students shall promptly send to the student or student group who filed the appeal a duplicate copy of the Judiciary's statement. If the decision of the Judiciary is that a regulation or an administrative decision is inconsistent with the guidelines, the Office of the Dean of Students shall promptly make the decision public in an appropriate manner and shall notify the body responsible for the regulation or administrative decision.

e. The Office of the Dean of Students shall keep a file of all decisions for future reference.

III. Implementation

A. GOVERNING GROUP CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION

It is recommended that each of the major governing groups (MHA, WIC, IFC, PHC, OCC, ICC) alter its constitution to provide for judicial bodies described in the section on judicial structures. It is also recommended that the judicial function currently exercised by Associated Women Students (AWS) be transferred to Women's Inter-residence Council and Pan Hellenic Council. AWS shall retain its other responsibilities and shall become a part of ASMSU. As such it shall perform those functions it currently performs, except judicial, and may recommend regulations governing women's affairs through ASMSU.

The current judicial system for women at the living unit level is not now directly related to living unit governments. AWS exists as a separate body, related only in part to either women's hall or sororities and only in part to Women's Inter-residence Council and Pan Hellenic Council. Women's living unit governments and major governing groups would be strengthened by assigning the judicial functions to them. Such a system would more readily tie in with the judicial procedures recommended for the rest of the campus, and provide for a systematized way of handling disciplinary

B. CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION BY STUDENT GOVERNMENT

It is recommended that parts A, B, and C of section II of this document entitled Judicial Process shall not become operative until ASMSU makes the necessary constitutional changes and those changes are approved by a referendum conducted by ASMSU.

Student Government and Regulations Governing Student Conduct

It is recommended that the student government structure remain basically as it is with established governments existing in living units, governing groups, and ASMSU. This structure provides for considerable self-government at living unit levels, and increased participation in University government at higher levels. It is recommended, however, that regulations developed by living units be reviewed by the appropriate governing group. The governing group may forward the regulations, together with recommendations it cares to make, to ASMSU and to the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs for further study. The same shall obtain with governing groups. Regulations recommended by these groups shall be forwarded to ASMSU and to the Faculty Committee. ASMSU and the Faculty Committee shall review the regulations and forward them, together with any recommendations they care to make, to the Vice President for Student Affairs. If both bodies approve the regulations, the Vice President for Student Affairs shall make public his decision regarding them. If ASMSU and the Faculty Committee disagree over the regulations, the Vice President for Student Affairs shall refer them to an ad hoc Conference Committee consisting of two students, appointed by the Chairman of the Board, ASMSU, and two members of the Faculty Committee, appointed by the Chairman. The Conference Committee shall study the points of disagreement and forward its recommendations to ASMSU and to the Faculty Committee. If both bodies accept the recommendations, the Vice President for Student Affairs shall make public his decision regarding them. If either ASMSU or the Faculty Committee reject the recommendations of the Conference Committee, the proposed regulations shall be returned to the originating body with an explanation.

Procedure for Amending and Revising the Guidelines

The guidelines of this report may be amended and revised according to the following procedure:

1. ASMSU or the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs may propose amendments and revisions, or approve amendments and revisions proposed by living unit or group governments, or by not less than one hundred student petitioners.

2. Proposed amendments and revisions approved by ASMSU and the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs shall be presented to the Academic Council by the Chairman of the Faculty

3. Proposed amendments and revisions approved by the Academic Council shall be forwarded to the Board of Trustees, and shall become operative upon Board approval.

4. Proposed amendments and revisions shall not become operative without the approval of ASMSU, the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs, the Academic Council, and the Board of Trustees. If one of these bodies rejects a proposed amendment or revision, it may send an explanation to the body that proposed it.

5. The academic community shall be promptly and appropriately informed of all action taken on proposed amendments and revisions.

THE STATE NEWS AND OTHER STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

University students and faculty, by nature and by obligation, count as most basic the freedom to speak and be heard. The right to express opinions and to communicate ideas--popular or not--has been given high place in the guidelines of this document just as it has so often through the history of scholarship. For the student, who has fewer avenues of expression than faculty members, the campus newspaper can be an important and in some ways unique forum for voicing ideas, criticisms, and concerns as well as for learning the consequences of inaccuracy and irresponsibility. Recognizing this, the Committee has studied the situation of the State News and the general area of student publications with particular

The State News

The student newspaper is a powerful student voice on campus and can be a significant educational tool. We believe it should be known for accurate news reporting, a willingness to probe controversial issues, and the courage to support unpopular viewpoints. It should generate discussions, arouse concerns, and influence faculty, students, and administrators.

The Committee found widely varying opinions among students, faculty, and adminstrators on the caliber, freedom, and function of the State News; but aside from its recent record of improved financial stability and increased circulation, incontestable facts are sparse. Nevertheless, the Committee is convinced that the present organizational structure and assignment of responsibilities has resulted in serious ambiguities. There is a widespread belief--whether justified or not--that the student editorial staff doesn not have final responsibility for the tone and content of the paper. In consequence, the University and its administration are often blamed for mistakes in judgment, factual errors, and controversial editorial positions, although top administrators disclaim responsibility. Therefore, the Committee believes that it is most desirable to adopt an organizational structure and an assignment of responsibilities which will make it clear that the State News is a student newspaper with its tone and content determined by the student editorial staff--with faculty, administration and students who are not staff members providing advice and criticism but not exercising any powers of veto or censorship over news or editorial content. The following guidelines are submitted

1. A board to be known as the State News Advisory Board shall be established and shall consist of the following mem-

Three students appointed by the ASMSU Student Board.

The Vice President for Student Affairs or his designate as Secretary of the Board.

The Staff Advisor of the State News as non-voting ex officio member.

2. The Staff Advisor shall be appointed by the Vice President for Student Affairs on recommendations by the State News Advisory Board. He shall have the responsibility of general supervision of the financial affairs of the State News and of acting as a professional consultant to the editor-in-chief and his staff.

3. The State News Advisory Board and the Staff Advisor shall provide advice, counsel, and criticism to the staff of the State News, but neither shall exercise any veto or censorship over the content of the newspaper.

4. The editor-in-chief of the State News shall be nominated for the following academic year by the incumbent editorial staff, with the nomination ratified or rejected by the State News Advisory Board. The principal staff members for the following academic year shall be nominated by the new editor-in-chief in consultation with the incumbent staff. If any nominee is rejected by the Advisory Board, the editorial staff shall have the obligation to propose a different nominee.

A member of the editorial staff appointed in this manner may be removed only upon the recommendation of a majority of such members of the editorial staff, approved by the State News Advisory Board after a hearing before the Board and a finding by the Board of proper cause for removal. Such removal may be appealed to the Student-Faculty Judiciary.

5. The State News Advisory Board in consultation with the student editorial staff shall clearly specify (1) the authority and the responsibilities of the editor-in-chief and the principal staff members, and (2) the procedures to reconcile disputes and to secure appeal of grievances.

6. Final authority and responsibility for news and editorial content of the State News shall be placed on the student editors. Editorials shall be signed by their authors. It shall be made clear in the State News masthead that the University is not responsible for accuracy of fact or for opinion expressed in

7. Because the State News is an operation now involving substantial annual expenditures, it is appropriate for the University through the State News Advisory Board to exercise a substantial degree of control over the purely business and financial operations of the publication in order to assure solvency and continuity of operations.

Other Student Publications

departments of the University.

It is the belief of the Committee that students should have maximum freedom to express opinions and communicate ideas by writing, publishing, and distributing materials. Student publications, for the purpose of this policy, include

A. Publications of living units and governing groups. B. Publications of an individual student registered at MSU, MSU student organizations, and MSU student groups. C. Student publications sponsored by colleges and

The Committee recommends the following guidelines:

1. Responsibility for editorial or other content, finance, and distribution shall lie with the sponsoring agency, groups, organization, or individual. 2. The University shall not authorize student publications.

3. Every student publication shall identify the sponsoring agency, group, organization, or individual. 4. These guidelines shall apply to all student publications whether distributed free or offered for sale. 5. Every student publication shall have equal access to all established distribution channels on the campus. In addition, the establishment of sales booths or self-service stands for such publications shall be permitted, except in clearly inappropriate places such as classrooms.

6. The University shall neither authorize nor prohibit the solicitation of advertising by any student publication; and the selling of subscriptions by such a publication shall be permitted during reasonable hours.

7. Any regulations necessary to implement the general policy of these guidelines relating to the distribution and selling of student publications on campus shall be recommended by ASMSU and the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs, and approved and enforced by the Vice President for Student Affairs.

GENERAL RECOMMENDATIONS

Orientation of New Students Regarding Their Rights and Duties

The Committee recommends that applicants accepted for admission whether prospective freshmen or transfer students or graduate students, be given an appropriate orientation statement regarding the rights and duties of students at Michigan State University.

Handbook of Regulations and Structures

The Committee recommends that a handbook of the University's current regulations and structures relating to student rights and duties be made available to every member of the academic community.

Classroom Instruction

Through this study of student rights and duties the Committee has learned that the vast majority of students are more concerned about their classroom instruction than about most other subjects discussed in this report. The Committee had been surprised by the number of students who are dissatisfied with the quality of instruction they receive. The Committee is convinced that this dissatisfaction is not peculair to Michigan State University. The Committee also believes that many student complaints about inferior classroom instruction are valid, and that the University cannot afford to ignore them. We believe that some of the recommendations of this report, particularly the one for the establishment of the Student-Faculty Committee on Academic Rights and Responsibilities of students, hold the potential for an important contribution to improving the quality of classroom instruction. The Committee acknowledges that much additional work is needed, and it expects to undertake study of this matter in the fall.

The Office of the Ombudsman

The President should appoint from the senior faculty a high prestige official with the title of Ombudsman. The sensitive and confidential nature of the Ombudsman's work dictates that he conduct his operations with dignity and integrity. He should respect the privacy of all persons who solicit his assistance and protect them against retribution. His functions should include the following:

1. He should establish simple, orderly procedures for receiving requests, complaints, and grievances of students.

2. He should assist students in accomplishing the expeditious settlement of their problems. He may advise a student that his request, complaint, or grievance lacks merit, or that the student should seek his remedy before another duly constituted body or officer of the University; or the Ombudsman (if he deems appropriate) may assist the student in obtaining an informal settlement of the student's problem.

3. In the performance of his duties the Ombudsman should have broad investigatory powers and direct and ready access to all University officials from the President down. 4. When he deems it necessary he should report directly to the President valid complaints for which no remedy has been found. He should also report any recommendations he wishes to make regarding such complaints. 5. He should make periodic reports to the President re#### garding the operation of his office. Adoption and Implementation of This Report

The Committee recommends that the Academic Council adopt this report; that the Council then forward it to the Board of Trustees with a recommendation that the Board adopt it; that the guidelines and procedural structures defined in this report become operative one hundred and twenty days after adoption by the Board; and that the academic community be promptly and appropriately informed as to all action taken on this report.

During the interim period of one hundred and twenty days following Board action, the detailed rules, regulations, and procedures not specifically considered herein should be revised to conform to the guidelines of the report. Appointments to committees and other positions should also be made during this period.

Kedzie May Be Ready For Fall

With carpenters and bricklayers back on the job after a month-long walkout, MSU officials are still hopeful that the Kedzie Hall addition will be ready for use by the beginning

The completion of the addition on schedule is vital, for it will provide office space for 200 faculty members, plus needed classrooms.

Renovation of the original Kedzie Building, said Harold Dahnke, director of space utilization, was nearly completed before the walkout, so finishing it on time should present

He noted that all MSU construction projects have been delayed in some way by the walkout, but that the others "are not quite as critical as Kedzie."

The major difficulty caused by the walkout, said Clair W. Huntington, MSU supervisor of new construction, was assembling a new crew of bricklayers after the strike was
