10 area youths arraigned on 'pot,' LSD charges

By JOHN DOMBLES
State News Staff Writer

Ten Lansing area youths, three of them juveniles, were arraigned on charges of selling marijuana or LSD Wednesday in the East Lansing Municipal Court.

East Lansing Police said that four of the seven arrested were charged with the sale of marijuana, one with possession and selling and two with the sale of LSD.

Arrested on charges of the sale of LSD were Stephen C. Kirtland, 19, 424 S. Clippert St., and Richard C. Harriss, 17, 3456 Lake Lansing Road.

Araigned on two counts of possession and sale of marijuana was Charles M. Fink, 20, 400 Gunson St.

Arrested on charges for the sale of marijuana were Robert B. Ashman, 19, 116 N. Clemens St.; Kenneth A. Carlisle, 18, 361 Bailey St.; Connie Lee Comstock, 19, 116 N. Clemens; and John Peter Miller, 19, 306 Beal St.

Municipal Judge William K. Harmon set bail at $5,000 for those arrested on the LSD charges and $10,000 for those accused of the marijuana charges.

Harmon also set an examination date of Sept. 17 to decide if there is reasonable evidence to believe that the people arraigned had committed a crime.

The series of narcotics raids in Lansing, East Lansing and Holt, Wednesday, was the termination of about two months of investigation, East Lansing police said. The arrests were made by Michigan State Police in cooperation with East Lansing and campus police.

Unable to post bond as of Wednesday afternoon, the seven were transferred to the Ingham County Jail in Mason. The juveniles remained in the custody of the East Lansing Police's Youth Bureau.

About 20 demonstrators were waiting outside of the East Lansing Jail to give support to the youths who were being transferred. Some of the demonstrators were members of the Student Liberation Alliance, which was formed to protest the narcotic raids which occurred early last June.

The June narcotic raid sparked a demonstration in the Administration Bldg. which then led to arrests of demonstrators during finals week.

A motion to adjourn the jury trial of the 18 persons arrested in that June 5 demonstration at the Administration Building was refused by Justice George J. Hutter Wednesday at the Lansing Township Justice Court.

Defense Attorney Benjamin Gibson said Hutter refused the motion because of the difficulty in rearranging the court schedule.

Gibson said he made the motion because of the inconvenience the trial would cause for some of the defendants and witnesses, some of whom live out of state and must return for the trial, and because of other affairs which have interfered with his defense preparation.

The trial for the sit-in arrests is scheduled to begin Aug. 12 at the Ingham County Courthouse in Mason.

Marijuana arrests

Bob Ashman, 19, 116 N. Clemens, Lansing, and Connie Comstock, 19, same address, are taken by police into the East Lansing Police Station where they were charged with selling marijuana. Ten persons in all were arrested by police Wednesday and charged with the sale of marijuana or LSD.

Viets reject reciprocity for full bomb halt

PARIS (AP) -- North Vietnamese delegates attacked Secretary of State Dean Rusk Wednesday for asking them to say what North Vietnam would do if the United States stopped bombing it.

Ambassador Ha Van Lau substituted for ailing Minister Xuan Thuy in the stalemate Paris peace talks.

"Once again," Lau said, "we completely reject the extremely absurd U.S. demand for 'reciprocity' and resolutely oppose the warlike and aggressive stand of Mr. Dean Rusk, who is going against the aspirations for peace of the American people and the peoples of the world."

U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman countered with a plea to the North Vietnamese to leave Laos alone. Laos is the little country that lies on the western border of North Vietnam. The main land supply line of the North Vietnamese to their troops in the south—the Ho Chi Minh Trail—runs through eastern Laotian territory.

Harriman challenged Lau to go with him to Laos and talk with refugees and captured North Vietnamese soldiers, in order to see whether North Vietnam is violating Laotian territory.

There was no indication of progress toward stopping the war.

"There is nothing new I can report today," Harriman told reporters as he left the conference center Wednesday after the 15th session of the talks.

The U.S. delegation released a statement by Harriman asserting that North Vietnamese troops now constitute more than 70 per cent of the enemy main force military units in South Vietnam, as compared with 25 per cent in 1965.

North Vietnam, Harriman said, has the equivalent of eight divisions either in or threatening South Vietnam's northern provinces. In the central region of the south, he said, the equivalent of three North Vietnamese divisions base themselves on supply depots in Laos.

LBJ criticizes N. Viets, steel firms' price hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) -- President Johnson held an impromptu news conference Wednesday where he decried steel price increases and stated that if a Communist Vietnam offensive is launched in the South it is possible the United States will "have to consider additional military measures."

He expressed disappointment that

North Vietnam has not reduced its military actions.

Instead, he said, it has sent an estimated record number of 30,000 infiltrators into South Vietnam in July.

Grimly, the President said that the number of North Vietnamese entering South Vietnam now is greater than at any other time.

"We estimate even more will come in August," he said.

The nation's two biggest steelmakers - U.S. Steel Corp. and Bethlehem Steel Corp. - announced price hikes Wednesday and President Johnson denounced Bethlehem's across the board hike as "unreasonable."

The President added that Bethlehem's action, the first general price boost since President Kennedy's dramatic price battle with the steel industry in 1962, "just should not be permitted to stand."

He did not mention U.S. Steel at an impromptu news conference in Washington. He said under questioning he was interested in the across the board aspect which he said could affect the whole range of products made of steel.

Johnson said the boosts could lead to a price increase of $500 million to the American consumer and voiced hope "other steel companies will not join this parade."

"American consumers are now threatened by a price increase of $6 million a year directly out of their pockets and

EXTEND TALKS

Soviets, Czechs hit snag

PRAGUE (AP) -- An apparent last-minute snag sent Soviet and Czechoslovak leaders into conference again Wednesday night after what had been thought the closing session of summit talks on Czechoslovakia's future.

There were speculation difficulties developed over the wording of the communique on the results of Moscow's efforts to swing the liberal-minded Czechoslovaks back to orthodox communism.

Informed sources said Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev rejoined the talks after being ill in the afternoon.

The sources said the talks would continue into Thursday.

The unexpected resumption came after Czechoslovak news media had already prepared but not published stories announcing the end of the talks just after 4 p.m.

Newsmen at the conference scene at Cierna in East Slovakia were told to go to a news conference in the town on the Soviet border at 7 p.m., but when they went there they found it had been cancelled.

There was no explanation for the reversal.

Qualified sources said the stocky, 61-year-old secretary-general of the Soviet Communist party stayed aboard the Soviet special train at the conference site, the Slovak village of Cierna, a mile from the Russian frontier.

Alexander Dubcek, the Czechoslovak party chief whose reform program over the last six months has stirred Moscow's ire, visited Brezhnev on the train during a lunch break in the conference proceedings.

The nature of Brezhnev's illness was not disclosed. Informants said, however, they understood it was nothing serious. A report in Vienna, capital of neighboring Austria, said he had suffered a spell of faintness.

There was a rumor in Moscow some years ago that he had a heart attack. He was reported to have had a bout with influenza in early June. But he has appeared to enjoy generally good health since he succeeded Nikita S. Khrushchev as chief of the Soviet party in October 1964.

Indications were that Brezhnev's indisposition had no effect on the duration of the talks, which opened Monday with members of the Soviet Politburo and the Czechoslovak presidium as the main antagonists. They had been generally expected to wind up Wednesday.

'U' employes settlement seen Aug. 5

By JIM SCHAEFER
State News Staff Writer

Representatives from both the non-academic employes union and the University released a joint statement Wednesday which said a "settlement satisfactory to the union's membership" can be achieved at the next session between the bargaining parties on Aug. 5.

The statement also said that while "substantial progress" has been made in the negotiations, the old contract has been extended until noon, Aug. 7.

The statement, released by Hubert Hill, president of MSU local 1585 and Leonard Glander, director of personnel, said, "the negotiating committees met on July 30, and both parties feel that substantial progress has been made. But some unresolved matters have to be negotiated yet, so the union contract has been extended until noon Aug. 7.

"Another meeting has been scheduled with the union Aug. 5," the statement said. "Both the union and University feel that a settlement satisfactory to the union's membership can be achieved at this meeting."

"The union and University have mutually agreed that if ratification meetings of the contract by the membership are held on campus during working hours, a larger representative group of the membership would attend them."

"Therefore, the union has scheduled two such ratification meetings to be held at 1:30 and 4:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Anthony Hall on Aug. 6.

"All employes who are members of the union will be excused from work to attend one or the other of the meetings—except the few employes required for essential services."

The union membership had unanimously voted down the University's proposed labor package tentatively approved by the

Senate vote on Fortas delayed to September

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Action on President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations was delayed by the Senate Judiciary Committee Wednesday until some time in September.

A meeting called by Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., failed to produce a quorum of the 16-member committee. Only five senators showed up.

Eastland said he would not attempt to have another meeting until Congress returns after Labor Day from a recess for the Republican and Democratic national conventions.

On June 26, Johnson nominated Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas to succeed the retiring Chief Justice Earl Warren. Johnson also nominated another old friend, U.S. Circuit Court Judge Homer Thornberry, to take Fortas's place as an associate justice.

Warren's resignation has been accepted by the President effective upon Senate confirmation of a successor. Unless Fortas is confirmed, there will be no vacancy for Thornberry to fill.

The Judiciary Committee completed nine days of hearings on the nominations July 23, but an attempt to report Fortas's nomination favorably a week ago was blocked by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

Further delaying tactics in the committee are possible when Congress returns for a post-convention session, and the nominations also are threatened by a filibuster in the Senate itself.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., the only southern senator who has spoken out

Reagan performing as pseudo non-runner

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) -- California's Ronald Reagan performed in Miami Beach Wednesday, acting like the presidential candidate he said he is not—and confiding that Republican supporters are "springing up around the country."

While political proxies argued the causes of Republican front-runner Richard M. Nixon and campaigning challenger Nelson A. Rockefeller, Reagan plowed through crowds in the lobby of the Fontainebleau Hotel, talked with Florida delegates to the GOP national convention, and insisted he would not solicit the presidential nomination.

"This movement has come from other people," he said. "I myself would not seek the nomination from my party as a newly elected governor of California."

At a news conference, Reagan recited his political litany: he is a favorite son candidate from California, he is not actively pursuing the nomination, but if the delegates want to consider him, that is their decision. And Reagan said no man could refuse to serve if summoned.

"I think he would have to accept," the governor said. "That's a responsibility of citizenship."

Reagan political lieutenants seemed to be taking this responsibility quite seriously. One of them estimated that the Californian now has 180 to 200 delegates on his side, and said Reagan will decline no invitation to address delegate caucuses in advance of the convention. That is standard procedure for a man hunting support.

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's top spokesman, announced that his candidate is actively soliciting the opinions of party leaders as to who would make his best vice presidential running mate.

Klein said Nixon is looking for an able campaigner who would be qualified to succeed to the White House if necessary.

GOP heads call crusade against crime

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) -- Richard M. Nixon called for a "militant crusade against crime" Wednesday and two other big GOP guns, Ronald Reagan and John V. Lindsay, joined in a bombardment of the Administration's anticrime record.

The former vice president sent a special message to the Republican Platform Committee hearings declaring that the party has a duty to "re-establish domestic peace—to restore freedom from fear to the American people."

Neither the poor nor the rich are above the law, Nixon added, saying: "Poverty, despair, anger, past wrongs can no longer be allowed to excuse or justify violence or crime or lawlessness."

The day's hearings underscored some predictions that crime in the nation's streets may be made the GOP's biggest campaign issue, outranking Vietnam and poverty.

New York's Mayor Lindsay hit at crime in his personal platform hearing appearance. Gov. Ronald Reagan of California hit it even harder—and got the biggest applause to date of the pre-convention hearings.

Ending election year politikspeak

Gusts of hot air will be blowing into two of the nation's cities in August -- Miami Beach the 5th and Chicago the 26th.

The hot air will exude from those delegates to the Republican and Democratic primaries (funny hats and all) who are beset with the task of drawing up a platform for their respective party.

This election year, like every election year since George Washington captured the hearts and minds of the Federalist element, has been marked by oral diarrhea. Sometimes this is a lot of fun -- election year verbiage and hijinks have provided fertile ground for the wry pokes of political satirists and cartoonists.

Things aren't so funny anymore. A categorization of the grave problems that confront potential officeholders in 1969 automatically precludes a lighthearted political campaign. The disastrous war in Vietnam which is intrinsically bound up with the problem of blacks at home and the threat of an American social revolution make the art of politics a pretty serious business.

Drawing up a platform is a problem because it is done before the candidates are nominated. This is a particularly touchy problem this year when the two top contenders from each party have markedly different views on at least the Vietnam war.

The Republican party is going through this problem right now. Former President Eisenhower is urging the GOP to adopt his firm "no-retreat-in-Vietnam" policy while Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania is proposing a policy that the party reassess the role of Americans as "police-men of the world."

Obviously, then, there is a real problem in satisfying divergent voices within the party. But that fact does not release the delegates from the responsibility of defining their policies to the voters.

Unfortunately, party platforms have been meaningless at best. If you don't believe it, listen to this bit of newpolitikspeak from a platform drawn up in 1964:

"It is a high mission of government to help assure equal opportunity for all, affording every citizen an equal chance at the starting line but never determining who is to win or lose."

If the two-party system is indeed representative of the nation as its proponents claim, then let the delegates to the conventions prove it. One thing they can do it is to allay the fears of some voters that the presidential nomination is really made by boys in the back room. They can do this by injecting a vital element of honesty into the campaign via a broader and definitive party platform.

After the nomination is made, the party could then prepare an even more structured platform incorporating the policies of the nominee. Thus, from the pre-convention campaign through the convention and right up to election day, the electorate has a guideline to direct its vote.

This hasn't been a very funny year so far. And the disaster that may result from a house divided is ample proof that 1968 is not the year for avoiding major issues in the name of political unity. --The Editors

The fastest rubber band

The rush is on to remove violence from our society. The nonviolent crusaders are everywhere, trying to take violence out of the streets, trying to take violence out of the parks.

And most of all, trying to take violence out of the television sets.

The TV people are very concerned about this. After all, they ask, what are a few murders, bombings and streetfights when quality entertainment is at stake? Just imagine what television would be like without a good slug of violence every now and then.

The camera moves in from above to show the dusty main street of Dodge City, deserted but for two determined men. Facing each other at a distance, arms held tensely away from their bodies, they walk slowly forward. An ominous tympani roll is heard. The camera moves closer as the two men draw near each other and stop. One man wears a star. The drum roll reaches crescendo. Suddenly, so fast the motion is lost to the eye, the man's hands slap his sides as he shouts:

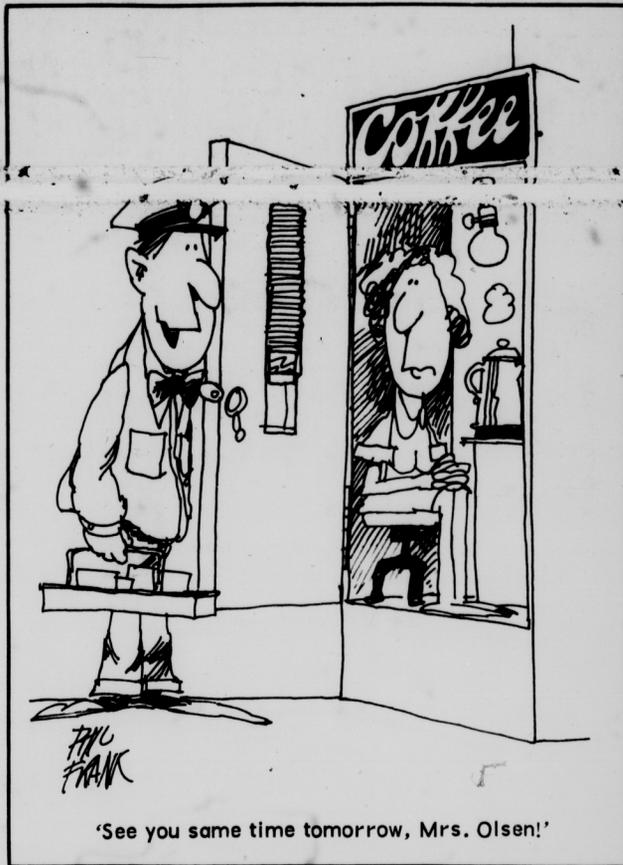

MATT: You blinked! You blinked first! You lost, now get out of town!

The camera pulls back as the second man turns and walks away. Then there is a shot of Matt Dillon, triumphant, as the theme music begins and the title appears on the screen:

"GONE-SMOKE!"

The scene is the Marshal's Office, Dodge City. Wanted posters adorn the walls. In the corner an empty gun rack is gathering dust. Matt Dillon is seated at his desk with a sheet of paper in front of him. Eyes closed, he speaks.

MATT: You are under arrest. You have the right to remain a lawyer until... no, that's not it... Remember that anything I say may be used against you... no, damn

'See you same time tomorrow, Mrs. Olsen!'

POINT OF VIEW

It's the same 'Menace'

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following "Point of View" was written by Edith Ellen Williams, Milford, senior. "Point of View" columns are the expressions of State News readers, and do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the editor or any member of the staff. Tuesday's article by Marc Jusulic, which appeared in this spot, was inadvertently labelled "About third offensive." It should have been labelled "Point of View" also.

My congratulations on a very funny, farcical editorial last Thursday. It was so poor that one just had to laugh. But even better was the title, "The New Red Menace." The Red menace is not new, it is the same as it always has been: only a little more shrewd and careful. Perhaps now even more determined and optimistic. The real menace consists of attitudes and articles like those presented in the editorial section of last Thursday's paper.

Now, let's look at general statements made in the article. The comment about SDS having "several organizations with almost complete local autonomy and of splinter groups which differ from general SDS ideology" would have one believe that the local chapter here didn't follow in the "concept of violence as an instrument to destroy the existing social order." Or that they are quite free and independent of other SDS chapters. Don't fool yourself! They are very much aware of what their other groups are doing and I'll bet they've read New Radicals in the Multiversity by C. Davidson. It just might be a good idea to look at this book and see what they're advocating. Some of the objectives in this book have been and are being worked on this campus. Plus it would be interesting to remember those little hand bills around campus last winter that were advocating the stopping of servicemen from boarding trucks at a certain selective service station in Michigan. Real cute, eh? Or using the marijuana arrests as an excuse to stage a sit in at the Administration Bldg. Although it was a farce because the State News was not there to give sympathetic coverage; surely it can be seen that both Columbia and Rudd's tactics have an influence on MSU's SDS chapter and the sit-in's reported leader, Mike Price. So you can see that MSU's SDS is very much influenced by the other chapters of SDS, and they should not be written off as "harmless." Although the national leader of SDS terms Hoover's charges as "ridiculous and absurd," don't be surprised if SDS uses "sabotage" and explosives in the future. In fact, they are using sabotage now (example: Columbia). If explosives suited their purposes then they'd use them too. I, for one, wouldn't put it past them.

Although attaching the label of Communism to an organization is criticized in the editorial, it is sometimes necessary. If a leader of an organization believes in a certain way, and his beliefs can be seen to be influencing the way the group is moving, then it is better to identify this influence. Furthermore, it is not enough to "let the actions of SDS speak for themselves" as you so blithely state. People must also keep themselves informed on both sides so they don't believe in and be led by half-truths. The trouble is that many are too busy. Although most newspapers should be taken with "a grain of salt" many people don't do it. (Here is where the power of the press comes in.) Therefore it should be a constructive power, not a destructive one. Both sides should be presented.

Also, a look at the world situation assures one that it is still a battle between the Western and Communist forces. They may have their domestic troubles, but they still have their common goal to "bury us" and it looks like they are succeeding. It is said that "A house divided cannot stand" and evidently SDS knows this for it is attempting to destroy the existing social order with institutions first on the list.

When I first came on the campus CSR (Committee on Student Rights--ed.) and SDS appealed to me. I thought that CSR was really out to help the students. When I saw that it wasn't out to help the students, but being used by others from SDS, I dropped out. Over the last few years I have seen SDS and United Students sympathizers and followers infiltrate ASMSU, get the State News for them to print propaganda and influence a lot of things going on this campus. It makes me ill to see this. I am not using a scare tactic, but am saying what I know. It's your responsibility to meet the challenge they present and be informed, firm and tell both sides of the story.

This has been done a little, but not enough. What does a journalism award really mean when the State News seems to be getting more "sensational" every day and bends over backward to present the radical point of view. There are surely more constructive things that could have been written in this area. An article on the objectives presented in Davidson's book would be very informative and interesting. Also an article concerning the section of "The True Believer" by Eric Hoffer which deals with radicals, protesters, etc. would be very interesting and revealing as to their motives for protesting. In closing I would like to say that a well thought out editorial is much more appealing than one which seems to have been written without much thought put into it.

HHH calls for halt to strife in cities, more expenditures

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said Wednesday America's leaders must halt violence and rioting "and they must be put down firmly and promptly."

But in his speech to the National Association of Counties, Humphrey stressed that civil order and civil justice are inseparable and called for more services and expenditures to help solve the problems of the American cities as well as the rural poor.

"What ever the cost is to clean up the mess, it is less than the cost to leave it uncleared," Humphrey declared.

Although Humphrey threw away most of his prepared speech, saying he wanted to talk more directly to the problems of local and national government, he said he stood behind his prepared remarks.

Humphrey, in his prepared text, repeated that South Vietnam "should be run by the people who have lived there, not by Hanoi or Washington."

"This means free elections--elections in which all can vote and all can run for office, with guarantees against force and intimidation," he added, "elections in which every group... can play its full part in the peaceful political process."

Humphrey thus appeared to call for elections which would include Communists and the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong--groups now barred from South Vietnamese elections.

The Johnson administration has favored free elections in Vietnam on a "one man, one vote basis" to determine the form of the country's future government. The administration has been against any coalition

ON BIRTH CONTROL

Pope begs obedience, understanding for edict

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)--Pope Paul VI, in an attempt to heal anguish in his Church, pleaded Wednesday for Roman Catholics to understand and obey his encyclical restating the ban on artificial methods of birth control.

A statement issued at his summer palace was the first comment he had made since he issued his encyclical letter, "Humanae Vitae," on Monday.

"The knowledge of our grave responsibility caused us no small suffering," he said.

Pope Paul said he consulted eminent persons and sought "in prayer the aid of the Holy Spirit" in the four years it took to prepare the encyclical.

"We were guided also by the feeling of charity, of pastoral concern for married Christians," his statement continued.

"For this reason, we gave to love the chief position in marriage, and added pastoral instructions to the doctrinal teaching."

The Pope said he hoped his document will be accepted for its truth and "above all, that Christian married couples will understand its teaching is but the manifestation of their true love."

The 70-year-old pontiff later told a general audience that his encyclical was the most agonizing decision of his five-year reign.

"Never, as on this occasion," he said, "have we felt with such acuteness the weight of our duty to all humanity."

"We want to hope that all, notably married Christians, even if they have the feeling that our word is hard, will understand that it is only fidelity to the thought of Christ which motivated this apparent severity."

The Pope spoke of hope that scientists and theologians would be able to discover in his encyclical "the genuine thread which connects it with the Christian conception of life."

"Whether you are directly interested or not by the question treated in the encyclical, we beseech you to accept our word with the same love of truth and the same respect of persons that we have tried to put in the encyclical while writing it," he said.

New October revolt

PARIS (AP)—A lot of the talk at Paris sidewalk cafes this summer is about the chance for an "October revolution" like the one that brought the Communists to power in Russia 51 years ago.

A caricature in the popular satirical weekly, Le Canard Enchaîné, shows President and Mrs. Charles de Gaulle with the single word "October" in a balloon over their heads. The caption: "A penny for your thoughts."

If an October revolution comes to France it may—like the Russian one—actually occur in November when the universities are due to reopen.

Actually the situations in Russia in 1917 and in France in 1968 have little in common.

Russia already had overthrown the czar. The great masses of people were suffering from a lost war and a long history of oppression, poverty and ignorance. The army took a leading part in the revolution.

In France the riots led by university students last May, and the strikes that followed, had De Gaulle's government wobbly at one point. But in June it won its greatest victory at the polls, and even many people accustomed to voting for the Communists made it clear they wanted no revolution.

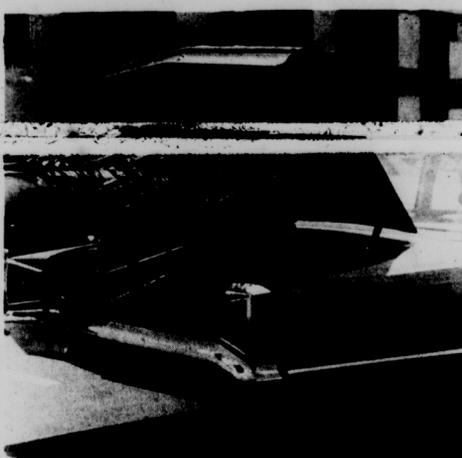

So far the French revolutionary movement has failed to throw up any outstanding leaders. Daniel Cohn-Bendit, a 23-year-old sociology student, won much popularity among young people when he defied De Gaulle's government by returning from exile in the midst of the crisis—somewhat as Lenin returned to Russia in 1917. Cohn-Bendit is now reported out of the country again, just as Lenin slipped across the border into Finland after some unsuccessful rioting in July of that year.

But Cohn-Bendit, unlike Lenin, seems to have no interest in becoming a political leader.

Whether there is trouble in the fall will depend largely on a much more ambitious and experienced politician: Edgar Faure, the new minister of education. In 1952, at age 43, Faure was the youngest premier in French history. After De Gaulle took over, he was one of the few non-Gaullist politicians to survive and take high office.

As minister of agriculture he brought many indignant peasants back into the Gaullist fold. Now he is being challenged to show whether he can do the same with the students. His problem: to give them enough satisfaction to undermine the small group that wants to use their discontent to start a revolution.

93 KILLED

Enemy base hit

gunboats, helicopter gunships and South Vietnamese marines smashed a large enemy base 92 miles southwest of Saigon in what military spokesmen Wednesday called "an unprecedented allied penetration" in the Mekong Delta.

The battle began Tuesday night and ended Wednesday morning. The allies counted 93 Viet Cong bodies and reported that two South Vietnamese marines were wounded.

Government troops searched the area after the clash and found 423 mortars, 62 weapons and more than 12,000 rounds of small-arms ammunition.

The Vietnamese soldiers cornered the Viet Cong in bunkers where they were raked by helicopter gunships and blasted by the 60-foot Navy gunboats and American armored troop carriers. Spokesmen said the American craft inflicted most of the casualties.

A battalion of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division moved into position two miles from the battleground but reported no contact with the enemy.

Only light scattered skirmishes were reported elsewhere. In three small fights on the outskirts of Saigon, government troops said they killed seven enemy soldiers, captured six and seized 18 weapons and large quantities of ammunition.

A small bomb tied to a trip wire was discovered Tuesday in an alley next to the six-story U.S. Agency for International Development. It was the first bombing attempt against an American facility reported in several months.

U.S. B52 bombers flew eight missions Tuesday and Wednesday, dropping 1,200 tons of bombs on enemy positions 30 to 60 miles northwest of Saigon.

American spokesmen said the B52 have dropped about 7,500 tons of bombs in the past week on the provinces of Hau Nghia, Tay Ninh and Binh Long near the Cambodian border.

In the underground war U.S. intelligence officers reported that the Viet Cong is sending an increasing number of female stallions. One reason for this, they said, is that South Vietnam's tougher draft laws are jobs on auge bases, making it easier for the women to get such jobs.

'Peaceful life' theme of meeting

Olympic contests, banquets, togas, a slave sale and chariot races will set the mood for the Junior Classical League National Convention to be held on campus Aug. 11-15.

William Seaman, head of MSU's classical dept., will cut short his studies abroad to host the 2,000 expected delegates.

The program's theme, taken from a Cicero quotation, is "A Peaceful Life with Honor." Robert L. Green, associate professor of educational psychology, will deliver the keynote address.

Competitions in classical literature, language, art, poetry, handicrafts and costume will highlight Aug. 12's activities. A group of toga-clad classicists, a band and a chariot drawn by two horses will parade Aug. 13 from Brody to Spartan Stadium field, where "Olympic" track and field events will take place.

Football coach Duffy Daugherty will present awards at an evening banquet.

A slave sale will follow the games, with Michigan delegates volunteering to be sold into slavery for a day. The money earned in the sale will help pay for the convention.

Aug. 14 students will attend their choice of various small group workshops involving such topics as classical art, mythology, and Roman Legionnaires. Sidney Berger, MSU director of theatre productions, will offer a colloquium on Greek theatre.

Edward Dimock of the University of Chicago will give a lecture at 7:30 tonight in McDonel Kiva on "Bengali Devotional poetry."

Students for McCarthy will sponsor a dance featuring "The Woolies" at 8 p.m. Friday in the Union Ballroom.

Students interested in forming a Greater Lansing New Politics Party will meet at 7:30 p.m. Friday in 38-39 Union.

Case Hall and the James Madison Tutorial Project will sponsor a carnival Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m. in the field in front of Case Hall. There will be booths, clowns, a midway and a dance from 9 p.m. to midnight. Proceeds will go to the Tutorial Project. All are invited. Admission will be 50 cents.

MSU's India Club and the Asian Studies Center will present an Indian Classical Dance program featuring Miss Shashikala, dancer and film star of India, at 8 p.m. Monday in the Union Ballroom. The program is presented in conjunction with the South Asia Summer Program on campus.

Barbara Dixon Guenther, a graduate student in music, will present a piano recital at 4 p.m. Sunday in the Music Aud. The concert is open to the public.

Baritone Thomas O. Thompson will present a voice recital, including a performance of a Bach cantata, at 8:15 p.m. Friday in the Music Aud. The recital is open to the public without charge.

Irma La Douce, a story of passion, bloodshed, desire, and death, starring Jack Lemmon and Shirley MacLaine, will be shown at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday in 108 Wells Hall. Admission is 50 cents.

Satyajit Ray's famous Apu Trilogy will be shown on campus this summer under direction of the MSU India Club. First in a series, Pather Panchali will be shown Saturday at 8 p.m. in 109 Anthony Hall. The remaining two parts will be shown the next two Saturdays. Admission is 50 cents.

Do you have three to five hours a week you could donate to help foreign students learn conversational English? If you do, call 353-0802 to volunteer your services.

The MSU Soaring Club will be in action today, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Members and interested people are invited to meet at Dot Discount on Harrison Road at 1 p.m. today and Friday and 10 a.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Sky dive every weekend near Eaton Rapids with the MSU Sport Parachute Club. For training and transportation contact Pete 351-0012.

An interclub regatta will be sponsored by the MSU Sailing Club at 9 a.m. Saturday. Members wishing to participate should call Larry Stackpool, 355-6843, to insure advance registration. The first place boat will receive a trophy.

Students for McCarthy will meet at 8 tonight 35 Union to organize for a petition drive this weekend.

"Freakout no. 231," a dance sponsored by the Student Liberation Alliance and featuring the Free Rock Caravan, will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Union ballroom.

Round-up time

Shopping carts which wind up scattered around student apartment complexes are a headache to store managers, who go after them on weekly roundups.

Stray market carts store owners' woe

What is a baby carriage and a mobile trash carrier, has a propensity to wander off and is a constant headache to supermarket managers?

A shopping cart. The manager of Kroger's store in the Yankee plaza estimates he loses between 10 and 15 carts a week to nearby apartment complexes.

Once a week he tours the area around the apartments, loading missing carts into the trunk of his car. The carts cost the stores $80 apiece, not a small bunch of lettuce.

"We lose too many carts to the apartments," the assistant manager of the A and P food store on Grand River Avenue said. "We find them in the river," he added.

Supermarket managers say they are trying to keep a closer watch on the wandering carts, but as students and others continue to find them convenient for carrying home groceries, managers will probably have to continue their once-a-week round-up of strays.

Prof sees halt soon

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Major world famines will be a thing of the past in the decade ahead, according to an MSU agricultural economist.

"An agricultural revolution of unprecedented and dramatic proportions" is beginning in India and Pakistan due to the development of a new high-yielding variety of wheat and rice, Robert D. Stevens, associate professor of agricultural economics, said.

"I want to stress that this is the beginning of a revolution," Stevens said. "These countries will not be able to feed themselves this year or next, but they may be able to do it before 1975, certainly by 1980."

McCarthy fans stage dance

With August designated by Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's fans as National McCarthy Month, the students for McCarthy will hold a benefit dance this Friday in honor of "their man."

The Woolies, national rock group which began its fast musical rise in a battle of the bands at MSU will provide the music for the fund-raising dance from 8 p.m.-midnight in the Union Ballroom, with a $1 admission charge.

McCarthyites are inviting happy Hubert Humphrey fans and Nixon and Rocky supporters alike for this Friday evening activity.

The McCarthyites have also selected Aug. 15 as National McCarthy Day. Lansing, hosting its rally in Jenison Field House, is one of the 29 key cities selected to participate in nation-wide ceremonies on this day.

Closed circuit television will highlight the Aug. 15 activities.

Besides the rallies and benefit dances which McCarthy supporters have planned, they are uniting in massive petition and phone campaigns to urge the Minnesota senator's nomination.

The phone campaign, "Dial-a-President," began in the Lansing area last week with an advertisement placed in the State News. Glenn Nelson, chairman of the MSU chapter of Students for McCarthy, said that over 300 telephone-responding people have called the office's one phone since the ad was printed last week. The names will be used in an attempt to convince Michigan delegates of McCarthy's "grass roots support," as one supporter said.

pocketbooks," the President said, "and at the very time they are paying increased taxes as their contribution to the urgent task of restoring price stability."

In reaction to the President's statement, a Bethlehem spokesman said: "Our announcement this morning speaks for itself. In our opinion, our price increase is absolutely necessary and we do not intend to withdraw it."

He said also he has decided not to spend $91 million which Congress had added to the budget for aid to schools in areas affected by large numbers of government employees.

Only a few hours earlier, the Senate had voted to freeze some $122 million in carryover foreign aid funds unless the $91 million was freed for spending on school aid.

Johnson also made these other points:
-Confirmation of Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas as chief justice and Homer Thornberry as an associate justice is a matter for the Senate, but he is convinced that a very substantial majority of the Senate believes they are qualified for the positions to which they have been nominated.

-The United States is ready, willing and waiting to talk with the Soviet Union on the anti-ballistic missile disarmament negotiations. He said he believes agreement can be reached in a reasonably short time on the place and time for the start of the talks.

board of trustees on July 12 in a meeting July 15 that was intended to ratify a contract for the 1968-69 fiscal year.

Additional negotiating meetings were held by representatives of the union and University on July 18, 20 and 30.

Last year, labor negotiations were also marked by two extensions of the 1966 contract—the first because of delayed action on the state appropriations bill by the state legislature.

The final version of the new 1967 contract, ratified by the union Aug. 6 and signed Aug. 7, provided a wage increase of over 20 cents an hour more, though it did not include hospital and medical costs.

aid to student groups focusing on educational improvement, the Ford Foundation has named the National Student Assn. (NSA) recipient of a $315,000 grant to coordinate and initiate educational reform.

Citing the importance of "charting out new territory for student innovation in the area of academics," NSA President Ed Schwartz said that the grant will be used to further efforts to set up an "open dialogue through change" in the educational arena.

A publication corps will be set up in Washington, D.C., base of NSA operations, to disseminate information on student projects—both in operation and proposed—and formulate reports evaluating the entire educational program.

Members of this corps will keep abreast of the progress of the various experimental colleges across the nation and perhaps set guidelines for establishing such institutions, Schwartz said.

Plans for the funds have dual focus. In addition to the information center, the grant will make it possible for NSA staff members to participate in student reform movements.

"We can begin by writing a vigorous platform that affirms the human and financial commitment described by the riot commission," Nixon's statement - which dealt with crime - was announced to the platform hearings by Sen. John Tower of Texas. Nixon had declined an invitation to appear in person.

as a regional advisory program, initially to be offered in one region of the country.

Schwartz originally wrote the proposal which won the Ford grant because he felt that the inadequate for what we wanted to do. Even the current grant is not enough. We've already approached Carnegie and other foundations with our proposal. Now we can expand, but we need to do more," he said.

Black athletes OK Olympics

Track star Lee Evans of San Jose State College said black athletes have voted to attend the Olympic Games this fall in Mexico City.

The athletes voted nearly unanimously to attend the games at a meeting during the Olympic Trials in Los Angeles a month ago, Evans, who is training at a camp north of here, said.

100 per cent that we make some kind of protest at the games," Evans said. "What that will be I don't know."

Evans, the world's fastest 400 meter runner, disclosed that announcement of the athletes' plans were withheld by Harry Edwards earlier this month. He said Edwards, a former San Jose professor, was ment at a news conference.

Evans said he saw Edwards' action as an attempt to "keep them guessing."

"I think most people have the idea now that we will go," Evans said. "I don't have any qualms about saying so."

Evans said he had no idea what form the protest at Mexico City will take.

upon at this time," he said. "We won't go down there and then stay in the blocks, however. We'll run too."

Evans, one of the earliest advocates of the protest, said he felt the boycott movement was a success because it got the black athletes to do some-cott of the Olympics was never a real goal, or the only goal.

Rather, he said, it was just an answer given by spring star Tommie Smith of San Jose State when asked if a boycott were possible. Evans said Smith simply answered that "there is a chance."

All-Stars unknown quantity

CHICAGO (UPI) -- Norm Van Brocklin, in his first season coaching the College All Stars, cannot guess how his team will react for Friday night's test against the pro-football champion Green Bay Packers.

"Physically," he said, "I think we have everything we need. That leaves it up to attitude, and all I can say is that we've had a good attitude so far."

Van Brocklin said he planned no Knute Rockne type pre-game pep talk in an effort to key his 50-some warriors for an all-out effort against the Packers.

"They've got to get themselves up for the game," he said. "We coaches will do everything we can to get them ready and they'll have to build their own moral for their performance."

"I'm not going to name a starting lineup," Van Brocklin said.

Joe Przybycki is the only Spartan and one of only two Big Ten players on the 1968 All-Star squad.

Green Bay Packers end bias

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) -- When Willie Davis, a black, and Jerry Kramer, a white, asked to be roommates this year with the Green Bay Packers, one of the last frontiers of racial discrimination began to vanish from the National Football League champions.

In the past, most room assignments with the Packers found blacks living with blacks and whites rooming with whites.

But this year, rookies who reported to camp found themselves put in rooms on a strictly alphabetical basis.

Dave Robinson, the Packers' player-representative and a black himself, said that as far as he knew the decision to assign rooms alphabetically "was entirely management's decision."

"My understanding is that it was simply something that they decided should be done and so they did it," Robinson said. "I personally feel it was just one of those things that had been done a certain way, and so it continued to be done that way."

Robinson, since 1965, has roomed with another black, Lionel Aldridge. He said he would continue to do so. The change began with rookies this year and will continue that way because of a desire-on everyone's part-not to split up roommates who have been together for several seasons.

The Packers, in a recent series of articles on discrimination in sports, were pointed out as one of the few places in professional sports where discrimination hadn't been a problem-mainly because of the presence of Vince Lombardi, former coach and now general manager of the team.
