Several local groups give contraception, abortion aid

by Carol Thomas State News Staff Writer

The campus could confront with unwanted pregnancy or concerned about preventing such a problem in others, a new month requires a campus health center. The week's events revealed an information about birth control.

Out of this source, organizations dealing in this sort of service went into two groups, those concerned with terminating the pregnancy, and those dealing with terminating the unwanted pregnancy. The birth control information from two major sources available to the MSU student, University Counseling Center and Lansing Planned Parenthood.

Starting at about noon, the health center issued its usual routine counseling and medical services related to contraception.

Although the center has not set policy, each physician is at his or her own discretion in the dispensing of contraception. An allied staff at the health center will refuse to dispense contraceptives and will refrain to register the right to refuse to provide to Dr. Gerald Vanderhook, a staff physician at MSU.

Vanderhook, a staff physician at MSU, has been quoted as saying that she has had trouble with some requests, especially those of a vague nature. Most requests she said she might get attached and get pregnant. "I don't consider that a good reason," because the pill is "strong enough," Vanderhook said.

The health center is still working for contraception because they have mental illness services in its future future. On the other hand, the Planned Parenthood office is working for contraception. If a woman does not wish to have a child, she should "not be punished," said. "I don't think that it's good at all.

Both contraception pills, birth control devices such as diaphragms and condoms, is not recommended by the center's doctor. Their prescription is strictly up to the doctor and patient and does not fall under any specific policy, according to a health center physician. The center's dispensing of contraceptives, which is based from about $10 for an contraceptive device is approximately $5 per month for each contraceptive pill initiated at the MSU pharmacy. Health care professionals who are engaged in contraception services have been prompted by Lansing and staff, objection, often at Lansing Planned Parenthood.

Lansing Planned Parenthood offers its services, even of change, with only a given limited focus than Ohio in the area of this sort of service. The information and development of Planned Parenthood in Lansing is as described by Mr. Leggs, is subjected by Todd's, Lansing,

The Lansing Planned Parenthood also increased its recruitment of Planned Parenthood. All stores were been rented combined with the two previously mentioned counseling services, where appointments will be made for the following week. The director of Planned Parenthood, has expressed his support for counseling methods and contraceptive services. This title, and other title from this, could make a change for an other title from this, another change.

Devalutation predicted

The head of West Germany's federal bank predicted Wednesday that the United States would devalue the dollar in terms of gold and international agreements was reached on a new upward revaluation of other major currencies.

Grand Rapids president Karl Klines told reporters at the annual meeting of the International Monetary Fund and World Bank that "there is no specific commitment." He added, however, that an agreement this will be an obstacle.

Violent crime increases

Violent crime increased 11 per cent in the nation during the first half of this year, on 7 per cent increase over the same period last year.

The over-all 7 per cent increase in serious crimes compared with 11 per cent during the first six months of 1975, but the jump in violent crime exceeds the increase in the two- and seven-year period last year.

Arty Gen. John N. Mitchell, who released the FBI’s violent crime report, said the sharp rise in violent crime was due to an increase in the over-all crime as compared with early 1970.

Colburn not prompted

A key prosecution witness was not prompted before his testimony to give a "misleading" impression of the defendant on Wednesday, his attorney said.

Albert W. Dillard, counsel for James C. Colburn, a defendant in the murder trial of two people, claimed there was no purpose in the statement of witness, Leonard M. Coburn.

"It’s not the intention of the defense to call any witness who might bring a favorable account of the defendant before the jury," he said.

Terrorists defy appeal

Irish terrorists launched a new wave of mortar and bomb attacks Wednesday in defiance of an appeal for a halt by both sides as a condition for an end to violence. A British soldier was shot, in an explosion that killed the worst of the two attacks.

Police found firebombs in areas just outside the border in East and West Berlin.

A British soldier was killed and at least another 21 people were injured in two explosions at a British military base.

The terror attacks, which have been escalating in recent weeks, were carried out in a coordinated effort by the Basque Nationalist Party and the Basque Separate Union.

Exemptions allowed

The Cost of Living Council Wednesday allowed what it called the first exemption of wage price freeze by allowing new government-funded insurance programs to go into effect in Florida, Texas, and Missouri.

In a statement released, the council said the exemptions were being made because of the "unique and unusual" situations that had been anticipated in the new programs.

A policy report issued last April said the council would have left the exemptions involved without insurance programs for only a "substantial number of payments substantially higher than under previous programs." The council said.

Auto safety extended

The Transportation Department gave the automobile industry Wednesday an extension to the deadline for installation of passive restraint systems in all passenger cars. Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe affirmed a decision of his predecessor, Transportation Secretary John R. Williams, that extension for front and back seats in all 1975 model automobiles—meant to accommodate for all seating positions from Aug. 16, 1975, onward.

A Navy's F-4J wins Senate OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate shut down万平方米 to avoid granting the Navy’s F-4J version of the Phantom II to the military because it would cost $1,600 million for 66 of the 50-seat jets.

The amendment was offered by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., the chairman of the Senate appropriations committee. He said the Senate had not had enough time to examine the program but that the Senate should vote to oppose funding it.

In its agreement to the amendment, the Senate approved 34 to 2 an amendment by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to require the Navy’s Project Sparrowhawk, a communications system involving nearly 1,000 miles of radio relay in Northern Wyoming, be completed by the end of the fiscal year, and military personnel assignments to include a $1,600 million in extra military personnel assignments to include at least 40,000 additional non-combat military personnel.

Bicameral legislature wasteful, unnecessary

Michigan taxpayers are annually wasting approximately $3.5 million on two legislative houses with a $132,000 salary for the Speaker of the House and a $112,000 salary for the Senate Majority Leader. These figures do not include the salaries of the legislative assistants and staff. In addition, the legislators receive office space, travel expenses, and other benefits.

The current bicameral legislative system is inefficient and wasteful. It is estimated that the cost of maintaining two legislative bodies is approximately $132,000 per year per legislator. This is in addition to the $50 million budget allocated to the state legislature.

The bicameral system also leads to gridlock and a lack of consensus in the legislative process. It is often difficult to pass legislation when the two chambers have different priorities and interests. This can lead to a paralysis of governmental functions.

In addition, the bicameral system is a waste of time and resources. It is estimated that the bicameral system results in 26,000 hours of legislative time each year, which could be better utilized in other important areas.

The Michigan Constitution provides for a unicameral legislature, which would save money and improve the efficiency of the legislative process. It is time for Michigan to consider adopting a unicameral system and结束。
Philadelphia center offers student health care aid

Students confused with ethnic, educational or economic barriers to health or education can be aided at the 4 p.m. meeting Tuesday in Room 11 in the administration center.

The Philadelphia counseling center has a special interest in working because of its representation in the area. The center does not place any emphasis on education or academic achievement; instead, it helps people plan for future goals.

Assistance with admission procedures at various Philadelphia schools is available. The center also complements any counseling that is offered through the center's own program. Through the Philadelphia school system, students interested in college have access to counseling, which helps to answer some of their questions and concerns. All students applying through the center also receive "significant counseling" by admission counselors at the various schools.

The center does not place emphasis on education or academic achievement but helps people plan for future goals.

Although academic success is important, it is not the only concern of the center. In fact, the center is interested in helping people plan for their goals.

George Harrison released his "My String Is Taut" recently, and many people have declared the "classic" status of this song. Indeed, it's been a long time since anyone has released a song with a single guitar note, and there are now those who declare that Harrison is the only one who can do this.

Harrison's album, "Imagine," was released last month, and many people were surprised to learn that it contained a song by John Lennon. The song, "Imagine," is a protest song, and many people believe that Lennon's message of peace is the message that Harrison is promoting.

It's interesting to note that Lennon and Harrison were both involved in the peace movement in the '60s, and that their music reflects this. Lennon's "Imagine" was released in 1968, and it's a protest song about the Vietnam War. Harrison's "Imagine" was released in 1970, and it's a protest song about the war in Vietnam.

Both artists were involved in the peace movement, and both were involved in the anti-war movement. Lennon and Harrison were close friends, and they worked together on many songs. "Imagine" is one of their best-known songs.

"Imagine" is a song about the power of the imagination. It's a song about the possibility of a better world. It's a song about hope.

Lennon's message of peace is one that is still relevant today. The world is still divided, and there are still wars. But Lennon's message of hope is one that is still inspiring.

"Imagine" is a song that celebrates the power of the human spirit. It's a song that encourages us to imagine a better world. It's a song that reminds us that we have the power to make a difference.

Michigan State University's football team will be looking for its first win in 1968. The Spartans will be hosting the Cleveland Browns on Saturday, September 14, in their home opener. The Browns are coming off a 25-13 victory over the Cleveland Browns in their season opener.

The Spartans were 4-6-1 in 1967, but they are looking to improve this year. The team has a new head coach, Dennis Coleman, who is trying to lead the Spartans to a winning season.

The Browns are a strong team, having won the NFL championship last year. They are led by quarterback Jim Brown, who is one of the best in the league. The Browns have a strong defense, led by linebacker Ray Nitschke.

The game will be played at Spartan Stadium, which has a capacity of 50,000. The weather is expected to be sunny with a high of 75 degrees.

This game is a key match-up for both teams, as it will determine who will be the early-season leader in the conference. The Spartans are looking to prove themselves, while the Browns are looking to continue their winning ways.

The game will be broadcast on local TV stations, and it is expected to be a sell-out. The stadium will be packed with fans cheering on their favorite team.

Chuck Davey is taking on Lansing.

Chuck Davey, general agent for New England-based A. O. Sanborn, is expanding his organization to include Lansing and other areas of Michigan. Davey, born in New England, is the single successor of the late Frank E. Sanborn, who served as vice president and manager of Sanborn's Michigan operation.

Davey, who began his career with Sanborn in 1947, is now vice president and manager of Sanborn's Michigan operation. He has spent the past 10 years with the firm, which also has offices in St. Louis and Los Angeles.

Davey, who serves as a member of the Sanborn board of directors, has been active in the National Association of Insurers Agents, the Michigan Association of Insurance Agents, and the Michigan Mutual Insurance Co.

In 1969, Davey was appointed manager of Sanborn's New England agency and in two years had worked himself up to the position of general agent. By 1970, Chuck had built it into a $37 million

Chicago Tribune, with $50 million in training, $750,000 in sales, and nearly $1 million in sales. The agency is one of the largest in the state of Michigan. He has also been active in the Wood Thrush Association.

Chuck Sanborn, the most competent in insurance, is a graduate of the University of Michigan and has served on the Sanborn board of directors.

Sanborn's head office is located in Beverly Hills, Calif., and the company is a member of the National Association of Insurers Agents and the Michigan Association of Insurance Agents.

TV tape aims at involving students in college affairs

By BECKY HANES
State News Staff Writer

A free television taping tape will be filmed next week by the University College (UC) to involve student participation in the Student Affairs Committee as a step toward implementation of the student government's plans.

"We need to involve students that can participate in the University," said Terrie Parrish, Student Government Chairperson of the Student Affairs Committee, said Thursday. "They don't have any sense to gripe about and having to pay in University College is making this difficult for them.

"The committee is being called in to the student union to offer the student new positions in the Student Affairs Committee, and how the processes will be involved. This portion of the taping will be made by Edward A. Kellew, Dean of UC.
