The highway department statement largely answered highway opponents who had criticized the cross-campus route at a public hearing Oct. 14.

The highway would be a relocation of M-43, serving as a bypass for Grand River Avenue, by routing traffic from the Trowbridge Road interchange at I-496 to Grand River Avenue at Park Lake Road, east of East Lansing. It would cross MSU property just north of the Grand Trunk railroad tracks between Harrison and Hagadorn Roads.

Filipino voters give Marcos 1st setback

MANILA (AP) — Filipino voters have dealt President Ferdinand E. Marcos the first serious setback in the dazzling career that has established him as the most powerful leader in the republic's history.

The question now is: Are his winning days ended or are new victories on the way? Betting is going both ways here.

Marcos himself was not a candidate in this week's midtern elections. But both he and his Liberal party opponents had urged voters to mark ballots as a yes or no to the president's six years in office.

Marcos had hand-picked his Nacionalista party's eight candidates for the Senate. Six lost by embarrassingly large margins.

The Nacionalistas still maintain a numerical majority in the 24-seat Senate and dominate the House of Representatives. But the fact stands out that Marcos the political lion has been wounded.

The setback came exactly two years after he scored his greatest triumph by becoming the first Phillippine president to win a second four-year term. He won by a margin so awesome that whispers began almost immediately that Marcos had become too powerful.

Critics muttered that he had used massive amounts of money, government machinery and chicanery. They whispered that he was a man of ruthless and fearsome ambition.

True or not, the accusations spread, entwined in other criticism over economic troubles, labor strife and unprededented student demands for reform in a society marked by a tiny rich elite and poor masses.

'U' will urge board to OK student employe pay hikes

By MICHAEL FOX State News Staff Writer

UNIVERSITY

The University administration will recommend pay increases for graduate assistants and student employes at the board of trustees meeting Friday, President Wharton announced Sunday.

Wharton, ending speculation in the University community over the feasibility of student employe raises, said the amount of the proposed increase would be within the 5.5 per cent limit established by the federal government under guidelines for Phase 2 of the wage-price controls.

"We are still studying the guidelines on what we will be permitted to do following the end of Phase 1," Wharton said.

"They are not paritcularly clear as to how universities are affected. Nevertheless, we hope to have a specific recommendation for consideration by the trustees at their meeting on Friday," he said.

In announcing the administration's recommendation for student employe raises, no details were made available regarding the dollars and cents aspect of the raise. The raise would affect more than 6,000 MSU students employed in positions including graduate assistants, residence hall desk receptionists, library workers, cafeteria workers and custodians.

Phase 1 of the federal wage-price freeze ended at midnight Saturday with previous freeze actions on wage and price transactions remaining in force unless changed by Phase 2 guidelines. Any pay raises for students during Phase 1 had been forbidden because the student contracts usually commence in September, at which time the economic freeze was in effect.

Temporary faculty and other categories of employes who could not be considered for an increase because of the freeze also will be included in the recommendation to the trustees. An informed source in the central administration noted that the raises would probably not be retroactive.

"All our budget planning for 1971-72 has included wage increases for graduate assistants and student employes, as well as for faculty and staff," Wharton said.

In this year's $101 million budget, $8,973,713 is tagged for both student and other nonacademic pay. Last year, about $1.2 million was paid to student employes. The current minimum pay rate on campus is $1.60 per hour for student employes, with theapproximately 2,500 student workers in the dormitories and food services division starting at $1.70 an hour.

"Although we were delayed by the lateness of legislative approval of our budget, we ultimately were able to provide faculty and staff increases retroactive to July 1, since this is the date employes ordinarily have received the raise and which was prior to the freeze.

"Student and graduate assistant employes, however, would not ordinarily have received their increases until September, which was in the midst of the freeze. Therefore, we had no way of granting them earlier," Wharton said.

"We appreciate the patience and understanding displayed by these employes, and we hope we can now provide this overdue equity," he said. The detailed student pay raise reco.nmendation to the trustees will be made on Friday with the expectation of action on the proposal at the meeting, an informed source reported.

Reps-at-large vote reset for Thursday

By JUDY YATES State News Staff Writer

The election of student representatives-at-large to the Academic Council has been rescheduled for Thursday, following a decision handed down by the Student Faculty Judiciary Friday supporting the actions of the Student Committee on Nomination in organizing the

The decision was a result of a hearing held Thursday in response to an appeal filed by Joni Benn, Allen Park senior and Paula Fochtman, Petoskey junior.

Ms. Benn and Ms. Fochtman charged that the committee was illegally constituted and certain election procedures drawn up by the committee were in violation of the Academic Freedom Report.

The judiciary recommended that the committee review its election procedures in light of Section 1.5.0.5 of the Academic Freedom Report which states that all regulations must be as brief, clear and specific as possible.

Mark Bathurst, chairman of the committee, said Sunday the committee has met and reviewed the organization of the election. The committee has added a page to the election procedures defining the winners and making provisions for write-in candidates.

"I don't think either side sees this as a victory, but the committee is pleased with the action," Bathurst said. "We have reviewed our election procedures as the judiciary suggested and have made some additions but no corrections."

"I am sorry we had to go through all this hostility, but we have accomplished our goal which was to improve the election procedures," Ms. Benn said Sunday.

The appeal charged that the committee was in violation of the Bylaws for Academic Governance, which states that there must be at least one graduate female and two nonwhite graduate students on the committee.

In spite of the draft counseling sessions Ms. Etling held at Orientation Programs last summer, many incoming freshmen were

President Nguyen Van Thieu goes before the National Assembly today in Saigon to plead for fiscal austerity. Economic reforms which he will recommend in a "State of the Nation" address to a joint session were expected to include some kind of devaluation of the South Vietnamese piaster. Sources who had earlier reported that Thieu would recommend a flat rate of 400 piasters per U.S. dollar said Sunday the president was more likely to let the piaster float freely on the international money market. They said this would be a more effective means of curbing the currency black market.

The East and Gulf coast dock strike grew worse, as longshoremen in the West Gulf ports from Lake Charles, La., to Brownsville, Tex., threatened to join the walkout for the first time.

A strike by 10,000 employees of the Greyhound Bus Co., which had been set for noon Sunday, was postponed until Friday. It threatened to shut down all service east of the Rockies and curtail operations in the far West.

Some 5,000 longshoremen walked off the job Sunday in Philadelphia and other ports on the Delaware River.

Woodcock said labor's five members of the 15-member Pay Board caucused last Monday and voted to remain in. He predicted they will continue "as long as things go as well as they have.'

MAHE backs college fund

The higher education component of the Michigan Education Assn. (MEA) charged Friday that legislative interference with university operations presents a serious threat to academic

The charge was contained in a "friend of the court" legal brief submitted in support of three Michigan universities who initiated a suit over the autonomy of colleges in December, 1967.

The University of Michigan (U-M) regents, the Wayne State University governors, and the MSU trustees charged on Dec. 22, 1967, that the constitutional autonomy of those three elected boards had been violated by conditions written into state appropriations to universities.

"The legislative assault on academic freedom is a most dangerous aspect of this controversy," the "amicus curie" (friend of the court) brief stated. The MEA's involvement in the suit came in the form of the 14 page brief filed by the Michigan Assn. for Higher Education, (MAHE), which is part of the MEA. The MAHE is a nonprofit voluntary organization with over 2,000 members from Michigan colleges.

"It is the conclusion of the MAHE that the legislature has transcended its constitutional authority to appropriate general fund monies to maintain institutions of higher education in Michigan and has attempted to usurp the constitutional powers of the Plaintiff (colleges) governing boards in supervising the operation of the institutions and controlling and directing the expenditures of the funds appropriated to them," the brief, dated Nov. 3, states. "While engaged in this constitutional trespass, the legislature has impaired contractual obligations, threatened civil liberties and invalidly included subjects in the appropriations acts not expressed in the titles thereto.'

The original complaint by the three universities has never been ruled on, but has been amended each year after the passage of another annual appropriations bill. Furthermore, the State Board of Education became involved in the suit in January when it joined the State of Michigan as an intervening defendant.

Ingham County Circuit Court Judge Marvin J. Salmon indicated earlier this month that he would make his decision in the case by early December. An appeal is expected by whichever side loses.

"We are increasingly concerned about the legislature's efforts to control and direct the allocation of appropriations to higher education institutions," Calhoun Collier, professor of elementary and special education, and president of MSU-Faculty Associates, said Friday.

deliberations associated with the "It is the constitutional duty of the legislature to status of librarians and the appropriate funds, and furthermore, it is the duty of the institutions to direct use of their own funds. The legislature has exceeded its constitutional duty," Collier said.

Collier, serving as a local spokesman for M Collier, serving as a local spokesman for Maregarding the suit, said the autonomy of universities must be maintained so the "legisla does not legislate conditions of employment," added that the governing bodies of the university of the original suit, should not which filed the original suit, should make decisions regarding allocation of appropriations.

Despite the longtime dispute over the right the legislature to "put strings" on unive appropriations, no money has been withheld universities for violation of the legislate guidelines. One noted violation concerns the U failure to comply with a stipulation that enrollment not exceed a 20 per cent limit non-resident students.

One legislative stipulation criticized in MAHE brief states that scholarships and reten or dismissal of students and faculty would be a stipulation criticized in the state of based on a disorderly conduct or sin conviction arising from participation in activ such as campus demonstrations.

"This legislative attempt at campus confor through withholding of scholarships harbinger of attempts at much stronger contra the personal and intellectual lives of students faculty," the brief states.

The brief noted stipulations in the appropriations act to which the MAHE obj including the prohibition against establishing programs without approval, submission of rep beyond annual accountings, establishmen student fees, and determination of the numb hours that an instructor will spend in class.

We have not yet found any system for less than $1000.00 that can significantly outperform "The Graduate"

The Advent loudspeaker introduced a new era of value. It was the result of a determined effort by Henry Kloss to significantly reduce the cost of loudspeaker systems. Henry took advantage of the latest advances in speaker technology, and succeeded in designing a system with performance equal to the finest bookshelf speakers available-but only costing half as much!

At the same time that Henry was lowering the cost of loudspeakers, advances in transistor technology were lowering the cost of amplifier power. The Kenwood KR-5150 is an excellent example of this. Never before has a receiver in its price range been able to offer 180 watts of IHF output power. (This translates to a continuous 33 watts per channel at 8 ohms, with both channels operating!)

Also, never before has a receiver in the KR-5150's price range been able to offer such excellent AM and FM stereo radio reception! Your favorite stations will come in loud and clear, and with full stereo separation, thanks to such advances as field effect transistors and integrated circuits.

To complete this system we have selected the PE 2038 automatic turntable, complete with base, dust cover, and a Shure M93E stereo cartridge installed in it. They live up to the standards of performance and value established by the Advent loudspeaker and the Kenwood receiver.

The ASMSU failure: student union instead?

Many philosophers argue that all phenomena operate in cycles. They base their observation on such events as the coming and going of tides, the appearance of locusts every 17 years, the spawning of fish-cycles governed by the laws of nature. Other cycles develop by the device of man alone, however.

Often a cycle metamorphoses into a rut. Such is the case with the now familiar action pattern set by ASMSU student board. Every fall the leaves turn brown, the band practices in front of Landon Hall and ASMSU fires the cabinet director, hassles over office space allocation, and then argues into the winter over the budget.

The benefits for the student body are less than substantial. All the board does is spend money and allocate offices. They have failed to come up with any new programs or important policy decisions in the recent past. Most good things being done by ASMSU are not performed by the student board, but by the cabinet.

To continue programs such as Pop Entertainment, legal aid, and the loan service only the cabinet is needed. The board at many instances has stood in the way of proper administration of cabinet programs. Not a few board members have meddled with cabinet programs, getting their buddies into cabinet positions, for example.

Concept

The very concept of student government has led to much of this. A student government participant is, by definition, a politician, making patronage and back-stabbing rules of the game. He must constantly hustle student board votes of other student board members to further his personal interests. Besides being hustler, he often becomes a hustlee.

Of course, this situation occurs at all levels of government. The problem becomes more acute in ASMSU, however, for these are first-time politicians with no real knowledge of their art. They have forgotten one essential element of competent political behavior-to please one's constituency.

The student board has done little constructive for the students of this University since the days of the repeal of dorm regulations. This does not mean, however, that there is nothing more to be done to advance student interests.

Recently, for example, the student board had the opportunity to pressure for equal student representation on the academic council. However, they failed to generate the necessary student support, thus student representation on the council remains peripheral. The student board has also failed to motivate the campus in support of causes such as relief for East Pakistan and precipitating an end to the Vietnam War. Students at other universities have done a great deal in such fields, but inadequate leadership has prevented this at MSU.

A more militant body than the student board is needed if student interests are to be advanced any further at MSU. A student union is a viable alternative for filling the void in student leadership.

Purpose

The purpose of the union would be to directly negotiate with the administration for relevant student causes. Strikes, boycotts, sit-ins and the like-the weapons used by labor unions in the past-could effectively be employed to persuade the administration to understand the student's viewpoint.

The union could also carry considerable weight in East Lansing affairs. Students have endured low wages and sex discrimination on the East Lansing job market for too long. A union would help insure equitable

Cabinet services could easily be incorporated into a union framework. Pop entertainment, legal aid and loans, for instance, could be handled by committees within the union

Organization of a student union would pose some difficulties, but these need not be insurmountable. A group of students simply must get together and begin circulating petitions for membership. When the union gains sufficient student support it would obtain major governing group status and, ultimately, surplant ASMSU. In this case union activities, including current cabinet programs, would be supported by the student tax presently being levied for the Associated Students.

The union concept could succeed where the student government concept has failed because in their incipiency, unions tend to be highly goal oriented. Union organizers are not interested in furthering their own political interests, instead they are usually dedicated to furthering causes.

Of course, over the long run a union can fall prey to personal politicking in the same manner the student board has. But at present, a student union can provide an opportunity for students to achieve a more equitable share of power in the University. Student government has failed in this respect; another organization of some sort must arise to fill the vacancy.

Attend deposit hearing

Students who have been ripped-off by greedy and irresponsible landlords can do something in response this afternoon.

A special Michigan House committee studying the rent deposit problem is holding an on-campus hearing between 1:30 and 6:00 p.m. Monday in the Gold Room of the Union. Anyone who has had problems getting rental deposits back from a landlord can testify.

The House committee studying security deposit abuses was formed in response to complaints from tenants, primarily student tenants, all over the state. The legislators are coming to campus specifically to hear those complaints and gather evidence for some sort of bill to regulate damage deposit practices. You must provide that evidence however.

Testifying at the hearing will be as simple as voting. Do not lose out on a perfect opportunity to save yourself and other tenants from future problems with landlords. Be at the hearing with all the evidence and facts you have or can accurately remember. If you have any questions, call Off-Campus Council at 355-8300.

"HE'S the one! . . . I'd recognize him anywhere!"

Caption: 'stoned in Indiana'

Early Friday afternoon, bound from Ann Arbor to Chicago aboard a Penn Central passenger train now roaring down the tracks outside of Michigan City, Indiana.

I glance up from the book I am reading, spotting two young boys in a backyard alongside the tracks. The boys are pitching rocks at the train, pernaps enjoying the extra thrust added by the strong Lake Michigan wind.

Fondly I recall the days when I would use freight trains outside Detroit as moving targets, of old tricks such as placing a penny on the track so a passing train would flatten it out.

Crack. A sudden thud snaps me out of my reminiscing as one of the boys' rocks penetrates the outer plate of the double-plate window on my side. It must have been a large rock, for the inside plate reveals cracks running from top to bottom and side to side as I gingerly touch the window

Paranoia. The projectile's trajectory-had it not been blocked by the now cracked window-would have ended in the left rear of my head. Visions flash through my head of the television-engrained Old West adventure where the Indians relentlessly press on in attacking

"Had we been sitting still the rock would have come straight through," observes the black man in the seat behind me. He is about thirty, intrigued but not emotionally involved in the rock's damage to the window.

A neatly dressed elderly man across the aisle asks with a heavy German accent if it was a gunshot. A bald middle-aged man, who has been arguing with his wife about Daylight Savings Time for the most of the trip, makes a comment about kids in general which his wife objects to. The conductor just shakes his head.

Me? I compose a half-hour sermon on the evils of "harmless fun", specifically the sin of throwing rocks at passenger trains. My mind makes a feeble joke about being stoned in Indiana.

I attempt to discern the boys' motives. Obviously, it was not a premeditated assassination attempt. Nor was it likely inspired by a deep-seated hate of trains or technology. It was no more than two boys having some simple fun: one can easily throw rocks at a tree. but a train is more of a challenge.

My reaction is a request to limit warfare to inanimate objects. Unfortunately, I cannot expect children, boys or girls, to understand and cooperate with a rule against throwing rocks at passenger trains. The academic psychologists might call the act of picking up a rock and hurling it at a train as "deviant behavior" or "motivated by frustration".

The former label of "deviant behavior" is inaccurate in that not only children, but many adults as well, engage in actions that seriously endanger other people's lives. The drunk driver is a menace and a much more serious threat than the rock-throwing children of Michigan City.

Furthermore, the children threw the rocks because it is a natural inclination to do such a thing: there probably was no hatred nor for that matter any boredom. The hunters who shoot at road signs concern me more than do the children.

I am left with no real answers or meaningful conclusions about the Indiana incident. I cannot offer the courtesy of a moral to this tale, other than a warning not to travel. But to not travel because one's rights might be infringed upon by a passing rock is absurd.

All I really appreciate from the incident is that I lived to tell this story. . . and to ask others to look out for the rights of others.

POINT OF VIEW

Rent deposit hearing: landlords vs. students

By JOHN F. HAGEN Off Campus Council member

Hundreds of students have had their damage and / or security deposits ripped off by local landlords and have been assisted by Off - Campus Council in getting the deposits returned. Countless more have been ripped - off but OCC has no record of these

A special investigating committee of the Michigan House of Representatives has been investigating the misuse of security deposits since last February and has scheduled public hearings across the state for the purpose of hearing testimony by tenants and landlords. The local hearing is scheduled for this afternoon, from 1:30 to 6:00 p.m. in the Gold Room of the MSU Union.

The OCC staff has tried to notify every student who has come to OCC of the hearing and its far - reaching implications. Hopefully other students have been made aware of the hearing by the publicity emanating from this office. The importance of the hearing cannot be underestimated.

The special committee of the House will be proposing legislation for the control of mandatory security deposits when their investigation is completed. The vast bulk of their information will come from testimony at the public hearings. The local hearing is important since it is accommodating tenant in a college town where the problem has reached limits of total lawlessness on the part of landlords. The committee will h especially interested in tenant victim testifying as to the following facts: landlord make a standard practice of retaining portions of deposits for such non damage as carpet shampooing, drapery cleaning "processing fees", etc.; charges of up to $1

are levied against tenants for minor damag
such as scratches in furniture and cabinet when deposits are returned, they are usual sent to only one of the three or four tenan who occupied the rental unit; thereis typical delay of one to two months after the apartment is vacated before the deposit returned.

The major landlords and rental agents the area are aware of the hearing and a planning to testify on their own beha They will most probably bring their recor and other documents which they will use try to justify their practices. Thus, it will helpful for tenants to bring in their or documents, such as receipts, itemiz deductions, dated leases and checks, etc. that the landlords' testimony can countered.

Off - Campus Council will make available at the hearing information sheets to tenants in testifying. This information w include suggestions of facts which important, suggestions of how to public identify rip - off landlords while avoiding slanderous testimony, and in gener suggestions of how to make your testimo as effective as possible.

The forthcoming East Lansing Housi Commission will establish controls administration of security deposit accoun probably early next year. The importance the forthcoming state legislation is that it provide controls for areas outside of t corporate limits of East Lansing, thus ma students will still be affected.

Are you really serious in what you said? How are, "Some ecology - minded people going to ruin the country?" It seems to me that those who are concerned with the state of detrimental effects of ecological deterioration are truly trying to save America, rather than let the dictates of business and quest for $money$ destroy us.

As you so well put it, "We'll be endangering operations of certain businesses, if we follow ecological requirements." Isn't it clear that we are destroying the world we live in, at the expense of others for profit and gain of a very few? Your next statement, "The highway is not vital or essential, but looking at it from a traffic engineer's view, it might be necessary." Might be necessary? Try looking at the highway as a student, a patch of grass, or a small animal. You are proposing a route that is life - threatening. It is now time to realign our priorities and to take a stand for cleaner air and pleasant surroundings. Serve the people.

If you seek a beautiful peninsula look about you. To me concrete highways are a distraction to our lovely state. Save it, don't wreak havoc upon it.

There is at present, railroad tracks that run through the campus; the highway is to parallel this route. The railroad, however, is used on a limited basis and does not divide the campus that much. A six lane highway would be in constant use and would be in addition to an already undesirable campus divider (the railroad tracks). Is that beyond your "wildest imagination?"

Your myopia indicates that you do not see a relation between highways and mass transit. Who are you trying to fool? A substantial increase in the use of a viable mass transit system would alleviate the problem that the cross - campous route attempts to solve.

THE NEW REFORMATION BAND

People have been trying to figure out just what it is about the NRB that makes them the hottest entertainment package in Lansing. They're all musicians- but not great musicians. They play dixieland - a style that has a limited appeal. What is it about them? It could be that the band is comprised of seven clowns that have a ball making people happy. One of the rogues is an ordained congregational minister who has to be seen to be believed.

There's no rock, no polkas and no country and western. Just dixieland, performed by seven guys who obviously love what they're doing-and what's better is the audience loves what it's hearing. If you don't believe it, head to . . . .

'S' harriers do it again! upset IU, win league titl

By GARY KORRECK State News Sports Writer

Jim Gibbard is not brash but he is optimistic.

The MSU itinerary for Saturday's Big Ten cross country meet stated: "11:00 a.m. -- Win the Big Ten Championship Cross Country Meets."

It seemed a bit altruistic as the Spartans were rated solid underdogs to an undefeated Indiana unit but half an hour later Gibbard and his harriers were posing with the spoils of victory after his upstart squad had squeezed out an eight point victory over the

"It was a real team effort," said pleased Gibbard, "it just goes to show what a group of young men can do when they put their minds

According to Gibbard, Indiana was out of it all the way as individual winner Garry Bjorklund of Mostschool Minnesota broke the race open early and the Spartans followed.

The Hoosiers did take ninth through 12th but Ken Popejoy and Ranky Kilpatrick were fourth and fifth for MSU and Dave Dieters and Rob Cool were right behind the Hoosiers in 13th and 14th. Steve Rockey, MSU's fifth man, ran to the 38th, but Gibbard said, "Steve ran a real good race.

Lindsey came in 40th. The meet was not as much a runaway as was expected and there were a few other surprises after MSU's big win.

Michigan, in only its first year of official competition, came in a surprising third with 92 points, only 10 behind the Hoosiers. The Wolverines were also the first school to have all its men finish.

Wisconsin was one point back, and Illinois, considered a threat for the top three, stumbled in fifth with 109 points. Minnesota, considered a contender, surprised everyone by finishing with 153 points and a distant seventh, 19 points behind Ohio State grabbed eighth, and Iowa put on a good enough showing to escape the cellar. Northwestern was left with that Bjorklund's time was 29:20.8, 41 seconds ahead of Illinois' Rick Gross. Galen Hackler of Purdue was third at 30:15 and Popejoy was fourth at 30:25, with Kilpatrick just five seconds behind him.

Kilpatrick, who has had some tough luck at the finish line this year, turned the tables on Bob Scharnke of Wisconsin, taking fifth by a second.

Rounding out the top ten were Mark Larson, also of Wisconsin, Keith Brown, of the surprising Michigan sqaud and Steve Heidenreich and Paul Olson of Indiana.

The Spartans two other finishers, Paul Kurtis and Ron Cool, took 44th and 50th respectively.

It was ironic that something the Spartans had had trouble with all year was Indiana's undoing Saturday.

"Their (Indiana's) fifth man really let them down," said Gibbard. He added that the temperature, between 41 and 42 degrees, was not as cold as he would have like it, but it might have been too cold for Indiana's warm weather runners.

For Gibbard, it was his third title in four years as Spartan coach and for MSU teams, its 14th title in 22 seasons of Big Ten

Wisconsin holds the all-time mark with fifteen, but its fourth place finish this year was its highest in recent years and the Badgers have competed for considerably more seasons.

For Indiana, it may have been affirmation of their "choke"

The Detroit Lions fell Sunday on their home field to the Los Angeles Rams, 21-13.

The Lions grabbed the early lead on a field goal by Errol Mann in the first period-a 37-yarder-to give Detroit a 3-0 lead. But the Lions could not regain the lead after the Rams moved in front 7-3 on a one-yard run by Les Josephson. The Lions' record now stands

The lone Lion touchdown was scored by Greg Landry on a one-yard run late in the game. Mann added an additional 13-yard field goal.

Lance Rentzal scored the other two Ram touchdowns on passes from Roman Gabriel, the first coming in the second quarter and covering 14 yards. The fourth period TD pass covered 33 yards.

The win gives MSU three titles in a row, its longest streak sh 1955-60 when it won six straight. The 74 points was the highest winning total for a Spartan BigT

Duffy Daugherty stood in the midst of a swarm of press representatives in his locker oom cubicle Saturday after his team had just swamped Minnesota, 40-25, and jokingly queried, "Well, aren't you going to ask me if this win oday saved my job?" It's been that type of year for the Duffer. Newspapers from across nation and state have fired Duffy a hundred times over and insisted that this would be his last season in a football coaching capacity on the MSU campus.

But while the press has pinned Duffy on a tightrope, the amiable Irishman has masterfully shuffled along doing what he does best-winning. He dumped Woody Hayes in Hayes' own little heaven of Columbus last week. Saturday, Daugherty ended a personal seven game losing streak to old friend Murray Warmath and his Minnesota Gophers. And did so with relative ease.

Warmath was complimentary to the Spartans after the game.

"Michigan is very fortunate t doesn't have to play MSU again," the Gopher coach said.
"I wouldn't want to have to pick a winner if the game was replayed, but I'd love to be at that ball game.'

Eric Allen, Duffy's main offensive gun, was just as confident in the MSU football

"Ohio State was lucky to get off as easy as they did against us." Allen said. "We can beat anybody right now. I'd like to et Michigan back."

for a team playing under a upposed lame duck coach, that's quite a hatful of plaudits. Duffy Daugherty is still eager to win, as eager as he was back in 1953 when he ook the post. But that's all Duffy wants to do. To win. He doesn't like to run up ridiculous scores that mbarrass not only opposing eams but opposing coaches as well. Duffy substituted freely ate in the contest.

"I just wanted to give eryone a chance today." Daugherty explained after the ame. "I had no desire to pour on. I wasn't trying to impress any pollsters. We aren't going anywhere there." It's Duffy's turn to get back at his critics. How can anyone knock a winning coach? Especially a gracious winner.

Warmath

By MIKE ABERLICH State News Sports Writer

For a while it looked like Murray Warmath had Duffy Daugherty's number. That is, until Eric Allen and company did the job on Warmath's

Minnesota Gophers Saturday. Warmath had run up an impressive string of seven straight wins against the Duagherty-coached Spartans, but the MSU Irishman got in his licks thanks in part to the shifty Spartan back, who received most of Warmath's praise in a subdued Gopher locker room following the MSU conquest.

"He's certainly the best back I've ever seen in the Big Ten in my 18 years as coach," the Minnesota coach said, "I don't really know if any in the whole country can touch him."

Allen's four touchdowns and 179 yards rushing broke the Gophers' back, and it was the Spartan offensive captain who carried the brunt of the attack in the opening minutes of the second half when the Spartans broke it open.

"Those first ten minutes of the second half were the longest ten minutes I've ever seen," added Warmath, who watched on the sidelines as "The Flea" reeled off two quick touchdowns to give MSU a commanding 24-7 lead.

"We helped them too much," Warmath continued, "we put on a good show in the first half and then gave it to

"I'm not trying to detract from a wonderful team, though," he was quick to add, "they are capable of playing with anybody."

The Gophers' noted quarterback Graig Curry failed to impress the Spartan defensive unit as he could connect on only three of 12 passes while getting in his playing time. Curry sustained a slight injury last week, and that may have hampered him slightly, Warmath said.

"I can't really say how much that affected him." added Warmath, who got a strong passing performance from second stringer Bob Morgan in the fourth quarter as one of the long bright notes of the troubled afternoon.

All in all it was a difficult day for Warmath, who has seen better days against the Spartans. This time, however, it was no contest. Duffy got the last laugh this year.

HAPPENING 'S' frosh gridders routed by Wolves

By STEVE STEIN State News Sports Writer

ANN ARBOR-Four costly interceptions and three equally as costly fumbles hurt the MSU fresiman football team Saturday as the University of Michigan frosh rolled to a 49-7 victory over the

A tough Wolverine defense held the frosh running attack to 123 yards, while the Spartan quarterbacks, Steve Moerdyk, Steve Burton and Mike Jones, completed 6 of 15 passes for 55 yards. Meanwhile, the "Baby Blue" as they are called, picked up 245 yards rushing, including 130 yards in 17 carries by speedster Gil Chapman, who scored on a 62-yard run. Michigan added 104 yards through the air to outgain the Spartan frosh, 349 Joe Arnold led the Spartan rushing attack with 48 yards on nine rushes, Dave Brown added 32 yards with seven carries, and halfback Arnold Pi Mu Epsilon will meet at 7:30 p.m. Morgado, the season-leading MSU ground gainer, today in 204 A Wells Hall. Martin Fox, was held to only 24 yards on 18 attempts. MSU's lone score came early in the second period after defensive tackle Bob Witsberger recovered a Michigan pitch-out fumble on the Wolves' 14 yard-line. Five plays later, Dave Brown plunged over from the three yard line, with Robert Delaney adding the extra point.

Up until that time, the Michigan squad had accumulated a 21-0 lead. The Wolverines took the opening kickoff and rambled 68 yards in 10 plays, scoring on quarterback Dennis Franklin's one yard plunge. Chapman's 43-yard romp set up the TD.

The Baby Blue then turned the game around by scoring two touchdowns within 54 seconds. As Spartan punter Kellie Dean went back to punt late in the first stanza, the snap from center flew over his nead. In the ensuing scramble for the ball, Michigan linebacker Rick Van Tongeron recovered the ball in the end zone.

On the following kickoff, the Wolverines' Carl Russ recovered a Spartan fumble, and three plays later, Glenn Franklin rambled 33 yards for a six-pointer.

Chapman erupted for his 62 yard run with only 1:01 remaining in the half, showing good open-field running along the way.

MSU moved down to the Wolverine 26-yard line midway through the third quarter, but a Michigan interception by Steve Strinko stopped that drive. Franklin passed 33 yards to Greg DenBoer, and then Franklin hit Dave Brown on a 13-yard

Brown intercepted a Spartan pass at the onset of the final period, and returned the ball 49 yards to the State two-yard line. Franklin plunged over from the one for the touchdown, and strangely enough, the Wolverines went for and were successful on a two-point conversion to make it

MSU moved down to the Michigan 37-yard line on the strength of some fine running by Dave Brown, but another Wolverine interception halted the drive.

The U-M frosh drove 85 yards for their final score, a two yard run by Linwood Hardin.

Very little major construction to alleviate traffic congestion in and around the University will take place if the trustees disapprove the highway proposal, the statement predicted. ## NASG convention aims to expand new voter role

By BOB ROACH Executive Reporter

Efforts to expand the role of young voters in the 1972 Republican and Democratic national conventions will begin Dec. 3 - 5 at Loyola University in Chicago with a conference called by the National Assn. of Student Governments (NASG).

Michael Manning, NASG vice president, met briefly Sunday with ASMSU representatives to encourage a large MSU delegation to the Emergency Conference for New Voters. Al Flory, director of ASMSU's Legislative Relations office, was selected to coordinte local plans for the conference.

Manning said the conference will emphasize the education of local representatives in strategies necessary to insure that women, minorities and young people in general are adequately represented in the selection of precinct delegates for state and national conventions.

While the Democratic party's McGovern Commission report called for adequate representation of all age, sex and racial groups in delegate selection, Manning said many of the "youth seats" may be filled by "young party hacks."

Despite the impressive potential of 25 million voters between 18 and 24 years of age, he said the vote itself is not enough.

"Long before the final election in 1968, the means of selecting the two presidential nominees, in turn dependent on the selection of delegates to the national conventions, deprived us of any satisfactory choice," Manning said.

With this critical nature of delegate selection, he said the conference will include workshops centering on precinct caucus tactics, slate-making, delegate qualifications, legal rights and resources for delegate challenges and the formation of political organizations.

"While effects of the Vietnam war and the urban crisis may be diminishing for middle-class American college students." Manning said, "to excuse oneself from political action for reasons of 'alienation' or 'apathy' is the college student's own despicable little way of contributing to the misery of the helpless in Southeast Asia and the urban ghettos."
