command until his death in 1963.

Thanom's decision to follow in his footsteps appeared to reflect a judgment that constitutional rule with an elected parliament was not working.

In theory, a requirement for two-thirds majority in parliament meant the government could never lose a vote. But the government, composed mainly of soldiers like Thanom, was unable to keep its own party in line.

On Sept. 27, 1971, Judge Stephen Roth found the Detroit Board of Education, the governor, Ithe attorney general, the superintendent of public instruction and the State Board of Education guilty of establishing and maintaining de jure segregation in Detroit schools.

In his written decision, Roth suggested that the State Board of Education contributed to segregation by not exercising responsibilities which "the State Board did not and still does not feel it possesses either by constitutional mandate or by statute."

"It is this interpretation of responsibility and the subsequent finding of guilt based upon Judge Roth's interpretation which the State Board is now appealing," Edwin L. Novak, president of the board said.

"The State Board feels strongly that the description of its responsibilities, as contained in the Roth decision is unsupported in law and must be tested in a higher court."

Despite its action Tuesday, however, the eight-man body vowed to support all

No quotas for blacks, Laird says

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird denied Wednesday a report of restrictions based on race in assignment of military personnel at foreign bases.

At the same time the congressional Black Caucus continued its unofficial hearings on what it calls "Racism in the Military."

Rep. Parren J. Mitchell, D-Md., said blacks at Ft. Meade in Maryland live in a "climate of intimidation and fear that was almost impossible to gauge.'

"The extent of racism in the military is so deep we cannot possibly cope with it," Mitchell said.

Rep. Ronald V. Dellmus, D-Calif., chairman of the caucus, alleged earlier this week that an agreement between the United States and Iceland dating back to the Kennedy administration restricted the number of black troops sent to Iceland.

Inmates get 'lift' through prison gate

RAIFORD, Fla. (AP) - Two Raiford State Prison inmates rammed their way to freedom through a hail of bullets in a makeshift tank they fashioned in the prison furniture shop, officials said Wednesday.

Raiford Supt. Lawrence Dugger said the inmates, Rex Gyger, 26, of Tampa, and Wallace McDonald, 43, of Jacksonville, fashioned their tank out of a fork lift truck, using 10-gauge sheet metal for armor plating.

The men broke out of the prison in northeast Florida last Saturday. They remained at-large Wednesday.

"They enclosed a fork lift with 10-gauge sheet metal," he said, explaining that the armorers wrapped two layers of metal around the sides and placed four thicknesses atop the truck.

Dugger said the men waited in the prison shop until dusk fell over the 3,000 man prison. Then they rode 200 yards to freedom.

"They crashed the gates and officers in the tower above fired on them with a 30-30 rifle," Dugger said. "The bullets

The University's "affirmative action plan for women"-to be officially released at the board of trustees meeting Friday-calls for 14.6 per cent of the faculty in the tenure system to be women by 1974.

Currently, the plan reports, 13.1 per cent of those in the tenure system are women.

The document is a revision of an earlier plan

The University based the target figure of 14.6 per cent on the estimated number of openings which would become available through retirements, resignations and other terminations. Another key factor in setting the figure was the availability of qualified female applicants, Perrin presented to the trustees at their September said. He said this information is based on meeting. The trustees asked Robert Perrin, vice 1968-69 data supplied by the U.S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare.

Trustee Patricia Carrigan, D-Ann Arbor, the only female member of the board of trustees, declined to comment on the report this week. saving she wanted to ask more questions about the report before making judgments.

Trustee Warren Huff, D-Plymouth, said there was "some improvement" in the document but that he was concerned that the 1968 data was "old data".

The report says the "total University goal" for 1974 is 102 women but that this figure includes replacement of 34 women expected to retire or resign.

"Therefore, 68 positions will be newly held by women if the goals are reached and the 1974-75 faculty will include 14.6 per cent women and we believe their employment will be materially increased in areas where they are currently under-represented."

The document says the University is also urging that 10 per cent of the female hiring goals be for minority women.

In the document, the University says it admits there has been discrimination against women in the past but will work to improve the situation.

"The University recognizes a paucity of women in the tenure system and hereby hopes to demonstrate its serious concern and intent to improve the situation," the report reads.

It also details other efforts the University has made recently to improve the situation:

• The University has begun a "major program" to provide the statistical data necessary to uncover inequities and to measure progress regard to faculty ranking, tenure, salaries enrollment and similar areas of concern.

Thursday, November 18, 1971

• The University will continue to ensure the men and women in the same job levels an categories performing equal work shall receive equal pay. In this regard, the University compile an analysis of clerical-technical administrative-professional and labo employment data. The analysis shows the women exist in much higher proportions in the lower levels of employment. For example, in the clerical-technical category, there are no men ar 38 women in the lowest level and 20 men ar one woman in the highest level. The plan calls for greater administrative responsibility and promotional opportunities for women.

• The University will continue to encourse academic units to actively recruit fema students-both undergraduates and graduates.

• The University has also changed its materni leave policy, to insure the reinstatement women employes after a seven-month materia leave.

• The board of trustees provided $15,000 f furnishing and equipping a building for a Da Care Center for 100 pre-school children Spartan Village.

• The Office of Equal Opportunity h systematically monitored various University uni to insure the maximum effort at recruitment an consideration of female applicants.

Tenth planet theorized

British and U.S. astronomers are testing a theory that there may be a 10th planet in the solar system beyond Pluto. But the senior observer at the Cambridge University Observatory, David Dewhirst, stressed Wednesday in Cambridge, England it was a dubious possibility.

He said two Cambridge astronomers, Max Hammerton and David Bardon, working in cooperation with Dennis Rawlins of Notre Dame College of Baltimore, theorized that minute irregularities in the motion of the planet Neptune could be caused by a new planet. It would be the farthest from the sun in the solar system.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., released Wednesday in Washington the names of 68 poultry farms which a government report said were operating under "unacceptable" sanitary conditions.

The plants, including some of the largest and most widely known names in poultry processing, are located in a dozen states: Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Mississippi, North Carolina, Ohio, Texas, Virginia, and Wisconsin.

Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton proposed Wednesday in Washington two new laws to tighten mining and mineral leasing practices on federal land to bring the government more income and the states a share in the profit.

Morton has sent to Congress with an urgent request for action two bills to update the Mining Law of 1872 and Mineral Leasing Law of 1920, his announcement said.

Both bills would require competitive bidding for mining permits, leases, or sales contracts for commercially valuable minerals.

"We don't have a curriculum planned for the law school. We are not anxious to mimic the curriculum of other schools such as the University of Michigan or Wayne State University. We want to strike off in a new direction with the law school at MSU."

He observed that the University would approach the law school with the people of Michigan and their needs in mind, much as it did with the new medical school. He said that while a smaller school might easily open up operation overnight, a state university like MSU would need to proceed slowly. Faculty approval of the law school's curriculum would be another hurdle in the path of immediate establishment of the law school. Cantlon added.

The University is seeking $3 million from the legislature for the law school in its projected budget requests for the next five appropriations. The justification statement in the $30,000 request for 1972-73 states: "The proposed law school will require a building to provide office and classroom space in addition to a library to house the law library collection and the necessary reading space for students."

Trustees should follow council's highway vote

Monday night the East Lansing City Council voted not to recommend constructing a massive four-lane highway across the MSU campus. In doing so, the city council not only kept faith with their electorate, but also signaled community sentiment to the board of trustees.

Councilmen George Griffiths, George Colburn and Mayor Brookover are to be congratulated for fulfilling their campaign promises by voting "no" Monday night. Their action will help close the credibility gap left by the past city councils.

Equally as important, their vote showed the MSU trustees that not only the campus community but the city government as well is against dividing the campus with four lanes of concrete and cars. The trustees, who are meeting Friday to decide the matter, must necessarily view the council's rejection as especially significant since it indicates a change in direction from past East Lansing this University.

congestion on Grand River will not be relieved at all, but rather both Grand River and the cross-campus route will experience capacity use.

It has also been argued that Lansing and Meridian Township need the highway if they are to develop further. Such a point is not without merit but, an interchange at Mt. Hope Road rather than Trowbridge Road would better serve the interests of all communities involved.

One of the major indictments against the proposed route is that it would create a number of serious problems. The exhaust from about 48,000 passing cars by the campus each day could critically affect plant and animal life studied by classes just south of the tracks. In addition, the noise from the same number of cars would be disruptive to classes and study efforts in the east and south complexes and married housing. Both points are important considering the educative function of

New oracles for the high temple

By RICHARD LEE STROUT

As the minutes ticked by with a hideous, immeasurable five-megaton monster buried a mile deep on the earthquake line in the foggy Aleutians that might or might not blow up the world, what did frightened Americans do? Why they did what every Greek would have understood 2500 years ago in the time of Herodotus, they hurried to consult the oracle, the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court, make no doubt of it, has an awesome, mystical, religious, value very handy in commanding respect in a humdrum government in a materialistic age. No other modern nation has anything quite like it; they have a King or Queen in some countries or a ceremonial president who stands above and behind the premier, but we consult the Court.

Nothing new in that! Should Themistocles abandon Athens to Xerxes or should he fight the naval battle of Salamis? - nobody knew, so he sent messengers hot foot off to Delphi which handed down its judgment which nobody could understand, partly because it was written in hexameter verse and partly because it was as skillfully vague as a pollster's prediction before a close presidential election.

So what do we do in Washington when the executive cannot, and the legislature will not intervene? Like Lacedaemonians we go to our Greek temple, and ask the seven wise men (two seats are empty).

They don their holy black robes and the votaries make their pleas. You can browbeat an oracle or at least try to: The executive in this case almost jumped up and down contending that they must have a "go" signal by 12:30, or abandon the awesome blast.

The seers go into the holy of holies to consult the Mystery - America's Bible, Talmud and Koran - the Constitution revealed two centuries ago, the original of which is piously preserved in an inert gas, hermetically sealed, in its own temple.

Search the ancient instrument as they could the Seven found nothing in it about nuclear blasts and Amchitka was not even mentioned. They came out, looking more profound and mysterious than ever as augurs have since sacerdotal rites began, like examining the entrails of chickens. They reported 4-3 that they couldn't get an exact fix from the founding fathers but that, anyway, a majority felt they shouldn't hold up the show. It was put in nice legal lingo, not hexameters.

Talk about this institution as a simple court! - it is vastly more than that. It is one of the most potent mystical adjuncts of our government, by which the common man is kept in line, very handy in a democracy, by which he is sometimes willing to suspend his judgment when common sense points another way and by which, on rare occasions, he is persuaded to enter strange new paths of progress when they are opened by men like Earl Warren and his group.

So that is why the replacement of members is so important. Mr. Nixon covered the country in 1968 attacking the court while it was a liberal body but now that he has, in practical terms, switched it to a conservative body he urges respect and observes sorrowfully, "I have noted with distress a growing tendency in the country to criticize the court as an institution." Well, dear dear! This from the man who said the court had abandoned the "peace forces as against the criminal forces. To this court Mr. Nixon has nominated a respectable Virginia conservative, Lewis Powell, who will surely be confirmed, and join conservatives Burger and Blackmun, and a younger Goldwater conservative, William Rehnquist, whose views are such that they can only be termed astonishing. Only seven years ago he carried out what amounts to a one-man crusade in Phoenix, Arizona, against a public accommodations law requiring drug stores to serve blacks, and he did it on the basis of the holy rights of private property. When the city council voted against his volunteer effort unanimously, Rehnquist, who is an activist zealot, volunteered a letter to the local newspaper charging that the "ordinance summarily does away with the historic right of the owner of a drug store, lunch counter or theater to choose his customers." He pleaded that the "freedom of the property owner" should not "be sacrificed to give these minorities chance to have access to integrated eating places . . . ." The rights of property, under the Rehnquist philosophy, would com before the rights of Jews, Irish, black Italians or what have you.

It is breath-taking. He told the Sens Judiciary Committee that he has change these views. Why? — because he has foun that segregation doesn't work, and "because I have come to realize since, mo than I did at the time" that minority really care about equality. Right down to 1964, Rehnquist hadn't realized that the

"The white people of this country don realize that a man who kicks blacks in th teeth is not suitable for the Suprem Court," said NAACP spokesman Clarence Mitchell, and Joe Rauh of ADA, afte reviewing Rehnquist's overall record calle him "the most reactionary appointee t the Supreme Court in the 20th Century

Rehnquist doesn't just nourish h prejudices in private: he writes letters editors about them; he is an activist. Whe The Washington Post attacked Carswell nomination he volunteered a letter with the strange juxtaposition that broadening of civil rights would bring "furth expansion of the constitutional rights of criminal defendants, of pornographers and of demonstrators."

The Supreme Court will have staggerin questions to answer in the next generation We talk about busing, for example, but the is just the outward symbol; the problem a nation divided between black slums an leafy suburbs, with busing a desperate a minute expedient to bring them togethe If busing fails the problem of "one nation divided" remains. And already there is new legal attack on it; the new code wor will be "zoning," not busing.

Factories are emigrating from the inn slums to the suburbs but there they fin that restrictive zoning against garde apartments and row houses segregat families with low and moderate - income Ford quits Newark and buys 200 acresh a factory at Mahwah, New Jersey, but the 4200 Ford workers learn that they can live there unless they purchase homes wi an acre or so of land: the ordinances a tight and fierce. It is economic segregation not by race but by class. Sooner or i policy. The trustees will not want to retard this progress.

Clearly, the trustees have only one logical decision – the cross-campus highway should not be built. The argument that the highway will benefit the community is questionable at best. Very probably

The board of trustees logically can only vote "no" Friday when the campus highway decision is made. When the students and the city unequivocally reject the proposal any other decision by the trustees would be tantamount to a breach of faith with the community.

Advice to legislators: Stay in the boondocks

The legislators have left a "closed for business" sign on their doors and gone-a-hunting.

Monday at 7 a.m., deer season started in Michigan. Our legislators, no longer able to hold back the foaming saliva that drooled down their chins, voted last week to adjourn for this week and return Monday. It seems they had better things to do - like killing deer and maybe another hunter – than sit at home and try feebly to solve drugs, 18-year-old drinking and criminal law reform.

they come back Monday, responsible government.

Thanksgiving will be a short three days away. More likely than not. they will use the coming holiday as an excuse to postpone their work until the week after next. They will then have two weeks to spend with their wives and their $595 pop guns. While millions look to the legislature to bring Michigan out of the legal Dark Ages, representatives and senators alike are out in the woods with their pints of whiskey and their personal arsenals.

We cannot help but wonder if our problems like abortion reform, doughty legislators might best serve their constituencies by staying out in the boondocks, thereby, allowing the Legislators are clever fellows. When people the option of election a new,

No rights without property rights

To the Editor:

While John Podulka claims in the Nov. 12 Point of View that the freedom to live decently and the freedom of self-determination over one's life are more important than the freedom to own private property, we unfortunately are not told how his two freedoms are to be maintained without property rights.

The case of freedom of self-determination over one's life is the product. However the worker is certainly most disturbing. This freedom without the freedom to own private property is simply a contradiction in terms. I cannot have self-determination over my life without the right to "the product of my life," which by the way does not and should not equal the value of the product I make, since other costs such as those of raw materials. interest, capital investment, dividends, and taxes are included in the price of the

While we are here, we may as well dispel the notion that laissez-faire capitalism leads to slave wages. If minimum wage laws were all that kept firms from dictating wages, we would expect them to cluster around the minimum. This is clearly not the case, not only because of labor unions, but also because under competition employers,

The freedom to live decently, like at other freedom, is meaningless without property rights. Once the state assum control over personal property, the freedom to live decently is only valid at the decently is only valid at the decent of the de pleasure of the state, and is therefore not freedom at all, but merely an indulgen granted by a temporarily kindly state. Th may be illustrated by the standard examp of the Russian kulaks, whose freedom live decently suffered the ultima violation once property rights disappeared

This point is even mentioned (but n explored) by Podulka when he states th "the government would always have to very responsive to the wishes of citizens" under his proposed social system. The pertinent question would "How likely is this to happen?" but it never asked. However a quick check of the history bocks will show us that o government, although it has one of the be records of any in history, falls far short this necessary condition.

So even if the state does find it possib and profitable to automate when priva firms, which need not worry about t political consequences, do not, and even enough people would work when could get a livable income (whatever th is) and a free education by not working, find, given the kind of government man experienced throughout history, that t freedom to live decently and the freedo of self-determination over one's life dependent upon freedom to own person property.

Student pay raise due

The University has recommended that graduate assistants and student employes receive a pay raise.

To date, students have been left out of the pay raise bonanza. Faculty and staff were recently given pay hikes retroactive to July 1 -the date they normally would have received the raise.

Students deserve the raise. The current minimum rate pay on campus is $1.60 per hour for student employes and $1.70 for student workers in the residence halls and food services division. The University pay scale is, in fact, lower than in some 'area stores considered to be exploitive.

Moreover, with the faculty and staff receiving salary increases, it seems only equitable that the student sector too, should receive a pay hike.

Optimumly graduate assistant and student raises should include the same retroactivity bounty that the faculty now enjoys. Unfortunately Phase 2 guidelines to date rule out any such joyous occurance. Thus the University is making the best of a bad situation.

At this point, however, the student body will undoubtedly be willing to take the cash and let the credit go.

people are suspicious of Sen. Edward Kennedy's political intentions, they certainly cannot be blamed. Every time you pick up the newspaper there is another story about Teddy Kennedy confirming he is not a presidential candidate in 1972. It isn't the denial that has people confused as much as where Sen. Kennedy denies it.

As the campaign heats up we can expect more and more news stories on the subject. They might look like this:

WINDY FALLS, Iowa - Sen. Edward M. Kennedy told a cheering throng of 10,000 persons at the Windy Falls County Fair that he would not accept the presidential nomination under any circumstances in 1972.

The senator from Massachusetts said that the people must defeat Nixon or the country would be faced with inflation, unemployment, drought and financial ruin. He called on the citizens of Iowa to turn out the Republicans in 1972 and elect a Democratic President from the fine list of candidates who were now running, of which he was not one.

After his speech Sen. Kennedy visited an Indian reservation, a Mexican - American migrant labor camp, a United Auto Workers communion breakfast, a chamber of commerce awards banquet and made a short speech during half-time ceremonies at the Iowa State - Nebraska Tech homecoming game, reiterating his determination not to run for the highest office in the land.

NEW YORK - Sen. Edward Kennedy spent 14 hours in New York City yesterday in a whirlwind tour. A Kennedy aide said that the senator from Massachusetts wanted to take his message that he was not a presidential candidate personally to all the five boroughs.

The senator unequivocally denied any higher political ambitions at a rally in Harlem, a Jewish temple in Queens, the Sons of St. Patrick in Staten Island, the Brothers of Italy in Brooklyn and the Save Yankee Stadium Citizens League in the Bronx.

He then talked for an hour with Mayor John Lindsay in an effort to persuade Lindsay not to start a grass-roots Kennedy presidential campaign.

Anyone interested in donating toys may do so at the MSU Museum or the Curious Book Store.

moaning, battered persons on stretchers and wheelchairs. The 10 are covered with blood and the screams and moans of those rushed in echo nightmarishly through the halls of the health center.

Doctors and nurses on duty at the center hurry about making preparations for the accident victims while the doctor on duty delivers orders to the staff, punctuated in the background by the cries of those on the stretchers.

The center which only moments earlier had been quiet and relatively serene is now crowded, busy and bloody.

The scene described is not really a disaster, only a simulated accident staged with the cooperation of the Public Safety Dept. and health center officials to test the ability of the center to cope with a large scale emergency.

The test, required twice a year of all accredited hospitals, began at 10:45 p.m. Tuesday when Carl J. Eigenauer, safety engineer with the safety department called the health center and informed them that a test was being conducted and they were to open a yellow envelope hanging on their bulletin board addressed to the police.

The letter said the hospital was to ready itself for a mock disaster. The letter said a train had derailed and run into an apartment building at Spartan Village.

"An unknown number of casualties will be transported there (health center) as soon as we can get them out of the wreckage," Eigenauer told the receptionist over the phone, adding, "this is a drill."

Although police and officials at the health center knew of the drill beforehand, the staff had no prior warning of the test and handled the matter as if it were a real catastrophe.

Eight medical students, a graduate student, and an East Lansing high school student who spoke fluent Spanish, volunteered to be made up as accident victims. A liquid bearing a strikingly close resemblance to blood flowed liberally around the make-up headquarters at Quonset Hut 99. There were also plastic broken arms, legs, punctured lungs, concussions and other various realistic ailments on hand that were applied to the makeshift Lansing.

Patrolman James Scott, characterized in a recent State News story as a cop who did not like to give out traffic tickets, was on hand with morticians wax, bits of immitation glass and water paints to give the volunteers awesome looking cuts and scars.

Scott, who started his make-up work while in high school "because nobody else would do it", reminisced about some of his first handiwork, not the least of which was putting putty beards on the three wise men for a high school play.

Once the victims arrived, about 10 minutes after the first phone call, the hours of preparation for such an event were past history and the drill was now for keeps. Dr. Thomas B. Hill, doctor on call at the center, began coordinating the operation. Five of the victims were ordered transferred to Sparrow Hospital and Inghain Medical where treatment for lung and head injuries is usually administered.

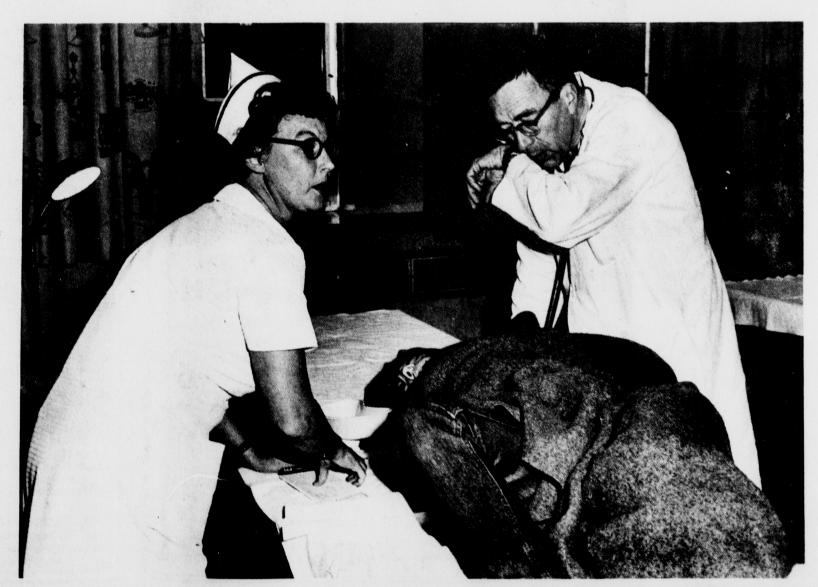

The remaining five were put through the tagging, X-rays, bandaging and other emergency care channels.

The medical students played their part as if they were now at MSU via Hollywood. They came complete with screams, moans, inability to remember their names, shock which resulted in one patient with a broken nose wandering aimlessly about the hospital while the busy staff tried to sit him down, chills and irregular breathing resulting from a punctured lung. Both the students and the staff at the hospital handled the situation as if it were real and the seriousness of the entire operation lent itself to an awesome realism.

The young boy who knew Spanish was told beforehand not to speak English to further complicate matters. A Spanish-speaking nurse was found who was able to find out the boy's name.

The evaluation of the exercise, to determine the overall success of the center in dealing with a crisis and their preparedness for disasters, is not yet complete.

James W. Cooke, administrator at the center, said department officials involved will meet with police department officials "in the near future" to formalize a report and at that point it will be made public.

Daigneau gives Wildcats an aerial circus

SPORTS

Maurie Daigneau

Everything you need to know about Venereal Disease. How to avoid getting it. What to do if you think you have it. Sound advice for a worried friend.

By MIKE ABERLICH State News Sports Writer

For a while it looked as if the Northwestern Wildcats were going to roll over and play dead in the race for Big Ten football leadership, but head coach Alex Agase would have none of that. Agase, last year's national "coach of the year," after a crushing 24-7 defeat at the hands of Illinois, has managed to get his Wildcats rolling once again over the last two weeks with muchneeded wins over Minnesota (41-20) and Ohio State (14-10). And with those two contests out of the way, all that stands in front of the Wildcats' path to a second place finish is Saturday's MSU game.

OSU, technically, could also finish second in the league race but they would have to overhaul Michigan for that honor.

As a result, the winner of the MSU - Northwestern clash most likely will be awarded second place. Michigan has already clinched the first place spot and with it is Pasadena - bound for the Rose Bowl, but pulling a second place finish behind the third - ranked Wolverines would be a feather in the cap for eitherAgase or Spartan coach Duffy Daugherty. And both are dead set on showing off that feather.

On offense for the 'Cats, there's quarterback Maurie Daigneau, thought by many to be the league's top passer. Daigneau was the key to Northwestern's resurgence last year and was also one of the prime reasons the Wildcats tarnished the Spartans last year, 23-20, a win that snapped an MSU hex over the Wildcats at 11 games.

Daigneau has thrown 247 passes and competed 119 this year for a whopping total of 1,670 yards and six touchdowns, and when he unleashes them, he is usually aiming for star receiver Barry Pearson.

It was Pearson who gathered in two long Daigneau bombs last year in the win over MSU.

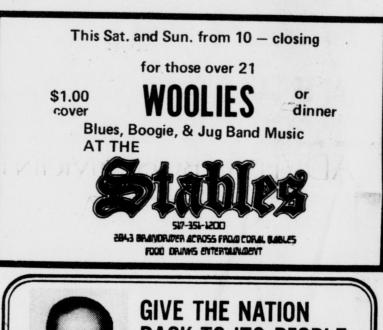

The senior from Geneseo, Ill., was the Big Ten's leading receiver last year, and is well on his way to repeating the trick depending on his performance against the Spartan secondary, which will be minus the services of Brad VanPelt.

Even when Pearson is tied up, Daigneau has a capable receiver in junior speedster Jim Lash. Lash came off the bench late in the opener against Notre Dame a sophomore last year and caught three passes for 46 yards, and has been starting ever since.

The combined threat of Lash and Pearson downfield makes it difficult for any defense to attempt double coverage on either.

Daigneau, a 6-2, 195 - pounder from Rochester, Minnesota, is closing in on many of the Northwestern school records. In his first start against Ohio State in 1969, he completed 22 of 36 passes to break Otto Graham's school record for completions in a game. And that was only an indication of what was to come.

Three weeks ago Daigneau surpassed Tommy Myers' career mark of 21 touchdown passes to again put his name in the record books.

Seated for six

Northwestern's Barry Pearson (21) is seen above catching one of his two touchdown passes from Maurie Daigneau in a game in East Lansing last November that caused MSU's downfall, 24-20. Pearson led the conference in receiving last season and is tops in the circuit again this season with one game left to play. Wildcat quarterback Daigneau is second in the conference in passing.

- By RICK GOSSELIN State News Sports Editor

The MSU Spartans have problems this week, problems of trying to field a healthy football team for Saturday's battle with Northwestern for second place in the conference.

The major loss to the Spartans was Brad VanPelt, who suffered a dislocated left shoulder and was operated on Sunday morning. He has been definitely ruled out by team doctors.

But the offensive line is hobbled, too. Center Bob McClowry is nursing an inflamed elbow. The Dearborn center suffered the severe bruise against Minnesota and is listed as doubtful for the Saturday contest.

Tackle Errol Roy, the only senior on the offensive line, may have played his last game as a Spartan against Minnesota, as he is handicapped in practice this week with a sore leg. His practice time is restricted to jogging and he too is listed as doubtful for the Evanston clash.

"We were banged up more in the Minnesota game than we have been all year," MSU Coach Duffy Daugherty said.

The Spartan mentor feels he has capable replacements for all three players, be the case that none of them play.

In VanPelt's slot, Daugherty has inserted sophomore Bill Simpson, better known for his punting heroics. Simpson is ranked fifth in the conference for his fourth down kicks, toting a 39.2 yard per kick average.

Simpson has been the number one safety back - up all seaso and saw his greates service time in Saturday's game with Minnesota. He made good use of his time in that game by pickin off two of Gopher passes, though one was called back on a penalty. Simpson can also run back punts.

Daugherty will insert sophomore Bob Mills in at center pendin McClowry's availability to play. Mills has seen extended action this season and has proven himself capable at the post.

"Mills is a fine young ball player," Daugherty said, "and we fee we won't be losing any effectiveness by having him in there."

Brian McConnell has been working in Roy's spot this week. The 6 - foot - 5, 214 - pound New Jersey native will be seeing action at his third position in two years. McConnell was recruited as tight end, but was switched after his sophomore season durin spring drills to the defensive end post. Earlier this season, the Spartan coaching staff shifted McConnell to the offensive line in beefing - up procedure.

One player that will be ready for the Wildcats in Eric Allen who moved into the national statistics leaders in a second category with his performance against Minnesota. Allen, who ranks fifth in rushing, dropping from the number four spot of lat week, with an average of 138 yards per game. But the slende speedster jumped into the scoring race with his four touchdown against the Gophers and is situated in third place with an averag of 10.4 points per game. The Spartans are averaging as a team slightly over 22 points per contest. Allen's 17 touchdowns plot him two ahead of Oklahoma's Greg Pruitt and three in front of Alabama's Johnny Musso. Penn State's Lydell Mitchell has prety much run away with the race, having chalked up 25 scores with two games still to play.

BACK TO ITS PEOPLE John W. Gardner, Chairman Common Cause Former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare

Who said citizen action is futile? Populism in the nineteenth century left an indelible mark on the nation. Citizen action won the vote for women in 1920 and brought the abolition of child labor. The labor movement, the civil rights movement, the peace movement, the conservation movement — all began with concerned citizens. If we had waited for the government or Congress or the parties to initiate any of them, we'd still be waiting. Try to think of a significant movement in our national life that was initiated by the bureaucracy. Or by Congress. Or by the parties.

For a while, we lost confidence in our capacity to act as citizens, but the citizen is getting back to his feet. And citizen action is taking on a tough minded professional edge it never had before. Never has our society needed more desperately the life-giving spark of citizen action. We must make our instruments of self-government work. We must halt the abuse of the public interest by self-seeking special interests.

The special interests buy favor through campaign gifts. What flows back is literally scores of billions of dollars in tax breaks, in lucrative defense contracts, in favored treatment of certain regulated industries, in tolerance of monopolistic practices. And the taxpayer foots the bill.

To combat such pervasive corruption, we must strike at the two instruments of corruption in public life-money and secrecy.

To combat the corrupting power of money, we must control campaign spending and lobbying, and require full disclosure of conflict of interest on the part of public officials.

To tear away the veil of secrecy, we must enact "freedom of information" or "right to know" statutes which require that the public business be done publicly. And that's only a beginning. We can regain command of our instruments of self-government.

To accomplish this, each citizen must become an activist, especially the college student with his newly acquired right to vote. He must make his voice heard. Common Cause, a national citizens' lobby, was created to accomplish just that. It hoped to enroll 100,000 members in its first year, and got that number in 23 weeks! On its first anniversary, it had 200,000 members.

 It was the chief citizens' group lobbying for the Constitutional Amendment on the 18-year old vote.

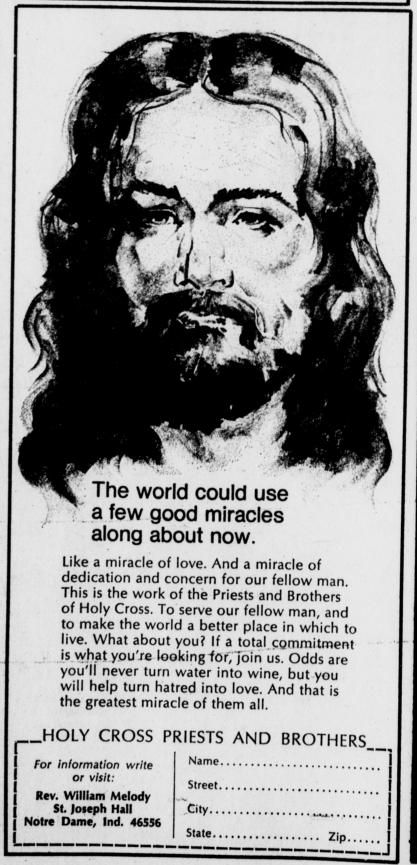

- It joined with environmental groups to defeat the SST.
- It brought the first real challenge in a generation to the tyrannical seniority system in Congress.
- It helped bring the House of Representatives to its first recorded vote on the Vietnam War.
- It has sued the major parties to enjoin them from violating the campaign spending laws.

There is much more to do. And the time to do it is now. The American people are tired of being bilked and manipulated. It's time to give this country back to its people. For additional information, write Common Cause, Box 220, Washington, D.C. 20044.

Sooners reportedly Sugar Bowl-bound

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Unbeaten and second ranke Oklahoma has accepted a bid to play in the Sugar Bowl and will play undefeated and fifth-ranked Auburn, a newspaper reported Tuesday.

The paper said it learned the Sooners voted to accept a Suga Bowl invitation and would officially announce the decision Saturday, the earliest date a team can accept a bid according to NCAA regulations.

Oklahoma is brandishing a 9-0 season record and is in contention for the nation championship which could be decided by the game with Nebraska Thanksgiving Day.

Auburn, currently No. 5 in the nation, could assume the thin spot with a win over unbeaten and untied Alabama when they meet Nov. 27.

The 1971 Oklahoma team leads the country in total offense with an average of 563 yards a game, leads in rushing offense with an average of 481 yards and leads in scoring with an average of 48 points.

'S' harriers need to 'dig' at Monday's NCAA meet

By GARY KORRECK State News Sports Writer

MSU's harriers picked up some gold last week when they won their second straight Big Ten title but they'll have to do a lot of digging to come up with any in the NCAA meet in Knoxville, Tenn. Monday.

Over 40 teams and 330 runners are competing in a field spiced with many favorites.

Oregon, last year's team winner is definitely a favorite, as is their top runner Steve Brefontaine, last year's individual winner. Villanova, second to Oregon by a point last season, and Penn, edged by Villanova in the recent IC4A meet, are rated the top teams in the East.

Villanova also offers Marty Liquori, an Olympic hopeful, who was 9th in the last year's meet.

Washington State, Pacific Eight champs, and Kansas State of the Big Eight are the Western threats along with a solid Brigham Young unit of the WAC.

Along with MSU and Indiana of the Big Ten, Bowling Green and Miami (Ohio) of the MAC are the top Midwestern teams. Garry Bjorklund of Minnesota, who sat out last year's NCAA meet, and Bob Wheeler of Duke, winner of the IC4A individual title are two more top ten favorites.

Jerome Howe of Kansas, Ken Popejoy of MSU and Gary Harris of Western are also expected to push the leaders.

Coach Jim Gibbard considers his Spartans a contender for the title, though he admits "we are shooting for the top seven like we did last year."

"We don't go down there without thinking we can win the championship," he explained.

MSU, exactly seventh last year, appeared to have reached its peak with its Big Ten win last Saturday.

"We're just trying to maintain our peak now," said Gibbard, "we want to keep the same tempo."

Gibbard also said, he wants to keep his team mentally up for the NCAA runoff, adding that the Big Ten win has a tendency to induce complacency with the runners.

Even though the conference title was the axis for the entire season, Gibbard could not help thinking about an NCAA crown, something the Spartans haven't seen in their trophy case since the Kennedy era in the late '50s.

"We can win," said Gibbard but he was quick to add that there were reservations coinciding with his statement.

"As we have all year long," he said, "we will have to work on our fifth man."

Ron Cool and Steve Rockey have been alternating as the Spartans fifth man this season and it was Rockey's sprint that nipped Jason Lindsey of Indiana in the Big Ten final last week, securing an eight point MSU victory.

"If either Ron or Steve would run to his capabilities," said Gibbard, "it is conceivable we could win the NCAA title."

Gibbard's "game plan" is similar to the one he desired in the Big Ten meet.

"We're going to try and stay as a group for the first three miles," he said. "We'll see what happens after that."

Gibbard also said, "We want our group to be near the front, naturally, but we're not going to go out and chase anybody."

A fast Spartan start in the Big Ten meet enabled the harriers to build up a decided edge over an Indiana squad which was slow getting off the mark.

Gibbard commented that the group effort would hopefully eliminate the possibility of a runner falling back and "getting lost" in the pack.

"When a runner gets too far back," he said, "it can really hurt him mentally."

Gibbard's hopes are not resting just on the shoulders of his fifth man, though.

"I'm hoping for more than one all-American," he confessed.

Popejoy achieved all-America status in last year's meet and Gibbard has added Randy Kilpatrick and Rob Cool as candidates for the nonor this year.

aztec.kenwood.garrard

This is made possible by the heart of the System, the Kenwood KA-4002. The KA-4002 offers features that are not available in any other amplifier in its price range. A few of the specifications of the KA-4002 are:

20 Watts RMS per channel )20-20,000 Hz) * Less than 0.5% IM and Harmonic Distortion at rated output * Tuner, 2 Phono and Auxiliary inputs * Main and remote switching for two sets of speakers * Tape monitor and headphone jacks.

To compliment the KA-4002 we picked the Aztec Minuet speaker system. It combines an 8 inch, low frequency driver with a 21/2 lb. magnet assembly and a 3 inch high frequency driver to produce very clean low bass and smooth, well dispersed high frequencies. Not only does the Minuet sound great but its appearance is hard to match in its class.

Completing the system is the Garrard 40B Automatic Turntable with a Shure M-44-7 magnetic cartridge installed. The Garrard 40B is a three speed changer with multiple or single play capabilities, a cueing device, and low mass tone arm.
