

Eric Pianin, managing editor

James Spaniolo, campus editor

Thomas Segal, editorial editor

Lawrence Werner, Sports Editor

Andrew Mollison, executive reporter

William G. Papciak, asst. ad manager

ect

use the phrase "Community of Scholars" every other paragraph.

If we do live in a community of scholars, then instructors should be evaluated on academic ability. And just as important, they should be treated with the respect owed an academician in a community of fellow scholars. This includes the respect of at least telling someone why he is fired.

--The Editors

Andrew Mollison abstains from this editorial and from all other commentary on the ATL controversy, since he is assigned to cover the story objectively.

