

In the Limelight

SENORITA DOLORES CECILIA BONILLAS, daughter of the Mexican ambassador to the United States, was married in Washington on Nov. 17 to Dr. Juan B. Rojo, first secretary of the Mexican embassy. President Carranza and other prominent Mexicans who were unable to be present were represented by proxy at the ceremony. (Photograph copyright by Harris & Ewing, from Paul Thompson.)

MISS ANITA W. PATTON, daughter of George S. Patton, a Los Angeles lawyer, is to be the bride of Gen. Pershing after the war, according to rumor. The Patton and Pershing families have been friends for years. Mr. Patton and his daughter gave a large dinner in Washington for Gen. Pershing before his departure for France. (Photograph by Hemingway Studios, Los Angeles, from Underwood & Underwood.)

MISS SARAH REYNOLDS, a soprano, has been chosen by the Boston Grand Opera company to sing the "Star-Spangled Banner" at each performance.

(Photograph copyright by Underwood & Underwood.)

IN PRACTICAL WAR WORK—Miss Eleanor Hill Weed, who assisted in picketing the White House for suffrage last spring, spent the summer on a farm with eleven other Vassar college girls, who raised a total of farm products sufficient to feed 1,500 persons all winter and twenty head of live stock until next year's crop.

(Photograph copyright by Harris & Ewing, from Paul Thompson.)