

GLORIFIED BY HOLLYWOOD

JEAN PARKER made her real debut on a float in a Tournament of Roses at Pasadena; her beauty attracted the attention of movie officials who gave her a contract. You have seen her in "Sequoia" and "Murder in the Fleet."

TRIBUNE COLOR STUDIO PHOTO

JUNE TRAVIS, daughter of Harry Grabiner, vice president of the White Sox, is one of six girls selected by Warner Brothers for coming stardom. She has just completed her first leading role with James Cagney and Pat O'Brien in "Ceiling Zero."

ARLINE JUDGE, wife of Director Wesley Ruggles, is a New England girl who made good behind the footlights before she was drafted for the movies. On the legitimate stage, she appeared in the second "Little Show."