

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO, at the age of twenty-two, Frederic Francois Chopin, the great Polish musician, came to Paris from his beloved native land, then suffering its "partition" at the hands of Russia. Today the French capital celebrates the centenary of the arrival of its distinguished adopted son.

FOR THIS PICTURE OF ST. BERNARD PUPPIES, their owner, Charles Linke of Chicago, is awarded $10.00—the first of the weekly awards for interesting pictures of dogs. All pictures entered for publication in this series should be addressed to the Roto Editor, Chicago Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago. No pictures will be returned.

THIS FORMIDABLE ARRAY OF HEAVY ARTILLERY stands perpetually trained on the main public square of Monte Carlo, at least it is assumed that it stands so, unless the janitor of the fortress decides to sweep under the Big Bertha, in which case it is probably trained on something else, or perhaps nothing at all. The gun is supposed, says our correspondent, to discourage threatened revolution on the part of dissatisfied subjects of the hereditary prince of Monaco . . . which makes them the most easily cowed revolutionists in history

BOOTLEGGING . . . IN ENGLAND—The packages, barrel and bottle in this picture contain liquor which customs officials brought into the Southend court as evidence against one Percy Lazell, who subsequently was fined 150 pounds for hawking the spirit, which he had colored to resemble whiskey and on which no duty had been paid. (Acme photo.)

THE CALL TO THE BAR—Prophetic of their coming hunt for clients is this traditional winding of the horn by the warder of the London Middle Temple Court, home of the barristers, announcing the admission, or calling to the bar, of young lawyers newly licensed to practice their profession.
