New Deal Adds to U. S. Debt Burdens.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] Washington, D. C., May 9.—[Special.]—Spending two million dollars a day, the federal government thus far in the fiscal year has paid out slightly more than six billion dollars. The treasury department revealed that today. This fiscal year ends June 30, 1934.

The government's expenditures passed the six billion dollar mark last Monday, the treasury disclosed. This is a record high for any peace time fiscal year.

New Deal Boosts Debts.

While it has been pouring out two millions a day, the treasury department has been collecting from its taxes and other revenue sources an average of only $870,000 a day. In other words, the New Deal has been running the treasury into debt at the rate of 1 million 130 thousand dollars a day for the 308 days of the fiscal year which have already passed.

When the treasury totaled up its books on Monday, it found that against its six billion in expenditures it had 2 billion 500 million dollars in receipts, leaving it a deficit of 3 billion 410 million dollars for the fiscal year thus far.

More than half of the treasury's expenditures have been on behalf of the New Deal's alphabetical recovery agencies. These emergency units, such as the Reconstruction Finance corporation, the public and civil works administration and the emergency relief administration have spent 3 billion 343 million dollars thus far in the fiscal year. The entire routine departments of the government have cost only 2 billion 657 millions.

RFC Leads Spending.

Of all the alphabetical groups, the Reconstruction Finance corporation has spent the most, a total of 1 billion 382 million dollars. Much of the RFC money has gone to other agencies, such as the relief administration for actual disbursements. However, the public works administration ranks second with about $500 million. Of the PWA total, however, 400 million went for the civil works administration.

COUNTY ADOPTS 1934 TAX LEVY OF $16,341,594

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday, including those for 1932, were $230,519, making a total of $169,263,379 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Schiffel act, began April 28, 1933. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for the four years follow:

	1932.	1933.	1934.	1935.
May 9.....	$ 6,116	$ 13,478	Uncollected ..	14,408,236
Uncollected ..	14,408,236	88,867,361	1930.	1931.
May 9.....	$ 43,197	$ 68,889	Uncollected ..	62,167,644
Uncollected ..	62,167,644	56,739,166	The day's collections of 1933 real estate taxes totaled $98,839; of 1931 personal property taxes $17,416; and of 1932 personal property taxes $6,109.

The county board yesterday adopted its 1934 tax levy amounting to $16,341,594. The action was taken by the commissioners to make possible the sale of 1934 tax anticipation warrants with which to meet current expenses. The county budget adopted several months ago totaled $19,000,000. The difference between this figure and the tax levy will be raised through funds derived from various county fee of fines.

MEXICAN CABINET MAN QUIT IN ROW ON SEX EDUCATION

MEXICO CITY, May 9.—[AP.]—Narciso Bassols, minister of education and storm center of a recent controversy over a reported plan to establish compulsory sexual education, presented his resignation tonight in a long letter in which he attacked the Catholic church. Bassols accused the clergy of responsibility for agitation among students and parents.

President Abelardo Rodriguez, under whom Bassols has served since the president took office in 1932, accepted the resignation and at the same time thanked the minister for his work and expressed agreement with his view point. No successor has yet been appointed.

In his letter Bassols asserted that recent attempts to start a strike of grammar school students and other agitation, "and above all the fact that all the animosity of the church has been condensed exclusively against me personally, have made me decide to leave office and thus force the clergy and their followers to outline their aims, once and for all, and fight openly against the government of the revolution."

Mrs. Sankey Pleads Not Guilty in Kidnaping Case

DAUGHTER IS BORN TO SECOND WIFE OF ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT

[Picture on back page.] Fort Worth, Tex., May 9.—[Special.]—A daughter weighing 6 pounds 6 ounces was born this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, son and daughter-in-law of President Roosevelt. It was reported that both mother and child were "doing nicely." The baby has been named Ruth Chandler Roosevelt.

Young Roosevelt said he would not permit pictures to be taken of the baby. He cited kidnaping threats against prominent children as the reason.

Elliott is the second son of the President. His wife is the former Miss Ruth Googins, Fort Worth society girl, whom he married at Burlington, Ia., last July 22, four months after they had first met at a rodeo in Fort Worth and five days after he had been divorced from his first wife. The latter was the former Miss Elizabeth Donner of Philadelphia, who obtained a decree on a charge of extreme cruelty on a cross complaint after Elliott had established residence in Nevada and filed a suit for divorce. A son was born from this marriage on Nov. 17, 1932.

At the time Elliott met Miss Googins, he was en route west after resigning from a New York advertising firm. He became an executive of an air line in California for a time, meanwhile making several trips to Fort Worth to see Miss Googins. Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt make their home in Los Angeles, where he is a newspaper aviation editor.

TEST TUBE BABY ANNOUNCEMENTS HIT BY MEDICS

New York, May 9.—[AP.]—False and groundless hopes have been raised among many childless women, the New York Academy of Medicine declared today, because of the recent "test tube babies" announcement. The academy, after consulting several of its experts, issued a statement which read in part as follows:

"During the past two decades great progress has been made in our understanding of the many factors which may prevent conception. Rehearsals of investigation have demonstrated that a barren marriage may be due to one or more causes occurring in either or both partners, and that the hopes of successful treatment, therefore, depend upon the correction of the abnormal conditions revealed by painstaking diagnosis.

"Obviously, the mechanical transfer of an egg into a woman is not without risk of causing inflammation and permanent sterility in many patients. Even under expert auspices the technique is not without difficulties and must be repeated month after month to constitute a fair test of its effectiveness."

Johnson, Veteran Golf Club Manager, Dies

He was 68 years old. Among the clubs of which Johnson was an official were Glen Oak, Medinah, Butterfield, Calumet, and Illinois. He was a member of the Garfield Park Blue Lodge of Masons, St. Bernard commandery, and Medinah Temple. He is survived by his wife.

BELIEVE SONORA POLICE CLOSING IN ON KIDNAPERS

Think Child's Captors Still Hold Her.

BULLETIN.

Tucson, Ariz., May 9.—[AP.]—Olivier White, chief criminal deputy of Santa Cruz county, and two United States customs guards went to Ajo, Ariz., by airplane tonight presumably in connection with the kidnaping of six year old June Robles.

Charles Mayse, pilot of the plane, returned later, saying the officers had sent him back here without comment. He said the officers carried a shovel with them.

Earlier in the night White and the two customs men had left Nogales by automobile, also at that time carrying a shovel, without explaining their purpose.

CANANEA, Sonora, May 9.—[AP.]—Their secret plans disclosed by their self-incriminated "contact" man, the kidnapers of June Robles were believed fleeing through Sonora today with the 6 year old girl still in their possession, and Mexican police virtually at their heels.

Alarms were sounded throughout the northern Sonora country as authorities sought to close in on the elusive trio which sidestepped two traps laid by United States and Mexican investigators, on information from the "contact" man who was held in technical custody in Arizona.

Describe Fleeing Trio.

Documentary evidence received from the man it was said by officials, described the fugitives as an American man, and a Mexican man and his wife.

The description fitted three adults who had with them a girl said to resemble June. They disappeared from Cananea a few hours before searchers descended on the hut in which they had been living here.

Two days earlier they had been in Santa Cruz, Sonora, 30 miles northwest of here, Mexican police said their investigation showed, but had fled shortly before searchers from Nogales reached the little town last Monday.

An intensive manhunt in Cananea, yesterday and the preceding night revealed nothing further than that the suspects had been seen there a few hours before. Search spread into the isolated reaches of northern Sonora today as Mexican investigators sought to pick up further clues.

Reveals Collection Plans.

The documentary evidence received by authorities in Arizona from the informant indicated the original plan of the kidnapers was to effect quick collection of the $15,000 ransom demanded, speed into Sonora, leave the child with an unsuspecting relative of the asserted "contact man" here, and disappear. These plans, it was said, were upset by the formidable manhunt organized by Tucson authorities and citizens immediately after the kidnaping.

It had been planned, authorities related, for the two men and the woman now sought in Sonora to take the child immediately to Santa Cruz, and there await the appearance of the "contact man" with the ransom. This apparently was done, but the "contact man" did not appear.

The residents of other estates in the vicinity of Mr. Lobdell's thirty acres are alarmed and several have engaged private detectives to guard their children. They recalled similar threats reported to have been received a year ago by Haley Fiske Jr., son of the president of the New York Life insurance company.

The letter received by Mr. Lobdell warned him not to try to mark the money as was done in the Lindbergh case.

Trial Starts Today

Pierre, S. D., May 9.—[AP.]—Pleas of not guilty to charges of conspiracy in the Charles Boettcher II kidnaping were entered in Federal District court today by Mrs. Fern Sankey and her sister, Mrs. Alvina Kohler. Their trial is scheduled to start tomorrow.

Defense Attorney Ben Laska, who yesterday had the pleas delayed so he might consult his clients regarding a possible motion for separate trials, today asked additional time, claiming the federal district attorney, Olaf Elden, had "urgently" denied him the right to talk with the two women together.

Judge A. Lee Wyman ordered the women to enter their pleas and Laska entered an exception, claiming that if the pleas were entered it would bar him from interposing a later motion.

ARMED MEN, DOGS GUARD CHILDREN OF ATTY. LOBDELL

Hudson, N. J., May 9.—[Special.]—Three city policemen, a small army of private detectives, a United States department of justice operative, and six ferocious dogs today guard the estate of Leighton Lobdell, wealthy New York lawyer, following a $100,000 kidnap ransom threat.

The three Lobdell children are being watched constantly by guards. Their mother is the daughter of the late E. D. Adams, president of the German-American Trust company of New York.

2 ARE WOUNDED AS BANDITS TRY TO HOLD UP BANK

Policeman Shot by Mistake During Chase.

Policeman John O'Donnell, of the Deering street station, was shot in the right hip yesterday by Hale Parker, a Negro deputy sheriff, who mistook the policeman for one of a gang of bandits who had just attempted to hold up the West Thirty First bank, 555 West 21st street.

Ignatius Chap, 72 years old, of 8321 Pleasant avenue, president of the bank, was slightly wounded in the head by pellets from the shotgun of one of the bandits.

Scream Routs Bandits.

Ten employees and about six patrons were in the bank when the three bandits entered, and attempted to herd their victims to one side of the bank floor. One patron, Mrs. Minnie Dolinger, of 3033 Wallace street, began to scream, and the gunmen fled, after firing several shots, one of wounded Chap.

Parker, who had been in an inner office, serving papers in a law suit, ran out and pursued the bandits to the street, firing as he ran. Simultaneously, Marian Sullivan, 6333 Perry avenue, a bookkeeper, set off an alarm which rang outside the bank.

The alarm and the shots attracted O'Donnell, who was in a barber shop nearby. He dashed outside, in his shirt-sleeves, holding his revolver and began to fire. In the excitement, Parker mistook the officer for one of the gang and shot him.

Bandit Believed Wounded.

Before he was wounded, however, O'Donnell apparently shot one of the bandits. One was seen to stagger,

NEWS OF POLICEMAN'S MURDER KEPT FROM HIS SICK DAUGHTER

Under doctors' orders Patricia Redmond, 7 years old, daughter of Policeman Patrick Redmond, who was slain by bandits Tuesday, will not be told of her father's death. Physicians at La Rabida Jackson Park sanitarium, an institution for children suffering from heart disease, yesterday decided the strain might be too great for Patricia's feeble heart.

After a coroner's jury had returned a verdict of "murder by persons unknown," the child was visited by her mother, Mrs. Dorothy Redmond, 8016 Langley avenue. The mother hid her grief and explained that the father had not come for the weekly visit because he was busy. The girl has a brother, Robert, 3 years old.

Redmond was killed in the Hi-Step Inn at 644 East 113th street as he was guarding a currency exchange in the rear of the inn. As four bandits entered Redmond stepped from the rear and opened fire upon them. They returned the fire and mortally wounded him. The bandits escaped.

and was helped into the waiting automobile by a companion.

A short time later, Maxwell street police reported that three men in a car, answering the description of the bank robbers, escaped after exchanging shots with a squad at Taylor and Laflin streets.

Policeman O'Donnell was taken to the Mercy hospital and Chap was taken to his home after receiving medical treatment.
