

Death in a Flaming Zeppelin

Acme photo

THE GERMAN AIR LINER HINDENBURG CRASHES IN FLAMES at Lakehurst, N. J., with a loss of thirty-five lives.

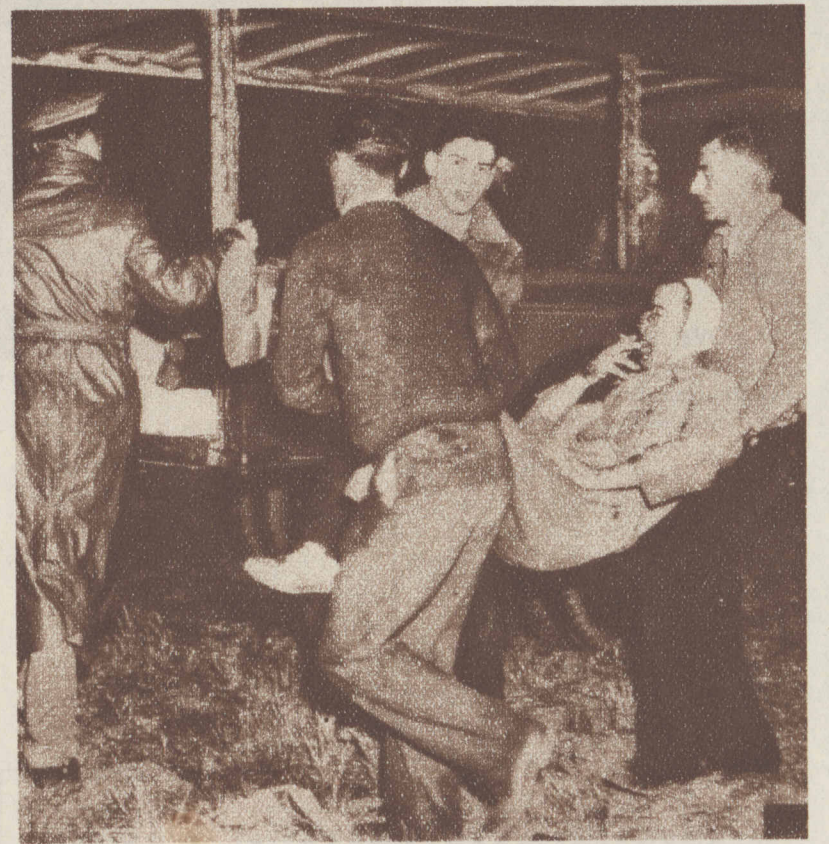

Tribune photo

A HUGE HYDROGEN TORCH, the Zeppelin burns near the mooring mast to which it was to have been anchored. Some of the sixty-five survivors leaped, others were flung from the flaming wreck.

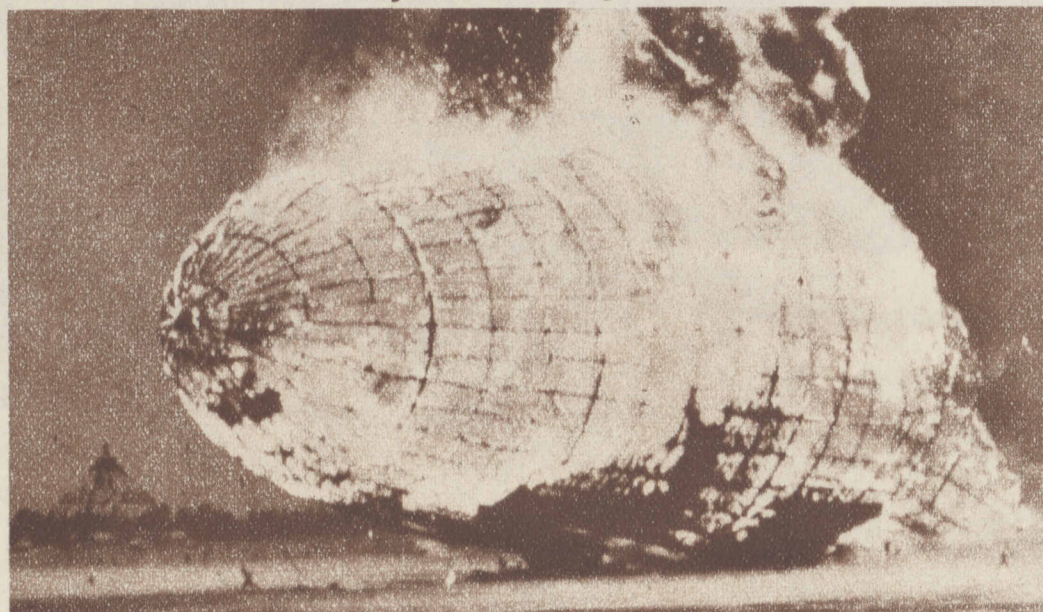

Associated Press photo
A WOMAN PASSENGER WHO SURVIVED is led from the scene of the tragedy.

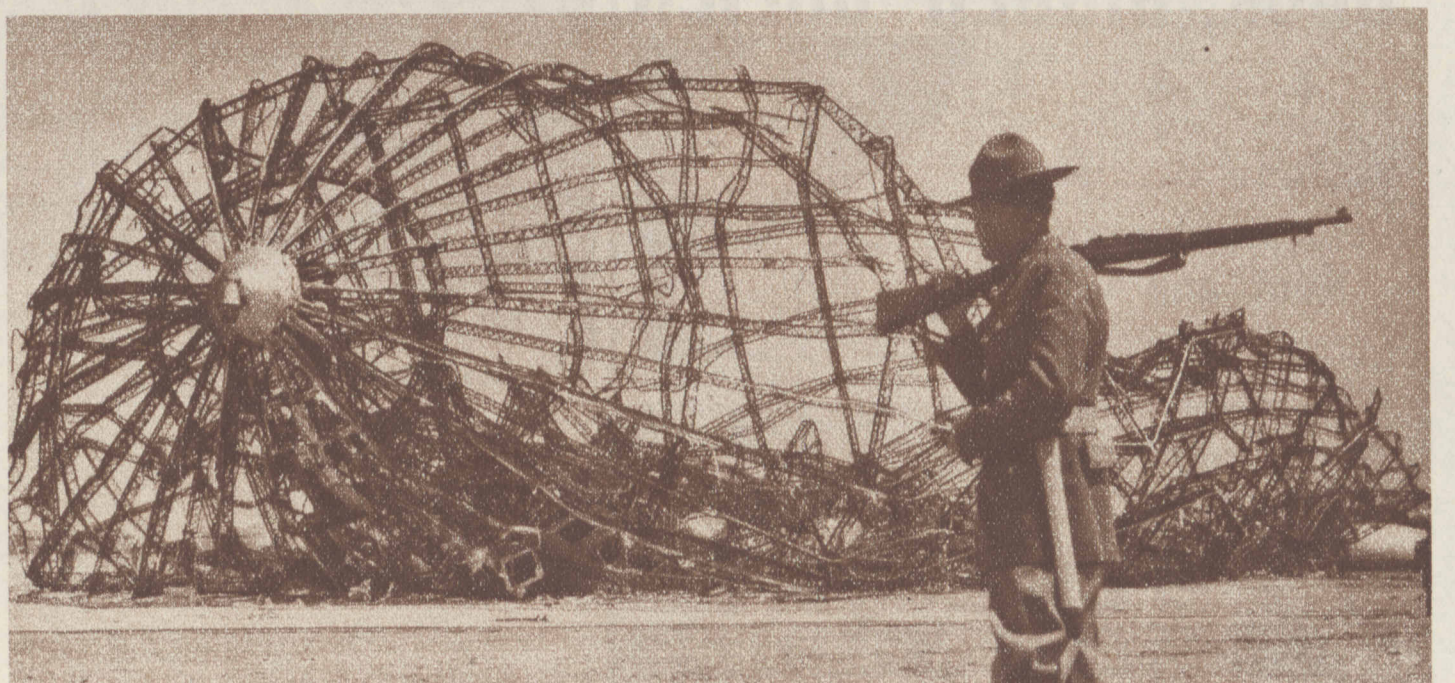

Associated Press photo

A MASCULINE SURVIVOR SMOKES a cigaret en route to the hospital.

Acme photo

THE STERN OF THE ZEPPELIN COLLAPSES; fire throws into relief the framework of the bow.

Associated Press photo
A SENTRY STANDS GUARD over the ruin of the Hindenburg.