EUNICE WAS AFRAID OF EVERYTHING!

Afraid of the dark—
afraid of automobiles
—but, most of all,
afraid of men!

Her timidity and fear almost cost Eunice her happiness—but in a great crisis she displayed amazing cour-

"FRAID CAT"

A delightful story of young love—
by ELSA BARKER

IN THE WOMAN'S SECTION OF TODAY'S TRIBUNE!

A NINE TON BOMBING PLANE IS CATAPULTED INTO THE AIR by a new 4,000 horse power device, operated by compressed air, at Farnborough, England. Two aviators of the royal air force occupy the ship. (Acme photo.)

A DEBUT IN THE TALKIES recently fell to the lot of Rosalie Roy, whose charms are depicted in this ingenious study. She has a long term Hollywood contract.

WATER SKIS JOIN THE AUSTRIAN INFANTRY—A soldier at rifle practice during tests of a new item of equipment. The "walking pontoons," it is expected, will be used for fording rivers where no bridges are available. (Acme photo.)
