

WORLD TO READ TRIBUNE'S PAGE 1 THRU FACSIMILE

Replica Is Transmitted
Over Six Continents

to THE TRIBUNE: "Tell the owner of THE TRIBUNE that on this day THE TRIBUNE will come first in our papers and in our hearts."

In the far east, the Hindustan Times is one of the most influential daily papers in India. Its managing editor is Devadas Gandhi, fourth and youngest son of Mohandas K. Gandhi and president of the All-India Newspaper Editors' conference.

Contrasted with this great daily in a metropolitan city is the Merdeka of Batavia, Java, an Indonesian newspaper. It is devoted to the struggle for freedom from colonial oppression and from time to time has reprinted editorials from THE TRIBUNE which criticize the exploitation of the East Indies. It takes this paper eight hours to print 15,000 copies, which means that printing of the replica will be delayed until tomorrow.

One of Japan's "Big Three"

The Tokyo Mainichi is one of the three big newspapers of Japan with modern press equipment and an organization for gathering and reporting the news based on the American pattern. It publishes an English language edition in Osaka, and both editions will carry the facsimile.

A newspaper claiming to be the oldest west of the Rocky mountains, the Honolulu Advertiser, carried the Centennial news to residents of Hawaii. The paper, founded in 1856 by Henry Whitney, son of an American missionary, is one of the leading dailies of the territory.

Each newspaper had received in advance a news story introducing THE TRIBUNE to its readers and telling of its first hundred years, as well as a photograph of its editor and publisher, Col. Robert R. McCormick.

This newspaper pioneered in the use of facsimile in news transmission. It broadcast on May 11, 1946, one of the first facsimile news editions ever sent over the air. Demonstrations of the device were given at the Centennial reception in Tribune Tower Sunday.

Editors Welcome Facsimile

Editors, publishers, and newspaper officials enthusiastically welcomed the opportunity to join THE TRIBUNE in the unprecedented feat of swift international news transmission. Among those from Europe were:

Frank Owen, editor of the London Daily Mail.

Prof. Herbert Tingsten, editor of the Stockholm Dagens Nyheter Expressen.

Gaston Bridel, editor in chief of the Tribune de Geneve.

Abbe Jean Bernard, director of the Luxembourg Wort.

M. Melchior Hansen, editor in chief of the Koebenhavn, Copenhagen.

Herr Mueller-Jarbass, publisher of Der Abend, Berlin.

Renato Angiolillo, publisher of Il Tempo, Rome.

M. Masse, editor of Le Pays, Paris.

William Sweetman, editor of the Irish Press, Dublin.

Leendert, Schryvershof, managing editor of Nieuwe Haagse Courant, The Hague.

Thurson, president and general manager of the Honolulu Advertiser, made space available in his paper in Hawaii.

ILLINOIS HOUSE BLOCKS JOINT PROPERTY BILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service] Springfield, Ill., June 9—Legislation which would have reduced federal income taxes for many Illinois residents was blocked in the house tonight, but a promise was made that a commission would be created to study the possibility of favorable action in 1949.

On a standing 63 to 40 vote, the house refused to discharge a judiciary subcommittee from further consideration of community property bills by Rep. Arrington (R., Evans-ton).

Community property is in effect in nine states, mostly in the southwest. Under its provisions, husband and wife split family income, file two income tax returns, and get the benefit of lower surtaxes.

Arrington told the house that he sees no prospect for at least two years that congress will amend revenue laws to cancel the income tax advantage given the community property states. He said the bills have had thoro study and could be passed at this session with no after-math of legal troubles.

DIES OF HEART ATTACK IN DEPOT
