

drawn," the appointments of E ward E. Brown, chairman of th First National Bank of Chicago, an of Roy C. Ingersoll, president of division of Borg-Warner corpora

Igoe Plan Analyzed

Igoe was to appoint one reorgan zation manager on behalf of a for mer creditor group no longer to the case. That appoir ment, plus selection of men to place Wiman and Brown, wou have resulted in Igoe's choosin three members of the reorganiz tion board and the creditor group

The Circuit Court of Appeals' d cision was made four days afte Igoe's unsuccessful attempt have jurisdiction over the Ro Island case switched to another District court judge. Tomorro there will be a hearing in the Appeals court on the petition of the senior creditors to have Igoe replaced by a Circuit judge for the remainder of the reorganization proceedings. The petition also indicated the creditors might seek the discharge of Aaron Colnon as co-trustee of the bankrupt company.

Atty. Healy said he planned no appeal to the Supreme court from the Circuit court ruling and that he would not file a brief before entering court to represent Igoe at tomorrow's hearing.

As Different As INVESTMENT PROBLEMS

Like fingerprints, your investment problems are different. No one else has exactly the same portfolio or objective.

As a substantial, experienced investor you are concerned with far more than the immediate movements of securities markets. You seek to conserve your capital . . . to keep it efficiently and gainfully employed in good times and bad. But, of late, you find the task of managing your investments unaided has become increasingly burdensome and vexatious.

No advisory service can ever make investing a simple, automatic operation. But many men of means have secured very practical, individualized help through

Moody's Personal Management Service

This highly personalized service gives you the composite help of Moody's Staff of analysts in making an unbiased study of your present position and in realigning your holdings into the soundest program within your objectives.

Thenceforth, Moody's STAFF strives constantly to help you keep your capital efficiently and gainfully employed . . . to eliminate needless risks . . . to improve quality and diversification . . . to suggest opportunities for appreciation and increased income. Relieving you of time-consuming detail, we continuously take initiative in suggesting and discussing prudent action. But final decision is always yours.

To learn more about this personal service and how much it can help you, write for our Bulletin No. 37L.
