$1280 At Detroit Factory

Transportation charges, State and Federal taxes extra. This price is for the Sedan (illustrated), equipped with front and rear bumpers, white side-wall tires, spare tire and wheel.

AN IMMEDIATE change takes place in a family when they purchase a LINCOLN-ZEPHYR. They drive more because driving is more fun. Their heads together over road maps, they pick out the names of far and interesting places which hardly existed for them before they knew the power and comfort of their new car.

The LINCOLN-ZEPHYR earns this enthusiasm honestly. No car at any price combines the modern features of this car at medium price.

There is unexpected ease and smoothness of operation in the V-12 engine — so alert it seems to read the driver's thoughts. Although it develops 110 horsepower, it gives 14 to 18 miles per gallon—power and economy!

There is safety for the whole family in this car. Body and frame are one, a welded rigid structure of steel trusses, to which are welded steel panels — top, sides and floor.

This unique structure is balanced on flexible transverse springs 133 inches apart. Passenger weight is carried "amidships." The LINCOLN-ZEPHYR has its own refreshing way of going. It glides — over concrete, over ruts, over bumps — the new rhythm of motoring.

Usual running-boards have been eliminated — their width added to the body's width. Three sit on seats like divans without crowding, without strain. There is ample room for baggage.

No wonder LINCOLN-ZEPHYR owners think in terms of greater distances, wider horizons. . . . One ride will revise your thinking too! Lincoln Motor Company, builders of Lincoln and Lincoln-Zephyr V-12 motor cars. On display at showrooms of Lincoln-Zephyr and Ford dealers
