War Work Adds Interest to Labor Sunday in Churches

By the Rev. W. B. Norton

PREPARATION for the observance of labor Sunday on Sept. 1 by the churches of all denominations insures an increase of interest over recent years because of the vital relation labor holds to the winning of the war.

The social service commission of the federal council of the churches of Christ in America has sent out literature requesting that special attention be given to the entrance of hundreds of thousands of women into industry as makers of munitions and as workers in occupations hitherto employing only men, and suggests the discussion of the relation of the church to these women workers in the churches.

Attention will be called to the relation of labor to the liquor traffic in its hearings upon ship building and other industries affecting the speeding up of the war machine, and the work or fight order, coupled with the government's definition as to what constitutes non-essential occupations, will give other points of interest. The social service commission of the federal council recommends the study of the pronouncement of the British labor party on industrial democracy.

St. Mel's High School for Boys

This school building and brothers' home represents the latest stride along educational lines made by the Catholics of Chicago. These were built by the parishioners of St. Mel's church, Kildare avenue and Washington boulevard, at a cost of over $350,000. The school is furnished with modern equipment for both commercial and science courses and will be in charge of the Christian Brothers. It will take care of the graduates from the parochial schools of that section of the city and will be accredited to the state university. One of the features of the new high school is the gymnasium, which will be one of the largest in the city. It will be equipped with a shower and a large locker room. Work on the building will be finished in time for the opening of school, Tuesday, Sept. 8.

Ground has been broken for the erection of a new church building by the congregation of the First Danish Baptist church, the Rev. A. W. Warren, pastor. The new church will be located at Beiden and Kildare avenues, where the ground breaking ceremony took place, Aug. 4. The congregation is worshipping temporarily at 4414 Fullerton avenue.

War activities of St. James' church, Cass and Huron streets, include the purchase and maintenance of an ambulance for overseas service. Leslie A. Williams, a member of the church, has volunteered his services as driver.

It will be home coming night at the Normal Park Presbyterian church on Harrison and Sibley streets in the evening of Sept. 8. The meeting will be held in the church auditorium and will be led by the pastor, the Rev. W. E. Donaldson.

Notre Dame Roman Catholic church at Harrison and Sibley streets is now in charge of the Fathers of the Blessed

St. Andrew, founded at St. James' Episcopal church, Chicago, about thirty-five years ago, will hold a post-convention meeting at St. James' church the evening of Sept. 15. Reports of the meeting held at Northfield, Mass., from Aug. 14 to 21, inclusive, will be made. Extensive preparations are being made to make this an important gathering. It is planned to begin with a supper, after which will be held a conference of about one hour, with a religious service to follow at 8 o'clock. The organization is for men and boys. The officers of the senior department are: Ernest S. Ingalls, resident, Donald H. Proctor, vice president; James M. Hart, secretary; Frederick P. Yeith, treasurer; and the Rev. Edward S. White, chaplain.

The Rev. C. H. Putnam, pastor of the Bowen Methodist Episcopal church, Greenview avenue and Byron street, and the Rev. W. L. Clapp, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Mendota, Ill., have been spending August in an exchange of pulpits, each making the exchange his annual vacation.

Ralph Norton and his wife will be speakers at the next meeting of the women's business council, which was organized as the result of the Billy Sunday campaign. The meeting will be held the evening of Sept. 3. The place will be announced later.

The Rev. William A. Bodell of Bloomington, Ill., will preach today at the Edgewater Presbyterian church, Kenmore and Bryn Mawr avenues. The pastor, Dr. L. P. Cain, announces a communion service will be held Sept. 8. Dr. A. H. Andrews, a physician, superintendent of the Sunday school of the St. James' Methodist Episcopal church, will speak at 11 o'clock today at the Granville Avenue Presbyterian church, Granville and Greenview avenues. The Y. M. C. A. will hold the evening service.

ASTRONOMY

ANTARES BRIGHT AUGUST STAR.

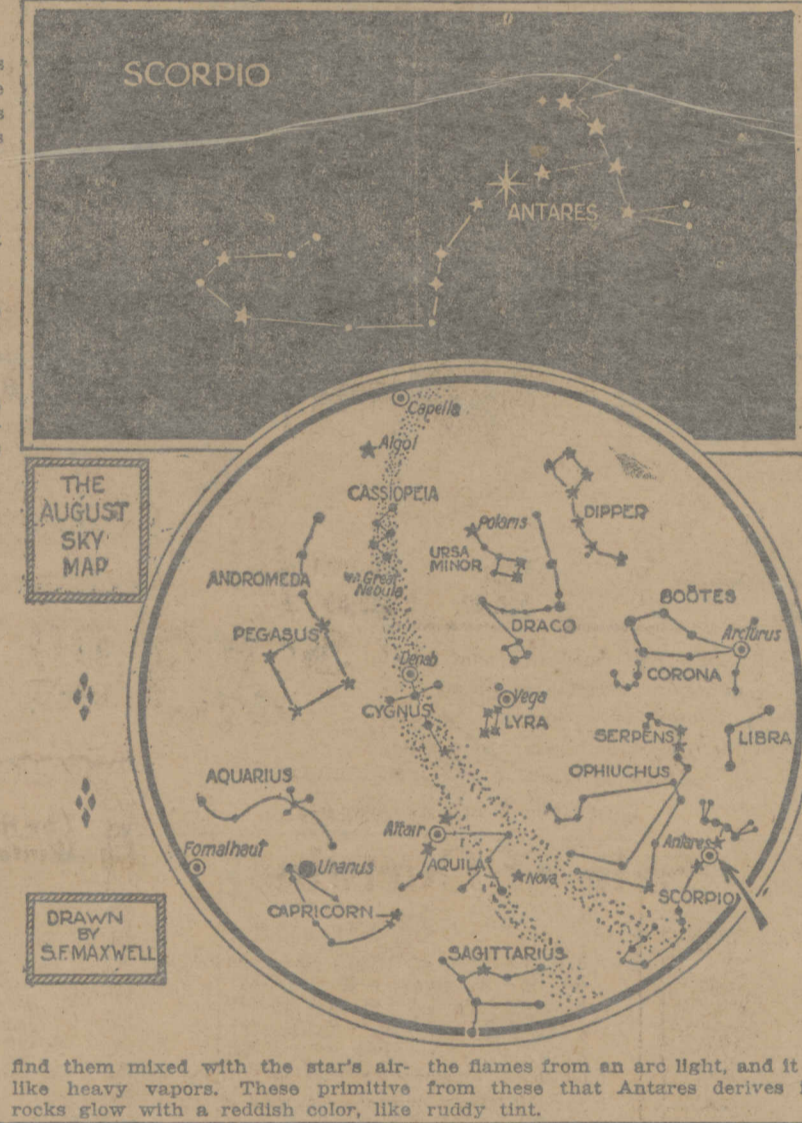

THE steps of evolution in a star's life follow each other in a definite and orderly sequence. Blue stars turn into white ones, white ones become yellow, then red, and after that come long columns as dark stars.

Our sun is a typical yellow star. On scanning the heavens we find that there are other yellow stars resembling the sun, notably Capella and Arcturus, and merging into suns of this type are other cooler and redder stars, of which Antares is a conspicuous example.

Antares is the bright star which is seen in the southwestern sky on August evenings. It is a part of the constellation of Scorpio. The Scorpion is one of the few configurations whose shape bears a resemblance to the object for which it is named. The curved tail, the sting, the back, and even the claws are followed with considerable faithfulness by the outlines of the stars. Antares is in the body of the insect; and its bright red color should serve to completely identify it.

If the earth were heated to the temperature of a star it would in effect become a star, because the distinction between a world and a sun is one of temperature only. There are no present methods known for producing a temperature comparable to that of the sun or earth, but that of Antares can be duplicated in any electric furnace. We can, therefore, study the processes of evolution on a small scale which we observe taking place on that gigantic sphere.

At the temperature prevailing on Antares, most substances are in an elementary and vaporized form. The metals are found in the shape of white hot clouds, floating in an atmosphere of hydrogen gas. True, rocks, however, are beginning to form, and we

REASON AND RIME

By Guy F. Lee.

These lines are to you, king of Prussia, A hot tip on what you must do: When you're ready to get out of Russia, And Belgium and Serbia, too; When you give up (and pay up for looting) All else of your blood-gotten fleeces, An answer may come to your tooting And hooting and rooting for peace.

When France has no more German vermin, When Bulgars their neighbors repay, When your Austrian vassals determine To give the Italians their day; When the Turk does some work besides slaying, When your submarine slaughterings cease, Perhaps we'll reply to your braying And playing and praying for peace.

I haven't much hope this will find you In mood acquiescent, but still If you don't do it now, I'll remind you Before we are finished, you will And before we are finished, the season Of respite's a limited time— I know you won't listen to reason, So I make you the offer in rime!

The Part that Should be New

If you're driving a used car you ought to give it a fair show by adding a new battery.

But be sure the battery is new. Insist on the Bone Dry Willard with Threaded Rubber Insulation, which you know is new when you buy it.

We carry a complete stock of Bone Dry Batteries—every one brand new. That's because they are not filled and charged until we make them ready for your use.

Ask for the free booklet, "196,000 Little Threads," it tells how Bone Dry became possible and why it benefits you.

Outdoor Fete Aids Free Milk Fund for French Charity

WASHINGTON, D. C.—[Special Correspondence.]—Last Monday night there was a "Japanese" affair at the Club de Vingt, the fete for the free milk fund for France. There were hundreds of Japanese lanterns and besides, that the "air Japanese" should prevail throughout, the members of the committee wore Japanese costumes.

Almost every one prominent in Washington was in some way connected with this fete. Mrs. J. Borden Harman, Mrs. Bernard Baruch, and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth have been active in this enterprise. A play, "The Hawk's Well," which was the main part of the fete, was given under the direction of Mrs. Robert Hawkesworth and John Murray Anderson, and the "free milk" idea was sponsored by Miss Josephine Osburn and Mrs. Warren McConihe of New York.

This committee has for its main purpose the sending of a ton of dried milk to relieve the milk shortage in France. Over there the milk is distributed among the tubercular patients, the small children, the soldiers who are wounded, and various allied patients of the hospitals. On the French committee of distribution in Paris are the Princess de Polix, the Princess de Ligne, and the Baronne de Beauverger.

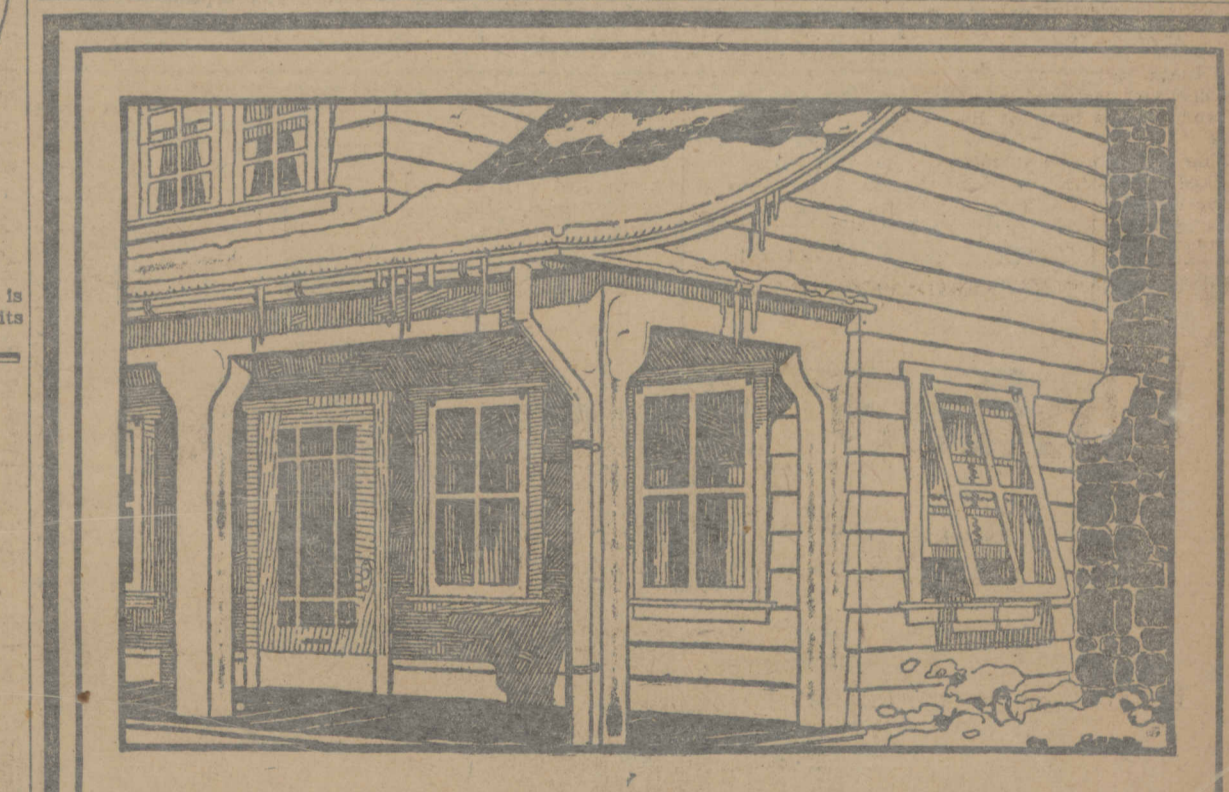

The second outdoor performance given of the "Noh" drama, "The Hawk's Well," in which Ito, the singer, was featured, was that of Monday. Mme. Jusserand took part in the affair and among the patronesses of the occasion were the Japanese ambassador, the Viscount Ishii, Mrs. Baker, wife of the secretary of war; Mrs. Lewis, wife of Senator James Hamilton Lewis; Lady Grant, wife of Sir Lowther Grant; Mme. Virginal, wife of the military attache of the French embassy; Mrs. Richard Townsend, and Mrs. Vance McCormick.

Keeps Up War Work. Surgical dressings units and Red Cross workers along various lines have discontinued most of their meetings for August, but they are working informally every day just the same. Patriotic women of the senate unit of the Red Cross society have met every day, even in the heat of the last two weeks. Five of them have formed a sort of a hot weather club, which has a luncheon in the Senate cafe as its only recreation. There are Mrs. John Newton, Mrs. James A. Reed, Mrs. A. Jones, Mrs. Miles Poindexter, and Mrs. Wadley Jones. They have been sewing and knitting at the capitol, and the knitting machine here is brought into active service.

Mrs. Atlee Pomeroy, who has been devoting every minute of her time to this work, is back in Washington, after an absence of a number of weeks, and has added her efforts.

Then, too, there are the large and well filled workrooms of Mrs. Gorgas, the wife of the surgeon general. Mrs. Gorgas has started the noon-time prayers for peace and victory in her workrooms, and on the hour of 12 every one stands for a few brief seconds of silent prayer.

Interest in Washington is increasing in the horse show at Newport next week. It is interesting to note that for the most part women are handling the horse shows this year. Miss Dorothy Forbes, who managed the one at Rockville, Sept. 26 to 28, Miss Eleanor Sears managed the recent event at Prides Crossing, and the proceeds of each and all of them are going to the Red Cross.

Help the Fuel Administration

THE Fuel Administration is doing all it can to keep you warm next winter. But it needs your co-operation. If everyone does his share there will be no coal shortage—and there will be no discomfort. To get the most out of all coal used every house should be properly equipped.

The Director of Conservation of the Fuel Administration says: "The National Fuel Administration realizes that a large amount of coal can be saved by the installation of storm doors, storm windows" . . . "and advocates such installation the same as we do proper firing methods and proper attention to boilers."

Storm Windows and Storm Doors

cut down coal bills from one-third to one-half—a saving that pays for their cost in one or two seasons.

But still more important—they increase the comfort and healthfulness of your house by eliminating cold floor drafts, by making it possible to keep the house warm in the severest winter weather, and by permitting perfect ventilation.

Your local lumber dealer or building-material dealer can give you complete information. See him now so that your house will not be a coal-waster this winter.
