

THE FLORIDA HURRICANE wrought the havoc pictured above at West Palm Beach. Streets were strewn with debris, homes and business buildings wrecked, and the nearby countryside torn up in ruthless fashion. The death toll was put at between 700 and 800, the refugee list at 15,000, and the property damage at between $30,000,000 and $75,000,000. Boats smashed far up from the water by wind and tide are seen at the top left. A street in West Palm Beach is pictured above.

(Photographs from Pacific and Atlantic.)

AS 1,000 DIED IN PORTO RICO, the hurricane which laid waste the island and caused property loss estimated at a hundred million dollars was producing such scenes of destruction as that pictured above. The view was taken in the streets of San Juan as the island counted its dead and turned to the task of combating food riots, famine, and disease.

(Photograph from Pacific and Atlantic.)

AT DAVIS, SOUTH DAKOTA, troopers guarded the wreckage of the post-office, following the storm which resulted in fourteen deaths and property loss of more than a million dollars in Nebraska, South Dakota, and Iowa. Half the buildings in Davis were destroyed.

(Photograph from International.)

ELECTION NIGHT OF 1832, which brought the re-election of Andrew Jackson to the White House over Henry Clay, will be re-enacted on the radio Tuesday night by W-G-N, the Chicago Tribune station on the Drake hotel. This is the second of the Tuesday night broadcasts which recapture the atmosphere of presidential elections of other years. Pictured here at the left, Henry Clay; at the right, "Old Hickory."

HOOVER AND EDISON—While the Republican candidate was campaigning in New Jersey he was shown through the Edison factory by the great American inventor in person.

(Photograph from Pacific and Atlantic.)

CHICAGO'S NEW OUTER DRIVE LINK, as proposed by the Chicago Plan Commission, will present this view to the voyager aboard a ship in the lake at the mouth of the river. Looking west down the river, one sees Tribune Tower commanding the view on the right. The driveway at the left is the proposed extension of the south side outer drive, linked with the north side drive by a bridge which is still to be built.

MEET CHIEF HAPPY WARRIOR, the new brave of the Omaha tribe. Chief Decora of the Omahas, at the left, gave Al Smith the war bonnet of his tribe when the Democratic candidate invaded Omaha to open his campaign in the west.

(Photograph from Associated Press)