

DECEMBER 5, 1920.

The Home of Santa Claus

MEET ME
 AT
THE FAIR
 STATE ADAMS & DEARBORN STS. CHICAGO

OLD Santa Claus had his very good reasons for saying, "Meet me at The Fair," and these reasons you will find listed on the pages of this toy catalogue. You will see in our great Toyland aisle after aisle piled high with all manner of toys of every sort, just as your parents did when they were children, for even then The Fair was famous for toys. But, of course, the Toyland of Then could not compare with the wonderful Toyland of Now, where, on every side, you can see counters and shelves covered with all the newest mechanical toys, contrivances that run and jump and dance and fly. And while you are visiting this wonderful Toyland at The Fair, by all means take a peep into the Doll Hospital, as complete an institution for invalid dollies as you can find the country over. We recommend that you keep this catalogue as a shopping guide to Toyland, one of the largest toy departments in the country—so that when you and yours are ready to make us a visit you can show Santa Claus just what you wish for Christmas.

Do Your Christmas Shopping Now

A Picture of You on a Donkey
—and Santa Claus

We can't think of a jollier present for a small boy or girl to give away at Christmas time than a picture of themselves on a donkey, taken with Santa Claus. 4 pictures for 50c.

