

Surprise Blizzard Buries City Under Foot of Snow—Hold Son of Oil Millionaire in Death Probes

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

CHICAGO HIT BY FREAK BLIZZARD; DOWNTOWN TRAFFIC IS IMPEDED. View looking south across the Michigan Avenue bridge yesterday afternoon as heavy snow was falling. The buildings looming in the haze are the 333 North Michigan, the Carbide and Carbon, and the London Guaranty. The storm was largely local in character, other sections missing the downfall. (Story on page 1.)

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

AUTO OWNERS HAVE DIFFICULTIES, BUT TRANSIT LINES MAINTAIN SERVICE. E. S. Yonan digging his auto out of snow yesterday after leaving it parked on Clark street. Auto owners found the driving difficult. Public transportation systems were operating at reduced speed. (Story on page 1.)

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

WEATHER FORECASTER DOES SOME SHOVELING. C. A. Donnel, chief of the Chicago bureau, who keeps the city informed about its weather, in action with shovel at his home, 6140 Kimbark avenue. (Story on page 1.)

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

PEDESTRIANS FIND THE GOING TOUGH AS WIND DRIVES SNOW IN FACES. Students of Northwestern university trying to reach classes on McKinlock campus yesterday afternoon as high wind was driving snow in their faces. The fall totaled nearly a foot in various parts of the city. (Story on page 1.)

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

OPPOSES MERCY FOR SLAYERS OF HUSBAND. Mrs. Betty Jensen, widow of Policeman Earl Jensen of Oak Park, and her daughter, Donna Rae. Mrs. Jensen will go to Springfield to oppose mercy for Armando Boulton and Walter Dittman, scheduled to die Friday for the slaying. (Story on page 6.)

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

CZECHOSLOVAKIAN PLAY WILL BE GIVEN BY NORTHWESTERN U. THEATER. Left to right: Elizabeth Sterbenz, Bonnie Donahue, Peggy Riley, and Helen Garvey enacting roles of moths in "Insect Comedy," by the Brothers Capek, which will be given in Evanston Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday by the Northwestern theater. (Story on page 19.)

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

HELD FOR INQUIRY. Homer F. Wilcox Jr., son of oil man, arrested in Tulsa death probes. (Story on page 5.)

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

CALLED SUICIDE. Sidney Born Jr., whose death from bullet in Tulsa is being probed. (Story on page 5.)

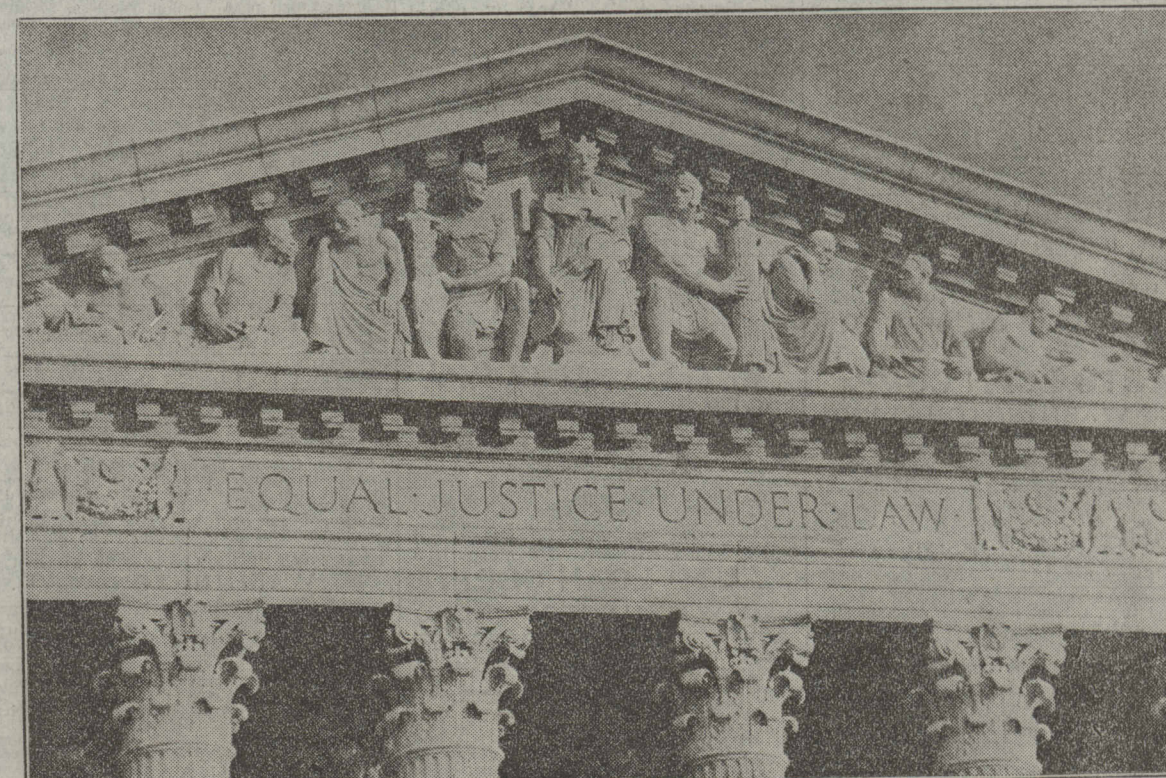

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

SLAYERS AWAIT FINAL PLEA FOR MERCY; SCHEDULED TO DIE ON FRIDAY. Walter Dittman (left) and Armando Boulton, killers of Policeman Earl Jensen of Oak Park, as they appeared yesterday at the county jail. Their attorney seeks mercy at a hearing in Springfield tomorrow. The widow will oppose a reprieve. (Story on page 6.)

WILL BE WRECKED TO MAKE WAY FOR NEW FEDERAL HOUSING PROJECT. View in Sullivan street looking toward Sedgwick street on the near north side, a part of area included in $12,500,000 federal project. The entire area is bounded by Division, Halsted, Ogden, Blackhawk, Hudson, Sigel, and Sedgwick. (Story on page 2.)

[Acme Photo.]

LIVING NOTABLES SCULPTURED IN FRIEZE OF HIGH COURT BUILDING. Heroic statues on Supreme court building in Washington after it was found sculptor had included living notables, including himself. Left to right: William Howard Taft when student at Yale, Elihu Root, Cass Gilbert, architect; "Authority," "Liberty Enthroned," "Order," Chief Justice Hughes, Robert Aitken, sculptor, and John Marshall as a youth.