It's a new bean pot!

What's made of stainless steel, rides on its own trailer and cooks the world's best bean soup?

It's the Thumb Area's first large Bean Soup Kettle, and it's ready to cook its first 125-gallon batch of soup made from Michigan Navy Beans!

Workers at the Co-operative Elevator Co. of Pigeon designed and built the new bean pot, on the suggestion of Michigan Bean Commission Chairman Gerald Elenbaum of Owendale. He thought the local area needed its own bean pot, since others had to be borrowed from Fairgrove or Cass City in the past.

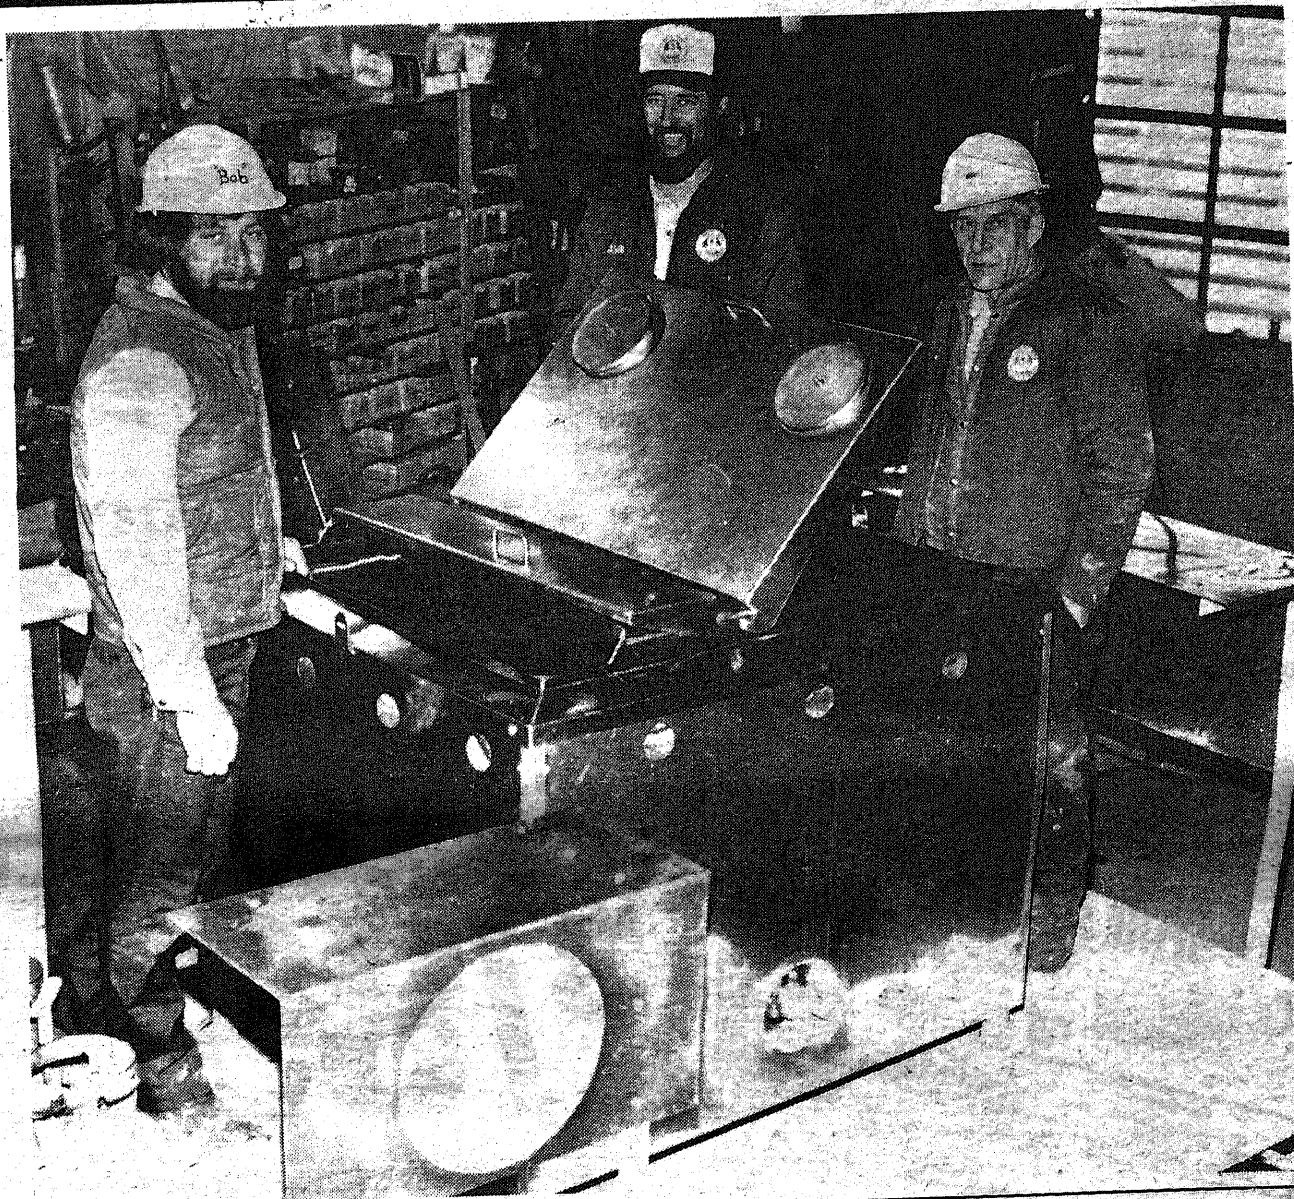

So a 150-gallon bulk milk tank has been modified to hold 125 gallons of soup, complete with a drain, measuring stick, stirrer and two-sided lid to speed "double dipping" when the hot bean soup is being dished out.

The bean pot is permanently mounted on a former snowmobile trailer and operated on two 20-gallon tanks of bottled gas for portability.

The gas heats cooking oil in a double-boiler, which completely surrounds the actual bean pot. No scorched beans are possible, since the double-boiler effect cooks all areas of the bean pot at the same time.

Here, from left, Co-op craftsmen Bob Damm, Bill Fader and Reg Hurren give final inspection to the bean pot. They've worked on it off and on for several weeks, they say.

Persons interested in renting the new bean pot kettle should contact Co-op Manager Ted Leipprandt or Agronomist Wes Edington for scheduling details.

'Jail-Bail' set Saturday

More than 100 Thumb area residents from towns throughout Huron County will be "arrested" this Saturday as part of the American Red Cross "Jail and Bail" program -- and you can help get them out of jail or keep them in.

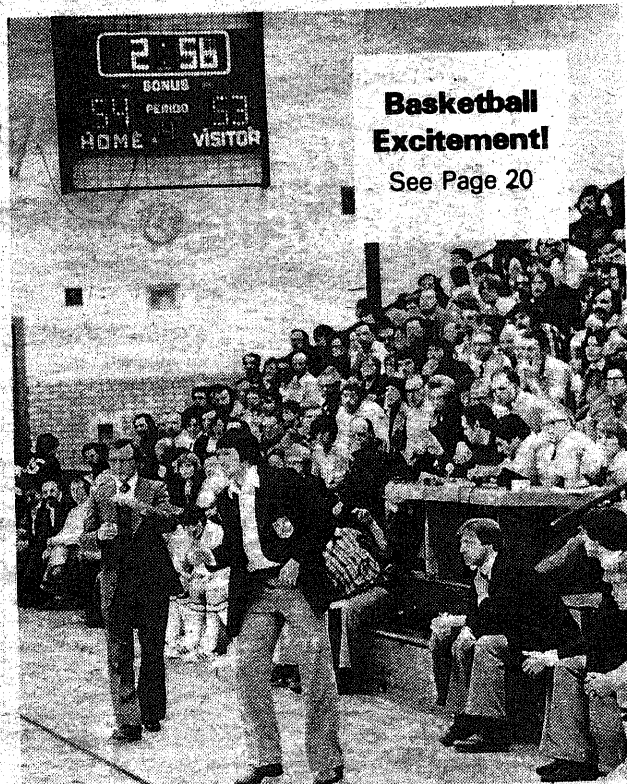

The fund-raising event is hosted by the Huron Chapter of the Red Cross and will be broadcast on radio station WLEW from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Laker School Supt. Harry Brunet will be among those incarcerated, as will Jean Charest, Don Damrow and Warren Krohn, all of Elkton. The local Red Cross chapter will set each "prisoner's bail" to raise support funds for the coming year.

Western Thumb residents can pledge money to keep the "inmates" in jail or can donate dollars to get them out, according to June Bowerbank, Huron Chapter president.

Proceeds from the "Jail and Bail" will go toward supporting Red Cross aid for disasters, nursing assistance and blood programs, safety committees and Service to Military Families committee, Mrs. Bowerbank says.

Other area "inmates" this Saturday are Caseville Police Chief Robert Cassada, Mayor John DiVincentis, Fred Fortsch, Frank and Patricia Konke, John Parr, Bob Quinn and Ralph Ross.

Three new members join Pigeon Chamber Board

Three Pigeon area business people have been named to Pigeon Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, to serve three-year terms.

Joining the nine-member board are Linda McGathy of Little Peoples' World, Jay Dubey of Thumb National Bank and Trust Co., and Orville Schuette of Pigeon IGA Foodliner.

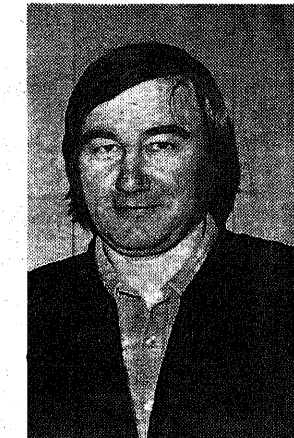

They were nominated in past weeks and attended their first meeting Tuesday morning.

New officers elected for 1980 include: President Ralph Limberger of Pigeon Co-op Oil Co.; Vice President Mark Rummel of The Progress-Advance; Secretary Jay Dubey of Thumb National Bank, and Treasurer Betty Wurst of Shetler Plumbing and Heating.

Limberger said he will make various committee appointments in coming weeks. The Chamber Board will be meeting every other Tuesday morning at 8 a.m., and any Chamber member may attend the bi-weekly meetings. Next scheduled meeting is Tuesday, Feb. 19 at the Dutch Kettle Restaurant.

Limberger also said the group will set goals for 1980, which include greater promotion and use of the Farmer's Market, possible purchase of additional Christmas decorations for the village and a more visible Chamber promotion effort, using membership emblems on doors and in advertisements.

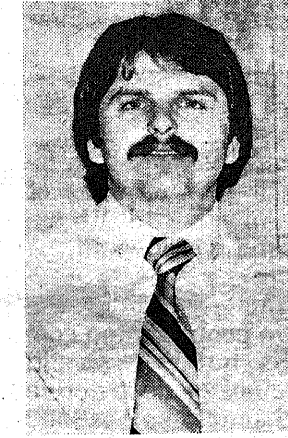

Questions or comments may be addressed to the Pigeon Chamber in care of P.O. Box 249, Pigeon, 48755.

A special request for family help

By KAREN GENZEL

If there is one distinguishing characteristic of Pigeonites, it is their strong sense of family. Extended families gather frequently to commemorate important passages of life for individual relatives. In Pigeon, family is everything.

Therefore, it is fitting that an important event for one of Pigeon's newer families should be highlighted. Nang Su, his wife Deng and their three daughters - Xia 5, Si 4 and Sarah 2 - are preparing for the arrival of members of their family. They anticipate a reunion with mother, brother and sister who will travel halfway around the world for a new chance at life.

Three little girls spin dreams of a grandmother they have never seen, an aunt and uncle who are real only in their father's stories.

Before the Nang girls were born, Nang Su and Deng were separated from parents, brothers and sisters. Their story is one of struggle against communism, flight and escape from Laos, months of survival in a Thai refugee camp and finally new hope in Pigeon, Michigan.

But miraculous news came from Thailand some months ago. Su's mother and young brothers and sister had arrived in camp. They also had escaped. After months of red tape and waiting, the Refugee Resettlement Committee of Pigeon received word from Lutheran Immigration. Su's family was processed for entry.

In a matter of weeks this Laotian family will be reunited. Mother and son, grandmother and grandchildren, brothers and sisters, uncles and aunts - the ties that bind blood relatives together will mesh and join once more.

The Refugee Resettlement Committee is sponsoring this family, which will require some help in resettling. The most pressing needs will be warm winter clothing, then food to supplement the Nang's budget. Pillows, bedding and towels also will be needed.

If you would like to help this family get started here, please call Committee Presi-

OBSERVATIONS BY THE EDITOR AND OTHERS

"ON A CLEAR DAY, YOU CAN SEE..." - ice fishermen's cars, pickups and campers, along M-25 in the Bay Port, Mud Creek and Caseville areas, as the annual winter fishing season is in full swing, whether or not there's much snow around.

The ice is reasonably solid to very thick (I still wouldn't drive on it this year!), and hundreds of anglers are trying their skills. Some work their art far out on the ice, while others are at the very edge of the rush beds only a few dozen yards from shore.

Results vary, as they always do, but fishermen report good successes, and you can bet there'll be more out trying their luck this weekend, as celebrations go on in Caseville and Sebawang in honor of this winter that's half finished with us (even though we may feel finished with it!).

BRIGHT STARS - Mars and Jupiter get as close to our earth this month as they will get during all of 1980, but another bright light in the sky will be the star Sirius, says University of Michigan astronomy professor Richard Teske.

Both planets will rise in the east after sunset, while the magnificent Sirius is almost directly south at around 9:30 p.m. on February nights.

Don't plan to travel to any of them, though, since nearby Mars is "only" 63 million miles away, Teske says.

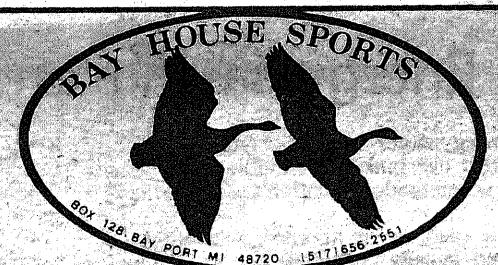

AVERAGE AUTO - A Detroit auto survey says an average 1980 model sells for $7,550, 6.3% more than last year, but it takes less of a family's income to buy today than in the past. Today's car takes 36% of a median family's income of $21,000, says the Automotive Information Council.

In 1970, the $3,706 average car consumed 37.6% of median family income. In 1960, the average car cost $2,920 or 52% of median income, while 1950's $2,334 car consumed 70% of median family income, says the survey.

Damaged rink may be closed

It's a local disgrace. The conduct this past weekend by a few childish persons might destroy a fine tradition for all area young people and adults. The Village of Pigeon has posted notice that further vandalism and destruction at the village's ice skating rink at Pigeon Recreation

Part of weekend's senseless damage

Park will result in permanent closing of the facility.

Village workers can't be blamed for the possible action, since they're just trying to protect taxpayers' property. It's a problem that all local folks will pay for -- after just a few stupid persons did stupid, destructive things.

Don Otto and his Village DPW crew were greeted with torn screens, broken windows, chipped-up ice and other senseless damage Monday morning, following rough treatment Sunday by unknown persons. Hundreds of dollars in destruction was done, for no good reason. People wouldn't live like that at home, but why must they feel they can do it on public land?

The persons who did the damage probably think they're smart or cool or big, following their work. But all local residents will suffer if they strike again, because the skating rink will be closed -- possibly for the entire remaining winter -- if the damage continues.

The ice rink has been carefully tended to be smooth and bump-free, but a few minutes of destruction has ruined that. And there is no excuse for damage to screens and windows in the rec building.

Those smart guys (or gals) who did the damage this past weekend are probably too cool to worry or to care about this, but YOU should care. Anyone who sees suspicious or destructive behavior on ANY public land should call village police or the sheriff's department. Maybe you didn't do the damage, but it's up to you to help guarantee it doesn't continue.

We're all going to lose another nice part of "the good life in a small town" if disgusting destruction is allowed to continue at the ice skating rink or anywhere else. That should not be allowed to happen, but only YOU can help stop it!

Energy saving and slaving

We received an "energy saver" calendar from our fuel oil supplier when he filled our tank this month. I don't know whether the gesture was intended to soften the blow, but if it was, it didn't.

On each square for each day is an energy-saver hint, or suggestion for cutting energy consumption. The calendar contains such gems as, keep lids on pots when cooking, pre-heat oven no more than ten minutes, turn off stove shortly before food is completely cooked and let the residual heat finish the job...

One thing I didn't know but was glad to learn -- an electric hand iron consumes as much energy as ten 100-watt light bulbs.

Now I have a terrific excuse to put the iron in mothballs forever!

I haven't really over-used that particular appliance since the Godsend no-iron fabrics became popular, but it's a wonderful relief to know that not ironing clothes is the patriotic thing to do! I'm so proud! Now I can brag that I stopped wasting electricity long before it was fashionable to be conservative.

Here's another energy-saver goodie -- an overloaded refrigerator uses energy excessively. That one's no sweat. After paying the oil bill and the electric bill, who can afford to overload their refrigerator?

Also in the refrigerator category is this helpful hint -- think about what you want from the refrigerator or freezer first, before yet open the door. Oh, how I remember being scolded for standing with the refrigerator door open, gazing at the contents and trying to figure out what would appeal to my taste buds.

We now have the same discussion with our kids, but have solved the problem at least partially by keeping nothing but "yucky stuff" -- like vegetables -- around the house. That philosophy also saves on the grocery bill. Our motto is "If it tastes good, don't buy it." That helps when you're dieting, too.

Speaking of grocery bills, I about croaked yesterday as I started to compile my shopping list. The first three items on the list are going to cost $20! For the sake of my friendship with a number of farm families, I hasten to add that the three items are laundry soap, cooking oil and coffee -- not food items! You can still buy a lot of food for $20!

Ah, here's an idea I really like. Have a cookout. Use your barbecue, it says. Give your stove a rest and serve salads, it says. Boy, that really makes me antsy for summer, for fresh garden produce, for the relaxed pace of not having to hassle the kids about getting to school on time. (That uses almost all of my energy!)

It has been such a mild winter that I expected to see apple blossoms in February, but now we're getting some of those

What do you mean?

Pretend you are planning a dinner meeting. You would like people to come together before the time to sit down at the table. It is considered socially correct to have guests mix, to chat with friends and be introduced to those who may be new to the group.

People may have rushed from their places of business or other work to get prepared for the meeting. They like to have a bit of time to relax, to enjoy the company and to get acquainted before the evening programs begin.

Since this is your job, you arrange a pre-dinner party. Now comes the sticker. What do you call this part of the occasion? It could be the social hour, but isn't the whole thing a social affair? The same goes for "Happy Hour." And that term has gained a whole new connotation recently in some circles.

If you call it a cocktail hour the non-drinkers may stay at home. A committee has come up with an appropriate phrase. At Grayling there will be an "attitude adjustment period" just prior to the big dinner in connection with the Winter Carnival. I can imagine attitudes will get adjusted.

When I read that phrase it reminded me that we don't always say exactly what we mean. Sometimes things must be re-worded to make them approved for certain listeners.

A book reviewer for a literary club probably would say a couple was having a "meaningful relationship" instead of saying they were "diddling around."

In a college dance class we learned to call dances "play-party games." We were preparing to be physical education teachers and our instructor didn't want to send us out into communities where dance-forbidding religious groups were predominant and get into trouble by teaching square dances and folk dances. She didn't think we would last long in a situation like that.

We could teach the Virginia Reel, Texas Star, Dip for the Oyster, or any of the other dances, but just be sure they were called "play-party games," not dances of any kind.

The wrap-up of all this is: If you attend an attitude adjustment period and take part in play-party games you might end up in a meaningful relationship.

Shopping Secrets

Stalking about a strange city after a day of intestinal line isn't my idea of the neatest vacation, but last week my little sis, Mary routed me out of a Milwaukee hotel room and showed me a couple of the spots of downtown Milwaukee. "Spots" means good shopping to any of the Hayes girls who are adept at sniffing out a bargain and are especially talented at finding any wayward knit or fabric shop in strange places.

Mary lives up to the Hayes shopping code. She took me to two humdrum places in Milwaukee. First, we had to look for fabrics since I'd taken my usual contingent of favorite patterns and ideas with me. After looking over the patterns the night before, Mary decided that a "run of the mill" fabric store would not do. Instead, she escorted me to the second floor of a very sleazy looking building in a doubtful neighborhood on the south side of the downtown Milwaukee business district.

The wood floors creaked and the stairs snapped as we followed the dilapidated signs to the second floor workroom of the Florence Eiseman Company where children's clothing is made for the more exclusive department store markets. Four times a year the Company holds sales of their ends of fabrics. And what ends those fabrics are! Beautiful wools, velveteens and corduroys. Liberty of London prints and imported cotton blends from other European markets. The choice was huge and much of the fabric really didn't quality as ends since as much as half of a bolt might be left.

Mary and I roamed the aisles of the showroom corner where the fabrics were displayed for almost an hour before I finally made my purchases. The cottons were most attractive and with spring coming up, two pieces of lighter fabric came home with me.

Mary knew I was pleased with the fabric shop but she had yet another goody for me. We'd been smelling chocolate when we left our hotel and walked toward the Milwaukee Convention Center and couldn't understand how the hops from beer could so resemble cocoa in smell. Mary knew better. She took me to the Ambrosia Chocolate Company which occupied a city block somewhere east of the Pabst Blue Ribbon Brewing Company's huge complex.

The Ambrosia Chocolate Company was something else. The heady smell of chocolate surrounded us as we headed in to the retail store at the factory. There were kinds of chocolate there that I'd never even heard of before. Slabs of Linwood, Blue Ribbon (really!), and others tempted the chocolate lover. Carob stars and white chocolate bark and old fashioned candied raisins and dietetic chocolate were just some of the goodies that lined their shelves. Chocolate chips in several flavors and sizes are available there. A one pound sack of chocolate shavings for topping ice cream sundaes and puddings looked especially tempting.

I hardly looked anything that day. I knew that the great chocolate lover of the family, my husband, would have to return with me the next day to choose his own treats.

Well, after my bout with the flu I wasn't anxious to do anything, but a Hayes girl is a Hayes girl and shopping is shopping. I rose to the occasion by using my intestinal fortitude. Flu or no flu, when one sister wants to go shopping, the other one will, too!

SATURDAY STORY HOUR

On Saturday, Feb. 9 a Film Festival will be featured for Kindergarten through second grade children beginning at 1 p.m.

The film will be "Flash the Teenage Otter" which shows the adventures of Flash, covering crises with a fox, a bobcat, a trapper and a typical adolescent emotion-love at first sight. Flash remains joyous, fun-loving and carefree throughout this tale of his first year of life.

The other film scheduled will be "The Dragon's Tears" which is an animated adaptation of the story of a little boy's fearless act of inviting a dragon to his birthday party.

This Film Festival will be about one hour in length with Peggy Stahl and Dorene Krohn in charge.

FIELD TRIP

The Port Hope Headstart boys and girls made a field trip to the Pigeon District Library on Thursday, Jan. 31. The children meet for a morning session at the Port Hope Elementary School.

The boys and girls were given the opportunity to play and share with the educational toys. Stories were told to them and action games and a flannelboard story were all a part of the hour session.

Marilyn Maust and Peggy Stahl were in charge of this activity at the library. The 14 children were accompanied by their teacher Lucy Wang and aide Mabel Brining along with some parents, grandparents, friends and babysitters.

Ms. Roberta Richmond and her staff welcome the use of the library and encourages groups to use the facilities in this way.

CIRCULATION REPORT

An increase in circulation at the Pigeon District Library is noted with over 250 more items being checked out than in January, 1979. Of this total 1,498 were adult materials, 540 junior adult, 613 children, 95 educational toys, 42 cassette tapes and 37 were audio-visual equipment making a total of 2,825.

State Rep. Quincy Hoffman (R-Applegate) has been appointed to serve on a six-member House Republican task force to study problems in producing and storing Michigan-grown grain.

Hoffman says the panel's list of priorities includes finding solutions to storing and moving grain following the U.S. embargo on shipments to the Soviet Union, plus developing ethanol - made from grain used in producing gasoline. The group hopes to find solutions "to guarantee a healthy and viable future for grain production in the state."

Michigan's winter tourism industry faces an economic "emergency" because of unseasonable weather which has cut an estimated $100 million in receipts this year, according to Lt. Gov. James Brickley.

Our state's number two man says winter recreation season income is off more than 50% midway through this winter, and "the industry is facing the very real possibility of an economic emergency," he says.

Winter recreation business at ski resorts, hotels, motels, restaurants and campgrounds is estimated at $400 million annually, according to Jim Hall of the East Michigan Tourist Association in Bay City.

Good news for maple syrup! The snowless winter still on-going is expected to be the first high-producing year for maple syrup collectors since 1976, says MSU's Cooperative Extension Service.

The mild weather means the sap will be running better, and the lack of snow will aid sap collection, MSU says.

Sixteen tree varieties are available for purchase from the Huron Soil Conservation District, 46 Westland Drive, Bad Axe, 49813. Seedlings are available in white pine, scotch pine, blue spruce, Norway spruce, red pine, white cedar, autumn olive, black walnut and several others, in bundles of 100 and other groups.

Information is available with prices from the SCD.

Farmers spent $114 billion to produce crops, livestock and poultry in 1978, topping 1977's $100 billion level, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. This averaged $48,000 per farm nationally.

Feed was the major expenditure, at $16.5 billion, followed by livestock and poultry purchases at $13.5 billion. Next came wages at $10.2 billion, rent at $9.3 billion, interest at $7.5 billion and fertilizer and other soil conditioners at $7.2 billion.

During February and March, the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service (MARS) will be surveying state farmers at random to determine 1979 costs.

Michigan hogs and pigs totaled 960,000 head as of Dec. 1, up 19% from 1978 and the highest level since World War II, according to MARS.

Fritz family owns 100-year-old farm!

A farm owned by Arlington Fritz 7919 Kilmanagh Road, Owendale, has been designated as a Centennial Farm by the Division of Michigan History of the Michigan Department of State.

The farm, located in Brookfield Township, has been in the possession of the family since 1879. It was originally purchased Nov. 4, 1879 by John George Fritz, great-grandfather of the present owner, from David Kuhne.

Secretary of State Richard H. Austin, whose department administers the Centennial Farm program, says the program was inaugurated in 1948. Since then, more than 3,000 Michigan farms have been certified as Centennial Farms. Certificates are provided by the Division of Michigan History. Large metal markers are provided by the Detroit Edison and Consumers Power Companies.

Explains Austin, "A Centennial Farm is one which has been in the continuous possession of the same family for 100 years or more."

For this purpose, the Michigan History Division considers a farm to be either 10 or more acres having estimated farm product sales of more than $50 yearly, or less than 10 acres having estimated sales of at least $250 yearly. A centennial farm comprises only the land and not the farm buildings, which may be remodeled or even new.

Applications for Centennial Farm recognition are obtainable from: Centennial Farm Program, Division of Michigan History, Michigan Department of State, Lansing Michigan 48918.

"Our Michigan Kitchen"

By Mr. Jean Charest

Two of my friends were fortunate enough to get woks as Christmas gifts and both are interested in trying some new recipes besides learning more about Chinese cooking. Therefore, this week I have chosen to discuss Peking cooking and hopefully explain or compare its cooking with that of the other major Chinese areas.

Just as you receive your copy of this week's Progress-Advance, Gertrude and myself will be in a 747 winging our way to Hawaii where a large percentage of the population is Chinese and I shall have the pleasure of shopping for authentic Chinese ingredients. Dried sharks fin, birds nests, tree-ear-mushrooms, Chinese parsley, fresh ginger root, Star anise, dried seaweed and all the other goodies which are available at Chinese grocers. My shopping list is ready and our luggage should be quite heavy upon our return to Michigan.

PEKING FOOD

Peking food is the most delicious, varied, and elegant in the world. Classic Mandarin delicacies and the hearty dumplings of the street vendors, both are characteristics of this ancient Northern city. Many styles of food from the provinces are found here - the spicy succulent sauces from the province of Szechwan, and the light fresh vegetables from the province of Kwangtung - each valued for its special tastes.

We Americans and Canadians have known Chinese food best in the style of the city of Canton in South China, because most Chinese restaurants here are Cantonese. The cooking of North China is different; basically, it uses more pastries and breads, and less rice; more richly spiced things and less bland vegetables; it is more savory and less sweet. The materials are those native to a cold climate, and the flowers are lively and robust. These flowers can be produced in the American kitchen.

TABLE TOP - STIR FRY

Table-top stir-fry cooking can be done wherever you get sufficient heat in the cooking pan, on a dining table, sideboard, or outside picnic table. An electric wok works very well for this; so does an electric frying pan, or a wok over a brazier. For a new and original way of entertaining, plan a small party around the cooking pan, and bring your kitchen to the table. Stir-frying is a marvelous Chinese way of cooking that conserves the freshness, lightness and succulence of food. This is done by:

1. Proper cutting; pieces are uniform in size so that they are all cooked at the same time.
2. Short cooking time, so nothing has time to toughen or grow soggy.
3. High heat and rapid stirring, so that every piece is lightly seared on all sides during its short stay in the wok or frying pan.

A Chinese wok is generally used for stir-frying because its shape concentrates the action into a small central area of the pan, for perfect control by the chef. (However, Chinese cooking is a method, not a device, and you can stir-fry foods very well on the stove in your old iron skillet.)

Because stir-frying is done so rapidly, all ingredients must be ready, there is no time for preparation after stir-frying has begun. Therefore, the sliced and shredded raw foods are piled on a platter, beforehand, and set beside the wok along with the seasonings. Here is where guests can help you, if they like, with the chopping and slicing of the many ingredients which will then be cooked in the stir-fry.

Peking Kitchens

We will proceed to give you recipes which can be used as main courses but which you may wish to serve with several other dishes in the Chinese manner. If you plan to serve a Chinese style meal I recommend combining one or two table-top stir-fry recipes with one or two dishes that can be prepared in the kitchen in the steamer, oven, or simmering pot.

On Saturday, Feb. 2, we had a Chinese dinner at our house. We invited two other couples to attend our dinner. However, it varied from the usual invitation since the couples invited were assigned a Chinese dish to make and bring to our dinner. The assigned recipes were for dishes which travelled well and could be reheated without too much fuss.

Opinions on school lunches—tell U.S. Dept. of Agriculture

WASHINGTON - Students and parents with an opinion or two about the size and nutritional content of school lunch servings now have a chance to say so.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture is asking the public to help develop a standardized monitoring system to ensure that each child receives a daily lunch that meets the department's nutritional requirements.

Specifically, the public is invited to respond to a series of questions to be printed in the Federal Register on Friday, Jan. 18.

For example, what should be monitored - food portions on plates or total amounts of food a school kitchen serves during a particular period? Should food service workers determine portions visually or by some other method? Should frozen pre-packaged meals be measured the same way as fresh foods?

Only lunches that provide specified amounts of four food groups are eligible for reimbursement under the National School Lunch Program. The amounts are designed to supply about 1/2 of daily food needs for a 10-12 year old child.

A committee of department and school food personnel will meet in Jan. to consider alternative ways to ensure the adequacy of school meals served to children.

The public is invited to send specific ideas and comments to help the committee develop a system that will satisfy both common sense and the need for strict accountability of federal funds. Send comments by March 3, to Stanley Garnett, School Programs Division, 201 14th St., S.W., Room 4122, Washington, D.C., 20250.

Don't forget a Michigan tax return

When filing your 1979 federal income tax return don't forget you may be required to file a return for the state of Michigan also. The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants offer this advice to taxpayers who might be confused when preparing the state return. Who should file a state return? Those with a federal adjusted gross income greater than the total amount that is allowed for Michigan personal and dependency exemptions or those who are eligible for a refund. You may be required to file a Michigan return even if you do not have a federal return.

The deadline date is the same for federal and state returns. It must be postmarked by April 15, 1980, say the CPAs, to avoid paying a penalty. For 1979 the tax rate is 4.6% and the amount for each exemption remains at $1,500. Obtaining copies of tax forms and instructions is easy by picking them up at local offices of the Michigan Department of Treasury, local post offices, banks or tax return preparers.

Since 1978 the forms have included a space for taxpayers to indicate the name and code number of their public school district. A list of school code numbers is included in the instructions and is used by the state to gather information on income by school district.

The Homestead Property Tax Credit is available to all homeowners and renters with special credit computations available to senior citizens, servicemen, veterans, blind persons, paraplegics, quadriplegics and totally and permanently disabled persons. If your credit exceeds your tax liability you may receive a refund up to a maximum of $1,200. The following forms are available for claiming this credit:

Senior citizens and widows of senior citizens: Form MI-1040CR-1

Active servicemen, eligible veterans or blind persons: Form MI-1040CR-2

Paraplegic, totally and permanently disabled: MI-1040CR-3

Others that qualify for credit: MI-1040CR-4

Some claimants may qualify for credit under more than one category. They should compare and choose the one that works to their best advantage. Special rules apply to claimants who are not husband and wife but who jointly own and occupy the same dwelling. These also apply for separated or divorced claimants and taxpayers with a business in their home.

The credit for homeowners and renters with general claims equals 60% of the amount by which their property taxes, billed in 1979, exceeds 3.5% of their household or spendable income. The interpretation of household income allows the exclusion of such items as energy assistance grants and tax credits, certain government payments to third parties and for homestead repair, state and local income tax refunds and the first $300 of awards, lottery and bingo winnings to the extent these items are included in the federal adjusted gross income. In addition, health and accident insurance premiums paid by the taxpayer for himself and his family are deductible from household income.

Renters will base their claim on 17% of rent paid which will be considered in lieu of taxes in the computation of the credit. Where meals are included in the rent paid or if you live in tax exempt housing which pays a service fee in place of property taxes, a separate computation is required to determine the tax eligible for credit. Persons living in a mobile home park may claim $3 per month and 17% of the rent paid.

Permanent occupants of nursing homes should use their allocated share of the property taxes levied on the facility. The manager of the facility should be able to tell you your allocated share of taxes.

A Home Heating Assistance Credit is available based on a sliding scale of income and exemptions. The credit can be claimed on the same form as the Homestead Property Tax Credit.

Individuals who have signed an agreement with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources under the Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act may claim a special credit through the use of Form MI-1040CR-5.

Copies of the property tax bills and a copy of the related Schedule F must be submitted with the claim. According to the Michigan Department of Treasury, farmland preservation credits are income to the recipient and must be included in the federal adjusted gross income, Michigan taxable income and Michigan household income.

Starting with the 1979 tax year, the CPAs say, an income tax credit is available to Michigan residents who purchased and installed a solar, photovoltaic, wind, ground water heat pump or a low lead hydric system in their residence. Application for the credit is made with the Michigan Department of the Commerce Energy Administration. The credit is claimed on Form MI-1040CR-6.

You may also claim credit for contributions to colleges, universities and public libraries in Michigan. The maximum credit for these contributions is $200 on a joint return or $100 on a single return. Along with this, there may be additional credits available for income taxes paid to Michigan cities and income taxes paid to another state.

The CPAs point out that if any of the following items were included in your federal adjusted gross income, be sure to claim a deduction for them. These include retirement or pension benefits from a Michigan public retirement system, retirement or pension benefits from other sources up to a maximum of $7,500 or $10,000 on a joint return, refunds of state or city income taxes and proceeds and prizes won in the Michigan lottery or state regulated bingo games. A deduction is also allowed for contributions as defined in the Michigan Election Code.

If any of your federal schedules show a loss either in business, farm, rentals or capital or if you have made adjustments to income on your Federal Form 1040 then you must include a copy of these schedules with your Michigan return.

There are special rules, the CPAs say, for jobs tax credit deductions, capital gains on properties acquired before Oct. 1, 1967, non-residents, income derived from another state, persons moving into or out of the state, net operating losses and extensions of the due date of the return and amended returns. You should seek professional assistance in these areas.

Before mailing your returns be sure you have completed the following items: the return has been signed by you and your spouse; your address on the return is complete; Copy 2 of your Form W-2 is attached; mathematical computations have been checked; a check is attached for any balance due and if you have an overpayment, it has been indicated whether it is to be refunded or applied to next year's estimated tax payments.

The Michigan Association of CPAs also reminds you that if any changes are made to your federal return because of an audit or an amended return, make sure that the Michigan Department Treasury is notified.

LIFE CALLS US TO ACCOUNT FOR OUR MISDEEDS

Wilt thou seal up the avenues of ill?
Pay every debt, as if God wrote the bill.
—Ralph Waldo Emerson

"Let the wicked forsake
his way...and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy
upon him."
—Isaiah 55:7

One of life's most compelling temptations consists of trying to "get away with" something, particularly when we see those around us apparently doing it; from cutting classes in school to being less than honest in our dealings with others, financial or otherwise. However, sooner or later life will catch up with you; for you will either ruin your reputation, destroy your health or get badly hurt, depending on the nature of your transgressions. You will learn in Church that we must all pay our debt to that big Accounting Department in the sky, but that we may then make a fresh start. You will find that it pays to live by the rules, for there is no better feeling than the peace of mind you will enjoy as a result of it.

LADIES AID

Members of the St. John's Lutheran Ladies Aid of Kilmanagh met on Thursday, Jan. 31 for their monthly meeting.

The meeting was opened with a hymn. Pastor Wentzel's devotion was on several verses on Genesis.

Our guest speaker for the afternoon were Mrs. John Jantze and Mrs. Edna Gascho of Pigeon.

A short business meeting was held, we closed the business meeting with a hymn and the Lord's prayer in unison.

Euchre and Whoopie were played with prizes going to Elsie Kern, high and Elsie Bolzman low for Euchre.

Whoopie high scorer was Barbara Shanks and low score was Hazel Kuck. Donald Kundinger had the birthday closest to the meeting.

A dessert luncheon was served by the hostesses Mrs. Alice Wissner, Mrs. Ella Ziel and Mrs. Ida Haag.

The beggar at the gate

Read Luke 16:19-31

At his gate lay a poor man. Luke 16:20

We go with the underdog every time.

In this story of Jesus we identify with the beggar. Only, it's the rich man who is the underdog; he is in hell, not because he was rich, but because he thought he was righteous. As it turns out, he is the one who ends up begging.

Beggars we all are, with needs of every kind — persons who look for love, warmth, nourishment and nurturing.

We are the ones whom the Lord befriended. He died for us, sharing rejection to the fullest. In Him God is our Helper.

What of the rich man then? He's the one who really needs help, which he stubbornly denies. He cries for help when it's too late.

For us that raises the question about what it is that we trust in. Is it the nonsense that power and riches and position and knowledge will carry us through? Is it anything other than the Word and promise of God?

There isn't anything else that can withstand decay and death. Our little gods cannot help us.

There is only one who is strong to save, Jesus Christ. He, in fact, takes away our separation, unites with God, and makes us rich in His forgiveness.

Dear Father, in our need we come to You for deliverance, that we might trust in Your help always; for Jesus' sake. Amen.

There's an Answer!

by Norman Vincent Peale and Ruth Stafford Peale

NOT AN EASY ROLE

I am newly married with 14-year-old twin girls added to my life. They have not had any decent home life or discipline in many years and don't show any respect for others. There is no respect for authority. How can I get them to cooperate? Can you help me handle my new role as wife and stepmother? I want to show them God and love and real family happiness.

A. The best way is to be an enthusiastic, radiant, outgoing woman. Underscore "woman" and play down the mother image. Go all out to make your home life interesting and be compassionate as possible with the girls in a normal, natural way. Don't try to establish a "three girls" relationship, for that can be foolish. Just be a genuine good friend to the girls. The discipline that comes from real liking is much stronger than authoritative disciplinary parental action.

Perhaps you will find helpful thoughts in our booklet, Enthusiasm, which is on its way to you. Any reader wishing a free copy may write to us at Box 500, Pawling, N. Y. 12564.

PRAYS HE WILL CHANGE

Q. My son-in-law is a civic leader, prays a beautiful prayer in public, is a good public citizen. He is also guilty of wife and child abuse. I have tried to reason with my daughter, but she informs me he is her husband and it is her marriage. True as that is, those children are my grandchildren, and I am at my wits' end over the situation. I caused child welfare to call upon them. This only alienated me from the entire family. I have prayed he will change. Have you help for me?

A. Keep on praying for your son-in-law, but do it with a loving attitude. Let him know you love him and show him you are believing in him. That will give you more influence with him than being hostile. As keenly as you feel about the situation, you will be well advised to stay out of it and let your daughter handle her own family affairs.

If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, N. Y. 12564.

Social Security received by 4.2 million people

Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments of $222,441,000, were paid to some 117,316 needy aged, blind, and disabled people in Michigan in 1979, according to William A. Watson, social security acting district manager in Port Huron.

Aged recipients received $58,442,000, of that amount while $3,688,000, was paid to the blind, and 160,311,000, to the disabled.

Of the total payments in Michigan, the Federal share in 1979 was $146,058,000, and Federally administered State supplementary payments added $76,383,000.

Some 4.2 million people are now receiving SSI. In 1979 payments totaled $6.8 billion, including $5.3 billion in Federal funds and $1.5 billion in State funds.

The SSI program is a Federally-administered program that provides a basic cash income to people in financial need who are 65 or older, blind, or disabled. Currently, SSI provides up to $242.29 for one person and $363.44 for an eligible couple in monthly benefits. "Not every person qualifying for SSI will receive that amount," Mr. Watson said.

"Some may get less because they have other income, while some may get more if they live in an adult foster care home."

SSI is not the same as social security, even though the program is administered by the Social Security Administration. Money for SSI checks comes from general funds of the U.S. Treasury, while social security benefits are paid from payroll taxes.

People who receive social security checks may also be eligible for SSI, but a person does not have to be eligible for social security to get SSI.

More information about the SSI program can be obtained by contacting the social security office at 269-8185. It is located in the Huron County Court House, Bad Axe, MI. The hours are 9:00 AM to noon and 1:00 PM to 5:00 PM.

Kelsey advises

Michigan farmers will need sound management strategies to enter the new decade on steady economic footing, says Dr. Myron Kelsey.

Kelsey, Extension agricultural economist at Michigan State University,

Careful consideration in making farm expansions says farmland is one of the best hedges against inflation but its current income potential is low. He expects costs of farm-owned inputs such as land and machinery to continue increasing with inflation during the next few years. Farm input prices increased more than 11% this year over 1978 and are expected to increase at least that much in 1980.

Fertilizer prices, which have been relatively stable for four years, are expected to increase as much as 15% in 1980. Increases in other raw materials, wages and interest rates are also pushing up farm production costs.

Kelsey says high interest rates will continue for several years, allowing fewer new farmers to start businesses. Farmers with highly leveraged operations will find growth difficult and many marginal operations will be forced out of business.

Kelsey advises against making major farm business expansions without careful financial planning. He suggests farmers hold down interest costs by borrowing only when necessary and repaying as quickly as possible. Lower-cost capital could be obtained by borrowing on life insurance policies with cash value.

Substantial profits can be made on short-term investments, such as six-month money market certificates and money market funds with no minimum investment period. Kelsey suggests farmers nearing retirement consider converting farm personal property assets into high-yielding current income investments.

National net farm income is expected to decrease about 20% in 1980, but Kelsey says Michigan will not be as seriously affected. Dairy farm income, which represents about one-third of the state's agricultural income, should remain healthy because milk prices are linked to the Consumer Price Index.

Cash crop farmers will have to watch the market more carefully, particularly corn and soybean prospects. Soybean acreage has increased substantially in recent years, Kelsey notes, as has foreign competition from Argentina, Brazil and other producers.

Topical fluoride registration deadline Feb. 22

Topical fluoride applications will again be offered to Huron County children this summer by the Huron County Health Department, under the supervision of the Dental Division of the Michigan Department of Public Health.

The procedure consists of four visits to the fluoride clinic at approximately two-day intervals, with the clinics located in area schools. Specific dates will be announced at a later time.

During the first visit the teeth are cleaned and a fluoride solution is applied directly to the surface of the teeth. During the three succeeding visits only the fluoride application is repeated. This procedure reduced tooth decay by about 40%, says program administrators.

A total of 575 children were treated in Huron County in 1979.

In addition to providing protection against cavities, the program offers children a valuable dental experience free of pain and discomfort, say Dental Division spokesmen. Dental health education by clinic personnel, including instruction in the proper method of brushing teeth, also is an important part of the program, they say.

Magician R.B. Woodward featured Saturday at Owendale

Magician and Illusionist R.B. Woodward will perform his mystifying tricks this Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the Owen-Gage Cafetorium at Owendale, as part of start-up activities for the Owendale 75th Anniversary.

Woodward of Elkton has been presenting his shows for many years. The above photo shows him at work last summer at an outdoor show at Pigeon River Campgrounds.

Low ticket prices are offered for students and adults, including a special family rate for four or more. Tickets are available at the door.

The magic show is a fund-raising activity of the Owendale 75th Anniversary Committee, for the July 4-5-6 weekend. According to Parade Committee Chairman Walter Howard, a giant parade, carnival rides, children's games, water ball contest, pony pull, food concessions and beer tent are being planned.

A community church service is planned Sunday morning, with an afternoon picnic and games following. A history booklet may be published, according to organizers.

Planners hope to provide a trampoline act and other special features, Howard said. The Village of Owendale was founded in 1905.

Summary of Huron County Commissioners' Proceedings

BAD AXE, MI
January 8, 1980

The Honorable Board of Commissioners convened this day at 9:30 A.M., for regular meeting pursuant to date set. Meeting was called to order by Chairman, Peter J. Ney. Roll call was taken and present were: Chairman Ney, Kuhl, Leipprandt, Reibling, Schumacher, Nugent and Thoms. All present.

In accordance with the Open Meeting Act, the record indicated that no requests were made to speak.

County Treasurer, Mr. Schweitzer, discussed with the Board the letter received from Vivian Carpenter, Deputy State Treasurer, which stated that an independent C.P.A. would have to be hired by the counties receiving Revenue Sharing Funds, to do an audit for a year ending 1977, 1978 or 1979 or have a contract to have an audit performed for the fiscal year ending 1979 by March 1, 1980. According to this, the State audit did not comply under the requirements of the Revenue Sharing office. It would have to be an "all-fund audit" and could be very costly. He did check with the State office if they would do this and they stated that they do not have the staff and that the County would have to do this. Accordingly, the County will have to have some agreement by March 1st for some type of audit. Chairman requested that this be checked further and if needed a resolution be presented.

Meeting with Board was Keith Wilson, Chief Waterways Division of the State DNR, for discussion of the land exchange in Port Austin. Also, attending were 18 persons from the Port Austin area representing the Huron Tourist Association, The Thumb Area Steelheaders and other interested parties along with Robert Tufts and John Martin from the Road Commission and Lester Ender and Robert Finan, members of the Road Commission Board. Mr. Wilson explained the DNR proposal to the county is to exchange about 3 1/2 acres of partially developed county property, west of Lake Street in Port Austin, for about 6.65 acres of undeveloped land just east of Bird Creek. The state would also pay the county $72,600 to achieve parity. The problem at this time is that there is inadequate boat launching facilities and parking area for vehicles. The State hopes to develop a boat launching facility with 3 or 4 ramps, parking for 65 car-trailer units, parking for 55 cars and landscaping. The DNR has included in their budget request for 1980-81, the sum of $100,000 and if appropriated, and the exchanges is agreed upon, they would start construction the spring of 1981 and completed and available that summer.

This amount should allow to complete one-half of this. Further discussion was held. Motion by Kuhl, seconded by Schumacher that this be turned over to the Finance, Ways and Means Committee and to the Recreation and Parks Committee and that an appraisal be made by a private appraisal.

Discussion followed. Motion by Thoms, seconded by Reibling that the motion be amended by having the appraisal deleted from the motion. Mr. Kuhl requested that it remain as a part of the motion. Chairman requested a roll call vote on the amendment to the motion. Vote as follows: AYES: Thoms, Reibling, Nugent, Ney; NAYS: Leipprandt, Kuhl; PASS: Schumacher; Motion carried.

Vote on the motion to turn it over to the Finance and the Parks Committee. Vote as follows: AYES: Kuhl, Schumacher, Thoms, Reibling, Nugent, Leipprandt, Ney; NAYS: None; Motion carried.

Committee meeting was scheduled for January 31st at 1:30 P.M. for the Commissioners to meet with Mr. Wilson, Road Commission and our Prosecuting Attorney.

Mr. Wilson also stated that he would send a copy of their appraisal of the Bird Creek's Peninsula that was done this past fall.

3:40 P.M.

Minutes of the January 3rd meeting were read. Motion by Leipprandt seconded by Reibling that the minutes be approved as read. Motion carried.

Communications were read. Motion by Nugent, seconded by Reibling that the Communications be turned over to the proper committees and acted upon. Motion carried.

Mr. Schumacher stated that he attended the recognition and retirement party January 11th for Wilfred Coulston, who has retired from the Department of Social Services.

RESOLUTION by Purchasing & County Vehicles Committee: #4 (RE: Advertising for bids for the leasing of four cars for the Sheriff Department. Bids to be opened February 13th at 1:30 P.M., received until 1 P.M.)

Motion by Schumacher, seconded by Leipprandt that this resolution be adopted as read. Motion carried.

RESOLUTION by Building & Grounds Committee: #5 (RE: Due to inflationary costs, the snow removal contract with William Smith be increased from $15.00 to $16.50 per hour, effective January 1, 1980 and continue for duration of contract - 12-31-81.)

Motion by Thoms, seconded by Reibling for the adoption of this resolution as read. Motion carried.

RESOLUTION by Finance, Ways and Means Committee: #6 (RE: Committee to take the necessary steps to meet requirements of the 1976 amendment to Federal Revenue Sharing Act requiring local government to fund audits to be made by independent C.P.A. Firm.)

Motion by Reibling, seconded by Leipprandt for the adoption of this resolution as read. Discussion followed. Mr. Schweitzer stated that he is checking if the federal government will accept the state audit for 1977. Motion carried.

Lakers win seventh league game, 58-57

By KAMI BUCHHOLZ
Steals and fast breaks won the Lakers their seventh league game this season against two losses. As host for the game played Friday, Feb. 1, the Lakers rejected the Bad Axe Hatchets' attempts to win the contest in the final quarter.

In the opening minutes of the first stanza, the "Green Machine" was having a field day stealing the bounce passes of the Hatchets. Bad Axe was held to 10 points in the first quarter while EPBP rang up 20 points.

Bad Axe prevailed in the second quarter by finding some weak spots in the Laker zone defense. At the halftime break Lakers led, 36-28, but the Hatchets were still to be seen in the second half.

The third quarter began with the Laker squad gathering unwanted fouls while the Hatchets began to gather rebounds along with points.

The Hatchets chalked up 15 points to EPBP's 12 points to end the third period scoring with Bad Axe behind by five points, 48-43.

Lakers were matched with wit in the final quarter. The "Green Machine" held slim one and three point leads from the 6:18 mark, on down until the buzzer. Laker senior Todd Wisenbaugh fouled out of the game at the 7:05 mark in the fourth quarter. The game concluded with Lakers winning by one, 58-57. The Hatchets outscored the Lakers in the last three quarters and retained possession of the ball with five seconds left, but they couldn't ward off EPBP's power.

In individual stats, the Lakers were led in rebounds by Todd Dubey eight, and Todd Wisenbaugh, Brian Wichert and Jim Leipprandt six apiece, Gary Binder had five assists.

Double digit scorers for Bad Axe were Mike Rounds 17 and Jon Volk 10.

Laker scorers were Todd Dubey 16, Todd Wisenbaugh 15, Jim Leipprandt seven, Brian Wichert, Scott Parver and Bryan Chisholm six a piece and Jeff Bushey two.

Sebewaing snow fun begins this Saturday

SEBEWAING - Think snow, snow, snow - is what the Sebewaing Actions Council in charge of the second annual Sugar Snow Festival is doing, since only a few days remain until the event begins this Saturday, Feb. 9.

Kicking off Saturday's fun is the Cross Country Ski Race, planned in the morning on Anton Street. For the indoor enthusiasts, bingo will begin in the morning at the Sportman's-VFW Hall, to be followed by a euchre tournament in the afternoon.

Outdoor activities will include a polar bear dip, bag races, wood carving, sleigh rides, straw-candy hunt, a men's and women's tug-of-war, ice spudding contest and a girls' softball game on the ice. All events will take place near the Sportman's-VFW Hall on West Bay Street.

The kitchen at the hall will be open throughout the day serving bratwurst, hot dogs, pizza, hot beverages and refreshments.

Area snowmobilers are invited to participate in the torchlight parade on Saturday evening, to begin on North Miller Street and continuing to the hall. The crowning of the Sugar Snow King and Queen will take place prior to the Snow Ball which will begin at 9 p.m., with music furnished by "The Infinite Concept."

The winners of the perch-pike fishing contest which has been ongoing for several weeks will be announced on Sunday. A snowmobile drag race on Saginaw Bay during the afternoon will conclude the weekend events.

The Sebewaing Actions Council extends a cordial welcome to area residents to come to Sebewaing this weekend and join in the fun-filled events taking place during this mid-winter festival, members say.

Elkton Senior Citizens

On Jan. 29, the Elkton Senior Citizens met in the Civic with 45 attending and with George Southworth presiding. The meeting was opened with a salute to the Flag and singing "America." The Rev. Francis Wilson have the invocation. Pearl Hohman led the group in singing several songs.

The Fred Beachs, Beatrice Wilhelm and Bernice Wilde were welcomed back after long absences. Hazel Humphry and Doc Wilson, story tellers, told several jokes and stories. Bernice Wilde and Beatrice Wilhelm showed pictures which they took on their trip last fall to Nova Scotia.

Ray and Fern English reported on the meeting they attended of the Council on Aging.

Committees for February: SET UP - Eva Watterworth and Jean Kellerman. CLEAN UP - Eva Day, Minnie Williams, Frances Snider, Max and Helen Ritter.

After the program the members played bingo.

SVSC offers reading workshop

We've all been hearing that "Johnny can't read or write."

To remedy that, the English department at Saginaw Valley State College is sponsoring a workshop to help tomorrow's Johnnies and Jills develop better communication skills.

Called "Writing Across the Curriculum," the workshop is scheduled to begin at 3 p.m. Friday, Feb. 8 (tomorrow) and continue through 5 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 9.

Participants include members from all departments of the SVSC faculty.

Highlight of the workshop is the keynote address scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday, in the Wickes Hall faculty lounge. Dr. Toby Fulwiler, associate professor of Humanities at Michigan Technological University, will speak on "Writing and Learning across the Curriculum."

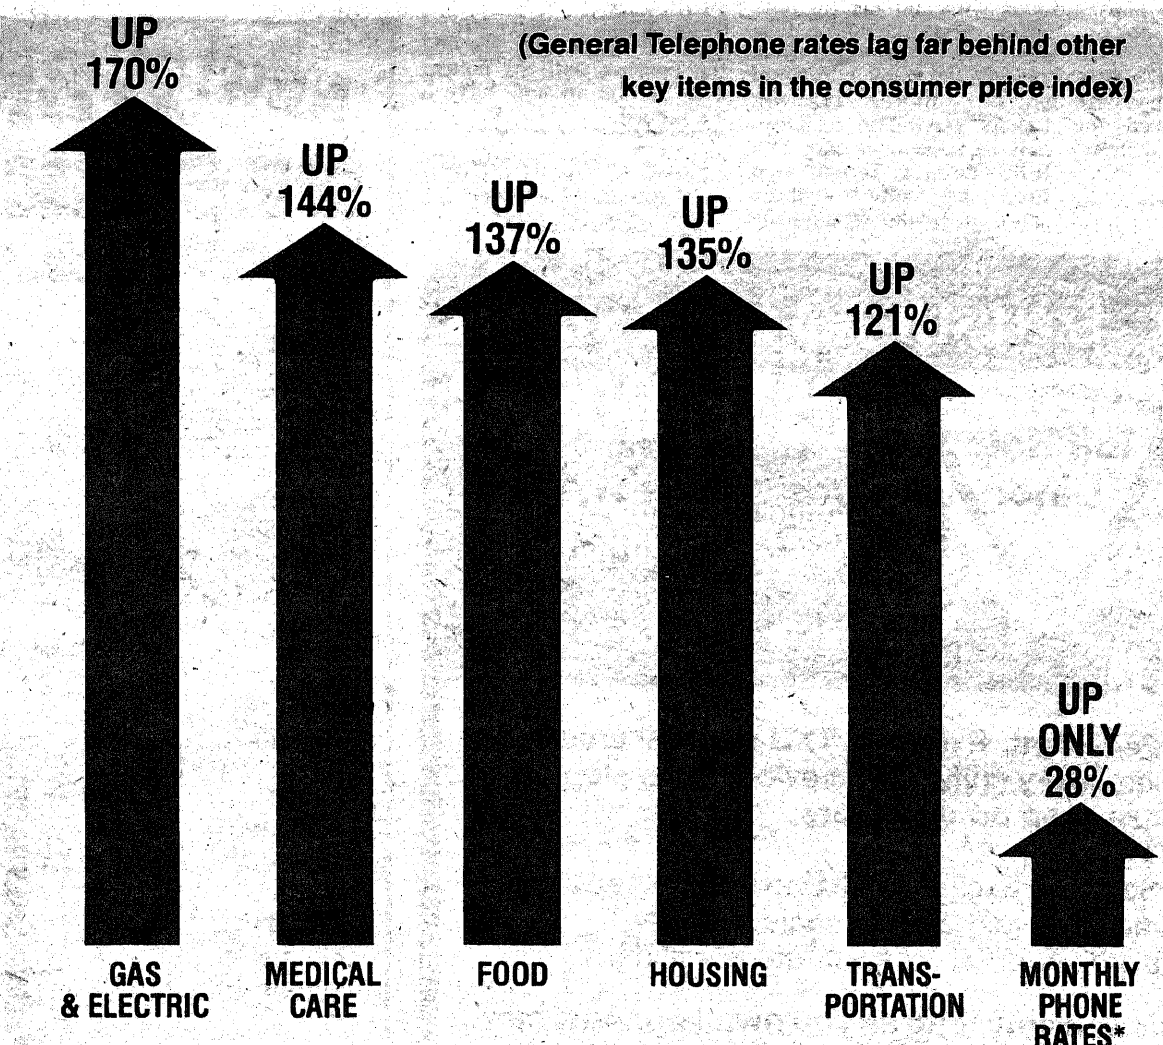

TRIAL RUN - Two contestants ready for the Polar Bear Dip are, from left, Ann Fournier and Alice Pritchard, sporting Sebewaing Snow Festival shirts. They're watching Rick Wild and Don Haist spud the hole for this weekend's events.

Four local boxers advanced to the second round of Golden Gloves boxing competition recently, before two were defeated Monday night at the Saginaw Civic Center. The Huron County Boxing Club of Bay Port sponsored several contestants. On Monday, Jan. 28, Dan Kowalski (156-novice class) scored a second-round TKO and Bruce Halasz (132-novice) went the full three rounds before he won his novice-class bout last week. Walter Hane and Jimmy "Ray" both drew byes in the first round of competition.
