Farmers' Week set with busy schedule

The quality of the Farmers' Week educational programs at Michigan State University, March 17-22, almost deserves college class credit, according to planners.

"This year's format has a much broader interest appeal than in the past. Topics vary from fairly complicated farm management seminars to sessions which stress hobby creativity," says Thomas L. Thorburn, Farmers' Week program coordinator.

Farmers' Week activities fall in four broad categories: commercial farm programs; natural resources education, family-oriented seminars and youth activities. Details are listed in the free MSU Farmers' Week guidebook available at the Cooperative Extension Service office located in Bad Axe.

Individual copies may also be obtained by writing to: MSU Bulletin Office, P. O. Box 231 MSU, East Lansing, MI 48824.

Commercial Farm Programs

Activities include sessions on economical cattle ration development, gasohol production, irrigation systems, animal disease control, electronic technology and farm management, grain production, and horse, swine and beef cow care. A variety of dairy breed association meetings will be held throughout the week.

Natural Resources Education

Topics range from safe home heating with wood to carving waterfowl decoys. Several programs on wildlife and environmental study were designed with secondary teachers' and naturalists in mind.

Other activities include discussions on energy trends in Michigan, nature photography, funding for local parks, Christmas tree production, and trends in private and public campground use.

Family-Oriented Seminars

These sessions cover topics like stress and ethnic values, diet and exercise, clothing and physical activity, protection of family members from pesticide poisoning, and farm estate planning.

Related programs include seminars on home gardening, and insect control around the home, a special off-campus trip for landscape enthusiasts, and a tour of a large grocery distribution terminal in Lansing.

Youth Activities

Programs geared toward high school students include the annual state Future Farmers of American convention, and sessions on careers in poultry science, natural resources and agriculture. Students may also compete in rabbit and Japanese quail exhibitions.

Caseville School holds Kindergarten Roundup

Caseville Public Schools will hold its yearly "Kindergarten Roundup" for the 1980-81 school year on Thursday, May 6.

Parents should be in the kindergarten room at 1 p.m. with the child to be enrolled. All children to be enrolled in kindergarten must be five years of age on or before Dec. 1, 1980. In order to register their child, parents must bring the child's birth certificate and immunization records.

At the roundup, the children will have an opportunity to meet their future teacher and classmates while parents learn about health requirements for kindergarten entry as well as reserve appointments for the pre-school vision test and kindergarten readiness testing.

Parents with children who will be attending kindergarten during the 1980-81 school year and live within the Caseville Public School District should contact Timothy Delongchamp, elementary principal at Caseville School, for further information.

Elkton switching unit installed

Additional switching office equipment is now ready to serve General Telephone customers in the Elkton exchange, according to Division Manager Bob Kowalski.

Kowalski says the $28,000 project provided 100 additional lines and 100 terminals. This equipment is necessary to help meet present and projected growth in the Elkton exchange, he says.

Kowalski explains that one piece of line equipment is required for each line in use, whether private, two-party or suburban service. Line equipment provides the dial tone when the telephone receiver is lifted.

The second portion of the equipment addition consists of 100 terminals, which make the final connection between the calling and called party. One connector is required for each telephone number, he says.

General Telephone's Elkton exchange serves over 800 customers in a 74-square-mile area.

The Elkton improvements are among $6.7 million in modernization planned this year by General Telephone, averaging $202 per customer.

Automatic Number Identification to eliminate most operator interruptions when private line customers make long distance calls is also scheduled for the Elkton and Caseville exchanges, two of the 178 General exchanges in Michigan, with 686,000 phones in service.

Poison Center number is available locally

By WANDA EICHLER

During the recent holidays a young mother visiting the Thumb area expressed concern about her 14-month-old son who just happened to get into his grandmother's purse. The grandmother wasn't used to having small children rummaging through her things and never even thought about the bottle of medicine that was floating around the bottom of her purse.

The curious little boy found the pills and was about to remove the non-childproof cap when his mother discovered him and removed him from the scene of what could have been a fatal poisoning.

Where would the mother have called for help? When minutes count, as in the poisoning of a small child, is there time to risk driving to the nearest emergency room?

Help is as near as the telephone. There is a toll-free Poison Control Center number, 1-800-572-1655, that will put you in touch with a 24-hour answering service that records over 20,000 calls annually at Children's Hospital in Detroit. The Poison center at Children's Hospital has a specialized library including a computer terminal on a direct line to the Food and Drug Administration, for the transmission of toxicologic information. In addition to those services, Children's Hospital has a competent authority in toxicology on duty continuously, spokesmen say.

When you call the Poison Control Center from outside areas such as the Western Thumb they immediately ask what poison was taken and how much. Then they advise treatment and ask you your local doctor is and/or which hospital emergency room you will go to.

Several factors enter into their advice at this point. In the case of some poisoning, there may not be time to get the patient to a hospital. Immediate treatment is the only thing that will save the person's life. Then, too, the Poison Control Center wants to know who the patient's doctor is and where he will go for treatment since they may find more information about the ingested poison in between the time that you hang up the phone and arrive at the treatment center.

The Poison Control Center is constantly being supplied with information on new products from the Food and Drug Administration. Everything from medicines to gum to glue are catalogued by computer and available by contents as possible poisons if they are used improperly.

Dr. Jamal U. Akbar of Scheurer Hospital staff says that in about 50% of the poisoning cases that run through Scheurer Hospital the poison center is called. Often the call is made to protect the interest of the hospital in the event of any legal action by a patient.

"Mothers in this area are real good about keeping things away from children," Dr. Akbar commented. Scheurer Hospital sees very few poisoning cases compared to the city hospitals where accidental poisoning cases with children are common.

Dr. Akbar also emphasized that the hospital should be called after the poison center is notified. Calling the local hospital will assure just that much better care when and if the patient arrives and will also let the hospital know that the services of the poison center have been used.

Probably the most valuable protection that you can keep in a home medicine chest in the case of poisoning is a one ounce bottle of syrup of ipecac which is used to induce vomiting. However, not all cases of poisonings require vomiting and it is vital that you be aware of this. For example, if household cleaners containing lye or lye-like products are swallowed the damage will be greater if the product is then vomited. It is absolutely vital that a doctor or the poison center be called before any treatment is attempted.

The Poison Control Center gives these tips to avoid any incidences of accidental poisoning in the home:

- *Obtain one ounce syrup of ipecac from your pharmacist and keep it in your home. Keep a bottle on hand for each child in your family.
- *Lock up all medicines. Keep in child-resistant packages.

- *Don't take medicine in front of children.
- *Don't call medicine candy.
- *Clean out old medicines regularly and flush them down the drain.

- *Read and heed directions and caution labels.
- *Avoid bringing unnecessary toxic substances into your home.

- *Store cleaning supplies out of sight and out of reach of children.
- *Don't store medicines, cleaning agents or pesticides near food.

- *Keep all products in their original containers.
- *Rinse out containers thoroughly before disposing of them.

OBSERVATIONS BY THE EDITOR AND OTHERS

GET THE POINT? — Michigan motorists who exceed 60 mph will get points on their licenses, in addition to fines, as of March, 1981, following legislature approval last week of a speed control bill.

Our own Sen. Alvin J. DeGrow (R-Pigeon) told the Associated Press he voted for the bill, but would have preferred to have points imposed for exceeding the state's maximum limit — 55 mph. He says (rightly so) the 60 mph figure is better than no such law.

GASOHOL'S THE WORD — We hear more and more about gasohol throughout our state and this area, since it would have such a huge impact on grain usage and sales. This combination of 10% pure alcohol (made from corn and other grains) and 90% gasoline would help stretch our gas supplies.

The state Ag Department says more than 500 requests for alcohol distilling information have been received in recent weeks, and expects three to four big gasohol production plants in Michigan in the near future. One is now operating at St. Louis, north of Lansing.

We haven't been able to track down the actual facts, but we keep hearing rumors about a local gasohol production plant coming to the Elkton-Bad Axe area. More on this when we hear about it!

TV FAVORITES — New shows coming to that small screen in your home soon will be "The Big Show," an NBC variety, and a married couple comedy "United States" also on NBC. Other new shows will include a dog show (honest) called "Boomer," and "Pink Lady and Jeff," a variety hour with comic and a Japanese recording duet (which I predict won't last five months, with luck.) Why do the networks keep changing the show lineups when we're just getting used to them?

ELIMINATE LEAP YEAR? — Here's one of the more original ideas we've heard lately. Why not add that extra 24 hours every four years onto one other day, making it 48 hours long? Possible days recommended are April 14 (more last-minute tax time), the last shopping day before Christmas (not enough time now), any day in June (beautiful weather) or the last day of school (not for kids, but to prepare adults!)

PINCH-HITTING — Sally and I are taking a few days off and will be away, so next week's Progress-Advance issue will be piloted by Wanda Eichler and the whole excellent P-A staff. This is only the second week we'll be missing since we came here in '78 and I'm going to miss it more than Sally, who's looking forward to a few days off!

WISH I'D SAID THAT — Life is like a bicycle: stop pedaling and you fall over!

POISON ANTIDOTES — Scheurer Hospital Director of Nursing Janice Foster and Dr. Jamal U. Akbar display some of the possible poison treatments, which may be required by a poison control center.

They say one of the most widely used such remedies is syrup of ipecac, which induces vomiting. All such medicines should be used only upon direction by a doctor or poison center, they stress.

If a child or adult should INGEST a poison:

- Find out what was taken and how much.
- Give him milk or water immediately.
- Call your doctor or poison center. Do not make the person vomit without instructions from your doctor or poison center.
- Do not use salt water, baking soda, lemon or mustard to make a person vomit. They are not effective and can be harmful. Only use Syrup of ipecac as instructed by your doctor or poison center.
- Do not follow the antidote instructions on the poison container. They are very often incorrect or outdated.
- If you are sent to a hospital, take the suspected poison or medication with you and any vomitus for analysis.

IF EYES are contaminated with a poison: Immediately rinse for 15 minutes with lots of lukewarm water. To rinse eyes, hold eyelids open and pour water gently from a pitcher held six inches above the head over the eyes for good water pressure to remove the substance. Then immediately call your doctor or poison center.

If poison is INHALED: Immediately remove the person from the room into fresh air, and call your doctor or poison center. Do not re-enter the area until it has been well ventilated.

Bean sale will help us all!

Our state's bean industry should received tons and tons of praise for the intelligent idea, skillful follow-through and encouraging future the $62 million bean deal with Mexico means to our area.

Two main points arise which should not be forgotten: those persons who properly and wisely seek out new ventures and business are more likely to get their desire than those who don't, and the ag products produced here are truly international in scope and importance to our nation.

Consider the occasional, persistent problem with Michigan beans. Our abundant cropland often produces higher and higher yields, which should mean greater farm income. But too often the higher production means only that prices paid to farmers are depressed. The skill of their improvements often results in less income.

Now, however, black and pinto beans will be grown here and elsewhere, slightly reducing the amount of navy beans being grown and hopefully raising or at least stabilizing navy bean prices. Not only will more land be used, but by opening ties with the "new" market in Mexico our nation's balance of trade will be improved too.

Chief negotiator F. Dale Kuenzli of St. Johns, general manager of Valley Marketing Co., gave much of the credit for the reasonable - to - excellent price of $25 per hundredweight to Breckenridge farmer Ken Graham, another negotiator. He and the other negotiators are to be commended for this tremendous achievement, but another group of people deserve praise, too.

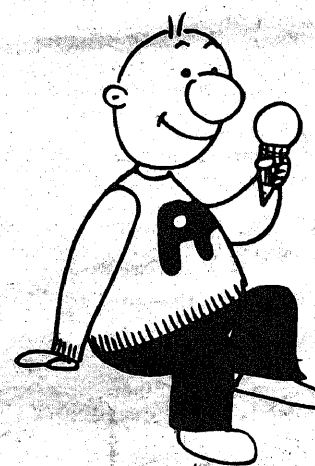

The Mexican government agreed to this deal partly on the experience, professionalism and great skills shown by U.S. farmers, who quite honestly are the best in the world. Mexico knew the tradition of excellence shown in past growing years would be the goal our farmers aimed for in this agreement, and we're sure the Mexicans won't be disappointed.

This multi-million dollar agreement will probably be known as the "Great Michigan Bean Sale of 1980" and we hope so, because that's just what it is. It sets a direction and goal for the 80s decade and is worth repeating. We hope, too, that all area residents appreciate and realize the great care and skill which will help benefit our Thumb Area, our state and this entire country.

Thank you, negotiators and farmers, for an excellent job extremely well-done!

Pete Progress says:

"Too many square meals make some people too round!"

From Under the Willow

So long, February!

We've almost done the impossible here in the Upper Thumb this winter. Yes, we've almost gotten through an entire winter with only one snow day! Schoolkids and parents are so used to having five or even eight days of winter chopped from the school calendar that maybe the schools will consider recessing earlier in the spring due to all the excellent learning that took place during the mild winter.

Seriously, flu and cold absences will make up for what winter weather didn't take away from the students this year. The high incidences of illness have forced school closings across the state and so far, local districts (with the exception of Owen-Gage) have been holding classes in spite of greater than normal absences.

The mildness of the winter turns one's thoughts toward a summer garden. I've been worrying all winter about the lack of snow cover on our strawberry patch. We have two fine rows of berries - June bearing and everbearing plants. After Christmas, I cut up our Christmas tree with a pruner and laid the evergreen pieces over the clumps of plants in hopes of creating pockets where what little snow we had would collect.

The alternate freezing and thawing hasn't been good for the berry patch, though. Farmers have been watching their wheat fields carefully, too, as the pools of water from the thaws freeze up when it gets cold. That constant change in temperature does no good for the land or the crops.

By this time last year, I was raising geranium plants from seed in my south windows. The seed planting bug hasn't hit me yet this year, but I have been tending several impatiens plants, some scraggly geraniums, one slow poke glloxinia, a nearly dead orchid (I confess - I ignored it!), spiders that don't spider, scrawny parsley plants, and an African violet that's blooming even though it has been too cold and too hot for it at the same window.

We really dwell on the blossoming of the impatiens plants. Each bright red or orange bloom is as precious as a morning of sunlight. Many of those plants are collected at my kitchen window where I can look out among them and see the barren, brown fields of this unusual winter.

We're tied up in an indoors month that's about to give way to March, that blockbuster of a time when spring can begin in earnest or winter can sock it to us again and again.

So we'll say good-bye to February 1980 with its leap day, flu, damp snows, fog, and thoughts of the summer garden to be. But we had best not tempt fate by talking too loud about spring. After all, most of us remember the St. Patrick's Day storm of 1973 that closed all but state highways and dumped two or three days worth of snow, blowing and ice upon us.

So long, February, and March, be a beauty please!

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The American dream. Going, going, and almost gone! It is not happening by the deceit or trickery of some foreign power, but is happening in our own Washington D.C. by the very representatives we supposedly elected to carry on the tradition of fairness and justice to all.

From tea party days to this, taxes have been fairly and equitably assessed. But no more. A majority of this congress and the president are about to eat the forbidden apple by unfairly taxing a small (in voter strength) but important segment of our economy.

This outrage is called the oil windfall tax, unethical if not illegal. Bellowing about profits without regard to the investment, these vote getters at any price, some perhaps never having met a payroll, or whose profits, if any, were mere peanuts, are pursuing their quarry with the same rationale as a mob bent on a lynching. They are out to assess the ones holding the stock certificates in the petroleum industry a tax bite like the world has never seen. Thus far it is not whether they are going to do it, but on how much to gouge.

When before has our government singled out anyone to pay taxes above someone else? When before have we penalized success in only one field? Now that the Pandora box is opened, who will be next? Will it be land owners who have seen their farm land values rise from mere hundreds to thousands per acre? Could it be union laborers, whose remuneration quadruples those earning the minimum wage? Could it be the professional people who rake in 10 times what their predecessors received in the past? Could it be yesterday's "fools" that bought gold mine stock and now are millionaires?

When Congress and the president has finally flung away the last of their windfall on people pleasing outlays, and the crisis becomes a crunch, we will no longer be in the "garden." In that rapidly approaching time, there will be no funds and no incentive for this great industry to meet our needs. With its bank robbed, and its investors shy, where will the billions come from to venture further, dig deeper, and synthesize fuels for our energy independence?

Rail at big oil if you will. Gloat over this outrage if you can. But I cannot. I feel sad. For the dream is now tarnished. For some it is gone.

Cat catastrophe

My great ambition in life is to be able to shape a pizza crust by throwing the dough into the air and forming it into a perfect, even circle without dropping it.

The cat has other ideas. As far as Ol' Blue Eyes is concerned, my sole funtions in life, the solitary excuse for my existence, is to open and shut doors so he can enter and exit at whim.

And such whims! Usually they strike at 4 a.m. and shatter the best part of a fantastic dream. The contest of wills starts with a tentative meow and the sound of padded feet approaching the side of the bed.

Next, the cat stands up and puts his front feet on the edge of the mattress to investigate the reason why he isn't getting instant results. Another meow and a nudge with the nose are his next steps, and if they fail, he jumps up on the covers, hops across the top putting all his considerable weight into every pounce, and returns innocently to the side of the bed with another meow.

Alright, already, I'll let you out. By now, however, Kitty dear has changed his mind and he just wants company while he eats a little snack. "No way he is going to get me up just to watch him eat," out he goes," I resolve.

The door opens and his nose is greeted with a blast of chilly air or the sound of dripping from melting ice and snow. Cat puts his ears back, sniffs and changes his mind.

I have learned, the hard way, that in two minutes he will have forgotten why it was he didn't get to go outside and will start the whole process all over. So I try to encourage him a little with the side of my foot. That makes him positive he doesn't want to go out, and he braces himself against the imposition of my will.

Finally, it becomes necessary to pick him up and bodily (although gently) throw him out the door. This usually results in a quantity of scratches and claw marks on my person, but at least I can get back to bed.

Except that in the instant after I get warmed up again under the covers, there comes a horrible, mournful wail at the door accompanied by scratching noises as cat tries to climb the house and get in through a window.

Muttering curses under my breath, I go let the pest in. He brushes against my leg and purrs in a tone of voice that says, "I sure would like some nice warm milk now."

No chance, cat. Where were you when I heard a mouse in the basement? Would you rush down there and protect your loving and indulgent mistress? Ha. You stretched and yawned, washed between your claws, and curled up in my chair for a nap.

So no hot milk. And no pizza, either.

Recollections of by-gone days

By George Keim of Bay Port

On Feb. 8, we accompanied our son Wayne and his family to Ann Arbor where we stayed overnight with our daughter, Charleen.

Then the next day, we drove to Kalona, Iowa. On Sunday morning we attended the ordination service of my son Howard to the ministry of the Kalona Mennonite Church. About 250 people belong to this church and the church was filled.

It was a very impressive service followed by a fellowship meal. I was born in Iowa but was only two months old when we moved to Michigan and I still have many first and second cousins out there. I found out that I have more relatives there than I do here.

On Monday, I visited one of my father's cousins who now is 97 years old and still drives his car. He told me a lot of things about my Grandpa Keim that I didn't know.

On Tuesday, I visited one of my mother's cousins who is well past 80 years old and she filled me in on my mother's younger days.

Then on Wednesday, I went to a hog sale where over 5000 hogs were sold by auction. People there said it was a small sale. That evening I attended a church conference meeting and met a lot of people that I knew 40 years ago as young people. I don't know if I look as old as some of them do, or not.

We drove home on Thursday and I still think Dad and Mother did a good thing when they moved to Michigan in February of 1911.

Letters to Cousin Gus

Dear Cousin Gus

My letter concerning 'Doc' Morrison surprised me when I read it in The Progress-Advance. Apparently too many words for the available space so the cheerful cherub who sets copy on that amazing electronic printer deleted half a paragraph. That left an item about Dad and the Anti-Saloon League out in left field with no reference to the rest of the story.

However, it reminded me of one battle with John Barleycorn that Dad lost. In 1912 he bought the Glosser forty-acre farm buildings - good barn, poor house. A succession of transient house renters for the next several years did not improve the condition of the dwelling.

In late 1917 Dad rented the house to a family that enjoyed little favor in the community. A few kindly folks called them shiftless, but most people derogated them more specifically.

The father was an alcoholic - today it is a problem; then it was a sin. Mother demurred but not very much - in those days there was little democracy in German families. I think Dad had a touch of evangelical zeal and felt he could help the man.

A year later Dad admitted a losing battle. The garden plot we plowed for them in May was a weed patch in July. Two windows and the front door of the house were broken and boarded up.

The father worked only at odd-jobs and getting the rent was a painful process. One neighbor complained of petty thievery. However, the McElmurray and Elenbaum

Diebel attends ag convo

"Unless the people of this nation change their attitude toward farmland loss and the conservation of our soil, water and related resources, the time is rapidly approaching when both agricultural land and water may become a limited, scarce resource," said Lyle Bauer, president of the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD) at the group's annual convention in Houston, Texas, Feb. 10-14.

Representing Huron County was Clayton Diebel of Elkton, a member of the Huron Conservation District and a Region 8 representative on the state Conservation Council. Region 8 includes Huron, Tuscola, Sanilac, St. Clair, Lapeer and Genesee counties.

"American people have been spoiled," Bauer said. "We have always had more agricultural land and produced more food than we have needed. We could allow waste without paying a serious price."

Now, he says, people are realizing that erosion can rob soil of productivity and that converting prime farmland to business needs wastes irreplaceable soil.

The nation loses more than 3 million acres of ag land annually to urbanization, he said, in addition to loss of another 3 million acres through erosion of topsoil.

saloon still had a steady customer.

The price of beans in those war years was a bonanza for the farmer - around $20 per bushel. Dad had a good crop on the 40 and sold most of them after threshing in September. About 50 bushels were left in the locked granary of the barn.

Late in December Dad needed some money so on a Thursday night we went to the 40 and bagged the beans. The next morning we found the granary door smashed and half of the beans stolen.

Nothing could be proven but we were certain that the thieves had been tipped off about our bagging the night before. Our lantern light through the one window of the granary could be seen from the house but not from the road.

It was the last straw - the house rent was in arrears and Dad gave the family notice to vacate by Feb. 1. The house was vacant until a blustery Saturday night in March when it was totally destroyed by fire.

Checking his insurance, Dad was surprised - the house valuation was never changed since 1901. When he bought the farm the insurance was carried by the same company that covered our home buildings - a farmer's mutual in Sebewaing.

As instructed, the transaction was simple - the former owner endorsed the policy to Dad who lumped the annual premium payments and all was well. Insurance companies were not so fussy in those years.

I never knew the amount of the insurance - Dad simply said it paid for the beans. It might be said, Gus, that he lost a battle but won a war.

COM workshop at Pigeon Library

The Pigeon District Library is hosting a COM catalog workshop on Thursday, Feb. 28 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Librarians and other staff members from Bad Axe, Port Austin, Sebawaing and Unionville are present in Pigeon to receive training on the machines that will eventually allow access to over a million books by the public.

The COM (computer-output-microfilm) catalog marks the beginning of a new era in sophisticated resource sharing. Over 700,000 books in a nine county area will be included in the first high-volume, low-cost microfilm list.

Beginning with a $24,000 grant from the Kellogg Foundation in July 1976, the White Pine Library Cooperative, of which Pigeon District Library is a member, began by buying a computer terminal and paying for the services of a computer data base used by many libraries throughout the country.

Bay County was the first library system to have its own information input. When the White Pine Cooperative received a Library Services and Construction Act grant, the Saginaw Public Library became part of the computer project. Since then, the work has been expanded to include Huron County libraries and the Grace A. Dow Memorial Library in Midland.

After all 49 libraries and branches in the White Pine

Cooperative have had their books inventoried and added to the microfilm, the COM catalog will be updated every six months, with additions and deletions easily entered.

Subway -- A future vision for Detroit

By Sen. Alvin J. DeGrow
(R-Pigeon)

I think Michigan is finally beginning to see the light at the end of the tunnel. The Senate recently passed Senate Bill 537 which will provide funding for a feasibility study on the construction of a light rail mass transportation system, including a subway system in the metropolitan Detroit area.

Some claim supporters of this plan have "tunnel vision" while I refer to us as those with "future vision."

Let's consider our current situation. In general, Americans everywhere are being forced to reconsider their present forms of transportation due to skyrocketing energy costs. More and more people are relying on other types of transportation such as buses to get to and from work. Unfortunately, that, like many other systems is not perfect.

Buses still run on gasoline fuel and are subject to the same obstructions to travel as are other forms of surface level traffic such as auto accidents, traffic jams and unpredictable weather conditions.

But a subway is an energy efficient system fueled by coal of which there is plenty available. It is also a pollution free mode of transportation and even offers an efficient use of the land by utilizing the underground.

The idea of going underground may make some potential riders wary, but it also allows for the fastest mass transit system available. In our lives today it becomes more and more apparent that "speed is of the essence."

These comments are all in support of the basic concepts of a subway mass transit system. To appreciate where I am coming from as a Michigan State Senator who is supporting the idea of constructing a subway in Detroit let me localize these comments.

When we look at Detroit, we are looking at a city on its way back, back from racial strife; high unemployment and the great exodus to the suburbs. As of late, people have recognized that they were allowing a great resource, the sixth largest American city, to float down the Detroit River. But fortunately, some of the people have worked together to revitalize Detroit as one of the major cities in our nation and in our state.

It is a revitalization that shows people of different backgrounds working together rebuilding that city. Consequently, the city sports a sparkling new Renaissance Center which houses a booming convention business, and a resurging real estate market in downtown Detroit.

What we need now to complete the picture is a mass transit system. A subway system would not only make it easy and efficient for more people to work, but also to visit the downtown area. Initiating a project as far-reaching as a light rail mass transit system would also surely put a dent into the unemployment rolls in the Detroit area.

A final point to consider is that Detroit is only one example of this type of rebirth around Michigan. Plenty of other Michigan cities such as Grand Rapids, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo and Lansing have all suffered from some of the same problems as Detroit. They too have taken to rebuilding their downtown districts. And I expect that in the future we will hear rerequests from them to subsidize transportation systems which will also bring them more in step with their townspeople and other communities in the state.

Sure, Detroit's light rail transit system is a first-time project of this sort in the area, but we need to look to the future and to prepare for it. Here's our chance.

Keeping the power in your hands
Detroit Edison

Southeastern Michigan. The heart of one of the world's largest industrial areas—an urbanized region that stretches along the Great Lakes from Chicago and Milwaukee on the west to Montreal, Pittsburgh and Albany on the east.

It's a huge market quickly reached by overnight trucking that rolls out from Michigan's toll-free expressways. Six rail networks and three air cargo ports put the rest of the country in easy touch. And the Port of Detroit provides major commercial shipping facilities along 32 miles of deep water frontage on an international waterway.

It adds up to an enormous advantage in selling the products made here. So does the fact that there's plenty of electric power. Because Detroit Edison generates more than 80% of its electricity from coal—our nation's most abundant fuel.

Thinking of expanding or relocating your business? Detroit Edison can provide energy plus assistance to help you make the right decision. Write: Area Development, Detroit Edison, 308 WCB, 2000 Second Ave., Detroit, MI 48226.

THE LORD GAVE US AN EXTRA DAY FOR LEAP YEAR

FEB 29

...leap year — that's the time when February's days are twenty-nine.

—The Return from Parnassus

"Ye observe days, and months, and times, and years."

—Galatians 4:10

Before our planet had begun its yearly orbit of the sun, Our loving Father had decreed That it should travel at a speed Of days, three-hundred sixty-five, The rate at which we'd all survive; Then gave each year along the way An added quarter of a day, To even off this revolution, Leap Year was the best solution. Learn in Church that God, who gives The span of life each person lives, Has granted us this extra day In which to take the time to pray. So let us thank the Lord divine For February twenty-nine!

John Hus film to be presented

The public is invited to attend the showing of a one-hour dramatic film on the life of John Hus, at the Pigeon River Mennonite Church on Sunday, March 2 at 7 p.m.

In his lifetime, John Hus was accused, condemned and burned at the stake as a heretic. But history has vindicated him as a spiritual giant who planted the seeds of the Reformation a century before Martin Luther.

Hus challenged the abuses of medieval Christendom and insisted on the supreme authority of Scripture, direct access to God through Christ, and the need for personal commitment and faith. The church is located two miles south of the Pigeon IGA and 1/2 mile east on Geiger Rd.

Kilmanagh hosts local World Day of Prayer service

Michigan will join with the rest of the U.S. and 170 other countries around the globe on March 7 to demonstrate their Christian fellowship in the annual observance of World Day of Prayer.

"Responsible Freedom" is the theme for the 1980 World Day of Prayer, which received official proclamation from Michigan Governor William G. Milliken recently.

Women in this country have been celebrating a national day of prayer since 1887. World Day of Prayer is one of three international celebrations sponsored by Church Women United as visible expressions of concern for the global community. Church Women United is the official sponsor of World Day of Prayer in the United States.

Women of Caseville, Elkton, Bay Port and Pigeon will participate together in an afternoon worship service at Kilmanagh United Methodist Church. Featured speaker for this observance will be the Rev. Art Mace, area minister.

Eleven area congregations have been invited to attend. A fellowship hour will follow the service. Nursery care is provided.

The outstanding posters from the contest will be displayed in Washington, D.C. at the ALA national convention in May.

There's an Answer!

by Norman Vincent Peale and Ruth Stafford Peale

THOUGHTS WON'T GO AWAY

Q. I am not happy, but I want to be. I work all the time and don't get enough rest for my mind and body. I am bad at jumping to conclusions. When I get something in my mind deep enough I cannot get it out and forget about it. The thought lingers day in and day out. Some thoughts are evil and some moral. Can you advise me on how to cultivate happiness?

A. Take charge of your mind; you can do what you will with it. Don't seek happiness as an end in itself, but rather work on mind control. Remember that the happiest person is the one who thinks the happiest thoughts.

Every morning when you arise you have two choices: To be happy or to be unhappy.

Practice the "as if" principle. Act as if you were happy and all your nature will strive to be as you act, because that is what you deeply desire.

IN PRISON AND FORGOTTEN

Q. I've been locked up in prison for a year and haven't heard or seen any of my family. I wonder if they care how I'm doing or if I'm still alive. I used to write to them all the time. But it doesn't do any good. They know where I'm at and why I'm here. I'm 20 years old and incarcerated in an honor camp. What should I do, forget about my family like they are doing me and go live my own life?

A. Not at all. Just keep on loving your family and write to them regularly. Let them see (if you can truthfully say so) that you are becoming a more mature and responsible person.

Be sure to tell them what your hopes are for the future and how you are preparing for it. Although they may be ashamed and resentful, they are not acting properly in not writing to you or coming to see you. They are showing their hurt. But if you act in a responsible manner the chances are that they will also, in due time.

Need we be lonely?

Read Joshua 1:1-9

And, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. Amen. Matthew 28:20 KJV

Shall we look upon the bravest little boy in the world? It is any boy between the ages of five and 10 years walking down a dark and lonely road — not alone, but with his hand firmly clasped in the hand of his father. His happy talk shows there is no fear in his heart.

Through the reconciling merits of Jesus Christ we are the children of the heavenly Father. Do our lives show that we are aware of this?

In our lives many situations arise that make us walk on lonely and dark paths. But is it necessary to think that we are walking these paths alone?

Through His Word the Lord is constantly extending His helping hand to guide you. When you feel so alone, listen to Him say, "I will never fail you nor forsake you."

When in sorrow, hearken to Him as He says, "Come to Me, all who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

Do sin and guilt disturb you? "Take heart," Christ says, "your sins are forgiven." He gives us peace with God.

Beside us in life walks our Savior, assuring us, "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

There is no need to feel lonely when we have this constant companionship.

Take Thou my hands and lead Me
O'er life's rough way. Amen.

Defeating Caro, losing to All Saints

Lakers could tie for Thumb B crown

By Kami Buchholz
LAKERS 59
CARO 49

Lakers' league record of 11 wins against two losses could earn them a tie for first place in TBA play, if the Red Hawks of Cass City mar their 17-game winning streak when they play in league action Friday, Feb. 29 (tomorrow).

The "Green Machine" rolled to a 59-49 victory over the Caro Tigers on Friday, Feb. 22 at Caro.

In the opening quarter the Lakers did not get on the scoreboard until the 5:47 mark. The Tigers were in command through much of the quarter. At the conclusion of the period Caro led by two, 15-13.

Lakers had a slow second quarter in the opening four minutes of play, but regained strength to close out the quarter down by just two, 26-24, in favor of the Tigers. Both teams scored 11 points in the quarter. Scott Farver sank a buzzer basket to end the half for the Lakers.

The third quarter went from one extreme to the next. Caro capitalized on inside shots and fast breaks to lead 34-24 at the 6:03 mark. The Laker squad controlled the game from that point on. Lakers scored 10 points by the 1:50 mark and continued to score until the close of the quarter. Lakers led by two at the end of the third period, 38-36.

In the final period Lakers were in high idle as they pumped in 21 points to Caro's 13. Todd Dubey and Jim Leipprandt fouled out late in the quarter, but the Lakers acquired the win, 59-49.

In the percentiles Lakers were 11 of 17 at the free throw line for 65%. EPBP completed 24 of 74 field goal attempts for 32%.

Caro was 5 of 17 at the charity line for 30%. The Tigers attempted 53 field goals and completed 22 for 42%.

All scorers were led by Caro center Doug Block with 21 points. Rick Fulton was the other Tiger in double digits with 14.

Laker scorers were Bryan Chisholm 16, Todd Wisenbaugh 12, Brian Wichert 9, Jim Leipprandt 8, Todd Dubey 6, John Kohr and Scott Farver 4 each.

In other individual stats, Todd Wisenbaugh pulled down 14 rebounds, while Bryan Chisholm grabbed 9. John Kohr had 7 assists and 4 steals.

Coach Bill McLellan's Lakers will face the Vassar Vulcans in the final league game of the season at Vassar on Friday, Feb. 29 (tomorrow).

District tournaments begin on Monday, March 3 at the Ubyl gymnasium. Lakers will face the Harbor Beach Pirates on that date at 7:30 p.m.

B.C. ALL SAINTS 62
LAKERS 47

The Laker team dropped its final home game of the season on Tuesday, Feb. 19 to non-league competitor Bay City All Saints, with a final score of 62-47. Preceding the game was the introduction of the players and cheerleaders for Parent's Night.

Most of the game was controlled by the Cougars. In the first quarter, Bay City commanded the rebounds as well as the points. The score at the end of the first period read 18-11, in favor of the Cougars.

Lakers scored 13 points to the All Saints' 14 in the second quarter to put the score at 32-24, Bay City.

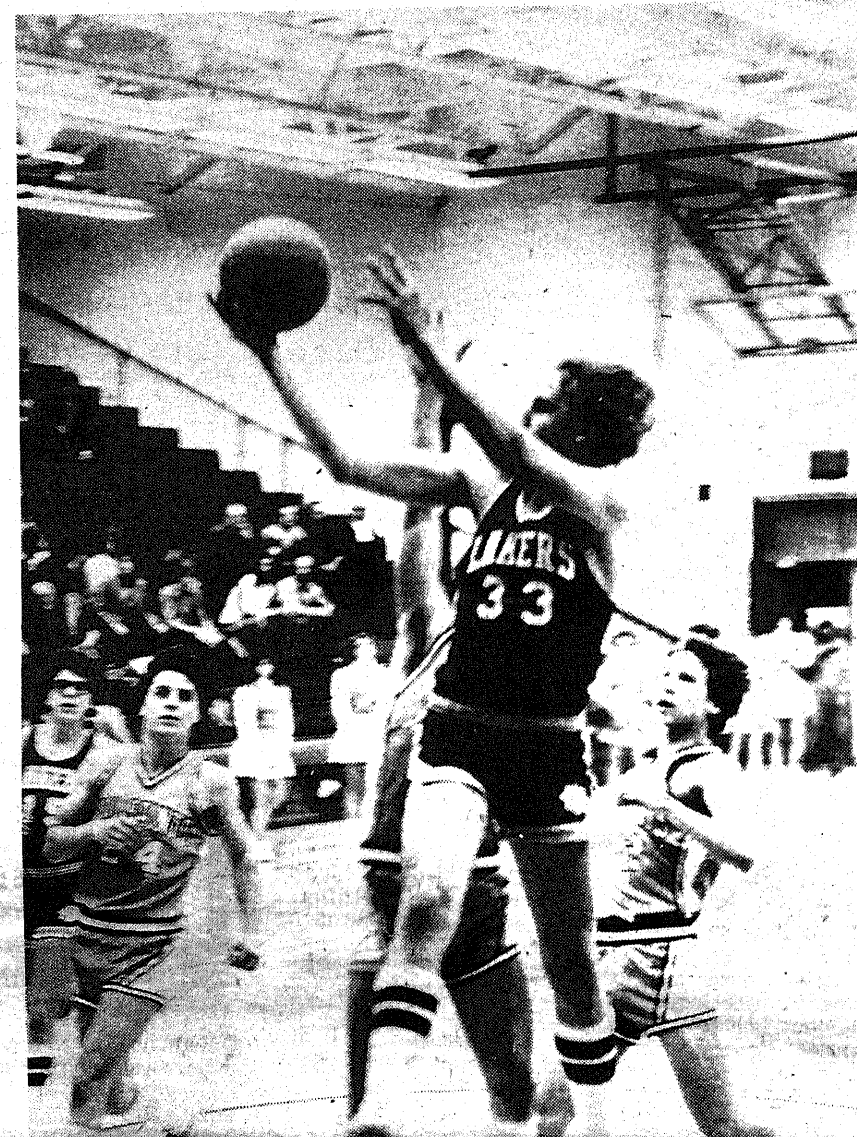

The third quarter was slow regarding points, but fast paced in action. Brian Wichert sunk a buzzer basket at the end of the quarter to set the score at 41-32, still in favor of Bay City.

The final period found the Cougar's offense unstoppable. Bay City rang up 21 points during the eight minute period, while Lakers scored 15.

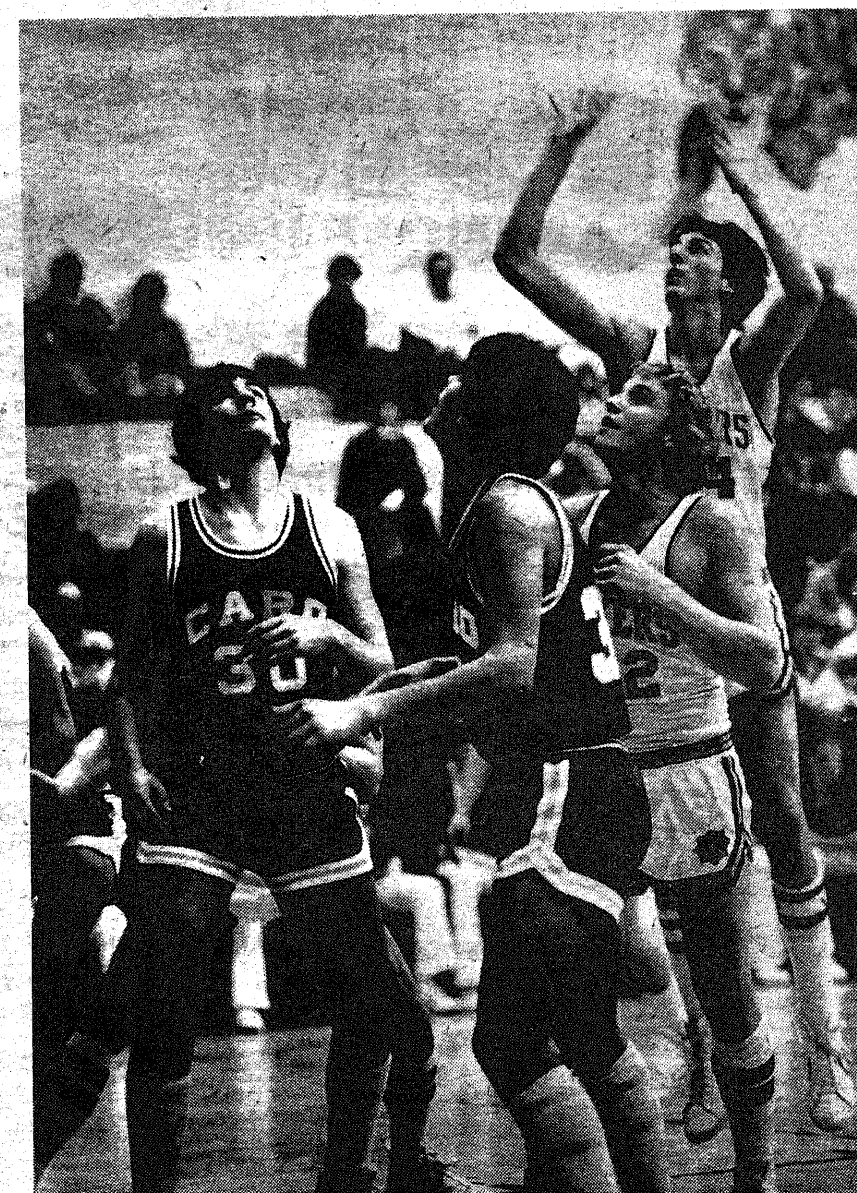

The Bay City All Saints led in the percentiles, completing 23 of 54 field goal attempts for 44%. Lakers attempted 62 field goals and completed 18 for 29%. At the charity line, Bay City was 16 of 23 for 70% and Lakers were 9 of 18 for 50%.

In individual stats, Todd Wisenbaugh led with 14 rebounds while Jeff Bushey pulled down 8 from the boards. Assists were led by Scott Farver with 8. Todd Wisenbaugh headed the list in blocked shots with 2. Bay City Coach Lefty Franz only double digit scorer was Dave LaPrarie with 22 points.

Laker scorers were Todd Dubey 17, Scott Farver 8, Todd Wisenbaugh and Brian Wichert 6 apiece, Jim Leipprandt 4 and Jeff Bushey, John Kohr and Eric Herzog 2 apiece.

TWO-HANDED JIM - Jim Leipprandt (33) of Coach Bill McLellan's Laker team is caught in mid-pass, as he shoots in Tuesday night's non-conference game against Bay City All Saints.

Eagles dumped by Pirates, 58-49

Eagles Coach George Bednerek's team was outscored in three of the four quarters Friday night against Peck, losing 58-49 for Caseville's 11th league game against only one win.

The Eagles were successful in holding Pirate Dave Seddon to just a dozen points, as Peck improved its North Central D League record to 7-5. Carsonville-Port Sanilac leads the league with a 13-0 record. The Pirates jumped into the lead 14-12 at the end of the first quarter and had inched ahead 28-20 as the first-half buzzer sounded.

Peck scored a dozen in the third frame, versus just nine for Bednerek's bouncers, to put the Pirates up 40-29 as the fourth period began. But the Eagles outscored Peck reserves in the quarter, 20-18...but not enough for a win.

For the Eagles, Bill Kelly scored 11 and Mike Stahl added 10 more in the loss. Kirk McCormick scored 9, Mike Novak 7, Pete Schuetz 4, Kris Deming 4, Jim Reeves 2 and Robert Pittman 2.

Peck's sensation Seddon and Steve Fletcher both scored 12 for the Pirates, while Al Bell and Dale Seddon added 11 more each.

Caseville drew a first-round bye in District Tournament play, but will meet Port Hope next Tuesday, March 4 in District play at Owen-Gage, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The Tigers were explosive in the second quarter as they rang up 21 points to EPBP's six. The half ended with Caro on top, 33-18.

The "Boys In Green" played a good defensive game in the third quarter. Lakers and Caro both scored 11 points in that period in which the Tigers lead was diminished to 20, 49-29.

Lakers outplayed the Tigers in the last quarter but were too late as the game ended with Caro the victors, 70-57.

Bay City 49 Lakers 47

Lakers played a strong second half, but were unable to overcome the Bay City All Saints on Tuesday, Feb. 19 in the Laker gymnasium.

In the first half the "Boys in Green" were somewhat suppressed with the claws of the Cougar's defense.

The first quarter concluded with Bay City in command by one, 11-10.

The Laker's non-league opponents outscored them, by three points, 14-11, in the second quarter. Halftime score read Lakers 21, Bay City All Saints 25.

In the third period the Laker squad's offense was in high gear. However, the Lakers still trailed at the end of the quarter, 38-33.

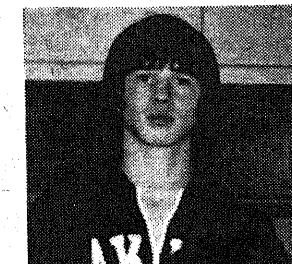

With 30 seconds remaining in the fourth quarter, Lakers needed two points to tie. Dave Walsh grabbed the rebound from a missed Bay City free throw. After a time out, Lakers set up in formation but the ball was stolen by a Cougar player. On the ensuing play the Laker defense drew a foul. Bay City capitalized on this opportunity and went ahead by four points, 49-45. The Lakers final basket came from guard Orlando Flores. Time ran out and the Cougars had won, 49-47.

At the charity line Lakers were 5 of 9 for 56%. Bay City was 13 of 27 for 49%.

Leading the Lakers in rebounds were Rob Miller with 9 and Brad Farver with 8. Laker scores were Orlando Flores 12, Jim Weidman 10, Rob Miller 9, Scott Kuhl 7, Dave Walsh and Brad Farver 4 each and Scott Buchholz 1.

Thumb Area Club News

OWENDALE WOMAN'S CLUB

The February meeting of the Owendale Woman's Club was held Monday, hosted by Mrs. Jean Hughes and Mrs. Bonnie Gaeth in the Owen-Gage home economics room.

Guest speaker for the evening was home economics instructor, Mrs. Muriel Barr, who demonstrated flower drying in the microwave oven and also showed several crafts made of easy-to-find inexpensive materials.

Following the speaker, Mrs. Barbara McCallum, president, presided at the business meeting. Further discussion was held about the queen's contest for the 75th village anniversary and about the club's skit for the March 28 variety show. Final arrangements were made for the craft and flea scheduled for April 19 and 20 in the Owendale cafetorium. Booths are still available by calling 678-4393, 678-4303 or 678-4261.

Mrs. Flo Duncan won the door prize. Dessert was served by the hostesses.

The March meeting will be at the community hall, and each club member is asked to bring a "white elephant gift" for games.

ELKTON SENIOR CITIZENS

Fifty members and guests met at the Elkton Civic Center on Tuesday, Feb. 19 for a potluck lunch.

Dorothy Carty gave the table prayer, and the meeting opened with George Southworth presiding. He welcomed Ella Ramseyer after a long absence. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Motz of Greenbush, and Mr. and Mrs. Emory Motz of Elkton.

Pearl Hohman led in the singing of several songs, accompanied by Beatrice Gregor at the piano. Birthday greetings were sung to Alvena Walsh and Eva Day and to Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Coote for their 49th anniversary. The theme song closed the singing. Ina Anderson reported no illness among club members, but that she will be sending cheer cards to shut-in members.

Harold Gregor gave a report on the President's Ball held in Pigeon on Feb. 18. Gregor then introduced Mr. and Mrs. Cal Reibling, who gave an informative talk on the "keeping of bees." He gave facts and data on the "life span of queen, drone and workers in the busy bee life," along with experiences in starting a hive of bees.

Several items were donated as door prizes, among them honey and apples. A coat rack was donated to the club by Ray English and members thanked him for this donation.

Next week will be a short open meeting, followed by bingo for all.

More than 20 special skills and techniques will be discussed at the 17th annual Photo Seminar sponsored by the Photographic Guild of Detroit on March 22 and 23 at Marygrove College in Detroit.

Shooting better photos in the field and improving performance in the darkroom will be stressed. Many of the seminars will be repeated to better fit time and interest schedules.

Further information is available at the Progress-Advance office or from Gary's TV and Refrigeration, both in Pigeon.
