

As we see it editorially How to ruin a town, easily...

This world is full of little proverbs, sayings, phrases and idioms which mean this or that. Some have profound logic, while others don't make total sense.

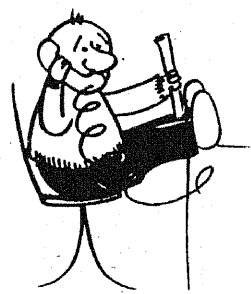

We ran across this short ditty titled "How to ruin any town... especially YOUR town" which bears repeating here and now. Too many of us think "others" rule their communities or think nothing an individual can do really matters.

Read and take heed, for these words are true:

- "HOW TO RUIN ANY TOWN... ESPECIALLY YOUR TOWN"
- ✓ Never attend any meetings. Just sit around and criticize the way "they" are doing things.
 - ✓ Vote against any kind of tax levy, whether the purpose is good or not. "They" just want your money.
 - ✓ Make fun of the fire and police departments. They are just out for the glory and pay. "Don't ever go to the school concerts, ball games, benefit programs or exhibits. Sit in a half-trance in front of the "idiot-box" at home, watching some reruns.
 - ✓ Knock the village council. This is a must. Every one of the members is just on the council to get a little kickback.
 - ✓ Stay out of church. You might go Easter or Christmas (maybe both) just to prove to yourself that the minister doesn't know what he's talking about -- and that everyone there is a hypocrite.
 - ✓ Buy everything you can in the city or from a discount catalog. These firms are the first to come through with the donations and service to the community. And after all, you'll save a dollar or maybe two.

- ✓ Don't support the hometown newspaper. The out-of-town dailies, radio and TV stations are bigger and they contribute much more to the town than the local bugle.
- ✓ Spread any story or rumor that is defamatory or uncomplimentary about your town. Never say anything nice about anybody. All kids are delinquents. The parents are too dumb to care. Nobody knows anything.
- ✓ All business people are crooks. And don't worry -- they won't miss your business at all, when you take it out of town. After all, one of their clerks didn't smile at you once. That's a good reason to drive many miles and shop elsewhere.
- ✓ Above all, always be cynical about anything that's supposed to be good for your community. Your motto should be, "If it's good, it can't happen here."

ROSES and THORNS Dabbling in Prophecy

By MARK KARLS

Prophecy is a word that few people understand. But the subject seems to draw considerable attention these days, even from people who have little or no spiritual roots.

A recent survey showed that psychic phenomenon is one of the top three subjects that sells magazines. Indeed, the newsy magazines that greet you at the check-out line inevitable boast headlines of some unearthly phenomenon.

Movie-goers are constantly hit with tales from the dark side of the spirit world. Have you checked the best-seller book lists lately? And do not forget the horoscope section of many newspapers.

Prophecy in the parapsychological sense of the word is known as clairvoyance, or the ability to perceive matters beyond the range of ordinary perception. In the Biblical sense prophecy is misunderstood by most people. The common Biblical idea of prophecy is telling about the future.

But the strict Biblical meaning of prophecy is literally "forth telling." This means telling forth the message received from God. Sometimes this message is about future events, as in Ezekiel, Daniel and Revelation. Sometimes it is about present or past situations.

Regardless, every pastor who delivers a sermon or homily on Sunday morning is hopefully speaking forth the words of the Lord, and thus every pastor prophesies every week.

However, the future aspect of prophecy is in vogue these days. The subject called eschatology or the study of the "last days" or "end times" of our earth as we know it is very popular. Probably the most pivotal prophetic thought that has boosted eschatology to the popularity state it presently enjoys is Jesus' comment on the fig tree.

Matthew 24:32, Mark 13:28 and Luke 21:29 all contain the story of Jesus talking of the last days by referring to his disciples to the fig tree. He said that you know summer is come when the fig tree is in full bloom and similarly you will know the end will come in the generation when all that he said was fulfilled.

Several people have interpreted this to say that the generation to see the last days is the generation that sees the fig tree in full bloom. Now the fig tree is often used as the prophetic symbol for Israel. So the interpretation by some is that when Israel is re-established as a nation, then begins the generation of the last days.

Well, we know that Israel was under Roman rule in Jesus' day and that the Jews were scattered after the destruction of the Jerusalem temple around 70 A.D. Since that time there has been no Israel and no temple to offer sacrifices until 1948 when the United Nations re-established Israel and many nations helped return Jews from all over the world. (But as yet the temple has not been rebuilt because a Muslim mosque — the Dome of the Rock — stands on the precise site, and to destroy the mosque in favor of the temple would trigger World War III — so the Jews still do not offer sacrifices today.)

So a large number of people believe that the generation of 1948 (and I was born in 1946) is the generation that will see the great last battle on the Israeli plains of Armageddon and the second coming of Christ.

My personal feeling is that the above interpretation is stretching the Biblical narrative a whole lot. Nevertheless, I have a gut feeling (no solid evidence) that we are living in these last days.

All of this is said as introduction to our friend from Libya, Col. Moammar Khadafy. My first serious look at Khadafy came 14 years ago when visiting Sandy (my wife) while she was living in Denmark prior to our marriage. Europe was discovering this young charismatic leader of Libya whom the Arab world was touting.

In 1973 while traveling the Mediterranean area in the Navy I came across a number of ports where a group called The Children of God had active ministries. The head of that organization was a man who called himself Moses David and he constantly sent out "Mo" letters to everyone giving his latest prophecies or revelations from God.

I read a good number of these letters and was greatly impressed with the man's insight and visions. I believe he was accurate and Biblical in those days. (My discoveries in later years of his writings bring out another Jim Jones tale of one who began good but became so wrapped up in self and power that he went bad — but that is another story.)

One of those "Mo" letters back in '73 was on Moammar Khadafy. Moses David claimed to have a vision from God that Khadafy would become the "Anti-Christ" or the one who would lead the great forces against God's chosen people on the Plains of Armageddon for the great and final battle on earth.

The Children of God movement had a good relationship with Khadafy back then and interviewed him intensely. The vision claimed that this young Arab leader had the charisma to bring together all the Arab nations under his leadership for such an assault.

As you recall, this was about the time of the oil embargo by the OPEC nations and Libya had probably the highest grade of crude oil among OPEC. No doubt this may have swayed Moses David's vision. But I will always remember that linkage of Khadafy to the Anti-Christ. Whether it is true or not is beyond me and only time will tell — and personally I really do not care one way or the other.

But it was rather interesting knowing all this and then seeing Moammar Khadafy on the Wednesday evening news responding to Reagan's charges. For indeed Khadafy was proclaiming himself the leader of the Arab world with a boldness that Islamic culture admires.

What impressed me most about that interview last week with Khadafy was his smile. He seemed so loving, so sincere and so winsome... so much so to deceive even the very elect. Well, just some thoughts from the Karls scrapbook. It makes for good cocktail (not me, of course), chit-chat.

RECOLLECTIONS
By-Gone Days

By GEORGE KEIM

DEAR EDITOR:

Some time ago, I met Roy Gayari in the Co-Op gas station in Pigeon and we had a good visit. We both started to farm the same time, back about 1941, and we used to attend auction sales to buy our farm equipment.

Tom Stahlbaum was the main auctioneer around Bad Axe then, and he was a good one. He could pick up bids no matter where you were and he always said he'll never uncover a bidder. And if he said he had a bid, he had it.

They didn't have anybody working in the ring like they do now, and they didn't have numbers like now, either. And the auctioneer had to call out your name and the clerk would write it down.

And if anybody ever went to a sale over east of Bad Axe, you'll know there are a lot of names that are very hard to pronounce there.

He used to say that friendship ceases at an auction sale, but if he could get two brothers bidding against each other, that was his delight. But he'd never have a husband and wife bid against each other because he said they had enough trouble already!

I bought my first two cows at one of his sales. One came out in the ring just as a sheep buck was after a man and everybody was watching and not paying attention to the sale. I got her for $90.

Then one came out and splashed mud and water all over people and I got her for $112.

Once during the war, when there was a ceiling on a lot of stuff, they had a sale where there was a tractor for sale. There was a ceiling on it.

More than 40 people put their names on slips and they had a drawing -- and a six-year-old boy won it! Well, Stahlbaum got angry. He said anybody knows that a six-year-old boy can't afford to buy a tractor and he said he believes his Dad put his name in -- and maybe his Dad put in his own name and paid some other men to put in theirs.

He made them throw away all the tickets and start over. And whoever won, if he wasn't able to pay for it and wasn't a farmer, he would have him arrested!

Then they drew over and there were only 12 slips in the hat. A farmer east of Elkton won and he needed a tractor and could pay for it.

There was a ceiling on hay tools and lots of other things. Some people got by by taking an old piece of machinery and selling it and then give them the tractor or whatever they wanted, but some got caught and it cost them a lot of money 'til they got done with it.

In Romans 12:17, it says "Recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in sight of all men." So you see that even if some things are legal, not all things are honest.

A man once came to me and had a tractor he would have sold me. But I'd have had to take on old disk that was worn out. I didn't like the deal and told him so. My Father and Wife stood by me and later I got a much better tractor and it was a lot cheaper.

So you see, it pays to be honest, even if it's legal to be a little crooked.

SINCERELY YOURS,
GEORGE KEIM

Elkton Council awards pay increase to village workers tract new business and industry. The best financing involves the trio of the new business, local banks and governmental low-interest loans, Heck said.

To establish a revolving grant, a project involving a $250,000 minimum investment is needed. As the business repays the loan to the local unit of government, that money is in turn made available to other new businesses.

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER

Elkton Village employees start the new year with a pay hike as a result of action by Council at last Tuesday's regular monthly meeting. A 30-cent-per-hour wage increase was approved for all DPW and police personnel. The increase is estimated to cost the village about $4,914 this year in additional labor costs.

Council voted to keep wages for elected officials in Elkton at the same level. That action came in response to a request by Village Treasurer Dennis Learman for a $200 yearly increase in his $1,600 annual salary.

A preliminary budget for fiscal year 1986-87, which begins March 1, 1986, discussed revenues total $361,640, with expenses of $337,326 projected.

Major purchases scheduled for the coming year include a new police radio for the village patrol car, costing $1,831 installed, and a loader-backhoe tractor at about $28,000 after sale of the present tractor. A $1,000 donation to Elkton Civic Center was also approved.

The final budget will be approved at next month's Council meeting.

Rural ROUND-UP

A weekly briefing of news and information of interest to Thumb Farmers

Top o' the week...

FEDS COLLECT: The plight of Thumb Area farmers is no worse — but not much better, either — than other ag people, relating to the Farmers Home Administration's efforts to speed up collections on delinquent federal loans.

About 120 of 304 Huron and Sanilac farmers served through the FHA office in Bad Axe will receive the warning letters later this month, seeking speeded-up payments. An estimated five or six will actually lose their farms, due to severity of farm financial matters, experts say.

In Tuscola County, the "majority" of about 150 farmers who use the Caro branch are not under threat of foreclosure, workers say. Some other farmers who receive such letters may be able to rewrite loans, but some are currently in bankruptcy proceedings.

An estimated 1800 of 5200 farmers who have borrowed up to $700 million statewide are seriously behind in their payments, part of 90,000 farmers nationally being sent the "please pay" letters.

The letters, titled "notice of intent to take adverse action," are being sent to farmers at least $100 behind in loan payments. Many are 12 months and more behind in payments. Borrowers will have 30 days to respond.

Experts say most of the delinquent loans are for property in the eastern part of Huron County or in Sanilac County, with lower-valued land. The FHA is a "last resort" lender, meaning such farms are not able to get conventional loans from banks or savings & loans.

STATE AG: Elwood

Kirkpatrick of Kinde has been appointed to the Michigan Agriculture Commission by Gov. James Blanchard. The local man is President of the Michigan Milk Producers Association and now is based in Detroit.

He learned about his appointment in an interesting way — Kirkpatrick had just introduced Blanchard at a meeting of the Michigan Agricultural Conference.

More or less, according to reports, the Governor turned to Kirkpatrick and said, "Thanks for the introduction. By the way, I'm appointing you to the Agriculture Commission."

He replaces David Diehl, Sr., whose term has expired.

RENN AGAIN: Terry Renn of Elkton has been re-elected President of the Elkton Local of Michigan Milk Producers Association, at the group's annual meeting Saturday at the Elkton Civic Center.

Renn will serve for one year leading the local MMPA Chapter, plus will be active in other functions through which the dairy farmer-controlled co-op operates.

Bruce Protzman of Caseville was elected Vice President and Donald Dietzel of Elkton was elected Secretary, at Saturday's meeting.

Chosen as delegates to the next statewide annual meeting of MMPA are Dietzel, Leo McArdle and James Parsch, all of Elkton.

BYE JOHN:

U.S. Agriculture Secretary John Block announced his resignation from that post last Tuesday to enter private business, and is expected to be succeeded by Richard Lyng, a former USDA deputy director.

Some observers say the resignation of the 50-year-old Illinois farm leader underscores the Reagan Administration's double failure to move large numbers of U.S. farmers away from federal support programs — or to restore the country's sagging farm economy.

Block, who toured Pigeon and part of the Thumb Area prior to speaking at the Co-operative Elevator Company's annual meeting in 1983, was one of four remaining members of Reagan's original cabinet.

During his five years heading the USDA, American agriculture was plagued by soaring farm interest rates, falling land values and shrinking foreign markets. Block's efforts on behalf of the Administration attempted to separate farmers from federal subsidies, which Reagan says are responsible for the ag economy's stagnation.

Block called passage of the five-year farm bill last month a highlight of his work, and added the President's decision to lift the Soviet grain embargo soon after taking office in 1981 as another successful part.

PORK MEET:

Huron County Pork Producers' Annual Meeting is set this Monday, Jan. 20 at 7 p.m. at the Hitching Post Inn, Elkton, according to Secretary-Treasurer Dennis Fritz of Pigeon.

Following the business meeting, bingo will be played and prizes offered. 1986 membership forms will be available, and he has more information at 7902 Pigeon Road, Pigeon. Reservations are needed by Friday, Jan. 17.

SOIL SHOP:

A two-day Soil Fertility Workshop is being offered by the Huron County Cooperative Extension Service on Wednesdays, Jan. 22 and 29, at the Farm Bureau Building in Bad Axe, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Extension Ag Agent Jim LeCureux says the first session will deal with the role soil plays in holding and supplying nutrients for plants and how nutrients move in the soil. Also being covered are the effects of nitrogen, potassium and lime, plus methods of applications.

Dr. Don Christenson of MSU's Crops and Soils Department, will speak, as will Extension's Harold Rouget, District Field Crops Agent.

Dr. Maury Vitosh of MSU's Crops and Soils Department will be speaker at the Jan. 29 meeting. Emphasis there will be on phosphorus, sulfur, micro-nutrients and soil-testing procedures.

Registration fees will be charged, and LeCureux has more information by calling 269-9949 or writing the Extension Service Office at 104 County Building, Bad Axe, 48413.

BEAN DAY:

Michigan Bean Day is coming Wednesday, Feb. 12 at the Saginaw Civic Center. Program details are now being finalized, to be announced in the next week.

AND, in related business, the 93rd annual Michigan Bean Shippers Association annual meeting is set for Wednesday, Feb. 26 at Bay Valley Inn, Bay City.

SURVEY: The second financial survey of Michigan farmers in nine months has been mailed by the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Burton Cardwell of MDA says 3500 farmers were selected randomly in cooperation with the Midwest Association of State Departments of Agriculture, who will compare findings among midwest states.

"An important side benefit for Michigan will be the opportunity to measure any changes in Michigan farmers' financial situation since the department's previous survey in April, 1985," Cardwell says.

GROWERS: About 3000 farmers are expected to attend the Great Lakes Vegetable Growers Convention Jan. 28-30 at the Lansing Civic Center, to learn about new research on growing various crops and other facts.

Financial management will be featured, as will roadside marketing, says MSU's horticulture specialist Bernard Zandstra, convention coordinator.

For details, call Zandstra at 353-6637.

ERA ENDS: International Harvester is no more — the company has been re-named Navistar in an image-building move.

IH has been struggling to bounce back from strikes and poor farm conditions which nearly put it in bankruptcy in recent years. The firm has sold its farm equipment manufacturing operations to JI Case last January.

Navistar posted a net profit for the final three-quarters of 1985, but showed a net loss for the year because of the ag division write-off. The company currently is the nation's leading maker of medium- and heavy-duty trucks.

BIG AUCTION: The 200-acre farm where Abraham Lincoln learned to read by firelight was on the auction block Saturday because the owner couldn't find a buyer willing to meet the $1 million price tag.

Mary Brooks Howard, whose late husband's family bought the farm in the 1920s, has been trying to sell it since her husband died five years ago.

Lincoln was two years old when he and his family arrived at the farm in 1811. He lived there about six years until the family moved on to Indiana. The farm looks much as it did in his time — including Knob Creek, where young Lincoln nearly died in a flood — but is minus the boyhood cabin, which was torn down for firewood in the 1880s, before its historical significance was realized.

GOVERNMENT: Seniors, after preparing for exams, have to get ready for Government Class and Mr. Bingham. Both will prove a challenge.

Studying and paying attention should help all students to pass and a little "brown-nosing" and no excessive talking should enable Mr. Bingham to be overcome.

Some say he's a hard teacher while others enjoy his classes with their in-depth discussions. But as in years past, there will be a few students who will struggle to pass and graduate. Mr. Bingham plans to cover two chapters per week. In the past, classes have had difficulty covering one chapter per week, but he feels the Class of '86 is capable and ready to handle Government Class.

EXAMS: Students in Grades 7-12 are currently preparing for semester exams, which will take place Thursday, Jan. 16 first to third hours, and Friday, Jan. 17 fourth to sixth hours.

Most teachers have already begun reviewing for their exams. School will be dismissed at 11:30 a.m. on those two days.

Seniors are especially excited about the mid-terms, for many hope these will be their last high school exams. Seniors are excluded from final exams if they earn a semester average grade of "B" or better.

WRITING: Creative Writing students have been very busy lately composing poetry for various writing contests.

Teacher Mary K. Quinn has assigned her students to create a variety of poetry in many forms for various contests and publications like the Thumb Thoughts booklet, which combines a variety of poetry, stories and art work for students in the Thumb Area.

Mrs. Quinn has also been encouraging students in other classes to contribute or enter the contests.

BASKETBALL: Senior Ray Johnson led the Eagles for the week with a combined total of 47 points against Peck and Carsonville-Port Sanilac.

The double victory lifted the Eagles to a 7-1 overall record and a 5-1 overall mark.

Seniors Pete Delmotte and David Simet also added to both victories. In the 75-54 smashing of Peck, they scored 15 and 13 points, respectively.

In the 72-58 victory over CPS, Simet and Delmotte tossed in 11 and 10 points, respectively. Bob Siegried came off the bench to add six.

SHOPPING WINNER: Do you know anyone who can go to the grocery store, spend $289.75 in two minutes - and walk out without paying for any of it?

Parrish bought one ticket, from Lion Al Abbott, while his wife bought just one, too - from Lion Ralph Kain. They don't know which one was actually the winner, "but we don't really care, either one worked just fine," Don Parrish said.

Booster Club meets Monday

The money is spent locally and has an impact on local communities, says Schafer.

U of M expert says:

Don't exercise too much!

While winter is a time for added caution when exercising and doing strenuous work, cold weather does not mean you need to discontinue your exercise program, says a University of Michigan Medical Center exercise physiologist.

"We don't recommend that you lay off your exercise program during the winter months," says Richard Lampman, Ph.D., who is also director of the U-M Medical Center's cardiac rehabilitation program in the Department of Internal Medicine.

"If you are a jogger, there is no reason for you to give up your running during the winter," Lampman continues. "With the new materials for clothing, you can exercise outside and stay warm and dry. Outdoor exercise during the winter can be beneficial and enjoyable, and the only major concern would be slipping on the ice."

Winter Carnival is approaching!

The annual Pigeon Winter Carnival sponsored by Pigeon Area Jaycees is scheduled for Friday, Jan. 24 through Sunday, Jan. 26.

A Craft and Merchant Show is slated for 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday and Saturday at the Pigeon VFW Hall. Space is still available by contacting Rhonda Buehler at 453-3308 or 453-2506.

Friday night, a teen dance will feature D.J. "Infinite Tunes." The event, also at the VFW Hall, will begin at 9 p.m. and will conclude at 1 a.m.

An adult dance on Saturday night will replace the award program and banquet of former years. The public is invited to the event, scheduled from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. A cash bar will be available, with D.J. "Infinite Tunes" again providing the music.

On Sunday, Jan. 26, snowmobile and three- and four-wheeler races will be featured one mile south of Laker High School at the corner of Maxwell and Geiger Roads. Registration is set for 9 a.m.-12 noon, with racing beginning at 1 p.m.

For more information about the races call Dave Armbruster at 453-3369 or Randy Elenbaum at 453-2439.

Winter Softball will be a new event scheduled this year. Depending on the number of teams that enter, the tournament will be played on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, Jan. 22-24, at the main diamond at Pigeon.

Nine player teams will play, and all team members will bat each inning. There is an entry fee and co-ed teams will be accepted.

A captains' meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 15 at 7:30 p.m. in the Henne Ford Tractor building. For more information, contact Norm Nelson at 856-3183.

Inspector Gordo's MINUTE MYSTERY

THE CASE OF THE

phony crash

Inspector Gordo had just turned over drowsily in his sleeping bag, when he saw a big red car come down the short dirt road, which fed off the highway, and disappear over the cliff.

Running after the car was a tall man. He stopped at the edge of the cliff, lay down on the ground and began to moan, shouting, "Help! Help! My back!"

Four other campers reached the man before the inspector. Gordo bypassed the group and descended to the car.

It was overturned and almost totally wrecked. About the only things intact were the four worn-out tires, which still spun lazily.

Two days later, Gordo met with Frank Smith, the insurance agent, who described his difficulties.

"Jim Francis claims he fell asleep at the wheel and woke up just in time to escape going over the cliff with the car."

"At first we thought he needed money in a hurry and wanted to collect his auto insurance. The car is only six days old and is worth $13,400."

"It turns out he's claiming he can't work a lick because he hurt his back. You know about those injuries. He has a big monthly income insurance policy, and we think he's faking it."

"And coincidentally, you're the only witness," concluded Smith. "But Francis' attorney will capitalize on the facts that it was night and you were barely awake, and therefore you didn't see clearly."

"You won't need my testimony," Gordo said firmly. "Francis planned to wreck the car. That is obvious."

IT IS! HOW COME?

WOODS and WATERS

By DUANE GUENTHER

Foul-ups

At the end of each year, the small, blue notebook that accompanies me afield is filled with scribbles that never see the printed page. Inconsequential items that for the moment seem terribly important lose their usefulness as the seasons melt into each other.

This year there seemed to be more than the usual number of calamities taking place. Each were carefully marked with an "asterisk," and at the time, proved to be considerably more serious than the humor I found while reading them at a later date.

I mulled over the usual sportsmen's misfortunes. For example, there was the time I lost a Russian hook during one of last winter's rare days when the perch were hitting, and, while fumbling with cold hands to extract another from the small, plastic box that holds my entire collection, had it slip between numb fingers and plummet to the bottom of Saginaw Bay, via the six-inch hole that lay beneath my feet.

Another page revealed the embarrassing morning that I drove 60 miles to enjoy a late fall grouse hunt only to find that the 12's loaded in my shell vest were not going to do any good in the 16-gauge I pulled from the gun case.

Then there was the time my buddy and I tried to start his battered four-wheeler by pouring gas in the carburetor, and looked at each other in amazement when the engine caught on fire. What made the matter more serious was the fact that we were three miles from the nearest road.

There are more; a flyrod absentmindedly placed on the sun roof of a pontoon boat that now lies somewhere at the bottom of Wildfowl Bay; the gaping hole in a down jacket that I swore would clear the space under a barbed wire fence; the flock of geese that settled in the decoys while I was answering the call of nature in a ditch some 200 yards away.

After musing over these myriads of misfortune, I decided to select the "foul-up of 1985" award. And, although some of you may think the method of judging was unfair, (I happened to be the sole decider of the unilateral decision) the winner turned out to be a friend of mine, not myself.

The incident deserving the award took place at an Inn located in Western Michigan. The owner, (I'll call him Frank, because that's his name), had been having trouble with a nuisance skunk who had taken up residence beneath one of the many buildings that made up his newly-owned business.

In an effort to rid himself of this unwanted tenant, Frank placed a single-shot .22 caliber rifle on the mantle of the fireplace in the lounge, and each evening as he passed the window which overlooked the yard he would peer out in expectation of sighting his quarry.

This year there seemed to be more than the usually number of calamities taking place.

One evening, his constant vigil paid off. There, slowly ambling across the yard and heading out the back door, circled the building in order to intercept his unsuspecting adversary. The night was pitch black, and Frank had brought along a small flashlight that he now held waveringly along the barrel of the .22.

When the skunk came into view, Frank snapped on the light and the crack of the rifle reverberated throughout the sleeping Inn.

Immediately, lights snapped on in the upstairs windows and a curious crowd peered out at the scene unfolding. When Frank approached the skunk, he found it was only wounded and it took him several shots to finish off this unwanted guest.

With each crack of the rifle, the onlooking parties would gasp in expectation of the skunk's defensive mechanisms, but none were emitted.

Once dead, Frank picked up the skunk and placed him on the stainless steel fish cleaning table. At this point, I should interject that Frank is an ardent flyfisherman and fly-tier, and he was determined to have this prime skunk pelt to add to his collection of furs and feathers.

I also should mention that Frank was a renowned heart surgeon before getting fed up with the hectic medical life and shucking it all to become the owner of an aging, and sagging fishing camp. Knowing these facts, most of the fishermen in camp decided to watch an expert at work and crowded around the operating table.

Frank was center stage, and enjoying it immensely. He produced a razor-sharp fillet knife and proceeded to set its flashing blade in action.

Within moments the pelt lay separated from the naked carcass and as he turned to accept the obvious burst of applause he gave the carcass a casual flip, and the dead skunk - with his scent glands bared - landed squarely on the raised blade of the fillet knife.

Rather than the expected applause, Frank was met by a volley of hoots and hollers, as each fisherman tried to escape the descending cloud that instantly enveloped the camp. Frank was left alone.

Later, when questioned about his apparent miscue, Frank answered amiably, "I only missed a perfect operation by 1/78 an inch!"

Thumb area outdoor report

Another UP moose dead; turkey deadline; "hot" ice fishing

Another of the 29 moose brought to the U.P. from Canada last February has been found dead in Marquette County. The latest death reduces the herd to 44 animals according to biologists from the DNR. Officials were alerted to the calamity by a mortality signal from the animal's radio collar, and the cow moose was found in a swampy area. It is believed that the cow may have fallen through the ice and did not have the strength to get out. A calf found nearby appeared to be all right and was given a 50-50 chance of survival.

According to DNR officials, February 1 is the deadline for turkey hunters to submit license application cards for the 1986 spring turkey hunting season. This year, 16,650 turkey licenses will be available to hunters which is an 11% increase over last year. To secure a turkey license hunters should obtain applications available at all DNR offices and most license dealers. Completed application cards must be postmarked on or before February 1 and license fees must accompany license applications. A random drawing will be conducted and successful applicants will be notified by March 15. Unsuccessful applicants will not be notified, but will receive a refund of their fees.

Ice fishing continued to be "hot" during the past week. Reports of big perch were received from the Oak Beach, and McGraw Park area, with many catches including numerous 10-inchers. Other areas receiving high marks for being good fish producers were; Bay Port, between Heisterman and North Island, Geiger Road access, and Sebawaing, off the Sugar Factory road. Ice reports have been favorable and most fishing spots boast thickensses that warrant the use of power augers.

from "General Don"

WE WISH TO THANK... the Winsor Township Fire Department, for their prompt response in answering our call for help, in putting out the tractor fire, January 6th.
Glenn, Roger, and Robin Buschlen

I would like to thank my friends and relatives for their prayers, flowers, memorial gifts, many kindnesses and comforting cards following the death of my husband, Samuel Palazolo. Special Thanks to Dr. Kube for his kindness, and the Nurses and Helpers at Huron Memorial Hospital, and to Patie Hutchinson. We appreciated the comforting words of Rev. Dunstan, and the prayers of Rev. Brent McCommons. Thanks to the ladies of Caseville United Methodist Church for their delicious luncheon, and thank you to Mr. Bussema for his special care and attention. Your many kindnesses and help in our time of bereavement will never be forgotten.
