License fees up—Pheasants released—'Free' fishing?
Thumb area OUTDOORS

A bill to increase hunting and fishing license fees for the first time since 1981 has been passed in the House, and recently was passed by the Senate Natural Resources Committee. The bill, which raises most fees an average of $2 to $3, is not expected to receive an easy passage in the Senate.

Rep. Thomas Scott, the bill's sponsor, told the committee that failure to pass the measure would force department cuts worth more than $6 million in the current fiscal year. Scott said the cuts would affect loss of DNR jobs and inland fishery projects.

If the weather stays mild, the first release of a new crossbred strain of pheasant developed in Michigan will be held this week. Some 100, 36-week-old pheasants are scheduled for freedom at a state game area near Borculo in Ottawa County. The birds are a cross between Michigan's Ringneck Pheasant and the Sichuan, or Black Neck pheasant brought from China last February. The birds are part of a flock of 500 pheasants produced last spring at the DNR's wildlife facility in Mason. Both Huron and Tuscola Counties are slated to receive some of the same birds. The release site will most likely be on the numerous, small, state game areas in the Gageton region.

Another measure passed by the Senate Natural Resources Committee last week would declare 1 or 2 "free" fishing days a year in Michigan as a way to encourage the sport and boost tourism.

Fishing would be open on all lakes and waterways where fishing normally is allowed for people with licenses. Restrictions on which fish can be caught would not be different than usual, officials said. The DNR, which is designated to declare the open fishing days, has not yet decided when the free fishing will take place. MUCC supports the plan, even though no one seems to know how many new fishing converts it will claim.

Laker team places 3rd in Forensics meet

The Laker Forensics Team placed third in competition at Gaylord last weekend.

Top Laker speakers include: second place by Rhonda Baur in Radio News and Christy Licht in Sales, fourth place by Dan Soper in Storytelling and fifth place by Lisa Gaskill in Orator.

Top o' the week:
LARGEST EVER: Michigan Sugar Company processed its largest sugar beet crop ever this year, handling more than 1.4 million tons of beets. That's ahead of last year's 1.4 million tons, says President Ernest Flegenheimer.

Michigan Sugar's four plants produced more than 350 million pounds of sugar, the second-largest total in the company's 80-year history. Last year, the firm produced a record 370 million pounds.

"Considering the difficult harvesting conditions last fall, we are pleased with the overall outcome," Flegenheimer says. This year's campaign took about 130 days.

Nearly 1200 area growers planted a record 76,000 acres of beets last spring. They'll receive about $45 million for the crop.

The new 50 million pound silo at Sebawaing was completely filled and will be used for industrial customers and repackaging this summer. Caro's 35 million pound silo, now under construction, will be ready for use this fall. Michigan Sugar will market under the Pioneer brand label and various private labels, Flegenheimer says.

March 11. "Hints for the So-So Sewer Workshop" runs from 7 to 9 p.m. that night, and "Cut & Fit Workshop" is planned from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. March 12.

There is a charge for each workshop, and reservations are available by calling Extension Home Economist Barb Neuman in Bad Axe at 269-9949.

PRICES FALL: Index of Prices Received by Farmers in Michigan on Jan. 15 was 112% of its 1977 base, says the Michigan Ag Reporting Service. That's 9% below last January's level.

Price indexes for all crops fell 1% from December.

MARS says the U.S. Index of Prices Received dropped four points from December, to 124% of its 1977 base. That's down 9% from January, 1985.

Conversely, the U.S. Index of Prices Paid by Farmers for all farm expenses was 163% of its 1977 base, down % from last year.

LAND LOSS: Michigan is losing prime farm land at a rapid rate, according to a six-month study by staff of the American Farmland Trust's Michigan Farmland Preservation Project.

A key conclusion is that prime farmland is being converted to non-ag uses — such as shopping malls and condominiums — at the rate of 120,000 acres per year. That's one of the highest in the nation, they say.

One of the principal concerns about this loss is what long-term effect such losses of farmland will have on the state's economy, which now gets $14.3 billion annually from agriculture and agribusinesses.

And, the long-term potential for bringing more top-quality land into cultivation is very limited. Experts say Only 714,000 acres not presently under cultivation are classified as having excellent potential for cropland conversion.

Copies of the project report are available from American Farmland Trust, Room 318, 1405 S. Harrison Road, East Lansing, 48823.

STORED BEANS: Commercial elevators in Michigan held 3.175 million hundredweight (cwt.) of dry beans as of Dec. 31, says MARS. That's 12% above last year, and includes 2.8 million cwt. of Navy Beans and 375,000 cwt. of all others.

No estimate of dry beans held on farms is included in the report.

JOHN'S JOB: Hoard's Dairyman magazine reports former U.S. Ag Secretary John Block has announced he'll become president of the National American Wholesale Grocers' Association, taking over at the group's annual meeting this month.

BEEF MEET: Today's the day (Wednesday) for the annual meeting of the Sebawaing Beet Growers Association, to be conducted at 10:30 a.m. at the Colony House, near Cass City.

Michigan Department of Agriculture Director, Dr. Paul Kindinger, will be guest speaker at 1:30, during the afternoon session.

Morning business meeting activity will include election of directors to fill expiring terms of Lavern Engelhardt of Unionville, Stanley Gettel of Sebawaing and Dale Henne of Bay Port.

Dinner will be served following the morning session.

Current Growers Association President is Stanley Gettel, while Henne is Vice President. Victor Engelhardt of Sebawaing is Secretary, and Unionville's Dan Herman, Jr., is Treasurer.

Board members include Dick Strieter of Bay Port, Carl Schuette of Elkton, John Dranschil of Sebawaing and Tom Zimmer and Lavern Engelhardt, both of Unionville.

LETTERS OUT: About 28 Huron and Tuscola County farmers have been sent the delinquency letters from Farmers Home Administration, noting payments are a year or more in arrears.

Rodney Plevs of the Bad Axe FmHA Office and Henry Knier, Jr., of the Caro Office say most of the borrowers will probably be able to work out some repayment plan, except those worst situations which are already in bankruptcy proceedings. Farmers are being urged to contact the FmHA offices within 30 days to restructure loans.

Failure to do so can speed repayment demands, they say, by this "loaner of last resort" federal agency.

About 11 letters went out to Tuscola County farmers last week, while about 16 were sent to Huron County addresses, the offices estimate. The figures represent about 12% of FmHA loans in these areas.

Poor weather conditions, falling property values and declining machinery values all contribute to worsening local situations — along with continuing low commodity prices due to crop abundance nationally.

SELL OR STAY? Dairy farmers nationwide may submit bids through this Friday in the dairy buyout program offered through the 1985 Farm Bill. Producers who desire to participate will submit bids to the government indicating what they're willing to take to get out of dairy farming for five years, based on one year's production.

For example, if a dairyman has 100 cows producing an average of 15,000 pounds per year, his annual total would be 1.5 million pounds. He might make a bid of $10 per hundred pounds (cwt.) for a total of $150,000 in all, to be paid over the five years.

Also, he must sell for slaughter every female head of dairy animals he has or export the cattle. The farm's dairy facilities cannot be used for dairy purposes for five years. The program will be paid for in part through the 40-cents per cwt. assessment on every cwt. of milk marketed through Dec. 31. That assessment drops to 25 cents in 1987.

The national goal is to get at least 12 billion pounds of milk production reduced. An informal local survey shows most farmers need between $28 and $40 per cwt., far above what the government appears willing to pay. Bidders will be notified by April 1 if their prices are accepted or rejected.

'85 U.S. milk production hit a record 143 billion pounds, up 5.7% from last year. Production per cow nationally also is a record —

COST VS. INTANGIBLES

When it comes to the much comfort and peace of disposition of the body, mind being able to view the there are some people who have very strong feelings and these should be honored. For others, however, things are not so cut-and-dried and they must weigh a number of factors before making any decision.
If cost were the ONLY consideration, the most inexpensive disposal would probably be a direct cremation of the body, followed by a memorial service and either scattering or keeping the remains at home or burying them yourself. Of course, cost is NOT, nor should be, the only consideration. There are many times when families have found

Theme of Save Your Vision Week Eye Care is a Bright Eye-dea!

"Eye Care is a Bright Eye-dea!" is the theme of this year's Save Your Vision Week being observed now through Saturday, March 8, according to the Michigan Optometric Association.

Improve Your Vision Day is scheduled for Wednesday (today), to serve as a reminder that with proper care, most vision problems can be corrected, the Association says.

A simple eye examination takes very little time and includes evaluation in the following areas:
■ Tests of both near and far vision.
■ A review of the patient's general and eye health history.
■ Checks of the exterior and interior structure of the eye.
■ Tests of visual skills such as how the eyes work together as a team, and

■ Depth perception, color perception, form perception and field of vision.
Dr. Douglas Buehler, O.D., of Pigeon is participating in Save Your Vision Week and encourages everyone to enjoy good vision through regular, professional eye care.

President Ronald Reagan has declared March 2-8 Save Your Vision Week, in keeping with a tradition begun by Congress in 1963.
In his proclamation, Reagan cites the importance of regular routine eye examinations and eye safety measures and urges all Americans to make "eye care and eye safety an important part of their lives."

SAVE YOUR VISION WEEK, 1986
By the President of the United States of America
A Proclamation
Of all the blessings that Americans enjoy, few are more important than good vision. It is this priceless gift that enables us to behold the great beauty of our country and take full advantage of the many opportunities it offers.

Yet too many of us take the gift of sight for granted, and each year thousands suffer vision loss that could have been prevented. To avoid such tragedy, all of us must be more aware of what each of us can do to protect our eyes and safeguard our eyesight.

The most important sight-saving precaution is to have regular eye check-ups. Such examinations can provide valuable warning of incipient eye diseases that could endanger our vision. Early detection is invaluable, because eye research has produced new treatments that can halt many potentially blinding diseases before they have a chance to impair vision.

For people with diabetes, eye examinations offer an especially good chance to benefit from sight-saving discoveries. Research sponsored by the National Eye Institute has shown that laser treatment can help many people who are at risk of visual loss from diabetic eye disease if the condition is detected early.

Ronald Reagan

Thanks A Million

DEAR MR. ROSS:
I'm not writing a request for myself, but for a very worthy cause. These past few months have been very difficult for me. I divorced a man, after six months of marriage, who was beating me.

Not knowing which way to turn, I finally made a call to the Women's Crisis Center which aids women in these situations. They recommended a lawyer, which started my way to freedom.

Even after filing for the divorce, I had many problems with my husband. However, the counselors at the center helped me along. They helped me understand that it wasn't me who caused the beatings — it was something within him.

The Center has always been there when I needed them. I can call anytime and they have a shelter for me if I need a place to stay. They even provided a counselor to escort me to court, so my husband would not harm me.

This is a brief account of what the center has done to support me through one of the most trying times of life. I'm one of the lucky ones who was about to get out of it early — many women cannot make the break.

My request is that you give support to this needy cause. Any amount, no matter how small, would definitely help other women in need. Wife-beating is such a terrible thing — it needs to be stopped! — L.C.E., Arlington Heights, Ill.
DEAR MS. E.:

Thanks for allowing me to share your letter with my readers. Although it's painful to recount the horror of the moment, it helps to educate others with similar problems.

My sharing is usually centered on giving to people on a one-to-one basis, where it goes directly to the recipient. But as with most rules, there are exceptions. I've made a token contribution, in your name, to the Women's Crisis Center in Belleville, Ill. I pray the day comes when this type of service and counseling won't be needed, only because there are no further victims.

DEAR MR. ROSS:
Both my parents are quite old and not long for this world. I wanted to do something very special for them this year — something they'd truly remember.

I wrote my 13 brothers and sisters and asked if they would each contribute $50 toward a trip for the folks to Tacoma. I got a response from only six of them. The trip costs $754, but my husband and I decided to make up the needed balance of $454.

But the reason for writing is for something extra special. I thought one of the most memorable things to do while they're here would be to take them to dinner at the Space Needle. After paying the balance of the trip, there's no way we could afford this also.

I know this would give them a time they'd never forget. If you could only see their faces when they're excited. Their smiles radiate the biggest beams — I swear it could heat the world! — Mrs. G.M., Tacoma, Wash.
DEAR MRS. M.:

Let the city of Tacoma know it's in for a heat wave! I've made arrangements for you and your parents to be my guests for dinner at the Emerald Suite in the Space Needle.

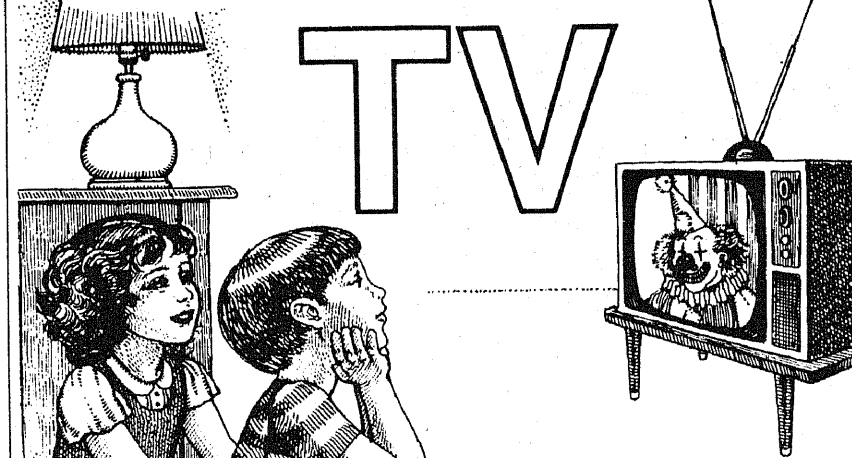

I hope it fills your hearts with fond memories. — $$$$$$$$$$ —

ANGEL CAKE ST. PETERSBURG and CANNOLI PARFAITS

ANGEL FOOD ST. PETERSBURG
 1 Angel Food cake
 1 1/3 cups orange juice
 1/4 cup milk
 1/4 cornstarch
 2 egg yolks
 1/2 t. vanilla
 1/2 cup chopped pistachio nuts
 2 oranges, sliced
 Fresh mint sprigs for garnish, optional
 Prepare cake.
 In a 2-qt. saucepan, combine orange juice, milk, cornstarch and egg yolks. Over medium heat bring to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil 1 minute, until sauce thickens and coats the back of a spoon.
 Remove saucepan from heat, stir in vanilla. Pour mixture in large bowl; cover, refrigerate until well-chilled, at least 45 minutes. Using serrated knife, cut cake in half horizontally. Using a small knife, cut a 3/4-inch "tunnel" around center of bottom half of cake, being careful not to cut through sides of cake. Place bottom half of cake on cake plate.

 Set aside 1/2 cup orange mixture for top and side of cake; spoon remaining mixture into tunnel in cake. Place top of cake over filling. Brush top and side of cake with reserved orange mixture. Press pistachio nuts around side of cake. Garnish top with orange slices and fresh mint prigs.

Yield: 8 to 10 servings.
CANNOLI PARFAITS
 1/2 cup plus 2 T. orange juice
 2 T. orange-flavored liqueur
 1 pkg. (3 1/2 oz.) ladyfingers, split lengthwise
 2 cups ricotta cheese
 1 pkg. cream cheese, softened
 2/3 cup confectioners sugar
 1/4 t. ground nutmeg
 4 med. oranges, peeled and sectioned
 In small bowl, combine 2 T. orange juice and liqueur; brush cut side of ladyfingers with orange mixture. Use ladyfingers to line sides of dessert dishes or goblets.

 In large bowl, beat ricotta cheese, cream cheese, confectioners sugar, nutmeg and remaining 1/2 cup orange juice until blended. Set aside one sectioned orange for garnish. Fold remaining sections into cheese mixture; spoon mixture into prepared dessert dishes. Garnish with reserved orange sections.
Yield: 6 servings.

You're reading The Progress-Advance and we appreciate it.

CHIROPRACTIC — It's Different
 It's a sad fact, but unfortunately most people only visit a doctor when they are in pain or become sick. What people fail to realize is that all diseases and pain can be avoided if proper preventative measures are taken to keep all of the body's organs and systems working 100% all the time.
 The nervous system is the communication system that controls all the functions of the body. Any interference with this network prevents the body from functioning as it should. This means that the heart cannot beat properly; the stomach cannot digest food properly; the kidneys can't eliminate waste products as they should. Blood pressure, sugar levels, body temperature can't be regulated properly.
 This abnormal function leads to disease. Polio, cancer, multiple sclerosis, heart attack, stroke, arthritis, etc., all have their origin from a body that cannot perform as it should.
 Research has shown that the chiropractic vertebral subluxation is the major cause of producing interference to the nervous system. Spinal misalignment and abnormal motion produces pressures and irritations to the spinal cord and nerves, resulting in a decreased amount of nerve energy from the brain to the effected area. A decrease in this life-giving energy causes abnormal function and tissue decay leading to disease and ultimately, premature death.
 No, chiropractic is not just for people in pain.
 Everyone needs regular chiropractic examinations.
 Did you ever consider that maybe if people received routine chiropractic checkups throughout their life that maybe ...
 450,000 people would not have died of cancer in 1985;
 4 million people would not be victims of diabetes;
 500,000 children would not be afflicted with orthopedic and spastic disorders;
 5 million children would not be asthmatics;
 Deaths from emphysema and chronic bronchitis would not have increased 900% in the last 20 years;
 1.2 million Americans would not have been killed or crippled by stroke each year;
 1 million Americans would not die yearly of heart and circulatory disease?
 Yes, chiropractic is different. People don't just go to chiropractors to get well, they go to chiropractors to stay well.
 Join us every Wednesday to find out the truth about health and chiropractic. Learn how chiropractic not only provides relief of pain and symptoms, but why it's so necessary for the prevention of cancer, heart disease, stroke and all disease. It's a boy!

A son, Brandon Michael, has joined the family of Steve and Kim Collins of Caseville, following his birth on Thursday, Feb. 27 at 3:18 p.m. at Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe.

The infant weighed 6 lbs. 7 oz. and measured 18 1/2 inches long at his birth.

He is the newest grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Asel Collins of Pigeon and Mrs. Joyce Jarson of Elkton. Proud great-grandparents include Elizabeth Bowman of East Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jarson of Warren. His great-great-grandmother, Hannah Sager, resides in Roseville.

The four-week program is offered at the Pigeon District Library at 2 p.m. each Thursday through March 20. This week's program topics are "Nutrition and Weight."

Research has shown that nutrition plays an important role in the development of many major health problems. Being overweight also has many harmful health effects, including high blood pressure, blood cholesterol and blood glucose levels.

Paul Greedy, Farmington Hills, diet consultant for Scheurer Hospital, will be the main speaker.

Next week's topic will be Stress Management. For more information, contact

Thumb Weekly News Round-Up

FISH NET TRIAL CONTINUES

Bay Port Fish Company's co-owner Forrest Williams plans to renew his experiments with portable nets in Lake Huron this spring, as soon as he can get his boats out of the harbor.

Bay Port Fish Co. was granted a three-year permit last fall from the state Department of Natural Resources to use the moveable purse seines to catch whitefish and other non-sport fish from Bay Port east around the Thumb to Harbor Beach.

Some sport fishing groups have complained that fixed nets used by other commercial fishermen are more dangerous and harm sport fish. State officials hope the portable nets, which are difficult to use, will allow peaceful coexistence between commercial and sport fishermen on Lake Huron.

Williams told reporters he's enthusiastic about this spring's start, since the short trial in December failed to yield any fish. This was due mostly to a green crew, he said.

If Bay Port Fish Co. can use the purse seines without conflicting with sport fishermen, DNR officials say other Great Lakes companies may be allowed to use these nets commercially.

Fish are taken unharmed out of the purse seine nets while the nets are drawn into the boat. This allows commercial crews to put sport fish, such as trout and salmon, back into the water when they get scooped up with the whitefish. Most commercial fishing in lower Lake Huron is prohibited from mid-April to Sept. 15.

SANILAC LEAVING GROUP?

Sanilac County Commissioners last Wednesday tabled plans to pull out of the Thumb Area Commission on Aging. They plan to meet with Huron and Tuscola County leaders this Friday to discuss reorganizing the agency that oversees senior citizen programs for the counties.

Sanilac Commissioners have been unhappy with the agency's operation for several months, following poor financial management, budget deficiencies and a disregard for local input, they said. At stake are daily meals served at various locations and delivered to shut-ins, transportation to grocery stores and doctor's offices, blood pressure clinics, medical referrals, income tax aid, legal aid and other programs.

If Sanilac pulls out, Tuscola and Huron may align with Saginaw or other counties to continue sharing administrative expenses. Huron County plans to spend $24,900 from federal revenue sharing monies for senior support this year.

DNR FLOOD CONTROL FUNDS?

Saginaw Bay and Lake Huron shoreline homeowners may qualify for a state DNR loan program to move existing houses back from the ever-nearing water's edge, thanks to continuing high water conditions.

Akron and Wisner Townships in Tuscola County are among local places where such low-interest loans may be offered, the DNR says. The townships themselves may qualify for state matching grants totaling $30,000 each, to prevent damage to public property.

POLICE BLOTTER NEWS

A warrant is being sought against a St. Clair Shores man who was arrested last Saturday morning in a car stolen from a Caseville man last Thursday. Caseville Police say an auto owned by Richard Kunding of Caseville was taken from a downtown location and driven to Harper Woods, northeast of Detroit, where police arrested him. No damage was reported to the local vehicle, and police are investigating.

At least six local break-ins late in January appear to be related and are being investigated, according to Huron County Sheriff's Deputies.

Inez Kellerman of Elkton said a Grassmere Road house was entered, but nothing appeared to be missing. A Moore Road garage in Oliver Township owned by Roy Berringer of Elkton was entered, and tools, a chain saw and other items were taken. No dollar amount was provided. Ralph Posade of Elkton said a $150 chain saw was missing from a Geiger Road shed nearby.

Two enterings in Fair Haven Township found a battery charger valued at $175 taken from Edgar Maust property on Geiger Road, Bay Port, and a jack taken from a Ridge Road shed.

A pickup truck owned by Bertha Strieter of Pigeon was stolen and then later returned about the same time in late January, Huron Deputies say. It had been parked at a Campbell Road address in McKinley Township, but was later returned, apparently undamaged.

State Department of Agriculture officials are investigating reports of a dead mouse contained in a soft drink bottle, purchased last week by a Sebawaing woman from a local store. The unidentified woman brought the bottle and contents to the Huron County Health Department, which turned it over to state officials.

Sheriff's Deputies are investigating the theft of $8400 worth of seed corn, taken late Wednesday or Thursday from the Jack Schubach farm west of Elkton. A shed door handle was pried open to gain entry to the 140 bags of corn, each weighing 56 pounds. The seed would allow planting of 523 acres of corn, experts say.

COURT PROCEEDINGS

In recent activity in Huron County 73rd District Court, First Division, Judge John Schubel heard these pleas and passed judgment on:

Jeffrey Bedford, 25 of Caseville, who pled guilty to attempted resisting and obstructing a police officer, sentenced to 30 days in jail plus $150 fines and costs, following a Feb. 2 incident in Lake Township involving a Sheriff's Deputy;

Kenneth McCannan, 27 of Owendale, pled guilty to attempted writing of three non-sufficient checks, following several incidents in Pigeon in early December; sentenced to make restitution and balance of sentence deferred to May 2;

Samuel Harbin, 22 of Bay Port, pled guilty to drunken driving; ordered to pay $600 fines and costs and loses license for six months;

In Bay County Circuit Court, Judge John Theiler passed judgment on:

Scott Harder, 29 of Bay Port, sentenced to two concurrent prison terms of two to three years following guilty plea on two charges of failure to return realty property, following loss of a video cassette recorder from a Bay City business last summer;

In Tuscola County Circuit Court, Judge Patrick Joslyn passed judgment on:

Steven S. Simon, 20 of Millington, sentenced to 40 to 60 months for assault during a felony and 32 to 48 months for malicious destruction of property over $100, following the 1984 shooting of DNR officer Timothy Burke.

M-53 WORK BID AWARDED

Dan's Excavating, Inc., of Utica, was the low bidder at $1,932 million for a state Department of Transportation road widening project north of Bad Axe, in bid awarding ceremonies last week in Lansing.

In all, 1.4 miles of M-53 highway near M-142 (Pigeon Road) will have pavement widened to five lanes plus will be resurfaced and improved. It will join the already-renovated four-lane roadway in downtown Bad Axe, state officials say. Work should begin this spring.

MORE DANGER: But the job of evacuating the guests wasn't over. An Egyptian Army tank broke down the swimming pool wall near the huddled tourists, and they were taken via bus along back streets to a luxurious downtown hotel. In that area, everything seemed normal -- a contrast to the chaos several miles away.

Dinner was served again about 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, as a city-wide curfew was in effect. During the meal, an official ordered the guests to retrieve their luggage for evacuation from Cairo. The Army provided vans which took the tourists to Cairo Airport.

Three special planes were waiting to send the guests to Rome or Tel Aviv. The Nuszs were taken to Rome, where they were brought to the comforts of home by connecting flights to Michigan Thursday night.

"From early Tuesday morning (when they left for Egypt by bus) until Thursday evening, we spent 74 hours without lying on a bed," Rev. Nusz recalls. "We really wanted to see the rest of Egypt, and especially Luxor, but maybe another time. We're not ready to go back. We're glad to be home."

Mrs. Nusz noted, "We're still feeling numb, almost like it was a dream, that it didn't happen to us. Our schedule has been so weird, we weren't sure if jet lag will affect us or if the trauma will stay with us."

Faith certainly helped them get through, and so did concern for others. "We didn't really know many of these other guests, but we all worked and prayed and coped together," Rev. Nusz said. "If you care about other people, you forget about the fear you have." Mrs. Nusz added, "You just start taking care of others. The love among people as they reached out for others was phenomenal."

Some conditions are so poor in Egypt that people live atop rubble everywhere. "People were even living in cemeteries," Rev. Nusz noted.

"Many sights were beautiful to see, and retracing Jesus' steps was fascinating. It's hard to consider the road from Jericho to Jerusalem is a freeway today."

"We were just in the wrong place at the wrong time. We'd love to go back some day, to show others these beautiful sights. But while we were here, we honestly didn't know if we would live and ever return home."

EGYPT

"There was a great deal of faith involved," Mrs. Nusz says. "I was so very confident we were going to get back home safely."

But the roaming draftes brought out regular citizens, too, and fires could be seen everywhere. Fire trucks were attacked and the turmoil continued.

About 12:30 a.m., the guests were taken to the fifth and sixth floors to sleep in the hallways -- only to be awoken soon and again escorted to the roof because the rioters had entered the hotel building. The dining room area and lobby were set afire, and soon the order came to evacuate the building.

"We had to walk down six flights of stairs in absolutely pitch black halls with smoke filtering in the building," Rev. Nusz noted. They and about 300 other guests were taken to the swimming pool area which had reinforced outside walls and was away from the main street outside.

About 150 of the tourists were Germans, many were Canadians and 100 or so were with the Nuszs' group. "Everyone cooperated and got along," Shirley Nusz said. "The hotel was in exception in care." One hotel employe was shot during the ordeal.

RESCUERS COME: About 3 a.m. Wednesday, Egyptian Army tanks and armored troop carriers came to the area and began to take control. "That's when the fighting really began. That was a real war going on," Rev. Nusz recalled, and the gunfire continued for 12 hours.

By mid-day, the hotel dining area was completely burned out and the fire continued consuming all six floors, since no firemen were able to douse the blaze. The tourists formed a "suitcase brigade" to get all personal belongings from guest rooms before fire consumed them.

The Nuszs estimated half the guests' items were ruined, while the others (including their own) had smoke damage but were retrieved. The German tourists lost all their belongings, including many passports. Much of the hotel had been destroyed.

Former Pigeon minister Marcus McCallum was coincidentally there with another group. He and his wife lost all their items, the Nuszs said.

SUPERINTENDENT'S CORNER

Getting their attention!

by HARRY BRUNET
LAKER SCHOOLS
SUPERINTENDENT

Have you ever wondered how to get a congressman or a senator to react on a given problem? The illustrations given are somewhat exaggerated, but if you really want to get the attention of elected officials, writing letters generally is the best means of getting some type of action.

LETTER #1
FEBRUARY 7, 1986
DEAR SENATOR SNOTT:
I am very deeply concerned over Senate Bill 473, which would permit liquor licenses to be issued in state parks and recreation areas.

Allowing liquor to be sold in such places would just help to create more problems. As it is now, two parks in this district have had to ban people from even bringing in their own beer or liquor because of several drunken parties and a near-riot last Memorial Day weekend involving some rowdy teenagers. Allowing liquor licenses, actually selling beer, wine or whiskey would only create more problems. For these reasons, I urge that you vote "no" on Senate Bill 473 when it comes up for consideration in the Senate.

VERY TRULY YOURS,
Mr. Bumstead

LETTER #2
February 15, 1986

MY DEAR FRIEND MR. BUMSTEAD:
I have your letter before me and want you to know that I do understand your position on Senate Bill 473.

However, I am sure you know how the economic turndown has affected state revenues this past year. We have so many demands on public funds, so many worthy services the public demands of us, we are constantly on the lookout for new sources of revenue. Since this bill would provide money which could be used to take care of the upkeep of state parks and recreation areas, I may have to vote for the bill.

I trust that you understand my reasoning and my position. SINCERELY,
Senator Snott

LETTER #3
FEBRUARY 23, 1986
DEAR SENATOR SNOTT:
I just can't tell you how disappointed I was after reading your last letter.

When you say you may have to vote for Senate Bill 473, even though it is likely to touch off serious problems in the parks and recreation areas here in your home district, I feel you have let us down.

In fact, I was so disappointed in your letter that I shared it with my pastor in church last Sunday.

He agreed with my position and posted it on the bulletin board, calling attention to it during the announcement period. I watched after the service and noticed a number of others who copied down the bill number and your address. I would not be surprised if you heard from others in our community on this matter.

And then last Monday, our pastor went to a ministerial meeting in town and took your letter to me and shared it with the other pastors in town.

They don't like your position very much, either. I hope you will reconsider your position and vote "no" on Senate Bill 473.

VERY TRULY YOURS,
Mr. Bumstead

LETTER #4
March 4, 1986

MY DEAR FRIEND MR. BUMSTEAD:
You know we are terribly busy here at the Capitol and I have an aide who goes through my mail and sometimes drafts letters for me to sign.

Sometimes I do not read the answers he drafts very carefully. I think that must have been what happened with your letter of Feb. 7. After I received your second letter, I gave this matter very careful study and want you to know that I have decided not only to vote against Senate Bill 473, but I will also go to the Commerce Committee and urge that the bill be killed right there, that it not even come out of committee for a floor vote by the full Senate.

That's how strongly I feel against this bill now! CORDIALLY,
Senator Snott

P.S. You know the work is really piling up here in my office and right now I have by today's count, 486 letters to answer, all on this same bill, with most of them coming from right here in your community. I was just wondering, perhaps you could take this letter to church with you next Sunday and show it to your pastor. Maybe he'd like to post it on his bulletin board, and if he has another of those ministerial meetings next month, maybe he'd like to share it there, too.

We're asking YOU...

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION, ASKED BY OVIDIA ALARCON:
Do you think a "pigeon" drawing should appear on Pigeon's water tower? If yes, is it worth an extra $2000? Why or why not?

No, it's not worth it. I think we can find other good uses for $2000 in our town. It was a good decision by Council.

Mike LePage
PIGEON

I think it's worth it, so people can recognize our town. It will look nice, too.

Jean Pigeon
PIGEON

No, it's not worth it. It's way too much money to spend on something like that.

Cindy Thick
PIGEON

Yes, I think it's worth it because it's a community trademark, and it shows pride in our town. I work here and think our town need support.

Scott Stauffer
SEBEWAING

No, I don't think it's worth it. They are going in debt now. Wait 'til we have enough money.

Bernard King

Parenting class offered

A series of four classes to help parents area planned in Caseville at the RLDS Church during the month of March.

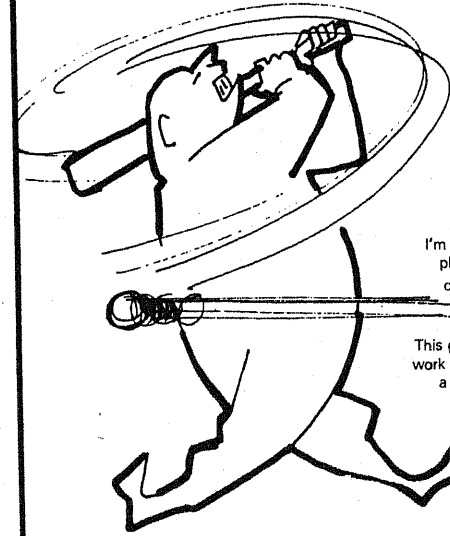

On March 4, Ken Dietzel from the WIC program was scheduled to speak on "Nutrition and Your Children."

Other sessions include: "Child Sexual Abuse" discussed by social worker Geneva Richards on March 11; "Positive Reinforcement" taught by Marge Nilsen from the Head Start program, and "Child Rearing Techniques" presented by Carol Hunt from the Department of Social Services.

The meeting are free of charge and will be conducted from 7-8 p.m. at the church located just south of Pete's Party Store in Caseville. Supervision with games, stories and crafts for children will also be provided.

You're reading The Progress-Advance and we appreciate it.

ATTEND THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE THIS SUNDAY AND EVERY SUNDAY

GOD'S LOVE CAN BE LEARNED FROM OUR WILDLIFE

One of the first lessons we all learn from the Bible and our Church or Sunday school is that God made heaven and earth and everything therein, including the living creatures; and there is no more dramatic proof of this than what you can learn from even a casual study of the animals and birds. You'll marvel at the way these creatures are equipped to feed and protect themselves; particularly those which must be born with this knowledge, having no parents to care for them. As your Church will teach you, if God so loved even the smallest of these living things, think how He must love YOU; so avail yourself of His love, and treat our wildlife with all due respect and kindness.

He prayeth best who loveth best
All things both great and small;
For the dear God who loveth us,
He made and loveth all.
—Samuel Taylor Coleridge

"And God said, Let the earth bring forth the living creature after his kind... and it was so."

Binding up broken hearts

READ JOHN 21:15-25
Jesus saith unto him, "Feed My Sheep." John 21:17
People who tour France usually visit the beautiful Rheims Cathedral.
During World War II this magnificent church was hit by a bomb, and the lovely rose window above the altar was shattered.
The members of the cathedral staff got down on their hands and knees and carefully picked up the individual pieces of glass. The glass was stored in a vault.
When the war was over, the authorities of the cathedral commissioned one of Europe's finest artists to rebuild this rose window with the pieces of broken glass.
Today the sun streams again through this gorgeous window.
Like broken windows, so also broken persons can be mended.
Peter's heart was broken. He had denied his Lord three times.
After His resurrection, Jesus came to Peter and put his heart back together.
He gave him the assurance of His love and forgiveness, entrusting him with the commission to feed His sheep and lambs.
Jesus puts us back together.
Like that rose window, our lives are often broken. We are shaken and shattered by sin and shame.
Jesus speaks the Word of forgiveness in His saving Gospel, commissioning us to let His Word and His love shine through our hearts.
Dear Lord Jesus, help us to share Your forgiving love with fellow human beings so that their lives can be rebuilt. Amen.

The First United Methodist Church of Pigeon welcomes the public to a String Trio Concert on Sunday, March 9 at 3 p.m.
The Central Arts Trio, consisting of faculty members of Central Michigan University, will present a 60-minute program featuring Dvorak, Beethoven and Brahms. Performing will be Stanley Chepitis, violinist; Ernest Lloyd, cellist and James Smolko, pianist.
A donation to help defray expenses of the concert will be taken at the door.
Stanley Chepitis, violinist, has earned a Masters degree and Performers' degree from the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y., where he is presently a doctoral candidate. He has been concertmaster and soloist with the Arkansas Symphony, the Corning (N.Y.) Philharmonic, the Rochester Festival Orchestra and the Midland Symphony. An active performer of jazz and classical music, he currently serves as assistant professor of violin and orchestra director at CMU.
Ernest Lloyd, professor of cello and bass at CMU, was formerly principal cellist of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra. He has played with the New Orleans Philharmonic, North Carolina Symphony, San Antonio Symphony and the Goldovsky Opera Company. Dr. Lloyd has made over 20 solo appearances with various orchestras and has performed chamber music with the Central Arts Trio, Jordan Quartet and the Juilliard School diploma course (applied study), private study with Leonard Rose, Bernard Greenhouse, Fritz Magg, Louis Potter and Paul Olesky. He holds a bachelor of music degree in cello from Concordia College in Minnesota, a Master of Music degree in theory and literature from Butler University and a PhD in Music Performance from Michigan State University.
James Smolko, associate professor of piano at CMU, holds his bachelor of music degree from the Cleveland Institute of Music, the Master of Music degree from the University of Kansas and the Master of Arts degree from Eastern Illinois University. He has also studied piano at the University of Michigan with Gyorgy Sandor and at the Royal Academy of Music in London with Hilda Dederich. He has been a faculty member of the University of Kansas and the Cleveland Institute of Music. He performs solo and ensemble programs at various colleges and communities, is the pianist of CMU's Central Arts Trio and is on the summer faculty of the International Institute for Chamber Music in Munich, Germany. He has recorded for CRI with the New York Brass Quintet.

Thumb Choral group slates 2 concerts

Thumb Cantate Chorale will present concerts at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, March 7 at Cross Lutheran Church, Pigeon and at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, March 9 at Unionville Moravian Church.
The March 7 concert will observe World Day of Prayer in the Pigeon area.
The Chorale will sing psalm and general text anthems in their opening set, followed by a second set of Lenten and Easter texts. Some works being performed are: "An Easter Chant" by Gordon Young, "God's Son Has Made Me Free" by Grieg-Overby, "In Thee, O Lord" by Jane Marshall, "When I Awake" by Ronald Nelson and "Glory Be to Him" by John Frederic Peter, a Moravian composer.
Chorale members come from Western Thumb area churches and represent various denominations, including Lutheran, United Methodist and Moravian. The Cantate Chorale has been in existence for four years and seeks to sing classical choral music on a regular basis.
Wanda Eichler, Pigeon First UMC, directs the chorale with A.J. Strieter of Unionville Moravian Church serving as assistant director. Heidi Stecker, Immanuel Lutheran, Sebewaing, is accompanist with Shirley Nusz, Pigeon First UMC, as assistant. Pastor Raymond E. Orth, Cross Lutheran Church, Pigeon, serves as organizer for the group.

Notify P-A for Easter services

Pastors of area churches are asked to notify The Progress-Advance of any special Holy Week services. Dates and times of services should be sent to or dropped off at the Progress-Advance office by March 21 for publication March 26.

LJH Band earns top rating

The Laker Junior High Band, under the direction of Bill Denbrock, earned a first division rating last Saturday in the Class C division of the Michigan School Band & Orchestra Association Festival hosted by Laker School District. The event included 16 Class D schools and three Class C schools. The bands were rated by three judges in the area of prepared concert selections and by another judge in the area of sight-reading skills. Ratings range from a top first division to a low of fifth division. The Laker Junior High Band, along with the other bands earning first division ratings at the district level, are eligible to advance to statewide competition on May 2 and 3

Goshen College earns high mark!

National acclaim has come to Goshen College again, with the current item of U.S. News & World Report listing it among "America's best colleges."
The listing in the Nov. 25 issue was compiled from a survey of 788 college and university presidents. They rated Goshen College among the top 33 "smaller, comprehensive institutions" in the country. The only other Indiana college so ranked was St. Mary's of South Bend.
Other liberal arts colleges with national reputations for selectivity were listed in a separate category. Indiana colleges in this category are DePauw, Earlham and Wabash.

The U.S. News ranking follows national recognition for Goshen College from other sources. In October the New York Times education editor called Goshen College one of 221 "best buys in college education." Then the Great Lakes Colleges Association ranked GC 42nd nationally in percentage of graduates who earn doctorates in the life sciences.
In the report on "America's Best Colleges," the magazine asked presidents to choose the top five undergraduate schools from a list of colleges and universities similar to his or her own.
In making their selection, presidents were asked to consider such factors as strength of curriculum, quality of teaching, relationship between faculty and students and the atmosphere for learning.
The best undergraduate schools, states the article, "are those that insist their students be educated broadly." It added, "The importance given to such curricula by the nation's leading educators takes on special significance in a year in which many colleges have been criticized for letting students major in job-related disciplines without requiring meaningful exposure to the arts and sciences."
Earlier, U.S. News had noted GC's international education program in an Aug. 12 article entitled "Hot New Export Item: U.S. Education."
Goshen College offers majors in 33 fields of study to its 863 full-time students. Founded in 1894, it is owned and operated by the Menomonee Church.

Don't Just Cover Up The Symptom

Get Rid Of The Cause!

There are many methods of obtaining relief—some are lasting and some are temporary. Lasting relief can be accomplished only by getting rid of the cause. Temporary relief can be given with drugs, medication, and some types of therapy; but basically, it does not get rid of the cause. If you find a hole in an apple, covering the hole will not prevent another hole from appearing because "the hole is only a symptom" that something is wrong. In the same respect, taking a drug to get rid of pain does not prevent pain from recurring because "pain is only a symptom" that something is wrong.
