Japanese TV crew visits Bay Port

By RICH SWARTENDRUBER

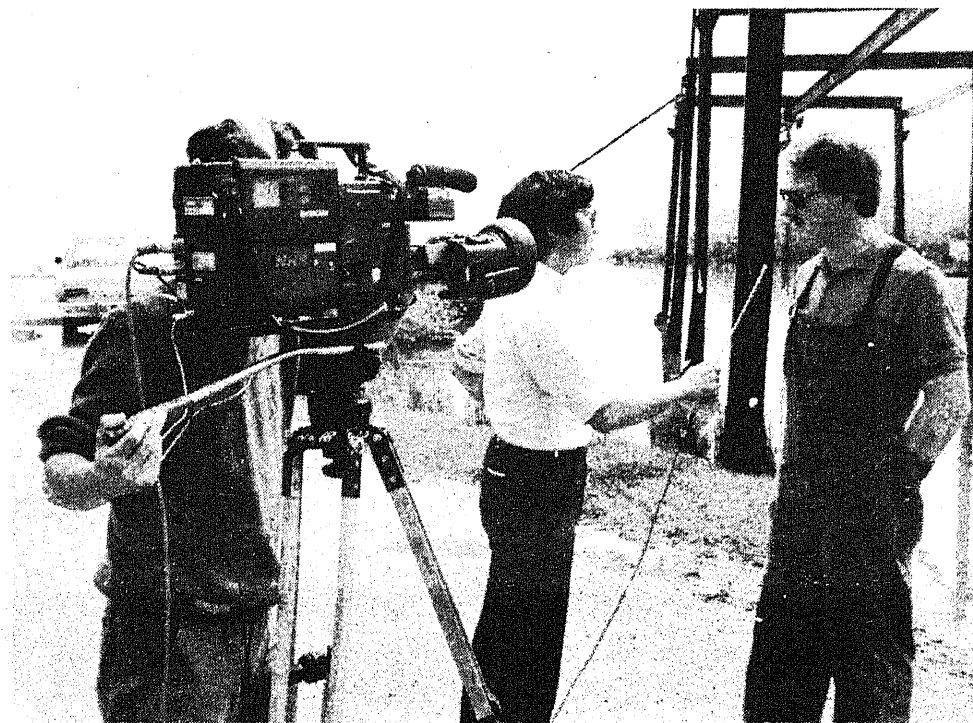

It's not often the Thumb area receives international attention, but last Thursday a Japanese camera crew visited Bay Port Fish Company. The videotape will be used in a television documentary about water quality in freshwater lakes to be aired in Japan, according to Nobuaki Senbon, TV Director of Japan Broadcasting Corporation.

The foreign network is similar to America's Public Broadcasting Network, Senbon says.

Bay Port Fish Company owner Forrest Williams and several customers (who happened to purchase fish while the foreign newsmen were there) were interviewed on camera. Questions largely centered on how much fish is eaten and the effects of pollution on freshwater fish.

The Japanese documentary is only part of the reason the newsmen are visiting Michigan. The crew also sent news reports by satellite back to Japan about the World Conference on Large Lakes which was conducted May 18-21 on Mackinac Island. The conference focused on preventing toxic contamination of large lakes in the world.

on research on Lake Biwa, which has a surface area of 674 square kilometers in the midsection of that country. Water quality of that body of water is closely watched because it serves as the source of drinking water for several cities including Japan's second largest city, Osaka.

Senbon said Lake Biwa's

major problem is eutrophication, a situation in which algae is too abundant. That problem was also experienced in the Great Lakes until the use of phosphates was curtailed, noted Williams. The phosphates contributed to excess algae growth.

The Japanese are also concerned with toxic contamination, which prompted the television crew to film interviews with sport-fishermen, a fish market in Chicago and a university professor in East Lansing. A visit to Midland also explored the effect of Dow Chemical Company on dioxin levels of fish.

Pink slips coming for EPBP teachers

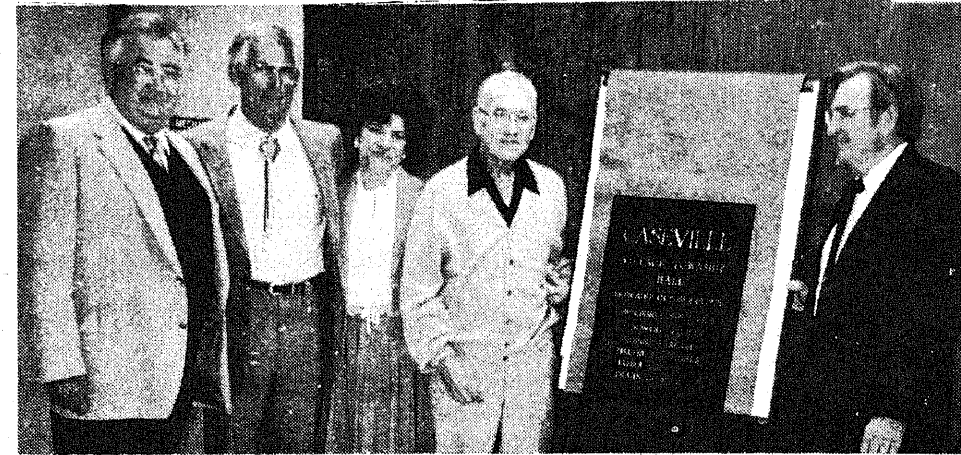

By RICH SWARTENDRUBER

After the first round of procedures to reduce the number of teachers in the Laker School District, eight instructors don't yet have full schedules for the 1986-87 school year. Other actions will be taken, however to reduce the number of teachers who receive lay-off notices before the end of the present school year, according to Laker Superintendent Harry Brunet and Business Manager Bob Drury.

"There's a good chance that we'll have some pink-slipped teachers," admitted Brunet. He said administrators are working together with Laker Education Association representatives to keep the number of lay-offs to the lowest possible level, while following the procedures outlined in the Laker master teacher contract.

The staff reduction has become necessary due to

No slide show set at Laker Graduation

Due to a misunderstanding, last week's Progress-Advance incorrectly reported a slide show would be presented at Laker Commencement.

A similar presentation by Redford Maust was presented at last year's Laker Graduation, but is only to be presented at the Junior-Senior Prom this year, according to Laker High Principal James Ballard. He noted last year's presentation was a "one-time only" event.

As reported, Maust is scheduled to present a similar slide show at the Unionville-Sebewaing High School Commencement.

Caseville hosts bowfishermen

CASEVILLE — Officials arranging the Great Lakes Bowfishing Championship at Caseville Saturday and Sunday, May 31 and June 1, are predicting double last year's team participation, when 37 teams of 2 men each participated.

A local sponsor is Beadle Bay Marina, site of the start, finish and weigh in for bowhunting activities.

They said that 15,000 pounds of rough fish were taken in last year's championship. Social activities will start Friday night at a planning session, which will include free refreshments, smoked fish, and other treats. On Saturday night there will be a chicken barbecue with music, and the awards ceremonies and prize drawings on Sunday.

In 1985 the average team shot more than 400 pounds of fish in 2 days, with the winning team of Judd Hill and Don Bessler of New Carlisle, IN, bringing in 1292 pounds. For quick response, anyone desiring more information or requesting entry forms is invited to phone 313-755-5060.

Women's camp prompts public opposition

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER
Your group is not welcome in Huron County. That was the message repeatedly voiced Friday at a public informational meeting with the new owners of a campground near Owendale, formerly known as Pigeon River Campground.

The facility, now named Camp Whatyawanabe, is now open as a private club for women only, ages 18 and above. New owners are eight women who formed a corporation named Women in New Dimensions, Inc.

The meeting was called by the camp owners due to hostility from the community, which first became aware of the group by reading copies of an ad for the camp which appeared in a Detroit area magazine.

The ad — which spread like wildfire all over Huron County — bills Camp Whatyawanabe "for lesbians only, owned and operated by lesbians." The owners confirmed the ad is part of a two-page announcement for the camp which appeared in Detroit.

"The reason that ad was worded in the way it was is that it was in a publication that is aimed at gay individuals, both male and female. And we wanted to make it very clear that we were welcoming the gay women and not the gay men," explained the group's advertising director. Ads for the camp in other publications don't use the word "lesbian," she added.

Although the five representatives from the camp admitted they were lesbians, an effort was made to downplay that aspect of the camp.

"All of our members are not gay," said part owner and Executive Director Chris Emmons. "(The camp) is not something that is lesbian-oriented. It is woman-oriented."

The camp owners say they are professional businesswomen in the Detroit area and the advertising director said she suspects business competitors are responsible for sending copies of the ad to people in the Thumb area. She did not dispute the content of the ad, however.

The meeting was called by camp owners who received numerous threatening phone calls recently.

"We have had bomb threats and threats by people to come and burn our buildings down," said the advertising director. Calls to the camp are now being recorded and reviewed by the State Police, she added.

Among the more than 100 people at the meeting, only one local woman spoke out in support of the group. All other comments directed at the camp owners registered disapproval of homosexuality and location of such a camp in the Thumb area.

Several people quoted scripture that addressed homosexuality, which prompted Emmons to say she considered herself to be a Christian.

"I'm not here to judge anyone and I don't expect anyone else to judge me," she stated.

OBSERVATIONS BY PUBLISHER MARK RUMMEL AND ANYBODY ELSE HE CAN GET TO WRITE 'EM!
WORD TO THE WISE — So our employees are able to enjoy this Monday's observance of Memorial Day, we are moving up deadlines for our next (May 28) edition. All news copy and pictures must be received by Editor Rich Swartzendruber by 12 noon this Friday. And, Ad Manager Deb McBride should have all ads by the same 12 noon deadline Friday.

AUTOWORLD BLUES — The downtown Flint theme park AutoWorld should be expecting a huge crowd this Memorial Day weekend. It should be, if the park were open. Financial difficulties have forced the closing of the park — which cost $72 million to build three years ago. Now, it's worth about $18 million for tax purposes.

And, at least $334,000 in subsidies will be required this year ($460,000 in 1987) just to get it to reopen — meaning Flint residents will be paying for the park, open or not, if something doesn't happen soon. That's the chance you take, unfortunately.

I honestly believe a theme park could do well in a mid-Michigan area like this. Maybe they've got to change the focus of it (adding more rides, for starters) to get AutoWorld rolling again.

HANDS ACROSS AMERICA — This Sunday at 3 p.m. (EDT), an estimated 6 million Americans are needed to form a human chain from Los Angeles through Dallas, to Memphis, to Chicago, to Toledo, to Washington D.C., and on to New York — to take a stand against hunger and homelessness.

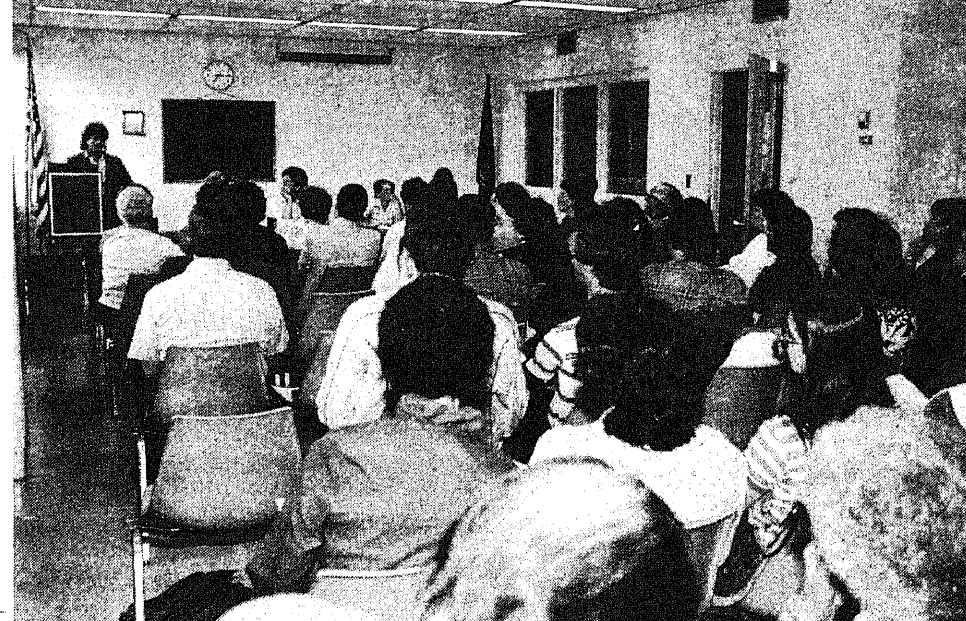

Persons who wish to stand in line can (quickly) call 1-800-USA-9000 for details in this fund-raising effort. The 4000-mile effort will try to raise millions of dollars and is co-chaired by Bill Cosby, Kenny Rogers, Pete Rose and Lily Tomlin.

MORE FAME — Two more area folks have been recognized in big city newspapers for their efforts. Lillian Jackson Braun of Bad Axe had a good review of her newest book, "The Cat Who Saw Red," in the Bay City Times recently. On a more somber note, Bad Axe farmer Melvin Gingrich was featured in Sunday's Detroit Free Press for his "marginal" farming status — so common here today. The Free Press will be coming back to him in a few weeks, to see how things are coming. Great newspapering idea...

LEADER: Camp Executive Director Chris Emmons answers questions.

CONCERNED CROWD: A group of over 100 Huron County residents voiced strong disapproval of the private women's club being located at the former Pigeon River Campground. Only local resident spoke in support of the camp during the two-hour meeting.

Most people in attendance predicted future efforts to persuade the new owners to sell out and leave.

"This is a Christian, Bible-believing community and that's why we're here tonight. This is morally offensive to us. It goes against our grain and everything we believe in," said one lady at the meeting.

"It's going to be an on-going agitation in the community. I hope you understand what you're in for. We would hope you would reconsider (operating the camp)," said Bad Axe Free Methodist pastor Harvey Fry, one of several ministers in attendance.

"We're not going anywhere," said Emmons about the group's resolve to operate the camp in the Thumb area. Early in the meeting, Emmons said her group hoped, "To become a productive part of the community."

The owners also stated they were involved in benefits and fundraisers in the Detroit area and hoped to do the same in the Thumb.

"How can you benefit a community that doesn't want you here," questioned one person.

Huron County Sheriff Richard Stokan in attendance at the meeting said, "I think what the group is really trying to tell you is that in a metropolitan area, this type of thing may be acceptable. But in Huron County, it is not an acceptable thing for those of us who live here."

fish comes from the freshwater lake, an estimated 90% is netted from the ocean. Although a large fishing fleet is based there, fish must be imported to meet the demand of the Japanese people. For that reason, sushi (raw fish) is much more expensive in Japan than in the U.S., where the unusual dish is gaining popularity, says Senbon. Coincidentally, while Japanese television reporters were exploring local water quality, dioxin level in Great Lakes fish was again brought to public attention last week.

An Environmental Protection Agency report which was sent to state officials, warned of unacceptable dioxin levels in fish from various Great Lakes sources. DNR Surface Water Quality officials, however, were unconcerned. Much of the EPA report data is based on fish samples collected three years ago, reports one DNR official.

Williams emphasized there is no dioxin problem with fish handled by the Bay Port Fish Company. As he pointed out to the Japanese newsmen, the Food and Drug Administration conducts tests on fish netted at Bay Port at least three times per year.

"If you look at all the actual data, there is no problem. The FDA would shut us down right away if there was a problem," said Williams.

He speculated that the EPA report may have been released in an effort to obtain publicity for the federal agency. Such warnings, which are downplayed by other government agencies who have more recent information, could prove dangerous, says the fish company owner.

As we see it editorially

Drunk drivers WILL be stopped!

No one in our normal world really wants to cause injury or death to another. We're just not built that way - nearly everyone learns from their beginnings to care for the feelings and lives of others.

But with some unusual circumstances -- job pressures, personal frustrations, inadequacies and others -- some people mix too much alcohol or drugs within their bodies and then get behind the wheel of a 2500-lb. auto and set out on a destructive course.

During your lifetime, your chance of being killed or seriously injured in an alcohol-related crash is a surprising one in 33. That's three of every 100 -- and 3% is a bigger odd than most people really want. Winning the lottery is a one in several million chance, by comparison.

High school students are in the midst of getting primed for one of their last and most memorable times at home. Graduation is fast approaching, and too often too many people mix drinking with the natural, honest celebration at hand.

Adults must not do this in excess -- and they must certainly not allow youngsters to illegally do so either. It's not restrictiveness or old-fashionedness you're showing; it's love. Youngsters shouldn't drink because they're not ready to cope with all the elements involved.

As many adults prove, they're not ready, either.

The story about the Laker S.A.D.D. Chapter (Students Against Driving Drunk) on Page 15 this week shows what some young people are doing to increase their awareness -- and to prevent the spread of more youth injuries and fatalities, at this busy time of the year. As stated here previously, they and their leaders are to be commended for the excellent work they've done.

By working together, we as adults can push for stricter laws and work to insure that judges are elected who properly deal with mandatory jail terms for drinking drivers. This isn't an effort by a small group of "tee-totalers," such drivers must be stopped by a groundswell of persons from all viewpoints.

After all, who truly can accept the actions of a drinking driver?

There's no other person who can do this for you as well as you yourself. Stay informed, talk with others and work to see that persons who choose to drink do not choose to drive. One mistake in this direction can certainly be deadly.

RECOLLECTIONS OF By-Gone Days

By GEORGE KEIM

DEAR EDITOR:

I wrote a long time ago that I had "auctonitis." Well, I still have it. If there's an auction sale within easy driving distance and if I'm not doing anything more important, I like to go to meet friends and see what's going on.

People ask me what I do with the stuff I get. I tell them I've found a little more room in my chicken coop or that I moved some hay in my barn, so I've got more room!

I read in a paper some time ago that a certain family living close by a river had a garage full of stuff. One morning, they woke up and found the river had risen so high that their garage floated away -- and all their stuff floated away, too.

They got their garage back, but all that stuff disappeared, so they had room to start all over again!

Well, I'm not living close to a river, but if I had a sale and nobody came or if they didn't buy anything, I'd feel bad. So I try to keep everybody happy. And besides, the auctioneers have such a job getting rid of the stuff that they wouldn't want to sell it again.

I was at a sale south of Elkton once. It was a very nice day and I saw more people I didn't know than I knew. A lot of people called me by name, and I didn't know their names. But that didn't matter, because I can talk to anybody and I don't have to know their names.

Once in a while, some young person will say they don't just exactly go along with I write, so I just ask them if they were there. And if they can't prove I'm wrong, either ask someone or believe it and keep still! At that auction, I met an old friend, Carl Gross. I've known him a long time. I met him in Pigeon way back, when everybody went to town on Saturday night. Anyway, we were at the jewelry wagon bidding on stuff and watching it sell. I bought a box of jewelry and set it down. A middle-aged man came along and started to go through it. I just watched him and he gave it a good going over. There was a box in it with a tight lid on, and he tried to open it.

Well, there was a man standing by who told him that box was sold, but he didn't stop until he had gone through everything. Then he went to other boxes and opened the dresser drawers and really looked things over.

Now I'm a good natured person, but if I ever felt like slapping somebody's fingers, I did that time!

Well, I bought a few things and sold a few. After the sale, the auctioneer got me some ice tea and a hot dog and that snapper got some tea, too.

I've gotten some good deals at sales and I've gotten beat pretty bad, too. In Prov. 20:14 it says, "It is naught, it is naught sayeth the buyer, but when he is gone his way, then he boasteth well."

That's the way of auction sales. Never brag how cheaply you got something, because if someone else had bid, you'd have had to pay more -- or let it go. As old Tom Stahlbaum used to say, "friendship ceases at an auction sale."

SINCERELY YOURS,
GEORGE KEIM

ROSES AND THORNS

Mothers' Day 1986

BY MARK KARLS

I can very vividly remember that cold January morning in 1956 when I stumbled out of bed, came downstairs and found my parents in prayer. It was not uncommon to find my parents at prayer. But this time was different. Even a nine year old kid could understand that something was wrong -- dreadfully wrong.

The whole country was rocked that day by the news that sometime in the late afternoon of Jan. 6, five American missionaries were killed by a savage tribe of headhunters known as the Auca Indians in the eastern jungles of Ecuador, South America. President Eisenhower had already dispatched troops to the jungle area to recover the bodies and display a show of force to the murderers.

It was just 8 1/2 years later that I began my freshman year at a Christian school just west of Chicago, known as Wheaton College. Wheaton's President was retiring in December of that year (1964) and addressed the 1800-member student body on many occasions during daily chapel. It seemed that hardly a speech from him went by without reference to the five young missionary martyrs of eight years earlier in South America.

Four of the five missionaries -- Nate Saint, Ed McCully, Pete Fleming and Jim Elliot -- were from Wheaton College and Wheaton's Prexy remembered and loved them as sons. Indeed, my freshman year was spent living in Saint Hall, just across from Elliot Hall. The football stadium was known as McCully Field and the soccer area as Fleming Field.

The point here is that most of us naive college students never knew these saints and had little appreciation for the depth of what they had done. Prexy's continual references to them began to wear thin and we students made light of the whole issue. We even referred to our school as "Wheaties: Breakfast of the Aucas!" -- with apologies to Bob Richards and the famous breakfast cereal.

It is with much shame for refusing to learn as a college freshman -- but with much sensitivity that enough reference to a good thing is enough -- that I want to share what happened on Mothers' Day.

For years now as a pastor I have had a difficult time justifying a man in the pulpit on Mothers' Day. Many mothers agreed that a mother sharing on Mothers' Day was an important idea, but none of these mothers agreed to be the ones to share. After years of asking, I finally gave up on the idea.

While preparing for this year's Mothers' Day sermon, it was evident I was getting nowhere. Three days before Mothers' Day I went to God in frustration and asked why no inspiration was jelling into a sermon. He seemed to say, "Of all the people in this whole community, who at this point in time would command the most attention on the theme of motherhood?"

Well, this was a tough question. Obviously, a mother was the answer, but which mother? I began to reason what made motherhood so unique? After all, many men are taking on traditional motherhood roles and women are doing the same with fatherhood roles. What is there about motherhood that only mothers can accomplish?

Well, bringing life into this world is something only mothers can do. Then these words of Dale Wertz rang clear in my memory, "I really hurt for the loss of our son, Rod, but I will never know the depth of the hurt Floris must be experiencing because she is the one who carried him for nine months and brought him into this world."

With that inspiration I called Floris and asked if she would like to share her reflections of motherhood during the sermon -- taking the whole sermon if the Lord so led. I thought she would be stunned. But I was the one stunned when she replied, "Funny you should mention it." She had already penned words of inspiration and more was coming.

Floris gave a packed message on motherhood to a packed house that morning. It became clear that much of what she was saying needed to be heard by more than Salem church. So I asked if parts of her talk could be reproduced in her column over the next few weeks. With her and Dale's permission the next few weeks will consist of a mother's perspective on the uniqueness of motherhood -- as told by one who has brought life into this world and has seen it taken in its prime.

My hope is that we are not milking too much of a good thing. It is not natural for most folk to aspire to submission as student for the sake of learning. We shall see.

Something To Think About

JOHN A. CHAMPAGNE
DIRECTOR
GRIEF UPON AGING

As you grow older, it is normal to become acutely aware of the deaths of your contemporaries. Identifying with friends and people of the same age who die is only natural. Sometimes when we grieve for them, we are also in part grieving for ourselves.

In addition to the deaths of friends and possibly of one's spouse, there are a myriad of other losses which also require some grief work. These other losses might include declining health and sensory acuity, financial or physical dependence, loss of self-esteem, loss of the satisfactions of employment, geographical and emotional distance from children and grandchildren, and diminishing pleasure from previously favored pastimes.

Most important may be the loss of one's personal support system (family the has moved away, friends deceased or disabled) to help with their grief. That is why it is so important for those who remain to deliver extra help and care.

Herfords celebrate 40 married years

Mr. and Mrs. Welland Herford

Grace and Welland Herford of Elkton were surprised with a dinner celebration in honor of their 40th wedding anniversary on Saturday, May 10. Grace and Welland were escorted to the Hitching Post Restaurant, Elkton, by John Maurer of Ubyly in his 1931 Ford Coupe. A bouquet of yellow roses, red tulips, white and yellow mums and baby's breath decorated the table and yellow roses were pinned on the happy couple. Punch was served and a memorable meal was enjoyed by all the guests. A large chocolate cake decorated with roses and carnations completed the dinner. Grace McPhee and Welland Herford were united in marriage on May 11, 1946 in the Chandler Presbyterian Church by Rev. Marshall Simpson. The maid of honor was Mrs. Karl Lehman (Ira Palmer) of Farmington and bridesmaid was Mrs. Robert Meadows of Dearborn Heights. Best man was Ed Herford of Elkton and groomsmen were George McPhee of Pinnebog. The Herfords now reside at the northern limits of the Village of Elkton. The celebration was hosted by the couple's children and their families, Jean Herford of Lansing, Janis Ruggetta of Solon, Ohio, Bill and Jim Herford of Elkton and Sherry Winger of Taylor. The Herfords have nine grandchildren.

Thanks A Million

By PERCY ROSS

DEAR MR. ROSS:
 Two years ago I was finishing my seminary training to become a priest. I became severely depressed and instead of continuing my training, I was sent to a therapeutic community for religious clergy members. The biggest and bravest decision I've made is not to proceed with my ordination and plans. It was a hard decision, but I had to be honest with myself, regardless of what others might think or say. I'm now working as a security guard in addition to another part-time job, while I continue my therapy. I'm hoping to find a better job and that's where my need comes in. I don't have any decent clothes to wear to a job interview. All my old clothes are too big for me and most are basic black. I don't even own a sport coat. Mr. Ross, I'm very proud of how far I've come in facing personal challenges and starting a new life. But no one will hire me as long as I look like a shabby, antiquated ex-priest. Would it be too much to ask for some help to buy a suit of clothes? — D.P., San Jose, Calif.

DEAR MR. Q:
 I most certainly know what you mean... which explains why this reply comes without a check. — $$$$$$$$$$

DEAR MR. ROSS:
 My recreation is feeding and watching wild birds. At 79, I have chronic heart failure with complications, so it has become increasingly difficult to get around. Feeding the birds has been my only incentive to get up and out of bed due to my ill-health. I try to get by on my SS check, but my medicine is $100 a month and there's no way I can stretch it to buy bird feed. I can't bear for them to go hungry. Could you please help me purchase some sunflower seeds? You have no idea how grateful I'd be for your help. — Mrs. B.W., Dayton, Ohio.

DEAR MR. P:

Bringing the courtroom to the classroom

Sloan Jackson may be a fictional character, but Lakers own Ken Ziel gave Sloan life in the fourth annual Mock Trial Tournament held Saturday, May 10 at the City-Country Building in Detroit.

The eight member-three alternate Laker team competed against 29 schools from around the state.

The Michigan Mock Trial Tournament is sponsored by the University of Detroit Law School and the Michigan Law Related Education Project. According to Laker teacher-sponsor Lisa DiCamillo, "The high school students take on the roles of defendant, witnesses and prosecuting and defense attorneys. Everyone has a role to play and they try the case before authentic judges and lawyers."

Pigeon attorney David Clabuesch was legal advisor to the Laker team for his second year. Clabuesch helped the student attorneys develop a case both for and against "Sloan Jackson," who was accused of stealing a shirt from Famous Fashions, a store in Merchandise Mall. He advised students on proper courtroom procedure and set-up a practice trial in Bad Axe on Thursday, May 8 before Prosecutor Karl Krause, who acted as judge for the morning session.

The Laker students tied in their prosecution performance against Plymouth Christian Academy and lost their defense case against Camden Frontier. The top four teams at the end of competition were Troy High School, Plymouth Canton, Ida and Kalamazoo Central.

The prosecution team consisted of attorneys Tim

Tyler, a junior and veteran from last year's team and a newcomer, sophomore Matt Sheldon. Famous Fashions store manager was Heather Pudney, a junior and the security guard was junior Scott Smeader.

Attorney Sheldon believes that the program is a great thing. It gives you the feeling of courtroom procedures and decorum and a chance to experience what the county prosecutor goes through every day.

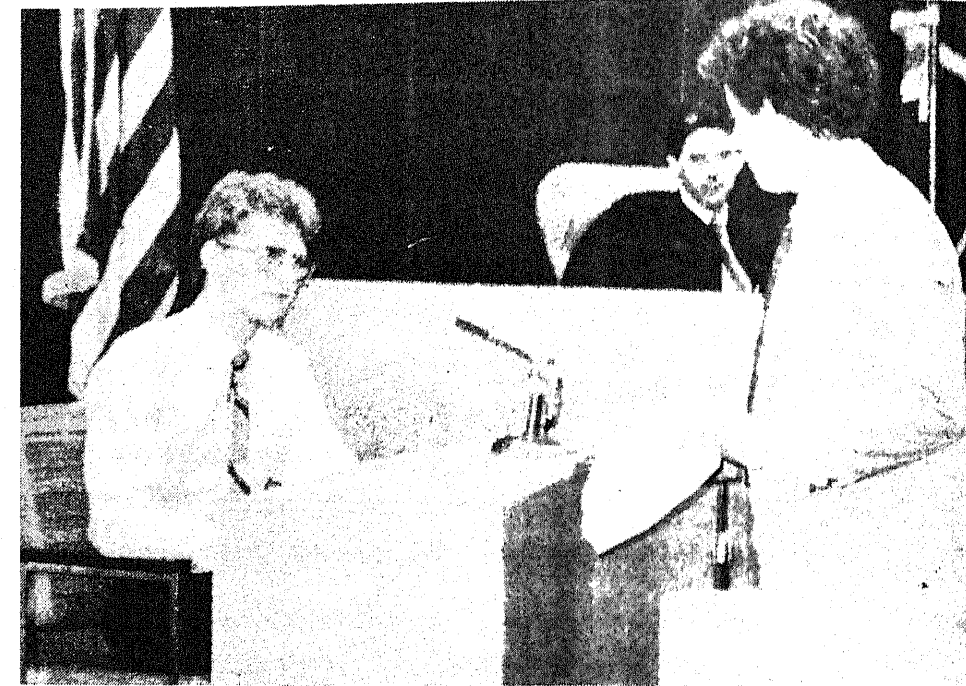

Attorney Tyler says that the Mock Trial Program teaches a person how to handle pressure situations and how to think on your feet.

The defense team included lawyers Cheryl Baur, a junior and Renee Bushey, a sophomore. Junior Ken Ziel portrayed the defendant, an accused thief. Junior Mike Kausch was a friend of "Sloan Jackson" and acted as a support witness. The three alternates for this year's team were juniors Steve Wolfram and Joe Grigg and sophomore Dave Soper.

Lake levels up, up, UP!

DETROIT — The record-high levels for Lakes Michigan-Huron at the end of April was about 2 inches above what it was a year ago, and 4 inches above one month ago. The end-of-April level was 580.88 feet above the mean water level at Father Point, Quebec.

That April level was about 32 inches above the longterm average and about 4 inches above the alltime monthly mean which for April, which was set in 1985, and about 65 inches above the alltime low.

Good guessers on May 6 were Championship Flight, Peg Leipprandt; first, Lois Anderson; second, Wanda Smith and third, Shirley Keating. Dody Yahn, who shot a late season score, posted two birdies. Bea Anklam, Peg Leipprandt and Jeanette Rowe had chip-ins.

April monthly mean set 22 years ago, in 1964.

The 6-month forecast of levels for Lakes Michigan-Huron shows that the lakes are expected to be above the longterm average during the next 6 months.

Forecasts state that at the end of May, Lakes Michigan-Huron will be about 3 inches above their end-of-April level. The lakes are expected to continue their seasonal rise into July, and by the end of October, 1986, are expected to be 7 inches above what they were in October, 1985.

Scenic notes

Bridge winners were Bea Ellis, Margaret Watson, Jennie DeBoer and Barbara Binder. Four tables of bridge were at play. Bridge is set for 1:30 p.m. this season.

Shakedown cruise

"Duane, what are your plans for the weekend?" the voice on the other end of the phone asked casually.

I immediately recognized the caller to be Bill Thede, Charter Captain of the Country Bumpkin, and whenever Bill calls, it means one thing—the salmon fishing has begun on Lake Huron.

Bill proceeded to explain that he and his daughter, Kelly, were planning a fishing excursion on his new boat, and wanted to know if I would like to tag along.

"If you would like to bring a friend, you're welcome," he added. "I am just interested in working a few wrinkles out of my new boat, and would love to have some fishing company."

I had fished with Bill a couple of times last year, and knew he was planning to get rid of his 22' SeaRay, in favor of a brand new boat built in Romeo. Last fall, I passed by Bill's house and saw the red and gray craft perched on a massive trailer while he loaded it with various pieces of electronic equipment. A chance to fish the shakedown cruise on this new vessel would be a thrill indeed, and I readily made plans to meet him in Harbor Beach the following morning.

If I had been eager to accept Bill's fishing invitation, my boss Jim Ballard was just as eager to fill in the second spot, and informed me that he had been on a couple of trips with friends and had yet to land a fish. I assured him that fishing with Bill would be different, and as usual, Bill didn't let me down.

We arrived at the docks at 7 am to find Bill and Kelly already on the boat and the engine warming up. I remarked to Jim that this was the way to fish, grabbed a daypack stuffed with an extra hat and sweater, and locking the truck, jumped aboard. The lines were cast and Bill eased his new craft into the stream of boats heading for the breakwall.

Bill's new boat is a 25' Cherokee Brave that sports a 10' beam. Built with fishing in mind, it has very conceivable convenience, and before the trip was over I secretly named it the electric fishing platform, for that's what it reminded me of. Once outside the breakwall, Kelly manned the wheel and Bill set up 5 down-riggers and a long line. He used body baits on all 6 lines for this time of the year the salmon feed heavily on smelt, and body baits are supposed to resemble smelt.

Bill worked down the shoreline in a southerly direction, zig-zagging in an effort to locate a concentration of feeding fish. His fishing pattern took us into some very shallow water and as Kelly was calling out depths from the cabin, Bill was working feverishly over the electric down-riggers in an effort to keep the lures from hooking bottom.

The searching finally paid off and as we moved over a small reef the long line rod snapped to attention. Jim was elected to land the first fish and, for a novice, did an admirable job of fighting a 15-lb. King Salmon to the side of the boat. Bill deftly slipped the net beneath the thrashing fish and hoisted him over the side. Jim's fishless curse had finally been broken, and he flashed a king-sized smile as we dropped his prize into the well.

Kelly had marked the spot by lining it up with a red cottage on the shore, and after a wide swing, proceeded to bring the boat back over the area where the first fish had been caught. This time the boat ventured a little too close to shore and one of the lines snagged the bottom. Bill shouted to Kelly to take the boat around and at that instant, 2 rod tips snapped skyward.

A couple of moments of confusion followed as the 3 of us tried desperately to free the line and fight the 2 fish. In the end, we all succeeded and the fish well got a couple of Cohos to keep the King company.

During the next few hours, we managed to boat another good size King and a small Coho. We also lost a few and ended the morning with a 5 for 9 batting average.

We were back at the dock at noon, where Bill filleted the fish and Kelly took some pictures for an art project she was doing in school. As usual, a crowd gathered around to watch Bill's flashing knife, and beg him for his fish-catching secrets.

"If you ever need any help on another shakedown cruise, just let me know," I said as I accepted the plastic bag bulging with fresh salmon fillets.

"I'll give you a call," Bill said, winking.

A Pigeon resident has been accepted into a dietetic internship program at the University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics, Iowa City, Iowa.

Ann C. Shetler, daughter of Leslie and Frances Shetler of Pigeon is a 1986 graduate of Goshen (Ind.) College, where she was a foods and nutrition major. She is a 1982 graduate of Laker High School and attends Michigan Avenue Menomite Church.

She was also accepted by the dietetic internship program at the Yale University New Haven (Conn.) Hospital, but she chose the Iowa internship.

Nationally, only about 40% of those applying for dietetic internships are accepted, according to Goshen College. This was only the second year Goshen College graduates could apply for internships, because only graduates of programs approved by the American Dietetic Association may apply.

The ADA approved the Goshen College program in 1984. Since that time, all Goshen College students applying for dietetic internships have been accepted. Criteria for internship selection include total grade point average; grades in major subjects, particularly in the junior and senior years; hospital and food-service work experience and writing ability.

Acceptance into an internship is one route to becoming eligible to take the national registration examination. Dietitians who pass the examination become registered dietitians. Another route is earning a masters degree in dietetics, the school adds.

Thumb area OUTDOORS

For many, the Walleye season opener was not as spectacular as last year. The river fishermen fond the warm spring weather had warmed the water to the mid-60's thus driving most of the river spawners back into the Bay. Best results were reported from the Essexville area, especially around the launch site off Knight Road. Nearer home, some success was found off Fish Point, and a few small fish were picked up in the Lone Tree Island region.

DNR officials, pressured by the large number of river fishermen, have indicated that they may consider an earlier opener next year. This would make sure fishermen would hit the spawning run, no matter what the weather was.

The DNR, with approval of the Michigan Natural Resources Commission, has designated June 7 and 8 as free fishing days in Michigan this year. The dates were selected to coincide with National Fishing Week recently declared by President Ronald Reagan. Any persons fishing in Michigan on these 2 days will not be required to purchase a fishing license. The emphasis of this legislation is to promote one of this State's most popular and enjoyable pastimes.

If you are interested in finding out how the fishing has been in your favorite area, all you have to do is dial the DNR for a 24-hour fishing hotline number, 373-0908. This number provides anglers with information on where, how well and what kinds of fish are biting throughout the State. The hotline is updated every Friday, compiled from weekly reports by DNR District and Field fisheries biologists.

Sportsmen who drive ORV's over Michigan's 1,580 miles of woodland trails, are reminded that State law requires their vehicles be properly registered and an ORV permit purchased for each ORV vehicle. All ORV's in Michigan must be registered unless operated exclusively on lands owned or controlled by the vehicle owner, or operated exclusively in special events.

Laker S.A.D.D. attends convo

The Laker chapter of Students Against Driving Drunk (S.A.D.D.) represented SADD chapters throughout the state at the Michigan Life Savers Conference at Boyne Mountain on May 14 and 15.

The purpose of the conference, according to Karen Gulliver, Office of Highway Safety Planning Executive Director, is "to bring together individuals concerned with traffic safety topics." Attention was focused on occupant protection—safety belts, for example and alcohol countermeasures.

Laker students Tony Garza, Ray Deering, Lynn Abbe, Kelly Greene, Julie Diebel, Missy Gemmell and chapter advisor Lisa DiCamillo attended general sessions and workshops. The SADD students also operated a SADD booth at the conference and spoke to people about the SADD program and philosophy. Their booth was rated "the best at the conference," and the students will be recognized by Huron County Sheriff Stokan with a plaque in their honor.

The students also spoke with and listened to MADD Director Lee Landus, Michigan SADD Director Larry Rotta and Agnes Scott of Channel 56 in Detroit. The SADD team was seen on TV7 and 4 news out of Traverse City on May 14 at 11 p.m. and May 15 at 12 noon.

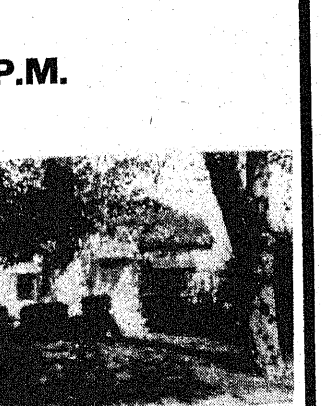

Advisor DiCamillo offers a special thanks to the Pigeon and Elkton Lions Clubs, which donated funds to allow the Laker students to attend the conference.

Co-op flag flies for Johnson

The flag over the Cooperative Elevator Company, Pigeon is flying in memory of Glenn Eric Johnson of Caseville, who died in October, 1984, aboard the U.S. Navy Carrier U.S.S. Yorktown.

He was the son of the late Evelyn Johnson of Caseville and the late Glenn M. Johnson, Prescott, formerly of Caseville. He was the brother of Mrs. Dick (Joyce) Pedler of Caseville, Mrs. Don (Peggy) Roestel of Pigeon and Mrs. Pat Gabriele of Warren.

Johnson saw action at the beginning of the Viet Nam War when the U.S.S. Yorktown oversaw the first landing of Marines in Viet Nam. Natural causes caused his death on his return trip from overseas.

ACS offers Christmas cards

Elkton artist Joy Lutz has designed a Christmas card to be used as a fund-raiser by the Huron County Unit of the American Cancer Society. It features a sketch of the lighthouse near Port Hope and was viewed by board members at the Spring meeting of the Unit held at the home of Mrs. Gerta Smith of Bad Axe. The cards will be available from ACS later in the year.

Mrs. Sally Beers presided at the meeting, reporting that 85 volunteers attended the Kick-Off Dinner and picked up packets for the Annual Cancer Crusade, which is now underway in all parts of the county. Treasurer Mrs. Geraldine Pechette announced four townships have completed the campaign. She reminds other captains to turn in funds as soon as possible.

It was reported that the Greatest Bartender Contest resulted in over $500 being raised for ACS. The Ski-A-Thon in February generated $1,000 to be used for education, research and patient services.

Upcoming special events include the ACS Golf Tournament at Scenic Golf and Country Club on July 13 and the summer quilt raffle. The quilt is now on display in Bad Axe and will be shown at various events in other towns throughout the county. It was also announced that Scott Orth will again Swim for Cancer. In August, 1985.

Ourth swam from Charity Island to Caseville, raising funds for ACS from people who pledged their support of him. He has moved from the area but has been in contact with the Unit, indicating he will return again to Swim for Cancer on Aug. 2.

Public Education Chairman Mrs. Sharon Maust told of new programs available for use by groups. She also told of the colo-rectal screening being conducted with area hospitals. Mrs. Phyllis Snider reported on her work providing school materials.

Layoffs

placement of Laker High School students at the Huron Area Skill center next fall, as well as declining student enrollment in the district at the junior and senior high levels. Next year, seventh and eighth grade classes at the Junior High will each contain less than 100 students.

Last Saturday, according to the Laker Teacher Contract, instructors chose their class assignments from a list prepared by the administration. The assignment choices were selected by teachers on the basis of seniority and certification.

After the choices were made, eight teachers from grade 7-12 level didn't have complete schedules for the coming year. Because of certification requirements, 12 classes still haven't been selected, noted Drury.

The next step in the process is labeled "Involuntary Transfers" in the contract. Some class assignments will be shuffled to allow as many of the 12 remaining classes to be taught by current teachers, Drury says.

Other options that could reduce the number of layoffs include: retirement incentives, possible employment at the Skill Center and a junior high administrative position to be filled.

"Our number one objective is to have as many of our current staff come back in September as possible. Our number two objective is to pink slip as few teachers as possible," stated Drury.

Although the number of high school electives will be switched from Lakers to the Skill Center, Brunet points out, "The meat and potatoes of the curriculum is still there."

At the present time, no teacher assignment changes or lay-offs are anticipated at the elementary level, adds Brunet.

Portrait of an accessible Savior

READ LUKE 19:28-40
As He rode along, they spread their garments on the road. Luke 19:36

Sometimes presidents or heads of government mingle with the crowds, shaking hands with as many as they can reach.

These are symbolic acts to show their accessibility to the people.

There are other ways in which those who are in high office can keep in touch with the citizens.

Centuries before, our Lord declared His accessibility to the world by riding a colt into the capital city of Jerusalem.

The slow-moving colt, the thronging crowd, the closeness of Christ to the people and they to Him -- all this proclaimed constant accessibility to all people.

He was accessible right after His transfiguration, ministering to a sick boy.

On a less impressive occasion He was available to an ailing woman who had touched His garment.

The Lord's accessibility is a reality also in our time.

The Scripture urgently invites us, "Cast all your anxieties on Him, for He cares about you" -- 1 Peter 5:7.

He cared enough to send Christ as our Savior. He is close enough that we can "throw" our problems and concerns on Him.

Christ's promise, "Lo, I am with you always," is an unflinching guarantee of His immediate accessibility.

Even before we reach out to clutch Him, His hand is extended.

Precious Savior, hold my hand as we walk together. Amen.

Spinal problems can cause health problems can be more important to take them to a doctor of chiropractic for neuro-spinal checkups.

We know that displacement of the vertebra in a child's spine takes place with much greater frequency than suspected.

Even newborn babies are not immune as subluxations may occur during delivery. Seldom does an infant reach the age of two years without a fall from a chair, bed, or sofa onto his head and neck. As the child grows older and becomes more active, his spine is subjected to a greater degree of minor injury and stress resulting from rough playing and falls. The physical force suffered by the spine in these "little accidents" frequently displace the vertebrae.

Inasmuch as your child's body is incapable of restoring the subluxated vertebrae to its normal position, varying degrees of impairment in nerve function and expression of vital nerve energy exists within his body at all times. This in turn inhibits normal function, lowers resistance and makes your child susceptible to illness.

The detection and correction of subluxation of spinal vertebrae requires the knowledge and skill of a doctor of chiropractic. With gentle hands he will safely restore displaced vertebrae to normal position.

PARENTS IGNORE CHILDREN'S SPINE

Parents as a matter of course, take their children to medical physicians and to the dentist; but they don't seem to realize that it

Recent research studies suggest that spinal subluxations have their origin during the birth process due to excessive turning and forceful extension of the head.

Dr. Abraham Towbin, M.D., neuropathologist at Harvard Medical School has researched and proven that over 90% of all stillborn infant deaths and over 90% of babies who died from sudden infant death (SIDS), sustained spinal cord injury as a result of obtaining a spinal subluxation during the delivery process.

Thank you for the very true story about young people goofing off and dying. It happens. And, mixing alcohol into all this is even worse. Signed, a much concerned Mom.

Any one who has not yet received an invitation to the 1976 10-year Laker Class Reunion, please call 453-2563.

We just recently drove around the lake to Tawas City. Why is it our beach area is so junky with trailers, trash, etc., here around Caseville? Their shoreline area is beautiful, as ours should be.

No one has yet explained it to me properly, but why do we in town have to pay to have post office boxes, yet in the country they get mail delivered free? I know they have to buy their mailboxes, but that's just one time. I'd do that in town, if they'd let me.

We really enjoyed the Hospital Benefit dinner. The food was delicious, the entertainment excellent and it was the smoke-free atmosphere that let us truly enjoy our evening!

You'd have caught those three big fish if you'd gone to church that day and reached out to help someone...

This is to B.E., a real babe. I think you're the most cutest boy in the Junior High and I like you very much. From your secret admirer, XXXX.

Wouldn't it have been better to use money to improve our bad sidewalks, and where there's none, to continue constructing new ones, to improve our town?

The person who called about seeing an incident at the corner of Sturm and Dunn Roads never was in Europe, especially France. This happens there all the time.

Dave and Kathy and little PD, welcome to parent-hood and our world!

Relating to that "relieving" event at Dunn and Sturm Roads recently, which some people witnessed, remember this truth: when you've got to go, you've got to go...

Those persons who complain about people singing off key in church; at least we're singing. If we were all perfect (like you, apparently) none of us would even need church, right?

Caseville friend: We wouldn't have to lie to each other as much if we both treated each other fairly. Try being more honest, all the time.

Local 4'Hers exhibit photography

Jill Kasserman of Elkton, Cathy Roggenback of Harbor Beach and Melissa Engel of Minden City were among 72 Michigan 4'Hers selected to exhibit their photography work in the 1986 Michigan 4-H Traveling Photography Exhibit.

"The exhibit is designed to recognize 4-H members' achievements and to stimulate interest in taking photos," says County Extension Director Robert Johnson.

The exhibit includes 75 photographs taken by 4-H members ranging in age from 9-18 years. A mixture of animals, landscapes, people and still-life subjects are featured in the photos.

Selection of photos for the exhibit was based on composition, light exposure, interest and the photographer's statements explaining their inspirations, Johnson says.

Lakers smash competition to win regional title

A determined Laker tennis team earned a regional championship and a trip to state competition. On their own courts last Saturday, Lakers piled up 16 points to outdistance runner-up Bay City All Saints with 12, regional favorite Whittemore-Prescott with 11, Bad Axe with five, Reese with three and Marlette with 0.

Regional winners for Lakers were: Randy Heckman in First Flight Singles, 6-2, 7-5; Jeff Sturm in Second Singles, 6-7, 7-6, 7-5; and Jeff Rosenthal/Steve Deneen in Third Doubles, 6-1, 3-6, 6-3.

Kendall Wertz was runner-up in Third Singles, losing in the finals 1-6, 7-5, 6-4. Other Laker flight runners-up were: Oliver Grandpierre/Dan Bivens, losing in First Doubles finals 6-2, 6-1, and Chris Williams/Jay Anthes, losing in Second Doubles finals, 3-6, 6-0, 7-5.

In Fourth Singles, Laker's Tony Garza lost in the semi-finals, 6-3, 6-1.

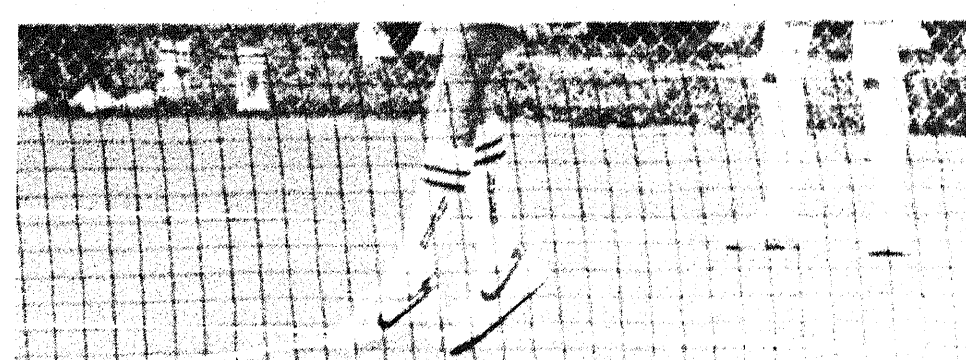

Laker coach Dick Pauly called the regional title, "Something we were shooting for but didn't expect."

"Realistically, if we could have two or three flights win in the first round, that would be icing on the cake," added Pauly about the state tournament scheduled for May 30 at Holland.

Lakers wrapped up their regular season last week with a pair of victories to finish with a perfect 11-0 record in duel matches. In addition to the regional title, Laker netters also won their own Invitational Tournament and the Yale Doubles Invitational.

Last week, Heckman, Sturm, Wertz and Garza were singles winners in a 7-0 shut-out of Armada. Doubles winners for Lakers were Grandpierre/Bivens, Williams/Anthes and Rosenthal/Deneen.

Laker winners in a 6-1 victory over Bullock Creek were Heckman, Sturm, Wertz, Garza, Williams/Anthes and Rosenthal/Deneen.

Eagle nine stays one step ahead of CPS in NCTDL baseball race

The high flying Eagle baseball team stayed one game ahead of Carsonville - Port Sanilac in the North Central Thumb D League after sweeping a pair of double-headers last week.

Last Monday, Caseville upended Kingston 12-2 and 10-9, then pounded Owendale - Gageton 23-5 and 15-2 last Wednesday.

Ray Johnson posted six strike-outs and allowed only three hits to earn the win for Caseville in the opener against Kingston. He received plenty of help at the plate from Bob Siegfried who tripled, doubled and singled to drive in five runs for the Eagles. Tony Seagraves also chipped in three singles in as many trips to the plate.

Caseville scored five runs in the bottom of the seventh and final inning to record a comeback victory in the nightcap.

Eagle starting pitcher Seagraves struck out 10 Cardinal batters, but also gave up seven runs in six innings on the mound. Pete Delmotte hurled the seventh inning and was credited with the victory.

Seagraves drove in three runs with a triple and single while Bruce Langley tripled and John Winkler doubled for the winners.

The only mercy Caseville showed in the first game against Owen-Gage, was ending the lopsided 23-5 contest after five innings.

Ray Johnson was the winning Caseville hurler as he fanned eight while giving up three hits in the game.

Delmotte doubled and singled and Bruce Langley doubled to pace Eagle hitters.

In the rematch, Seagraves struck out 13 of the Bulldog batters he faced as he recorded a one hit victory.

Siegfried again led Caseville at the plate with a triple and four RBI's. Winkler added a double as one of the 14 Eagle hits in the victory.

Caseville enters play this week with an 11-1 league record and a 17-2 overall mark.

Outnumbered Eagles earn respect

With just a handful of team members, the Caseville boys' track squad managed to place fifth in the nine-team NCTDL meet last Tuesday at the Laker High track. Akron-Fairgrove won the meet with 166 points, followed by Deckerville with 94, CPS with 86, Kingston with 63, Caseville with 44, North Huron with 42, Owen-Gage with 21, Peck with 12 and Port Hope with 0.

Caseville's Brett Owens won the 800 meter run (2:11.45), Greg Langley placed third in shot put and fourth in 100 dash and Bruce Langley placed fourth in the Long Jump. The Eagle 400 relay team placed second and the 1600 relay team finished fourth.

Erin Barton placed fourth in the 200 meter dash in the girls' division to avoid a Caseville shutout.

Winning the girls' meet was Akron-Fairgrove with 200 points followed by Kingston with 63, North Huron with 59, CPS and Peck, each with 49, Deckerville with 39, Owen-Gage with 16, Port Hope with 12 and Caseville with four.

Lakers lose no-hitter as Spartans walk to win

Walks hurt the Laker softball team in 13-6 and 12-2 losses to Imlay City last Thursday.

Rhonda Baur was the losing Laker pitcher in the opener, giving up six hits and six walks.

Deanne Deming thumped a triple and single for Lakers in a losing cause.

Laker hurler Shelly Henne lost a no-hitter, 12-2 by walking 13 Imlay City batters. She posted three strike-outs in the game.

Two singles were all Laker hitters could manage against the Spartans in the nightcap.

Lakers are now 3-8-1 in Thumb B play, and 6-12 overall.

Caseville slipped back into their losing ways last Wednesday as they dropped a pair of games to Owen-Gage by scores of 14-4 and 17-2.

A double by Chris Barton in the first game was the only extra-base hit by Caseville batters in the double-header.

Grand slam spoils Laker hopes of twin-killing

FRIENDLY SLIDE?? Although he appears to be greeting Imlay City fielders, Laker's Al Stalter is calling for time out after safely sliding into third base. He later scored along with all his teammates in a nine-run Laker first inning.

In between showers last week, the Laker baseball team managed to split a pair of games with a visiting Imlay City squad. Lakers won the first game 10-8 but dropped the nightcap, 6-5.

The Green and White home team scored all the runs they needed in the first inning of the opener, as each starter scored a run before the Spartans retired the side. Laker starting pitcher Chris Wurst hurled five innings to pick up the win. Bryan Parrish saved the victory by registering the final three outs of the game.

Bryan Wertz and Jim Warren each doubled for the winners in the opener.

A third-inning grand-slam homer by K. Oriowski provided Imlay City with the winning edge in the rematch. Parrish was tagged with the loss on the mound for Lakers.

Brian Wisenbaugh doubled and singled and Chris Eby added a double for Lakers in the second game.

8 Laker girls qualify for state by placing in regional track meet

The Laker track team will be represented in four events in the state meet after the girls' team placed fifth in the 16-team field at the regional meet at Breckenridge last Saturday.

Also placing for Lakers were Elenbaum, fifth in shot put; fourth place 800 relay team of Kauffman, Bushey, Elenbaum and Sturm; Damrow, fourth in 1600, and Bushey, sixth in 1600.

No Laker boys qualified for state, although in the Shot Put, Ken Ziel placed fourth and Todd Schember placed sixth.

In last week's Thumb B track meet, Laker girls placed fourth in the meet to finish third in the final TBA standings.

The Laker boys' team placed fifth in the meet and fourth in the league.

League duel meet results combined with the league meet results are used to compile final league standings.

No individual results from the league meet were available at press time.

In a 9th & 10th Grade meet last week, the Laker girls' team placed second in the six-team field headed by Reese. In the boys' division, Lakers finished fifth among seven teams.

Thumb Weekly News Round-Up

19 THUMB STUDENTS MAKE STATE ACADEMIC LIST

Three Thumb Area "Class of 1986" members have been nominated to the fourth annual Academic All Star list, as published Sunday in the Detroit Free Press. And, another 16 were chosen as honorable mention winners in the listing, according to the paper. Students were chosen for having best grades and top college entrance test scores.

First team members include: Gary Reinhold, Frankemuth High School first team Class B; Steven Fischer, Marlette High, first team Class C, and Patrick Cherniawski, Kingston High, first team Class D.

Honorable mentions (and high schools) went to: Burton Campbell, Caro; Brenda Tanis, Imlay City; Michael Caldwell, North Branch; Hans Bruggeman, Bad Axe; Tamara Iseler, Cass City; Richard Jones, Deckerville; Jennifer Booms, Harbor Beach; Melissa Weiss, Mayville; Lisa Gaskill, Laker High, Pigeon; Daniel Kamm, Reese; Brad Kohn, Sandusky; Michael Hedley, Unionville-Sebewaing High; Fran Janowiak, Ubyly; Michelle Stahl, Caseville; Tommy Champagne, North Huron, and Kathleen Perdue, Port Hope.

NO MARLETTE SCHOOL TRIP

The growing threat of terrorism in Europe has caused about 20 Marlette High School students and parents to cancel plans for an eight-day trip to France next month.

The trip was called off last week, when French teacher Lorri Shadley met with the remaining 14 students and parents still signed up, after some had already dropped out of the trip. She said the travel agent will attempt to get back as much of each participant's $235 deposit as possible.

The teacher has been sponsoring trips to France every other year for about six years, and she said she plans another trip in 1987, if conditions improve.

NEW CHANNEL 35 FOR THUMB

By November, Thumb Area residents should be able to receive Delta College TV programs on Channel 35. College trustees last week approved the $500,000 project to construct a 489-foot relay TV tower south of Ubyly, to rebroadcast programs from Delta's WUCM TV-19.

The new station's call letters are WUCX TV-35, according to Station Manager Ray Woods. More than $315,000 of the project is being financed by a federal grant, with the present TV station picking up the balance of expenses. The new tower will improve Public Broadcasting Service programming for about 75,000 residents of Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac Counties, who now get fuzzy reception of Channel 19's offerings. The federal grant was announced last August.

'86 RECORD TOURISM YEAR

If you think 1985 was an excellent year for tourism in the Thumb and statewide, just wait until 1986 is finished.

Michigan is primed to welcome a record number of summer vacationers, thanks to low gasoline prices, growing paychecks and fears of terrorism overseas, says State Travel Bureau Director John Savich.

He expects a 10% rise in tourism from last year's record levels, thanks also to the June 14 kick-off of Michigan's 150th birthday celebration.

Revenues should grow by 8%, says Donald Holecsek, director of the Travel, Tourism and Recreation Resource Center at MSU. He sees a coming boom in roadside fruit stands, local fairs and businesses catering to people on one-day outings.

Travel in Michigan generated $12.6 billion in economic activity last year, travel experts say — and should break the $13 billion figure this year. That supports more than 281,000 jobs, up 18,000 last year.

Tourism generates $582 million in tax revenues, thanks to nearly 47 million person-trips (one person taking one trip) — and 211 million person-nights in state hotels and motels. Michigan will spend $11.8 million to promote tourism this fiscal year, second-highest level in the U.S.A.

SANILAC DROPS JAIL PLANS

Sanilac County has dropped plans to construct a new jail, to concentrate instead of renovating and expanding the present 30-year-old jail in Sandusky.

Sanilac Commissioners expect a bond issue will be needed for either plan, but see the renovation to cost less than the $2.5 million new construction plan.

Sanilac expects a $190,000 budget deficit this year, and may lay-off eight to 10 employees to accomplish the goal. A spending freeze was ordered Wednesday, according to Administrator John Dean, who said voluntary layoffs will first be sought.

Commissioners said the drop in farmland values is the reason for this year's deficit, in the already-tight $4.6 million budget. Tax revenues will fall about $120,000 in all this year, from estimates, and less federal monies are expected, too, Dean said.

NEW TUSCOLA CONTROLLER

Tuscola County Commissioners have hired Michael Hoagland of Lenawee County as new County Controller, beginning work June 2 in the new $35,000 position.

He will concentrate on budget control, with responsibility to the County Board for all county fiscal matters. Hoagland is married and has two children.
