It's Queen Janet in Caseville!

She told the 125 people at the Queen's Dinner she hopes to become a teacher and "write award-winning novels and poetry." When asked during the competition what she'd do if given $1 million, Queen Janet said "I'd buy something special for my Mom and Dad. They've been so good to me." She will reign until next year's Perch Festival.

BELOW, Caseville Kiwanis members Dave Meyer and Nancy Buchholz prepare pancakes, sausage, scrambled eggs and other breakfast treats during the club's annual Sunday morning breakfast at Caseville Public School.

DUE TO the cold weather this past weekend, the Saturday kids' events for the Perch Festival will be conducted this Saturday. That includes the Kids' Fishing Derby starting at 7 a.m. and Kids' Casting Contest at 1:30 p.m.

TRAXLER NOT SORRY FOR CHECKS

U.S. Rep. Bob Traxler (D-Bay City) wrote 201 bad checks on the now-defunct House bank, to rank fourth among Michigan's 18 Congressmen, but he isn't apologizing for his actions.

Rep. Traxler released a statement Friday saying, "My checking account with the House sergeant at arms office was at all times operated in conformity with House regulations. No laws were broken, no rules were violated. Not one of my checks ever 'bounced' — that is, was returned for insufficient funds. No taxpayer dollars were ever used."

Rep. Traxler said the overdraft protection has been utilized by members for at least the last 40 years, but he refused to make excuses or apologies as have other House members. U.S. Rep. Bob Davis (R-Gaylord) wrote the most bad checks of any Michigan Congressman with 878. Six of the 18-member delegation had zero or one bad check, sources say.

EATING UP THOSE PCBs...

An innovative hazardous waste destructor will be used this summer in an experiment to remove suspected cancer-causing PCBs in the former Middlegrounds landfill along the Saginaw River at Bay City.

The ELI Eco Logic International's destructor super-heats contaminated soil containing the PCBs (polychlorinated biphenyls) and leaves only salt, water, methane, hydrogen and uncontaminated grit, news reports say. About 25 tons of dangerous soil exists on the site, experts say.

The experiment will be the U.S. test site for the Canadian ELI machine, at a cost of $1.5 million. The U.S. Environment Protection Agency will analyze the results and will help pay for the testing, with the Canadian government paying a portion in hopes of further machine sales in the future.

NO BUSY SIGNAL AT MEETING

Michigan Bell Telephone has announced plans to split the 313 Area Code into two separate code areas, to accommodate the growing number of telephone numbers needed for computer modems, fax machines, cellular phones and beepers — but no citizens attended last Tuesday's public hearing on the subject in Sandusky. Michigan Bell representatives said that was a good sign, showing the public isn't upset about the proposed change.

Under the plan, Detroit Area customers south of Eight Mile Road will keep the 313 Area code. The remaining customers currently in the 313 zone, including most of Sanilac, Lapeer, St. Clair and Macomb Counties, will get a new Area Code — Michigan's first new code since 1947. About 1.4 million customers would change Area Codes in the switch, expected to be announced by June.

SANILAC STAYS OPEN FOR TRASH

About 70 citizens learned last week that Sanilac County's five-year master solid waste plan likely will not be revised by the state, which would continue allowing out-of-county trash to be brought into the Waste Management Inc.'s landfill in Bridgehampton Township.

Currently, Sanilac trash is allowed in Sanilac's only licensed landfill, along with solid waste from Huron, Tuscola, Lapeer and Macomb Counties. Many of the citizens attending an update meeting said a closed-door policy should be used when the next five-year plan is considered in 1993, but DNR officials said Sanilac alone doesn't generate enough trash to maintain a modern landfill.

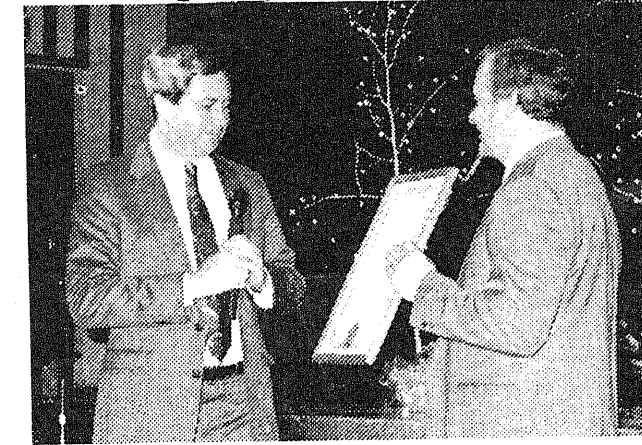

The Waste Management site was recently allowed a 100-acre expansion for the future, as long as trash from the adjoining counties was allowed. DNR spokesman Patricia Spitzley said comments on the plan will be received until May 8, and the final law is expected to be enacted by the DNR this summer. Her address is: Waste Management Division, Michigan Department of Natural Resources, P.O. Box 30241, Lansing, 48909.

COURT PROCEEDINGS

In 73rd District Court (Huron County,) Judge Karl Kraus last week heard the pleas of/ or passed judgment on;

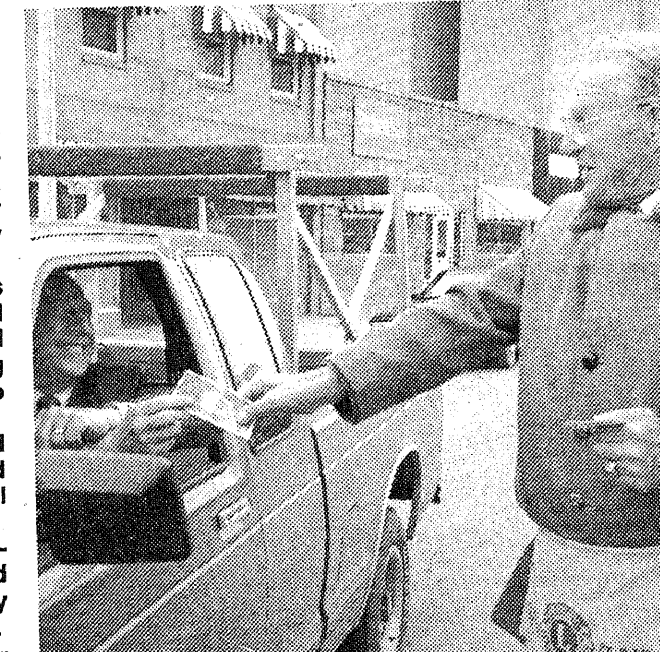

- Maurice O. Haag, 47 of Sebawaing, pled guilty to impaired driving; ordered to serve five days on Huron County Sheriff's Department work program; pay $500 fines and costs, attend alcohol counseling classes and loses driver's license for one year;
- Cynthia L. Mosack, 25 of Caseville, pled guilty to no operator's license in possession and speeding; $115 fines and costs;
- Arthur J. Bulla, 31 of Cass City, guilty of driving with license suspended; three days on county work program; $200 fines and costs;

BITS AND PIECES

OUT FROM UNDER THE RAINS is where most of us would like to be. This Monday morning's drying winds are welcome, although it would be wonderful to see the sunshine now at this time of year.

Michigan has been so fickle this spring. In February we had near record high temperatures. Since that spell, we've had below normal temps and lots of rain. Some worried about oats seed rotting in the ground. Others wished that they'd gotten more seed planted before the wetness set in.

Here at Graywood Farm we are just beginning to see the green sprouts of oats in the north forty. Ed planted a few new trees — an apricot and a snow apple — that we'd brought back from Wisconsin. The trees sat in pails of water in the garage and were finally tucked into God's great soils on a Sunday afternoon. (I think even God might forgive Sunday planting of something so fine as an apple tree now and then!)

As we see it

Where would we be without volunteers?

This is National Volunteer Week, and a recent story concept helps remind us all again how wonderfully important all kinds of people are who give the greatest gift of all, their time, for others.

What would our world be like without volunteers? Let's consider churches first, since an estimated 70% of Americans say they give time and/or money to religious groups. Churches could not and would not exist if people didn't believe in them... and back up that support with dollars to operate their worldwide efforts.

There would be no ladies' groups, no men's ushers, no choir members, no lay leaders. Without volunteers, churches quite simply could not exist. We would have no Sunday Schools, since the teachers are all volunteers, too.

Consider next the American Cancer Society, the March of Dimes polio fight, the United Way and so many other agencies. Most people have contact with these groups when they donate once or twice a year to such causes, perhaps during telethons, renewal periods or so on. Even though the national United Way leaders are being criticized for extravagant spending now, we all know the local United Way volunteers donate their labor free of charge. We know deep-down these are good agencies.

We also know they would not exist without volunteers.

How about Little League for your children this summer? Without people volunteering as coaches and umpires, those fields would be empty. And, in most local small towns, scoreboards at playing fields wouldn't exist, either, since they were provided by volunteers.

We'd have fewer TV choices, too, if America had no volunteers. The excellent Public Broadcasting System would not exist if people didn't volunteer to give money in support. Those channels would be dark.

And more close to home, local young people wouldn't get the comfort, love, direction and guidance from Bluewater Youth For Christ if no one volunteered to help organize that group. And, if no one volunteered to give funds in support, it wouldn't be here.

We'd have no gift shop at Scheurer Hospital, no Meals-on-Wheels and no Lions Club, Kiwanis Club, Rotary Club, Jaycees or other groups without volunteers. Even the Olympics would not exist if people didn't choose to step forward and volunteer aid. Consider what that means.

We could obviously go on and on, as did a recent Detroit Free Press story. The examples are mind-boggling, since they touch nearly every aspect of our American life.

Our world is not a perfect place. Never has been and never will be. But it is WONDERFUL when we consider how many people donate their time and/or talents in supporting favorite causes.

Now, imagine how poor everyone would be without all that volunteering. Once again, we're luckier than we deserve — and realize!

Hopefully, the land will drain out this week and we'll be able to see dry fields, not just the streaks of tile runs that are visible this morning.

THE SMELT ARE RUNNING along the Lake Huron shoreline. I drove down to Forester last Monday evening for a church meeting and every little creek and inlet along Lake Huron's shore had smelters by it. Some tell me that they just like being out by the wood fires in the springtime air. Others get hungry for a few meals of the slender silvery fish.

Apparently the rains held the run back a bit as the fish would just as soon not run upstream against the strong, muddy current coming downstream after each hard rainfall. I'm one of these Thumb area residents who's never been fishing up here. I haven't experienced ice fishing or walleye fishing or smelting. But I know from the talk of those who love smelting that this is their special time in spring!

CAN GRADUATION BE SO CLOSE? Yes, it can be, says the calendar. I know that I look at a calendar differently than others do. I will be spending almost two full weeks in downtown Louisville, Ky. The General Conference of The United Methodist Church convenes there on the Tuesday after Derby Day.

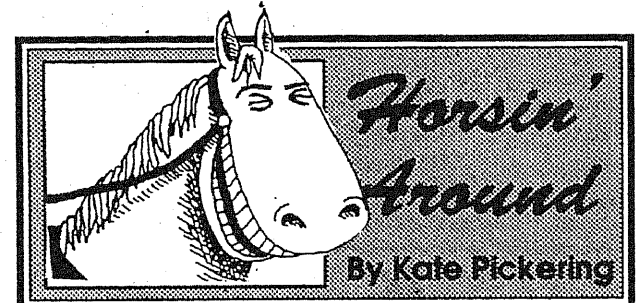

For the third time since 1984, I'll be representing Michigan United Methodists at this once-every-four years event. This time I'm going as an alternate delegate and will be working with the United Methodist Rural Fellowship on issues related to town and country communities and churches.

So, in my mind graduation is only two weeks away since I have this week (the last week of April) and the week after I return (third week in May) to prepare for Will's big day on Sunday, May 24.

I'm sure that the house will be ready for company and that party preparations will be in order.

What won't be prepared is the people. No matter how we get ready for the big changes in life like graduations, there is always some element of that change that takes us by surprise.

So, yes, Father has a new suit and Mother has a new dress. By May 24, two weeks away in my book, we'll be ready...sort of.

BOTH SIDES . . .

There's a tendency in the country for picking sides and not finching, like that sort of behavior reflects positively on one's character and integrity or something. My favorite people seem to be those who are staunch, proud, and opinionated, largely because I lack pride and self-esteem myself. But these same people tend to be thick-headed when it comes to hearing the other side of the story, falling to allow for compromise or negotiation . . . "this is right, and that is wrong. Period."

I don't know if this is an "American" thing, or if it's universal, but what's with the "us against them" mentality? Are patience and humility virtues of the past? Does no one even try to understand an opposing viewpoint?

The issue over which I am so incensed involves duck liver pate. A recent news program showed footage of the strange life that a duck intended for pate must live. Their movement - for purposes of fattening - is restricted, and they are force-fed a chemical compound which is administered by showing a lead pipe down their throats and "blasting" food and chemical into their stomachs. Because this is all the duck producer technically "needs" to give the duck in the course of the day, the duck gets nothing else to eat, and has no opportunity to peck, forage, fly or swim as is his nature.

Now I know what you're thinking, "she always take the side of the animal, so what's her point?" She's as thick-headed and inflexible as the next person!" But wait, there's more . . .

The news program went on to show interviews of opposing viewpoints. First were several different varieties of meat producers, all saying - of course - that they labor simply to provide food and shelter for their families. They believe they are just doing what is necessary to remain competitive in a large and important industry. They cannot afford to change their routines, and they cannot afford to afford meat animals any luxuries.

The other interviews were of angry and frustrated animal rights activists who want the farmers tortured and killed, the animals freed and compensated, and meat taken off American menus and out of American homes. One even pointed out that humans are not carnivores, but rather "primates," who should simply be content with fruits, vegetables and one another's fleas.

But this still wasn't enough. The show was concluded with an in-studio debate between a pro-meat mom and a save-the-ducks activist. The moderator kept things under control - for about six seconds - then mud got flung. In the end, no one was convinced, no ducks were saved, and no farmers were any wealthier.

Why can't we just "meat" in the middle, if you will, and set a new precedent? What if we were to just state, clearly, "okay, we eat meat, lots of it. We like it and it's good for us, and lots of good folks make their livings producing it. BUT by the same token we will not tolerate or patronize producers who employ cruel and unusual tactics to fatten, speed the maturation of, or slaughter animals intended for consumption, or who otherwise unnaturally alter or restrict the life of the animal. Period." No court rulings saying that one is completely right while the other is completely wrong.

My grandfather had pigs lolling in a muddy pig pen, cows grazing in grassy pasture, and chickens pecking in an unfenced yard. He would not hesitate to come barreling out of the house with a loaded shotgun if he thought there was a fox in the henhouse, but by that same token grandma would not hesitate to enter that same henhouse with an axe if she had Sunday dinner in mind. This may seem too rosy or sweet an old-fashioned picture of ecological harmony and balance, but grandma made a living, and people had meat to eat. And if satisfaction for both parties is too sweet and rosy, then book me on the next shuttle flight off of this planet. Things are far worse than I thought.

RECOLLECTIONS
 Of By-Gone Days
 BY GEORGE KEIM

DEAR EDITOR:

Greetings to you once again from the visiting daughter of George Keim. I am back in the Pigeon Area after having spent a couple of weeks visiting family and friends between here and Pennsylvania.

My first stop was in Ohio, where my daughter Saskia had spent the first six months in the exchange program. She lived during the week with an Amish family and weekends with a Mennonite family. I visited the Amish family and they shared their experiences they had with my daughter.

It was a happy family and both my daughter and her hosts enjoyed every minute of the exchange experience. If you know Pennsylvania Dutch, it does help to understand how the Amish speak English.

They had lots of fun telling me different things. One story was very funny. When a girl reaches the courting age, she can put a light in her window and that means the boys can come to see her.

One evening my daughter came home from her Mennonite family and since it was already dark, she lit her lamp in the window.

A little while later, three Amish boys walked into the house and were headed up the stairs. My daughter's host came out of her bedroom.

When she heard the footsteps on the stairs, she asked the boys what they thought they were doing. "Well," they said. They thought they were going to visit the girl who had her lamp lit.

The hostess said she had no one in her house who was of the dating age. Her oldest

A fishing place

By DUANE GUENTHER

Ever have a good fishing spot, one that you would like to keep as your special place? I did, and still do, call them "secret spots."

But, as with all things in our hectic, moving at a hundred miles an hour world, it is difficult to maintain any degree of privacy, and this is especially true when it comes to a fishing place.

In 1922, Etienne Brule and a couple of his French buddies paddled into the waters of Georgian Bay and, according to history, became the first white men to enter what is now our state of Michigan.

I'm sure that within a short time they ran into a couple of Indians, probably Chippewas, spearing and netting whitefish, trout, and sturgeon that propagated the fish-rich waters of the St. Mary's River region.

Once they left, the Indians would scratch their heads trying to figure out how their "secret spot" had been discovered, and since that time the problem has not diminished.

According to statistics, fishing is the number two sporting activity in the United States. (Camping is number one). And Michigan ranks number four in attracting anglers both within and from outside our state.

Every year more than 2 million people take part in the angling sport in Michigan, 1.7 buy fishing licenses and an estimated half million anglers are under 17 years of age and do not require a license to fish.

This is really not so amazing when you think that our state has 38,075 square miles of Great Lakes waters and over 3,000 miles of Great Lakes shoreline.

Added to this are 11,037 lakes which cover more than 1,194 square miles, and 36,350 miles of rivers and streams. No matter where you live in Michigan, you are never more than a half-an-hour drive from good fishing water.

Once you reach a spot it's good to know that you will have little problem finding a place to fish. Our state offers more than 1,000 public access boat launching sites. It has 12 state-operated harbors and 60 municipal harbors.

There are over 1,000 fishing charter boats, 800 marinas, and thousands of miles of shoreline, pier, docks and breakwalls to fish from. Michigan is truly a fishing paradise.

Once your line is in the water, you may catch one of the more than 50 species of game fish available. These may range from perch, bluegills and sunfish at the low end of the scale, to trout, salmon and sturgeon on the high end.

Michigan waters are home to many natural fish species such as, bass, both largemouth and smallmouth, northern pike, muskies, walleye, lake and brook trout and a number of panfish.

It also, through its state-of-the-art hatchery facilities, has introduced "exotic" species such as, rainbow and brown trout and coho, chinook, Atlantic and pink salmon. There are others not mentioned and plenty like the sucker, carp and catfish have a large following.

So why do people have trouble finding a good spot to fish? The probable answer is that fishermen, and fishermen, are a gregarious lot and love to seek out company. Especially if they think you are catching fish.

Here are some hints to help you find a great place to fish and once you do, how to keep it a secret.

First, find yourself a set of good county maps. MUCC puts out a great one called Michigan County Maps and Outdoor Guide. Look for obscure bodies of water, both lakes and streams. The ones with unimproved roads leading in are the best.

Takesome time out of your busy schedule and scout them out. Remember the best ones and check them off on the map.

Outdoor Report...

Week of April 27, 1992

The trout, walleye, muskie and northern pike opener on Saturday was a big bust. Oh, there were fish caught, but the few were basted by the thousands of colds the fishermen caught while braving the terrible weather conditions. Rain, cold and high water levels presented less than ideal conditions for this traditional Saturday. Better days will come, and with them a lot of good fishing times.

Getting hungry for more? The time to pick these tasty fungi is getting close. If you don't know where to go, don't ask a moral picker, he'll never tell you a good spot, he saves that for himself.

Check the newspapers for more festivals — the chamber of commerce of these small towns are more than willing to let you in on some of their secrets. They will also want you to stay around and take part in their festival activities. Picking during the festival is a good time, but the best time is when the lilac leaves are as big as a mouse's ear, or the forsythia are just beginning to bloom. If you find any, call and let me know where.....

SIMPLE STEPS TO BETTER TEST GRADES

Test, tests, tests!
At times it seems that all students do is study for or take tests!
We prepare for so many tests that most of us could be classified as test-experts. Most of us have even developed special study methods that work well for us.
But have you ever spent a great deal of time studying for a test only to go in and blow it?
Often the problem is not lack of preparation, but rather inefficient or inappropriate testing skills. Here are some ideas that may help:

TEST-TAKING SKILLS

- Make sure you know what the teacher means by each of the following terms; compare, contrast, criticize, define, describe, diagram, discuss, enumerate, evaluate, explain, illustrate, interpret, justify, list, outline, prove, relate, summarize, trace.
- Read each test question carefully and slowly. Underline the important words in each question.
- Budget your time carefully. Decide how much time you have to spend on each question. Obviously, you will give more time to important questions that count for more points.
- Decide which question is easiest for you and begin with it. Begin by jotting down all the relevant data for this question. There are three reasons for doing this: It gets the ideas flowing; it helps you organize your answer; and it shows the teacher all the facts you have in case you miss a few in your written answer.
- Write clear, concise—but full—answers. Work as rapidly as you can but don't be rushed. Don't be upset by people who finish a test while you are still writing. This isn't a hundred-meter dash! Quite possibly they are not as well prepared as you are. Stick to your plan.
- Make your handwriting clear. No chicken scratches, please!
- If you don't understand a question or can't decide what the teacher wants, don't panic. Go on to the next one. Come back to this question at the end of the test. Don't hesitate to ask the teacher or supervisor for help or clarification.
- If you are still unsure of the question, start listing all the facts you can that you feel relate to the topic. somewhere in this list might be some relevant points for which you can get partial credit.
- After you have made the list, make an educated guess. From all the data you have listed, develop an answer using those facts that seem most important to you.
- If you have studied sufficiently, and you follow these simple test-taking steps, you have a good start toward success!

Questions for the Superintendent

BY LAKER SUPT. ROBERT DRURY

Each spring I devote one issue of the Wave to comparing the different sources and amounts of school district revenues and expenditures.

While I realize the amounts and percentages do not change dramatically from one year to the next, I believe that it is important for our school residents to understand how their tax dollars are being spent.

School districts facing financial uncertainties and districts faced with a shortage of money to operate are becoming more and more prevalent.

While our legislators struggle with finding an acceptable means to finance public education, our schools are suffering with the problem of wanting more opportunities for our students but having less money to do it with.

The group of charts listed below compares revenues and expenditures for the past five years for the Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port School District.

Because there are 21 different revenue categories and 229 expenditure areas the summary above offers a listing by group area. If the reader would like more detail, please contact the business office. We welcome the opportunity to share this information concerning our district with its residents.

In summary, while our district is currently financially sound, it is very obvious that this sound condition will not last very long without some form of financial help. Because our district's property tax assessments will be frozen in 1992 at the 1991 level, we will not be able to count on increased revenues from assessment increases.

This means that instead of a 4% to 5% increase in assessments, which would generate approximately $250,000 in additional revenues, we will be faced with virtually no increase in revenues from property taxes. It also appears that other sources of revenue, mainly from our state, will be cut.

With these revenue shortfalls nearly upon us, it is apparent that even with the fund balance we currently have, our district will either have to rely on the State of Michigan for other sources of additional revenue or ask our district voters for additional revenue.

Some neighboring districts are going to the polls this spring and summer requesting more operating monies. Our district has enough in fund balance to begin operations for the 1992-93 school year, but we will be forced to seek additional revenues sometime in 1993.

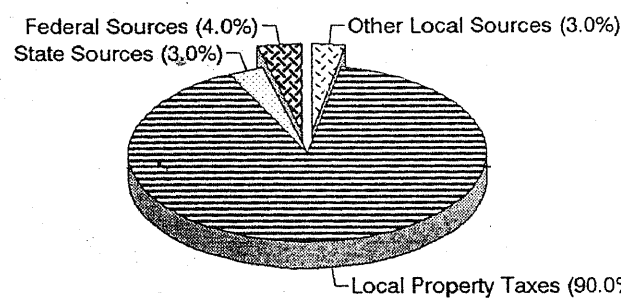

I will be devoting many columns in The Wave to this problem in order to provide as much information as possible to our residents about this important issue.

PICTURE PICKUP

Laker High School visitors are quick to spot the All-Conf pictures that line the walls of the student center. The practice began many years ago and has become a tradition within our school district.
However, the walls are only so big and we now find that certain years have to be removed in order to make room for the new pictures that are hung each year. The Athletic Department, through the pages of The Wave, are contacting parents or friends to pick up pictures that can no longer be displayed.

- Listed below are pictures that are available:
- Eric Bushey
  - Bill LePage
  - Julia Sturm
  - Linda Brown
  - Brenda Baker
  - Sue Kohr
  - Kurt Schember
  - John Rathje
  - Leonard Garza
  - Ed Gentile
  - Rob Macdowall
  - Dave Sturm
  - Scott Rosenthal
  - Shelly Ginter
  - Dave Wisenbaugh
  - Jeff Desotell
  - Mark Manenti

Students and/or parents may pick up the pictures from the Athletic Office any school day between 7:30 A.M. and 3:30 P.M.

LAKER JUNIOR HIGH REPORT

BY PRINCIPAL RICHARD PAULY

As spring time approaches our Jr. High students begin thinking about the three exciting class trips that are offered at our school. The 7th grade Lansing Trip has been completed. Friday, March 27th and Friday, April 3rd were the two dates on which our students traveled to Lansing.

I would like to highlight this educational day for you. Students begin arriving to school about 5:15 A.M. carrying pillows, walkman radios, and of course, munchies. After introduction of chaperones, and rules are discussed, we depart at approximately 5:40 A.M.

The first stop of the day is at our State Capitol in downtown Lansing. We are always fortunate to get an interesting tour guide and this year was no exception. The Capitol is getting a face lift at this time and it is a bit complicated moving around the building. Our students still received a great tour and learned many interesting facts about our state government and it's history.

Our next stop of the day, around 10:30 A.M., is the new Michigan Museum which is a couple of blocks from the Capitol. This is certainly a great stop for our history buffs. A visit to Impression Five Hands On Museum is our next stop. What a great place for Jr. High students because it is "hands on". Students are invited to do the experiments and work with the machines there.

From there we travel to the campus of Michigan State University which is located in East Lansing. At approximately 1:00 P.M. our students eat lunch in one of the residence halls on campus. The food is always good and another plus is the opportunity for the students to rub shoulders with real live college students. When the students finish lunch the hall manager gives the students a tour of the hall.

This is very interesting to our students. They get an opportunity to see the rooms, laundry facilities, libraries, and other sections of college students' home away from home.

The next tour destination is the Jack Breslin Student Event Center. This is a brand new complex where the MSU basketball team plays. It is also the location of many concerts and conferences.

The trip to campus would not be complete without a stop at the book store to purchase college souvenirs. The final agenda item before leaving for home is a look at the Spartan Football Stadium. The students get the opportunity to walk on the stadium field. In the students' eyes, this is one of the highlights for the day.

Around 4:00 P.M. we depart for Laker Jr. High. After a supper date at McDonald's in Lapeer, we are usually home around 7:30 P.M. You can see our students are on the go all day. This is a great opportunity for our students to see the Capitol and also visit a large university.

This is just one of the three trips available at Laker Jr. High School. If you know a 7th grader, ask them about it. It is a wonderful time. Many thanks go out to our parent chaperones for this trip and our advisors for academic track. Our parents are always there when we need them and I really appreciate it.

Our school year is winding down and I hope you had a relaxing and restful spring break. As always, if you have any questions or concerns please call me at school or at home.

FROM THE PRINCIPAL'S DESK

By Laker High Principal Lisa DiCamillo

Congratulations are in order to the Laker Mock Trial team! The team traveled to Lansing on April 4 to participate in the state wide competition.

The students competed against Andover High School, Bloomfield Hills, Cabrine High School, Alen Park, Midland High School and Kalamazoo Central High. The final round was an exciting match-up between Laker and Kalamazoo Central. Lakers came home with a second place finish.

We are really proud of the Mock Trial team and coaches. The Mock Trial students include Will Eichler, Liesl Eichler, Russ Truemmer, Krista Kern, Grant Herford, Danielle Damen, Becky Leipprandt, Phil Leipprandt, Michelle Sieman and Ryan Stahl.

We also appreciate Chad Daniels, Kevin Klaeren and Michael Otto for their fine coaching efforts. Also a special thanks needs to go to Judges Clabuesch and Kraus for help at districts and to the parents of the Mock Trialers for all their support and understanding.

Success was also achieved by the FFA students at their State Convention. I attended one day of the State Convention and was very impressed with what I saw take place. Young people from Laker High as well as other places in the state were competing for top honors.

Congratulations to Mike Keefer and Mike Richmond for representing themselves, their families and Laker High so well. We are proud of you.

I am amazed at all the work that goes into creating a commercial. The Laker SADD Chapter, Stg. Woodward, Mr. Terrill and TV 5 personnel worked diligently to capture the message the SADD chapters want to distribute to people during prom and graduation season. The message is clear "drinking and driving don't mix" and that "friends don't let friends drink and drive." We hope parents and students think about these messages during the prom and graduation time.

Laker High School is getting ready for graduation. We are busy preparing for Honors assemblies, Senior Week activities and finally graduation. Please place Monday May 18 at 7:30 p.m. on your schedules for the

We appreciate our young people's willingness to be challenged. Their hard work and dedication to academics is appreciated. We want to share this time with parents and friends.

Senior Week activities are new to the customary end of the year activities. The senior class of 1992 is a very close class. We want to be able to start a new tradition by having Student Council sponsor several new activities for the seniors.

On Tuesday, May 19 the seniors will be treated to a special breakfast. On Wednesday, May 20 the seniors will have a lunch together. In addition, on Thursday, May 21 during sixth hour the students will have a BBQ Picnic and softball game. The end of the week will bring graduation practice on Friday morning. The day will end with an honors assembly, slide show and farewells to classmates and teachers.

Of course, graduation is scheduled for Sunday, May 24 at 2 p.m. Kathy McGee, a 1969 graduate of Laker High will be the main speaker. Tricia Elston and Michel Keefer will deliver the valedictorian and salutatorian speeches respectively. In addition, Kristie Gaeth will give opening remarks. ### JR. HIGH GUIDANCE REPORT - BY CLAUDETTE SMITH

This year's Academic Track team was predominantly sixth and seventh graders. They did a fine job in competition and received several placements. We competed against top teams of eighth graders and had respectable scores. Thank you students for doing a find job for your school.

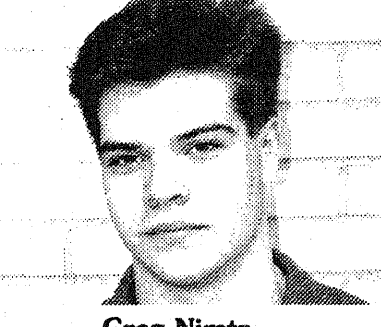

The All Star Meet this year was held on Tuesday, March 31, 1992 at Bad Axe for testing and on April 3, 1992 here at Lakers for the performing arts. It was a great success.

Thank you teachers, parents, students and community for helping to make the 1992 Academic Track season a success and lots of fun.

The Midwest Talent Search materials are finally here. I have distributed them to the students. Parents or students, if you have any questions, please feel free to ask me or call me.

Around the Elementary Centers...

PIGEON AND BAY PORT ELEMENTARIES

TODD BIGGER, PRINCIPAL

Robins, the annual time change, and spring break are sure signs that the school year is winding down. In retrospect it has been a fast and productive year.

With six to seven weeks left there are still many items yet to be covered, learned, and shared. The continued support of staff, students, and parents is appreciated and needed. Enjoy the change in weather, get outdoors, but do not lose focus of the need to keep your child's school work up to date.

On Friday, April 10, 1992 the Pigeon and Bay Port third, fourth, and fifth graders hosted twenty-five students from the city of Flint. The 2 1/2 hour program allowed students from our rural area to learn about life in an urban area first hand from our urban friends.

The visiting students were fourth, fifth, and sixth grade students from one of the many elementary schools in the city of Flint. After the visit to Pigeon and Bay Port Elementaries the visiting students had a quick tour of the Bay Port Fish Market, a quick view of the Wallace Stone Quarry, and a fantastic tour of the Protzman farm. A great time and a fantastic educational experience was had by all.

Students in the elementary schools of Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port will be taking the annual standardized tests following spring break. Parents are asked to assist by ensuring that their child has a good hearty breakfast, a good night's sleep, and a positive attitude about taking this test. Students will be tested in the areas of reading, mathematics, and science.

Pigeon and Bay Port P.T.C./P.T.O. are collecting PIGEON I.G.A. cash receipts as part of a $ raising promotion by the I.G.A. Anyone wishing to donate their cash register receipts should feel free to send them to school with a neighbor child, or should contact the volunteer club of their choice to see if they are involved in the same program. Many groups are involved in this fundraising venture, and you are encouraged to sponsor whoever you so choose.

The final (of three) parent-teacher-student evening programs is coming on May 28, 1992. This evening program offers a special parent guest speaker, and a special evening program for students. The program for the parents will involve a guest speaker speaking on children and learning. The program for the children will involve a guest speaker on nature. Bay Port Elementary will be the host of this special program. The evening program will begin at 7:00 p.m. and end at 8:00 p.m. Everyone is welcomed.

BAY PORT HOLDS YOUNG AUTHOR'S COMPETITION

On Thursday, April 9, Bay Port Elementary students in grades 1 through 5 participated in the Annual Young Author's Competition. This program, a product of the Greater Thumb Area Reading Council, encourages elementary students to become more interested in reading and the skills necessary to become better readers.

The students submitted their books to a panel of three judges who picked two winners and two alternates. The winners, and their books, are invited to the Young Authors Conference held at Cass City later in May.

ELKTON REPORT

BY BEN PHILLIPS, PRINCIPAL

PARENTS MUST HELP CHILDREN DO THINGS FOR THEMSELVES

"A parent is not for leaning on," says Vicki Lansky, who has written many books on raising children. Instead, she says, "a parent is for making leaning unnecessary."

Children who are constantly bailed out of trouble never learn what they can do. And they never gain the self-confidence that comes from overcoming problems.

If you constantly do things for your child, you may be sending him a message. He may think, "Mom and Dad must not think I can handle this myself." As your child begins to doubt his abilities, he may give up trying. He will turn to you for help in everything.

Here are ways you can encourage your child to stop leaning on you:

- Make your child responsible for preparing his own lunch. A bonus—he'll be more likely to eat what he's chosen himself.
- Let your child see the results of his actions. If he misses the bus, he walks (if it's safe). If he forgets his assignment at home, he must face the consequences.
- Teach your child the skills he'll need to survive in life. As he grows older, he can learn to wash clothes, to prepare a simple meal, to balance a checkbook, or to change a tire.
- expect your child to do at least one thing daily for the good of the family.

INTERESTING INSIGHT

Mrs. Elizabeth Funke, who is from Germany and teaches in Berlin, recently visited our school for the day. She is here visiting a Pigeon area family. She was impressed with the good behavior of our students, the wonderful facilities we have, and the up-to-date material in our classrooms.

She said her school was overcrowded and lacked many essential supplies. It is always nice to hear compliments from an outsider. We have much to be thankful for.

BOOKMARK BONANZA SUMMARY

The students recently completed a reading program called "Bookmark Bonanza". For every book the students read during the month of March, they would receive a free specially designed bookmark. They could collect up to 10 bookmarks. Students collecting 10 bookmarks received a special ice cream sundae. There were 120 students that read 10 books for the month.

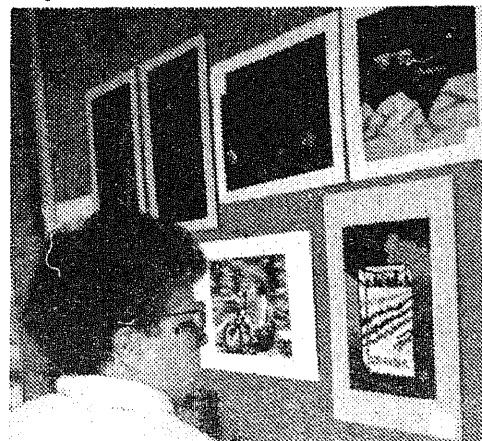

Local insurance agent Dave Anderson, left, presents signs to Pigeon and Bay Port Elementaries with the message "Buckle Up."

LAKER HIGH ART NEWS/NEEDS

The Art Department of Laker High is beginning to do melted crayon painting. This assignment requires a lot of crayons and candles.

The candles are used to heat the crayons so the students can paint with the melted ends. As you can imagine, this process takes a lot of crayons and candles.

Laker Superintendent Robert Drury is reading to Elkton fourth and fifth graders, as a special part of observance of National Library Week April 6-10.

ELKTON'S STUDENT OF MONTH

Chancey Wolfe is the son of David Wolfe and Pattie Wolfe. He is in Miss Stephenson's fifth grade classroom this year.

He has one sister and one brother. Chancey's favorite subject in school is spelling.

He enjoys playing sports, especially football. Someday, he hopes to become a policeman.

GEORGE D. BEADLE 1914 - 1992

George Beadle loved dressing up as an Indian in many area parades, as he is shown here. However, he had no Indian heritage, according to family members.

George Darling Beadle, longtime developer and promoter of Caseville and Huron County, passed away Saturday, April 11, 1992, at the Tucson Medical Center in Tucson, AZ., after a three-year battle with bone cancer.

He was born May 21, 1914, the second of the 13 children of Darling George and Frances Nicholas Beadle. He was born in Caseville, where he lived the majority of his life.

Mr. Beadle attended school in Caseville and Pigeon. Soon after his graduation from high school, Beadle was married and fathered two children, twins Georgina Gail Sandifer and James Rogers Beadle.

Over the next two decades, Beadle worked for Cadillac Motor Co., worked on a steamship, owned and operated a riding stable, and eventually opened the first boat livery in Caseville. Beadle later owned and operated an excavating business and often received land as payment for his services.

By the mid-1950s, Beadle began doing what eventually would become his life's work: land development in Caseville. One of his first developments was Beadle's Twin River Isle. As with all of his land developments, Beadle did most of the heavy machinery work himself.

On Feb. 27, 1960, he married Jeanette Gilbert. Over the next 32 years, they built five additional subdivisions and a marina—one of the state's largest privately-owned marinas—along the waterfront and waterways of Sand Point.

Beadle was well-known for his civic and community involvement in Caseville and Huron County. In the mid-1940s, he was mayor of the village of Caseville, the youngest person ever to hold that position.

In addition, Beadle was an active member and president of several groups and organizations: Caseville Kiwanis, Caseville Chamber of Commerce, and East Michigan Tourist Association. He also was a member of the Caseville Township Building Committee, the trustee board of Caseville United Methodist Church, and the First of America Bank board of directors. Mr. Beadle also helped found the Indian Trails Riding Club.

Since 1980 he and his wife have spent their winters in Tucson. As he did in Caseville, Beadle actively participated in several groups such as the Coronado National Forest Mounted Assistance Unit and the Over the Hill Gang.

Beadle's eyes were donated to the Arizona eye bank, while some of his other organs, including the long bones of his legs, were donated for medical research purposes. After this, his remains were cremated, pursuant to his request.

Surviving are his wife, Jeanette (Gilbert) Beadle; two children, Mrs. Larry (Georgina Gail) Sandifer and James Rogers Beadle; three grandchildren; four great-grandchildren; and several brothers and sisters, William, Marlon Parent, Thomas and his wife Mildred, Mrs. Charles (Josephine) Anderson, Harold and his wife Betty, Mrs. Fred (Leone) Langley, Albert and his wife Lorraine, Francis and his wife Thelma, Mrs. Don (Jessie) Otto and Herbert and his wife Jean.

Two sisters, Geraldine Parent and a stillborn baby, preceded him in death.

Memorial services will be held at the United Methodist Church in Caseville on May 9 at 10 a.m.

Memorial donations may be made to the Caseville United Methodist Church Camp Scholarship Fund or New Parsonage Fund, or to the American Cancer Society.

DORIS ADELLE LANGLEY 1911-1992

Doris A. Langley, age 81 of Caseville, passed away, Monday, April 20 at Scheurer Hospital, Pigeon, following a long illness.

She was born April 19, 1911 in Montrose, CO., daughter of the late Michael and Mable (Hurlbert) Denzer.

Mrs. Langley moved to Flint in her teens and to Caseville a short time later where she met and married Warren E. Langley in 1930. He preceded her in death on May 31, 1968.

She lived and worked in Caseville all of her married life and had been employed at several Caseville restaurants including the Bella Vista and Log Cabin. She also was a cook at the Caseville School for 18 years retiring in 1974.

She was a member of Cross Lutheran Church, the Caseville Retirement Club and was a charter life member of the Caseville Eagles Auxiliary.

Surviving are seven children, William (Mickey) O'Bryant of Nashua, NH, Warren Langley of New Haven, Walter (Marcia) Langley of Cass City, Lawrence (Marge) Langley of Bad Axe, Russell (Virginia) Langley, of Caseville, Lewis Langley of Muskegon and Patricia Thaut of Plymouth; 39 grandchildren; 44 great-grandchildren; a sister, Alice Roberts of St. Louis, MO., and a brother, Albert (Gretchen) Denzer of Alma.

She was preceded in death by two daughters, Alice Langley and Bernette Johnson and a grandson, Jeffrey Thaut.

Funeral services were conducted on Thursday, April 23 at 2 p.m. from Cross Lutheran Church, Pigeon. Rev. Raymond Orth, pastor, officiated with burial in the Caseville Twp. Cemetery.

Memorials may be made to the church or the American Cancer Society.

Arrangements were handled by Champagne Funeral Chapel, Caseville.

ION LOUIS WEBER 1900-1992

Ion "Don" L. Weber, age 92 of St. Petersburg, FL., formerly of Elkton, passed away Tuesday, April 21, at Marwood Manor, Port Huron, following a brief illness.

He was born March 31, 1900 in Elkton, son of the late Lewis and Georgianna (Smith) Weber.

Mr. Weber moved to Rising Sun, IL. at the age of 17. He then attended Berea College in Kentucky, Northwestern College in Chicago, Michigan State and moved to New York State in 1928.

He was united in marriage to Stella Busch on Aug. 29, 1929 in New York City. The couple moved back to Michigan in 1931 and settled in Detroit where he was an investment Realtor retiring in 1973. That same year they moved to Florida where they have lived the past 18 years. He and his father may be remembered for the park they donated across from the Elkton Village Hall, known as Weber Park, where they built the field stone lamp post and fountain.

— Director —

CHILDREN WILL BE CHILDREN

When families gather after a death, one characteristic seems to hold true: however somber the adults may be, young children, after a while, cannot resist the urge to scamper around, play and, in general, act like children.

That's because they are children, and their reactions to grief don't match those of adults. That doesn't mean children don't feel grief or know that something sad, final, or tragic has occurred. Children are highly attuned to the emotions of the people around them, but they grieve in their own way, and it's important that adults recognize a child's need for honesty, love, and reassurance when death occurs. Sometimes adults' preoccupation with grief prevents them from seeing that a child's reaction to death is just as deep as theirs - even though it may be expressed differently, depending on the child's age and stage of emotional development.

Local men attend world RLDS meeting

The world became a smaller, friendlier place when a three-person delegation from the Thumb renewed international friendships at the RLDS World Conference in Independence, MO April 4-12.

Ervin Haley of Sebewaing, Jim Chalou of Bay Port and Joe Robbins of Mayville were among the 3,000 voting delegates and 20,000 people from all over the world who attended the week-long event.

Haley, who serves as pastor of the Bay Port Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, has attended four other international conferences as a voting delegate.

To Haley, it is spiritually uplifting and gives him an opportunity to broaden his own perspective, strengthen and renew friendships and, on a more practical level, learn new hymns to use at his home church.

A highlight for Haley was renewing his friendship with Bunda Chimbwe, a national RLDS minister in Zambia, who also served as a convention speaker. Chimbwe and Haley had become acquainted at the 1990 World Conference and quickly became friends. He brought with him two other RLDS representatives.

The three Thumb delegates enjoyed a special treat when the three Africans hosted an African dinner. The meal was eaten with hands — no silverware — and featured "gari," a tubular vegetable that was used to dip into the stew.

Haley's church also has developed a friendship with Christians in Africa, supporting the Zambian churches with clothing. According to Haley, the African churches, though they may suffer from shortages of clothing and food, feel very rich with the hope of the Gospel.

"Christian churches are really making a stronghold in Africa right now," says Haley. "In addition to RLDS churches, Methodists, Mennonites, Catholics and other denominations are setting up churches there."

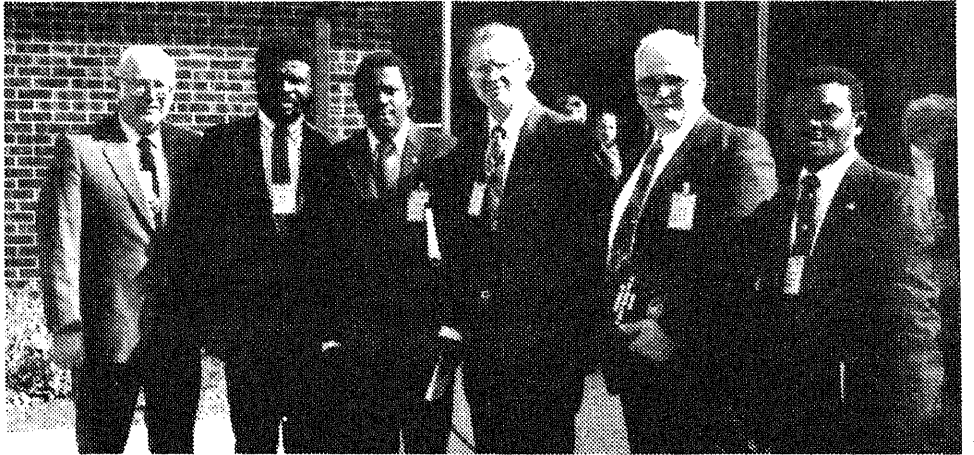

The 1992 World Conference addressed the issues of human diversity, recognizing the special needs of singles, children and the mentally and physically handicapped. Leaders commended El Salvador for a peaceful resolution to their political strife and recognized South Africa for peaceful negotiations of the Apartheid issue.

RLDS leaders are putting emphasis in the next decade on finding peace with Christ in families, churches, communities and society at large. The church is adding to its missionary emphasis, giving that story of peace through Christ to those in the world who do not know Him.

To Haley, he is putting those goals into action as he "tackles the world" person by person through friendship and the gestures of friendship from one small church in the Thumb to churches faraway in Africa.
