Fortune telling is prohibited in New York, but fortune hunting is not.

A house in St. Louis was set on fire by a reckless cook. Now what'll we do?

After all, in charging a dollar for treatment, the barbers are making a cut-price.

Just when we were getting used to peanuts and spring water, the price of most goes down.

A Detroit woman was divorced while attending a card party. Agreed the law of compensation.

A new $100 counterbill is in circulation. When buying bank, examine your change carefully.

There should be some great work market in which work would be purchased cheaper by the dozen.

The man who boasts of calling a spade a spade may pass a show without being able to recognize it.

A sacred cow in Central Park, New York, is suffering with a severe cold. Nothing is too sacred for the critic.

One Denver woman insists that she never owned a hat. Then she never kept anybody waiting while she planned it.

The car wheel gives it out that he keeps his foot with the wheel. Can you beat that, for Russian humor?

That New York is the hottest place in summer and the coldest in winter does not necessarily spell climatic superiority.

Chicago captured most of the ribbons at the New York horse show. New York isn't kicking much. She has the gate receipts.

Sane and scientific development of serial invention is the end to be sought for. Inventors should not neglect the aviator without advancing the art.

The students at Wellesley have been declared to be a vast field of unexplored territory. It means no one seems to know what this means.

A Detroit lady who has been having matrimonial troubles says she married on an bet and now for spite she appears to have lost to each for life.

Statistics show indicate that smokers make the best athletes. We have known for a long time that certain smokers make one strong in a certain sense.

St. Ernest Cassell has bought a gramme of radiation for $72,000. It was probably marked down from $75,000 and St. Ernest may be said to have secured a bargain.

The reason of ethics comes the question of whether the person who tells the another person dies laughing is really a friend.

St. Ernest, too, is going up. Security of our cabbage is being increased by a 25 per cent. annual increase in consumption may have suggested the idea that there was more money in it.

Another "paddock" in the running track between New York and the delphia has been made, but by the way, become possible for Philadelphia.

After having been six days without food a sailor swam several miles to the shore of Australia, pursued by man who was hunting for him with a yarn like that wastes his time with a better one.

Now the French are experimenting with a weapon to be used against submarines. One writer has already been introduced when, before it is ready to become practicable, a counteracting invention fairly about the same.
