One of the most remarkable tricks to the credit of any naval mascot is that of a famous cat that was domiciled aboard the cruiser Chicago a few years ago. This cat would sit on its hind legs and "salute" with one front paw when the band played "The Star-Spangled Banner," and any person who knows how difficult it is to teach tricks to cats can appreciate what this perform ance meant. The battleship Verment has a goat that will smoke a pipe with evident relish and one of the ships has as a mascot a bear that will ended from off the said. Military authorities today declare that the coast defense is the most impregnable of all fortifications. Hours of heavy bombarding from a powerful may should have little effect upon it while in return the probabilities are which has a slope of two to one, will that it would send many battleships to the bottom.

The mainstay of the coast defense is the disappearing gun. Those to be used at Panama are to be of 14 inch caliber. They will be placed for blocks, exch four by six feet and eight fortifications which are nothing less than mountain ridges, for the coast defense station is sunken underground at the brow of some eminence.
