SECRET BURIED IN A TOMB

'Jarome,' Nova Scotia's Lopsided Man of Mystery, Silent for Half Century, Is Dead.

Within a few hundred yards of a rocky fifty-year-old grave on a hillside overlooking the sea, the knowledge of a secret buried in a tomb was revealed. It was the knowledge of a man who had lived in the Yukon for half a century, and whose name was Jarome. He was a lopsided man of mystery, silent for half a century, and now dead.

Back in the summer of 1861, Jarome was a complete stranger to the Yukon. He was a man of about 40 years of age, and was a native of Nova Scotia. He was a lopsided man, and his name was Jarome.

While the western peninsula and the Yukon coast have an agricultural potentiality, yet so far the Yukon basin is suitable for agriculture. The best-known instance of successful farming in that basin is the case of Jarome.

At Fort Gibbon, at the junction of the Yukon and the Tanana rivers, and at Fort Reliance, near the Arctic circle, the military garrisons have raised gardens to ascertain whether their supplies were being especially successful.

Truck farming and hay farming are flourishing in the lower Yukon. The Yukon valley, where it is said that there are 30,000 acres of land have been brought under cultivation.

Whether the greater nearness of the Yukon coast would change this interior is not known. The Yukon coast of the territory would be affected most.

Was He a Coward?

By CURA A. Thompson

When Fred Winters departed for Cuba with his family, the knowledge that he was a coward was a secret buried in a tomb. He was a man of about 40 years of age, and was a native of Nova Scotia.

By and by there came strange reports from the front. In an account of the most recent battle, it was said that Fred Winters had been seen in the ranks of the enemy.

When Miss Rutli's letters came, they were full of praise for her husband. She said that he was a brave and noble man, and that she was proud of him.

one tablespoon of fruit juice, if oranges is used, a fourth of a teaspoonful of the grated rind and a teaspoonful of sugar; beat well together and fold in the beaten whites. Cook very slowly in a well-greased omelet pan.

Caramel Omelet.—Take two eggs, separate the whites and yolks and beat well. To the beaten yolks add two tablespoonfuls of caramel syrup. Beat until well mixed, add more sugar, if needed, a half teaspoonful of vanilla and one teaspoonful of lemon.

Drop by spoonfuls in a hot fat and fry a delicate brown. Roll in powdered sugar and serve with currant jelly sauce.

Souffles are another form of dessert which are well adapted to ordinary table. When baking, a shallow pan should be used, as the weight of the mixture will cause it to rise. Bake in a moderate oven for ten to fifteen minutes.

HOW ADVERTISING SAVED A COLLEGE

By HERBERT H. SMITH.
The student body of a college is not so much a body of students as it is a body of donors.

It was left for a small institution on the west coast of the United States—Huron College of Huron—to make a conspicuous success of college advertising aimed at the parents of the students.

Theodore H. Eschen, who lives at 1748 St. Michael's court, Chicago, took part in engagements between Huron and the confederate navy forces in the latter years of the war. He accompanied the expedition made by Gen. Nathaniel P. Banks into the network of swamps and bays of Louisiana.

Before the advertising began President French had had "distribution" of the college catalogue. He and his college were known to the members of the Presbyterian church in the city.

AN ADVERTISING EPISODE

Merchants and Manufacturers Learning That It Pays to Concentrate

The manufacturer of an improved lamp entered upon an advertising campaign after placing his wares with dealers. In the first district he was met with a cold reception.

As there was no other prospect, the manufacturer was taken up in a second mining district. The advertising campaign was successful.

The dollar came and its stampy story won many other dollars. A small boy who gave words to the ad.

All of the advertisements were in the same column. The record of the campaign is a record of success.

Does newspaper advertising pay? Does members of the Denver Ad Club at their regular meeting held at the Albany Hotel, P. D. Whitaker, secretary of the club, gave a paper on the subject.

Not such a stupid fool. The Scotchman could not find his ticket on the conductor's second round. He could never bring the ticket.

What's that in your mouth? The conductor punched it and went on. The man that spent $40 for advertising received over 200 inquiries.

Never was a man so well treated as the man who advertised in preference to secure results on a broader scale.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR JUNE 2
HYPOCRISY AND SINCERITY.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"Take heed that you do not your righteousness before men, to be seen of them; else ye will have no reward in heaven."
Matt. 6:1.

Some have called attention to the "dum" or "doo" as recorded in the Scriptures, showing that they were used to something good and contrasted with those of men that are always the latest and the best.

The St. Mary was the boat I was in when I was in the country. The school was the Jewish religion that Jesus came to set the world on fire.

Nothing does so much against you as doing nothing for yourself.

A few good bargain buyers—You'll never have time if you wait for it. Make it!

In the bright lexicon of business there should be no such word as "tomorrow."

Put your heart in your work and you won't lose it.

The beaten paths lead to the place of the least interest. The man who is well trimmed and his store front lighted.

Cleanliness is next to industry in business success. A clean store, clean hands and clean stock clear off the shelves.

Anyone can "keep a store." It takes a man with brains to make a store keep him.

In Memory of Naval Heroes

Of the Third Generation

HY did they want to kill one another, grandpa?"

On each and every farm there are some old men who have lived through the Civil War.

The old soldier stroked his beard contemplatively with his one remaining hand. "Well, son, we have had our share of fighting."

Nothing does so much against you as doing nothing for yourself.
