THE NATIONAL DAIRY SHOW. As shows and expositions are supposed to emphasize progress, to bring out by comparison new and better methods of operation, and as this is an era of close margin in business, the best minds of the country are con-stantly engaged in evolving low cost of production, and marketing methods. It is reasonable to expect that an industry involving a billion of dollars annually, as does the dairy industry in America, must have the best brains of the day working out improvement in the vast problems that are attached to its many branches. That this stupendous industry might receive its proper recognition among the world's activities, a few patriotic men organized this association for the purpose of holding an annual dairy show that would be a short course in dairy hus-bandry unequaled anywhere else, mapping out a line of work to produce an educational event that would supplement the work of our agricultural colleges, which was much to be desired n the dairy world, and each recurring show taking advantage of experience proved until it is today somewhere

As an evenuale of trusts and monon olies prevalent even in that early day if may be mentioned that in 1750 one Benjamin Crabb obtained the exclusive right to make sperm candles in Massa husetts for 14 years. A vear later, however, a factory was started in Providence, R. I., and withn the decade there were eight factories in New England and one in Philadel the price of candles, which not long before sold for five shillings a pound In those days $1.25 was worth full-
