You will understand thoroughly just what this means if you will go with Mr. Randall R. Howard, the writer and apple-grower, for a day's trip through the famous Oregon apple district, see the orchards, talk with George I. Sargent, O. T. Wedemeyer, John A. English and other successful growers and see them picking and packing the fruit. You can do all these things by reading Mr. Howard's remarkable article on "Apple Worship," the story of
