The present legislature promises to by a committee from the house, as the resolution introduced by Rep. Martz, of Detroit, along this line was passed after considerable debate. Rep. Flow-that it was unnecessary to consume

Rep. Taylor, of Kent, one of the dem-the Martz resolution and attacked the railroad commission, complaining that

The proposition to investigate the

The action of the Supreme court grew out of the Massachusetts federal court's annuling one of two indict ments brought against the shoe machinery company officials.

The charge was that the shoe ma chinery Corporation took over the business of the Consolidated & McKay Lasting Machine company, manufac-turing simpor cent. of all lasting machines; the McKay Shoe Machinery company, manufacturing 70 per cent, of all heeling machines and 80 per cent. of all metallic fastening machines, and of the Goodyear Shoe Machinery company, manufacturing 80 per cent. of all the welt-sewing and out-sple-stitching machines.

The government claimed this put about 80 per cent, of the business of manufacturing shoe machinery into one concern, and that that, being an "undue proportion" of the trade, was a violation of the law. It did not claim there had been unfair competi-

A prominent western paper has declared that Lincoln is universally regarded as "the one indispensable man" of the Civil war period. Rev. Br. Edward Everett Hale took occasion to condemn certain phases of the Lincoln portrait as presented in a certain popular novel of the CIVII war period, on the ground that they unnecessarily vulgarized Lincoln's character. Only one newspaper editorial has come to our attention which in any way tried to exhibit some of the possible defects of Lincoln as a statesman, and that was unmistakably designed to excuse certain faults, of politicians in general by enveloping them with the halo that surrounds a great name. The tendency to regard Lincoln as the one essential man, whose wisdom was never at fault, and whose name deservedly gathers to Haalf, the exclusive veneration of the people, even to the point of wor-

Now there is no custom without a reason, but the reason for this cannot be found in the life of the good saint who is made to indorse this custom with his name.
