Much of World Unexplored.

Despite the discovery of both poles,
a large portion of the earth still remains unexplored. Roughly, it is estimated that about 7.000.000 square niles, or approximately one-eighth of the total land surface of the world, is still a mystery to civilization. Included in this area are vast tracts of polar region, portions of Arabia, jungle and mountain in South America, wastes in Australia, ren Borneo, and the Congo basin, and stretches of the Sahara.
