Evidently Not All Foreign Noblemen Are Mere Fortune Hunters-Many Matrimonial Prizes Secured by the Fair Daughters of Uncle Sam.

Philadelphia.—Dwelling amid mediaeval surroundings in storied cas-tles, secluded in vast demesnes or in comfortable palaces of various cities of Europe, is quite a large group_of Philadelphia women who have become the wives of noblemen and who with characteristic adaptability have become active helpmates in their husbands' interests. Rare, indeed, have these alliances between women of this city and the men of titles from abroad proved unhappy, and in the stowed their rank-upon maids of this

My brother had, in 1720 or 1721, begun to print a newspaper. It was the second that appeared in America and was called the New England Courant. The only one before it was the Boston News Letter. I remember his being aded by some of his friends from the undertaking as not likely to succeed, one newspaper being, in their judgment, enough for America. At this time (1771) there are not less than five and twenty. He went on, however, with the undertaking, and, after having worked in composing the types and printing off the sheets, I was employed to carry the papers through the streets

He had some ingenious men among his friends, who amused themselves by writing little pieces for this paper, which gained it credit and made it more in demand, and these gentlemen often visited us. Hearing their conversations and their accounts of the approbation their papers were received with, I was excited to try my hand among them; but, being still a boy and suspecting that my brother would object to printing anything of mine in "No. I've been out of town for the dren can't have any?
