The mountains above Amsteg are senerally attractive in their proceed. especially attractive in their rugged ontlines and color. Here we spent many pleasant days, climbing to their lower levels or wandering along the smooth roads of the narrow valley.

This little town, with absolutely no attraction for tourists besides the mountains, has four hotels, and finds itself thronged in midsummer. At any one of these inns good comfortable accommodations may be had at 6 to 7 francs per day—clean, pleasant rooms, wholesome, palatable food and courteous attendance which seems at least to have some real concern as to your to have some real concern as to your welfare. asistant Prosecutor Desires Demo ratic Nomination

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney, Walde Mack Abbot, has entered the race for the democratic nomination for Prosecuting Attorney of Washtenaw county.

Mr. Abbot is a Washtenay countw bo from good german stock, being a grandson of the late Christian Mack who is well remembered by hte older Manchester sidente, and he is a nephew of Walter C. Mack. Mr. Abbot lives in Ann Arbor, is married and a father of a daughter. He received his education in the Ann Arbor schools and was graduated from both the literary and law departments of the university of Michigan. After hi graduation he entered into the practice of law in the offices of Cavanaugh & Barke. Last November he was appointed assistant prosecuting attorney by Judge Kinne, which position he now holds and is, therefore, eminently fitted for the office of prosecuting attorney through his ability and experience.

Waldo Abbot should be a strong andidate for the nomination. He is a sincere and active worker and while liberal in his ideas he has the interests of the county at heart. All his friends are confident that he would give the best of service were be nominated and the office which he seeks
