forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the property of t men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting-place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so pobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they here gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God. shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.—Speech of Abroham Lincoln in the dedication of Gettyo-burg Complexy, November 19, 1963.

Amsterdam—The German occupation of Antwerp had aiready become a matter of routine when I arrived from Rosendaal. In five days the new city government had adapted itself perfectly to the burgomaster's offices and was working smoothly. It had even instituted a regular motor buse service to Brussels. But finding a certain cheese merchant who owned a wobbly-kneed animal, too hopeless to be requisitioned, and who said he didn't care where he went with it. I chose to go that way.

We found a war-swept road to the capital; on either side rich growing felds plowed with trenches; tattered graves. The way was jammed with homeless people carrying their belongings—in tests, wheelbarrows, haby buggies—ever fleeing.

At Brussels, through the courtesy of Brand Whitlock and the kommandantur, a certain amount of bluff and phenomenal luck. I obtained a pass to travel anywhere within the German lines in Belgium, Moreover it worked—for three weeks.

At Roulers two men of the cycle corps offered to take me to the firing line, and we rode to Westroosebeke. There was nothing for it but to walk. During two days we saw little of war except occasional sentries and speeding military automobiles of that famous greenish-gray which blends so well with distance. Peasants were already replanting crops on top- of trenches and gathering beets, stolidly taking it all as a matter of course.

Mme. Lottin, the French nurse, had been named by my Brussels landlord "le Grensdier;" and she was. We made 45 kilomsters a day. But at Namur she found an opportunity of reaching Paris through Holland, so I proceeded along the Meuse to Dinant, town of terrible memories.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1915

The New York Central railroad has not killed a person in a train accident in four years, it is claimed,

The annual mid winter meeting of the Michigan Pioneer and Historical society will be held at the Backley Art Gallery Muskegon, on Wednesdayand Thursday February 17 and 18.

While railroads are declaring that busi ess is poor and are saking for advance in rates, one has to secure his tickets and sleeping reservations a month in advance if he wishes to cross the continent.

Now that most of the special sales are over, inventory taken and it is found thet 1914 was not such a bad year after all. it's time to get busy and make 1515 better year. Let's drop the talk abouthe mail order houses and spend a little more for newspaper publicity about what goods we have to sell right here in Manchester.

It does not seem possible yet Mr. Pes ondy, president of the Safety First society at New York says that more person were killed in New York in street accidents during the past three years then had been killed in the revolutionary war, and that the death roll in the United States from avoidable courses, equaled the total deaths of the civil war.

Once in a while some fellow brage the he "never reads advertising." Nobody boasts of failing eyesight or of being blind in one eye. Any such fellow only penalizes himself by being half as well informed as he could be. In these timeof keen competition, it costs money to be indifferent to the advertising pages --Napoleon correspondent to Brooklyn Ex

Bills have been introduced in the state legislature to give employees in the Jack son prison one holiday a week. It is explained that the employees are forced to work 10 or 12 hours a day seven daya week and in case they lay off for a day, their pay for the day is docked. We see no injustice there. It a man gets pay for every day he works why pay him for days he lays off. There is too much of that slip shod way of doing business. It looks tike a little matter in this individu: 1 case where wages are perhaps not very high, but the rule follows in cases where employees get from $5 a day up. A man should be estisfied if he gets pay for the time he puts in.

other animals still visited the salt springs at Saline, some enterprising easterner halted there and erected a long two-story building in which to sell goods and reside. As years advanced, many of the first frame buildings of the village gave way to modern brick buildings but the old McKinnon building continued to occupy a prominent corner and for years has been looked upon with reverence and veneration by the old inhabitants but the new men looked upon it as an eye sore and wished it removed. Well, last week it wes. A fire mysteriously appeared in it one morning and it was all the people could do to save adjacent valuable property, so it went up to smoke and the corner will ere long be adorned by an up-to- date building.

UNION OFFICIALS FARMERS' THINK RAILROADS ARE EN-TITLED TO MORE REVENUE.

Products of Plow and Farmer Who Lives at Home Should Be Exempt From Increase.

By Peter Radford. Lecturer National Farmers' Union.

The recent action of the Interstate Commerce Commission in granting ar classification of territory; the applica tion of the roads to state and inter state commissions for an increase in rates, and the utterances of Wilson on the subject bring the farm ers of this nation face to face with the an increase in freigh rates. It is the policy of the Farmer Union to meet the issues affecting the colf. e of the farmers squarely an we will do so in this instance.

The transportation facilities of the United States are inadequate to et fectively meet the demands of com merce and particularly in the South and West additional railway mileage s needed to accommodate the move ment of farm products. If in the wis lom of our Railroad Commissions a increase in freight rates is necessar to bring about an improvement in ou transportation service, and an exten gion of our mileage, then an increas should be granted, and the farmer i willing to share such proportion of the increase as justly belongs to him but we have some suggestions to make as to the manner in which this in crease shall be levied.

Rates Follow Lines of Least Resist

The freight rates of the nation hav been built up along lines of least re sistance. The merchant, the man facturer, the miner, the miller, the lumberman and the cattleman have had their traffic bureaus thoroughly organized and in many instances they nave pursued the railroad withou and with the power of organ ized tonnage they have hammered the life out of the rates and with unre strained greed they have eaten the vitals out of our transportation system and since we have had railroad com missions, these interests, with skil and cunning, are represented at every hearing in which their business is

The farmer is seldom represented at rate hearings, as his organizations have never had the finances to empley counsel to develop his side of the case and, as a result, the products of the plow bear an unequal burden of the freight expense. A glance at the freight tariffs abundantly proves this assertion. Cotton, the leading agricultural product c the South, already bears the highest freight rate of any necessary commodity in commerce, and the rate on agricultural products as a whole is out of proportion with that of the products of the factory and the mine.

hope the commission will be able to give the railroad such an increase in rates as is necessary without levying a further toll upon the products of the plow. The instance seems to pre sent an opportunity to the Railroad between agricultural and other classe of freight without disturbing the rates on staple farm products.

Conserve Soil Fertility. are making plans for the coming seaso espenially the farmers. When working on program for the coming season. Why not resolve to keep more cows? Bear in mind that when the grain of your fields is sold instead of fed, it robs the soil fertility of $6. 44 per acre, per year. When 100 pounds of crop is fed for beef, it produces five pounds of mest. When fed for milk, it produces 29 4 pounds, of solids or "mest equivalents."

All of the elements of soil fertility are in the skim milk, none in the butter fat. Use that milk for making cheese, and the soil fertility lost is equal-to the loss when the grain is sold and the straw burned. Use that milk for butter, and feed the skim milkito hogs, using the straw for bedding, thus practically "All the soil estility is kept on the farm."

It is more essential to conserve the soil rertitiv than to accumulate a bank ecount. Quite a number of our farmers re awakening to the importance of the dairy. Those that have gone into it xtensively are finding it a money making proposition. A few are hanging back for fear that the butter business will be over done. In this great country of untimited rescources and rapidly increasing population that is an impossibility. " dairy at full prices. And we will gladly seciet you in any and every way in our power. Therefor, resolve that you will increase your herd by ope or more

Sows this year. Yours for business, MANCHESTER CREAMERY CO.

Besides being on duty as an officer of militia, Callomb was a Kentuckian, interested in the problems of his commonwealth, and, when he went back he knew that his cousin, who occupied the executive mansion at Frankfort, would be interested in his suggestions The governor had asked him to report his impressions, and he meant to, after analyzing them.

So, emarting under his impotency

Captain Callomb came out of his tent one morning, and strolled across the curved bridge to the town proper. He knew that the grand jury was convening, and he meant to sit as a spectator in the courthouse and study proceedings when they were instructed,

But before he reached the courthouse, where for a half-hour yet ummons to veniremen and witnesses, he found fresh fuel for his wrath.

He was not a popular man with these clansmen, though involuntarily he had been useful in leading their victims to the slaughter. There was a scowl in his eyes that they did not like, and an arrogant hint of iron laws in the livery he wore, which their in stincts distrusted.

Callomb saw without being told that over the town lay a sense of portentous tidings. Faces were more sullen than usual. Men fell into scowling knots and groups. A clerk at a store where he stopped for tobacco nquired as he made change

"Heerd the news, stranger?" "What news?"

"This here 'Wildcat' Samson South come back yistiddy, an' last evenin' towards sundown, Jesse Purvy an Aaron Hollis was shot dead."

For an instant, the soldier stood looking at the young clerk, his eyes kindling into a wrathful blaze. Then he cursed under his breath. At the door, he turned on his heel:

"Where can Judge Smithers be found at this time of day?" he de manded.

CHAPTER XV.

The Honorable Abe Smithers was not the regular judge of the circuit which numbered Hixon among its county seats. The elected incumbent was ill, and Smithers had been name as his pro-tem successor. Callomb climbed to the second story of the frame bank building and pounded loudly on a door, which bore the boldly typed-shingle:

"Asa Smithers, Attorney-at-Law." The temporary judge admitted a visitor in uniform, whose countenance was stormy with indignant protest. The judge himself was placed and smil- Hollis. "Until the grand jury acts I don't see that we can take any stens." "And," stormed Captain Callomb

"the grand jury will, like former grandfuries, lie down in terror and inactivity. Either there are no courageous en in your county, or these panels are selected to avoid including them.

Judge Smithers' face darkened. If he was a moral coward, he was at crouching behind seeming of fearlessness.

"Captain," he said, coolly, but with a dangerous hint of warning. "I don't see that your duties include contempt of conrt.

Give me the word and I'll go out and bring that man, and any others you name, to your bar of justice -if it is a bar of justice! For God's sake, give me something else to do than to bring in prisoners to be shot down in cold blood.'

The judge sat balancing a pencil on his extended forefinger, as though it were a scale of justice.

"You have been heated in your la guage, sir," he said, sternly, "but it is a heat arising from an indignation which I share. Consequently, I pass it over. I cannot instruct you to arrest Samson South before the grand jury has accused him. The law does not contemplate hasty or unadvised action All men are innocent until proven guilty. If the grand jury wants South 'll instruct you to go and get him. Until then, you may leave my part of the work to me."

His honor rose from his chair. jury such instructions on murder as will point out their duty. You can assure them that the militia will protect them. Through your prosecutor you can bring evidence to their attention, you-"

Callomb laughed ironically. "No, I could have told you that be fore you conferred with them. I could have told you that they prefer to be their own courts and executioners, except where they need you. They also preferred to have me get a man they couldn't take themselves, and then to assassinate him in my hands. Who in "Shall I have him come?" he in-

"Have him come?" he echoed. "Hell and damnation, no! What do we want him to come here and spill the milk for? When we get ready, we'll indict him. Then, let your damned soldiers

After that, we'll continue this The judge shook his head, and his case until these outsiders go away, and we can operate to suit ourselves We don't fall for Samson South's tricks. No, sir; you never got that letter! It miscarried. Do you hear? You never got it."

Smithers nodded grudging acqui escence. Most men would rather be independent officials than collar-wear-

Out on Misery Samson South had gladdened the soul of his uncle with his return. The old man was mending, long time, the two had talked. The failing head of the clan looked vainly for signs of degeneration in his nephew, and, failing to find them, was happy.

"Hev ye decided, Samson," he inmired "that we was right in ver no tion, 'bout goin' away?" Samson sat reflectively for a while,

then replied:

"No!" Callomb was now thoroughly and both wrong. This is my place angered, and his voice rose. "I am but if I'm to take up the leadership it sent down here subject to your orders, must be in a different fashion. Changes and it seems you are also subject to are coming. We can't any longer stand

> "I reckon there's right smart truth to that," he acknowledged. "I've been studyin' 'bout hit consid'able myself of late. Thar's been sev'ral fellers through the country talkin' coal an timber an' railroads—an' sich like."

> Sally went to mill that Saturday nd with her rode Samson. There, be sides Wile McCager, he met Wiley and several others. At first they received him skeptically, but they knew of the visit to Purvy's store, and they were willing to admit that in part at least he had erased the blot from his escutcheon. Then, too, except for cropped hair and a white skin, he had come back as he had gone, in homespun and hickory. There was nothing highfalutin in his manners. In short the impression was good.

"I reckon now that ye're back Samson," suggested McCager, "an' see in' how yere Uncle Spicer is gettin' along all right, I'll jest let the two of "You can at least give this grand ye run things. I've done had enough. It was a simple fashion of resigning a regency, but effectual.

So. Samson slipped back, tentative ly, at least, into his place as clan head, though for a time he found it a post without action. After the fierce out burst of bloodshed, quiet had settled and it was tacitly understood that, unless the Hollman forces had some coup in mind which they were secreting, this peace would last until the soldiers were withdrawn.

"When the world's a-lookin'," com mented Judge Hollman, "hit's a right good idea to crawl under a log-an' lay still." Purvy had been too famous a feudist to pass unsung. Reporters came as far as Hixon, gathered there such news as the Hollmans chose to give them, and went back to write lurid stories and description, from hear say, of the stockaded seat of tragedy Nor did they overlook the dramatic coincidence of the return of "Wildcat" Samson South from civilization to savagery. They made no accusation, but they pointed an inference and a moral as they thought. It was a sermon on the triumph of heredity over the advantages of environment. Adrienne read some of these saffron misrepre sentations, and they distressed her.

Meanwhile, it came insistently to the ears of Captain Callomb that some plan was on foot, the intricacies of which he could not fathom, to manufacture a case against a number of the Souths, quite apart from their actual guilt, or likelihood of guilt. Once more, he would be called upon to go out and drag in men too well fortified to be taken by the posses and deputies of the Hollman civil machinery.
At this news, he chafed bitterly, and, still rankling with a sense of shame at the loss of his first prisoner, he formed plan of his own, which he revealed over his pipe to his first lieutenan

"There's a nigger in the woodpile, Merriweather," he said. "We are simply being used to do the dirty work up here, and I'm going to do a little ng of my own. 'I guess I'll turn the company over to you for a day or

As Callomb rode up he saluted and the mounted figure with perfect gravlittle confused. ity and correctness returned sainte as one officer to another. The captain was surprised. Where had mountaineer with the steady and the clean-cut isw learned the niceties of military etiquette?

Samson laughed. "Not any part of the mountains," he said. "I've been living chiefly in New York-and for a time in Paris.' Callomb drew his horse to a dead

"I knew it," exclaimed the soldier. "I knew that I was being fed on lies! That's why I came. I wanted to get the straight of it, and I felt that the colution lay over here."

They rode the rest of the way in deep conversation. Samson outlined his ambitions for his people. He told, too, of the scene that had been enacted at Purvy's store. Callomb listened with absorption, feeling that the narrative bore axiomatic truth on its face.

At last he inquired:
"Did you succeed up there—as

"What caused the change of heart? I thought Purvy's people didn't want it done." It was Callomb's first allusion, except for his apology, to their former altercation.

For an instant only, Smithers was "To be quite frank with you, Callomb," he said, "I got to thinking over the matter in the light of your own viewpoint, and, after due deliberation came to see that to the state at large it might bear the same appearance. So, I had the grand jury take the matter up. We must stamp out such lawless ness as Samson South stands for. He s the more dangerous because he has

At nightfall, he came to the house of the clan head "South," he said to Samson, when he had led him aside, "they didn't want to hear what you had to tell the grand jury, but they are going ahead to indict you on manufactured evi dence."

Samson was for a moment thought ful, then he nodded.

We haven't the right to spend men's lives in fighting each other, when we are the only two men in this entanglement who are in per fect accord—and honest."

The mountaineer spent some min utes in silent self-debate. The working of his face under the play of alternat ing doubt, resolution, hatred and insurgency, told the militiaman what a struggle was progressing. At last, Samson's eyes cleared with an expression of discovered solution.

"All right, Callomb," he said, briefly, 'you won't find me!" He smiled, as he added: "Make as thorough a needn't be perfunctory or superficial. LESSON TEXT-I Samuel 3:1-18, 19, 20. GOLDEN TEXT-Speak, Jehovah; for thy servant heareth.—I Samuel 3:9, R. V. Samuel was the last judge and the first of the order of prophets. His name means "asked of God," and he was dedicated to God (1:11) as a Nazarite. In fulfillment of his mother's yow he was brought to the temple when he was a young child (1:24), Josephus says, at twelve years of age. Hannah's song of rejoicing (2:1-10) is the expression of a great soul and a choice piece of literature. Samue had the advantage of being well born, but after studying Eli's household we are not so confident as to the environnent amid which he was placed.

I. Samuel's Vision, vv. 1-10. The young child entered heartily into the temple worship and duties as directed by the aged priest, Eli. This man was not faithful in giving the people the word of God. "It was rare" (margin) and the result was that "there was no trequent vision" (R. V.). The word is also "precious" (v. 1; Ps. 19:9, 10), though when it is as common as it is in this land men frequently set but little store by it. God will judge men for such laxity even as he judged Israel (Amos 8:4-6, 11, 12). A vision is a knowledge of a need and of the resources at our command. Eli and nis sons had no vision and a people lacking in this direction perish (Prov known to Israel his will and in so doing he passes over this indulgent father and chooses the child Samuel. Teach ableness and obedience are the chief characteristics of childhood and these traits count for more with God than oes age or experience (Matt. 11;25 I Tim 4:12 Matt 21:6). Samuel had not acquired the conceit of youth, he was faithful to his duties, respectful to his elders and did not boast of his accomplishments nor of the special revelation which came to him. Samnel slept in the holy place of the "sa cred tent" near Eli, for the great temple was not yet built. As such he is a type for the Christian (Ps. 27:4) It was there that the Lord revealed himself to him (John 1:14 R. V. mar gin). One of Samuel's duties as the special attendant of Eli was to open the house of God every morning, also to tend the sacred lamn which burned from evening to morning (Ex. 27:20 1). As he attended to these duties God made himself known to Samue (v. 4). God frequently calls men and Est Less Mest If Kidneys Hurt or You they are not at home but have gone into the far country. Samuel knew God as every devout worshiper kney him, but had not yet received a direct revelation, hence he "did not yet know Jehovah." Thinking at once of the priest, Samuel ran to receive orders or to render service. Had he disregarded the voice he would not in the end have received his clear revelation for further sleep or to have risen hesi tatingly would, in all probability, have prevented any further calls (Prov 1:24, 25, 28). God wants, for special services, those who make glad response to his first call-(Isa, 6:8; Luke ):59-62; Acts 9:6). Three times the call comes and three times Samue makes reply. There are three periods in the unfolding life that are most sus ceptible to the leading of the Holy Roirit Nine to twelve fourteen and ifteen, sevent particularly open to impressions, espe cially if the child has had a religious atmosphere and training.

The teacher needs to be ever alert te take advantage of these opports nities to unfold and enforce the claims of Christ and to challenge an imme diate decision of the soul. Happy are they who like Samuel hear and recognize, even though it be a progressive revelation, the voice of Jehovah, and hearing, obey it. There is little need at present for the audible voice, for we have the word and the still small voice of the Holy Spirit. The voice Samuel heard became a vision (v. 15). The Bible everywhere assumes that God speaks to men. We do not find him so much by searching for him, for he is made known ("manifested") in the person of his Son (I John 1:1. 2: John 17:6). God's calls to service may come at any period, but frequent ly they come very early. Hudson Tay or founder of the wonderful China Inland mission, received his call at seventeen. Eli in times past must have heard Jehovah speak, else he would not have recognized who it was that was speaking to Samuel (chapter 2:27). Samuel's call was to service to be a prophet. Our commission is to witness and to serve (Mark 16:15). Samuel received Jehovah's word not at Ell's side but in his own resting place: so God would speak to us when in our own place where he has put us. If ie well for us to be sure we are truly hearing the voice of God (John

II. Jehovah's Verdict, ve 11-13-19. 20. The chapter following tells of the defeat of Israel, the capture of the ark and the death of Eli and his sons. These were the things "at which both the ears of everyone that heareth it shall tingle." The word of Jehovah stands fast, and what he speaks that he performs "from the beginning even unto the end" (Luke 21:32, Numbers 23:19). The word of Jehovah to Samuel about the house of Ell was one calculated to strike terror and silence into the lad's heart. Eli was not igno rant of the wickedness of his sons (2:27-26). Ell learns from Samuel Jehovah's message. Eli was a great and good man, submissive to God's will, but he was a weak man, rather than just piously resigned. He might better have prayed for mercy strength to deal with his wicked some regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleenlessness, bladder, disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of ediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water bekidneys will then act fine. This fa-mous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity also to nentralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending ladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervesent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

It is sometimes said that you can make any horse a good walker when you break him. That is not always do it before they are born.

It is easy to hang up your harness if you once get into the habit of it. How many friends do you know that drop them on the floor? The reason the varnish is coming off your wagon or carriage may be that you keep it in the room where horses are stabled. The chemicals from horse manure and urine will do it every time.

MOLDY FEED IS DANGEROUS

ers Are Losing Cattle From Eat ing Acorns—Take Precautio to Keep Poisons Out.

It is dangerous to give molded or spoiled hay and other feeds to live stock, especially horses. Such feed is apt to cause sickness and even death. We have heard of instances where farmers have lost a number of valuable animals from this cause. Care should be exercised to see that all feed is in good condition. Hay put up whe too damp may mold, corn and oats often harbor various kinds of fungous stock, and corn silage when improper ly stored may cause trouble. The food an animal eats has a marked influence upon its physical well-being. We are informed that, in Wisconsin farmers are losing cattle from eating acorns picked up in the pastures. Young cattle are particularly affected. Sheep and hogs can eat the acorns without bad effects, and milch cows seldom die from this cause, but young calves are poisoned and little can be done for them. It is the part of wisdom to take precautions to keep feeds known to be dangerous away from animals, and give them only that which is in good and sound condition -Farmer's Guide

Sinister Significance in Occupations of Men Who Had Invited Politician to Address Them.

A political speaker who had received an invitation from the leaders of his party in a distant village, before replying, sought to discover what sort of reception he would be likely to receive, and placed the letter of invitation before a friend whom he knew came from the same district.

Simple, Living - Economy

Isn't scrimping one's food, or subsisting on an unpalatable diet, but it's cutting out indigestible, surplus quantities; and planning meals to balance up essential food values.

The ordinary diet is generally deficient in some of these values, such as the mineral elements, the lack of which is often responsible for anemia, listlessness, nervous breakdown, and general inefficiency.

A daily ration of

has been a boon to thousands. Made of prime, hard wheat and malted barley, it contains all the nutriment including the vital mineral elements, phosphate of potash, etc., which Nature has bountifully stored in these rich food grains.

Grape Nuts is long-baked, very easy to digest, and comes ready to eat from the package. A crisp, appetizing food that combines good, simple living and true economy.

The Texas Farmers' Union regis

4, 1914, by resolution, which we quote

"The matter of prime importance to the farmers of this state is an ade-quate and efficient marketing system;

and we recognize that such a system is impossible without adequate rail-road facilities, embracing the greatest amount of service at the least pos-sible cost. We further recognize that the farmers and producers in the end pay approximately 95 per cent of the expenses of operating the railroads, and it is therefore to the interest of the producers that the expenses of the common carriers be as small as is possible, consistent with good service and safety. We, therefore, call upon our law-makers, courts and juries to bear the foregoing facts in mind when dealing with the common carriers of this state, and we do especially reaffirm the declarations of the last annual convention of our State Union, opposing the passage of the so-called 'full-crew' bill before the thirty-third legislature of Texas."

The farmers of Missouri in the last election, by an overwhelming majority, swept this law off the statute book of that state, and it should come off of all statute books where it appears and no legislature of this nation should pass such a law or similar legislation which requires un-

The same rule applies to all regulatory measures which increase the expenses of industry without giving corresponding benefits to the public. There is ofttimes a body of men assembled at legislatures—and they have a right to be there—who, in their zeal for rendering their fellow-associates a service, sometimes favor an increase in the expenses of in-dustry without due regard for the men who bow their backs to the summer's sun to meet the payroll, but these committees, while making a record for themselves, rub the skin of the shoulders of the farmer by urging the legislature to lay another burden upon his heavy load and under the lash of "be it enacted" goad him on to pull and surge at the traces of civilization, no matter how he may sweat, foam and gall at the task. When legislatures "cut a melon" for labor they hand the farmer a lemon.

A CALL-UPON THE LAW MAKERS TO PREVENT USELESS TAX UPON AGRICULTURE.

> By Peter Radford cturer National Farmers' Union

The farmer is the paymaster o industry and as such he must meet the nation's rayroll. When industry pays its viil it must make a sigh draft upon agriculture for the amount which the farmer is compelled to honor without protest. This check drawn upon agriculture may travel t and fro over the highways of commerce; may build cities; girdle the clobe with bands of steel: may seare hidden treasures in the earth or raverse the skies, but in the end i ill rest upon the soil. No dollar ill remain suspended in midair; it is is certain to seek the earth's surfac as an apple that falls from a tree.
