a fall. Prov. 16:18 Solomon's kingdom though outward y magnificent contained within it those germs of oppression, formal religious observances and the lax example of an indulgent monarch which speedily led to its disruption after his death. Forty years Solomon reigned, but the latter end of his life was none too peaceful. "He loved many strange women" and "his heart was not perlect with the Lord his God" (11:1, 4). Rezon was his "adversary" (11:25) and Jeroboam whom he at first sought to conciliate (11:26-28) was finally driven from the land (v. 40). Chapter eleven contains the prophecy of which this lesson is the fulfillment. "And Rehoboam, his son, reigned in his stead" (11:43). I. The Convention at Shechem. WV.

AUTO DRIVERS TO ATTEMPT TO LOWER RECORDS

State Fair Races Will Attract Speed Demons.

Manufacturers of motorcars are taking a more active interest in racing contests than ever before, and several shattered this summer, according to President G. W. Dickinson of the International Motor Contest association who is also secretary and general manager of the Michigan State Fair, at which speed contests will be featured next September. Noted drivers from all over the country have signified their intention of being at Detroit for the State Fair races and that the events will be closely contested is certain.

Future of Racing Is Assured. "With the new rules adopted by the International Motor Speed Contest association, and dirt track racing upon a basis that practically guarantees the greatest possible protection to driver and car, as well as spectator, the future of dirt track racing says Mr. Dickinson. "In the early days of dirt track sport way back in 1902 the speed of the machine had not reached a developmen equal to the speed possibilities of the track. When Alexander Winton's Bullet No. 1 traveled a mile in 1:064-5 there was a great deal more comment throughout the country than there is today when a racing car breaks a world's record, but the driver was not called upon to take the chances then as now. Before many months had passed the mark for the mile had been re duced to one minute flat by Barney Oldfield, and then followed a series of speed trials which sent the records for all distances down to points where ev ery attempt to beat them meant a

"Louis Chevrolet invade ning from abroad with his 90 Fiet-Earl Kizer not only defeated Oldfield, but won more races than any other man engaged in dirt track rac ing during the season of 1905, until he was injured in Cleveland. Web Jay, piloting the White Steamer, known as the "Whistling Billie," drove the fastest mile that ever had been negotiated on a mile track, being credited with a mark under 50 seconds. The record was made on Morris park track, New York, and was never officially recognized. Louis Chevrolet, the same year and at about the same time, establish ed an official mark of 522-5 seconds with his Fiat.

Disbrow Holds Record "The mile track record made by Chevrolet stood until Walter Christie lowered it at St. Paul, Minn., during the first race meet ever held in connec tion with a state fair. Ralph De Palma in 1998 and 1909 made successful onslaughts and finally, in 1910, Barney Oldfield again came to the front and drove the first mile under fifty seconds that ever had been negotiated on a cir-cular track. Ralph De Palma and Bob Burman came right back at the veteran and knocked the figures below forty-eight seconds, and then Louis Dishrow, who had suddenly blossomed out in 1912 as a dirt track star, sent the record to the lowest figure it has eve officially reached, the present record of "The manufacturer of pleasure cars is beginning to see the importance of this type of contest, and a half down will give their support to the bi circular course meets in 1915."
