COTTON DECLARED TO BE CONTRABAND

ALLIES WILL TAKE THAT POSITION IS LEARNED AT WASHINGTON.

U. S. GROWERS WILL PROTEST

England Claims That Much Cotton Has Gotten Into Germany Through Neutral Ports in Denmark and Holland.

Washington—The Allies' intention to declare cotton contraband has been communicated unofficially but authoritatively to the state department.

The department's advice is that the decision has been reached and the delay in making an announcement is due to the necessity of arranging uniform treatment of the subject by all the Allies.

The step has been agreed upon by Great Britain, France, Russia, Italy and Belgium, but Japan's attitude has not been defined and she may decide that no action is called for from her at this time.

Ever since the application of the British order in council to cotton, among other American products, the Entente Allies have felt that some more effective and less burdensome method must be found for dealing with cotton and preventing its entry into Germany and Austria.

Under the order in council such a cargo if captured was merely taken into a British port and paid for by the British government.

It is expected that some sort of an arrangement will be proposed by which the Allies will engage to allow cotton to travel unmolested to neutral countries in quantities in proportion to their normal consumption.

The cotton interests have for some time been alarmed at the prospect and it is known that the state department has been preparing to resist the new move with every means at the command of diplomacy.

BRITISH AND FRENCH LEADERS MEET

WOULD HELP FARMER

Government Plans to Mortgage Forests' Future Income.

Washington—The secretary of agriculture's plan to anticipate future receipts from the national forests by securing an advance of money from congress for the construction of roads, trails, bridges, and other public works would stimulate agricultural development and would relieve many struggling communities from their present burdens of taxation.

An assessment of two dollars was levied against the graveyard for the East Alton drainage and levee district. It was to be paid in annual installments of twenty-three cents.

The trustees of the cemetery had had little money for its upkeep and for the past year or so J. W. Carey, former treasurer of the drainage board, has paid the twenty-three cents out of his own pocket.

Auburn—A peculiar form of blood poisoning among employees in a limestone quarry was reported by Dr. John H. Whitbeck, health officer of Cayuga. Fifty men have been stricken. Six are in a hospital and one will probably die.

According to Doctor Whitbeck, the malady is caused by the blasted stone. Horses cut by particles also were infected.

Men and Horses Made Sick by Flying Particles When Limestone Is Blasted.

Millions of acres of farm land are today undeveloped because of a lack of good roads. In opening any new country road building constitutes a hard problem for the settlers.

The government is trying to meet this problem in two ways, first, by public improvements being made on the national forests, and second by the direct contribution to the counties of a share in the forest receipts.

Up to date the forest service has constructed on the forests more than 2,300 miles of roads, 21,000 miles of trails, nearly 600 bridges, and 18,000 miles of telephone lines.

Every one of these improvements benefits settlers and ranchers. In addition, there is appropriated annually for the use of the counties in which the national forests lie 25 per cent of the gross receipts from timber sales and other sources to be used for road and school purposes.

Some of the individual forests are bringing in over $100,000 a year, and the business of the entire national forest system is increasing so that this direct contribution to community building is rapidly growing. In fact, already a total of nearly $300,000 is obtained from the forests every year for county, road and school purposes.

Workers Find Coffin. Ladoga, Ind.—The remains of a coffin containing some fragments of human bones were unearthed here by workers excavating for a cellar in New Ross. The grave was not near a cemetery. About fifty years ago a man named Noffsinger disappeared mysteriously from New Ross and was not seen nor heard from afterward.

Residents of New Ross believe he met with foul play and was buried in the woods, which then covered the land where the grave was found.

GRAVEYARD IS FOR SALE

Milton Burving Ground, Oldest in St. Louis, to Be Sold for "a Song."

St. Louis—Anybody wish to buy a cemetery for sixty-eight cents? One is to be sold at public auction, for taxes and costs to cover the amount.

It is the old Milton burying ground, with an area of three-tenths of an acre, a quarter of a mile north of East Alton, the oldest grave in which is that of John Milton, who died in 1812.

An assessment of two dollars was levied against the graveyard for the East Alton drainage and levee district. It was to be paid in annual installments of twenty-three cents.

The trustees of the cemetery had had little money for its upkeep and for the past year or so J. W. Carey, former treasurer of the drainage board, has paid the twenty-three cents out of his own pocket.

KAISER AND ARCHDUKE

So grave was the situation at Lemberg before the Teutons drove the Russian forces before them that the German kaiser deemed it advisable to appear on the scene of action in person. The Archduke Frederick of Austria was on a similar mission to urge the Austrian troops on. After the recognition by the Russians the kaiser and the archduke met to felicitate one another on the valor of their men.

STUDENTS EARN WAY

Jobs at New Haven Net Scholars $37,146.

Work for 2,007 Obtained by Bureau of Appointments, According to Report—Some Make $300 a Year.

New Haven—Yale students who worked their way through college last year earned a total of $37,146.88 in positions obtained for them by the bureau of appointments of Yale university, according to the first report of that bureau.

During the year the bureau assisted 600 students who applied for work. In the cases of three-fourths of the men applying the bureau provided for work and scholarship aid sufficient to make the assets for the year equal to the total necessary expenses.

Typewriting and stenographic work furnished the most profitable means of employment and the newspaper bureau brought good results. Owing to the discussion that arose concerning tutoring this means was not pushed vigorously. Next year, according to arrangements made by the faculty, there will be a regular tutoring school attached to the university.

The record kept of the amounts earned by students shows that a total of 2,007 jobs were given out during the nine months of the university year from which the men reported total earnings of $19,646.88, and 175 positions were furnished for students for the summer, from which the estimated total income is $17,500.

This, of course, does not include the large amount of income of men from work which they have continued on jobs obtained through the bureau in previous years, or the earnings from the large amount of work which men have found for themselves about the city. On the basis of this computation it is estimated about seven hundred students in the university support themselves and earn approximately $300 a year each at Yale.

They engaged in all kinds of work. There were 318 ushers, 93 did clerical work, 73 were waiters, and included in other classes of work are carpenters, caring for furnaces, gardening, collecting, clerical work in dining halls, music and clerking in stores.

Twenty-five men canvassed for names for a woman's suffrage petition presented to the Connecticut legislature; five acted as models for artists, for classes in anatomy and for an underwear manufacturing company; fifteen acted as pallbearers, fifty were "supers" in theatrical entertainments, five were professional partners at dances.

One man worked for the Winchester Repeating Arms company, doing a twelve-hour shift six nights a week, and he completed a regular year of law school work. Others gave sleight of hand performances, played in orchestras, served as inspectors for the anti-fur campaign, acted as doorkeepers at weddings, etc. One gathered newspaper clippings at 50 cents a clipping of the record of every competitive event between Yale and Harvard to settle an argument between a Yale graduate and a Harvard graduate. FIGHT ON WHITE PLAGUE IS BEGUN

DIRECTOR OF CAMPAIGN CHOSEN BY STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

HOSPITALS WILL BE BUILT

Dr. A. A. Spoor Chosen to Succeed Dr. Holm As Bacteriologist, Latter to Head New Laboratory.

Lansing—The tuberculosis campaign by the state board of health is in full swing. Dr. William Dekleine, of Grand Haven, was employed by the board, in session Friday night, as director of the campaign and began active work Monday at a salary of $250 a month.

At a special meeting held in Ann Arbor Monday nurses were hired by a committee of the state board, composed of Drs. V. S. Vaughan, Ann Arbor; H. S. Bartholomew, Lansing; John H. Kellogg, Battle Creek, and John S. Burkart, Lansing.

Following the selection of nurses, Dr. Dekleine assigned them to various parts of the state to do emergency work until more definite plans are made.

It is the aim of the state board to lose no time in assisting those who have tuberculosis, and within a short time hospitals will be installed in several sections of the state. The board has $50,000 to spend in the work this year and a like amount for 1916, in addition to contributions that will be received from private individuals.

Some surprise was occasioned by the action of the state board Friday night in naming Dr. A. A. Spoor, of Big Rapids, to succeed Dr. M. L. Holm, of Lansing, as state bacteriologist, but Dr. Holm was selected as head of the state laboratory at Houghton at the same salary he is now receiving—$2,000 a year. Dr. Spoor will receive the same amount for his work at the Lansing laboratory.

The upper peninsula laboratory has not been built as yet. It is the plan of the state board to have Dr. Holm superintend the construction of the laboratory for which the last legislature made an appropriation.

MAN DROWNED AT CAMP ABBEY

Appendicitis and Diphtheria Also Inevitably Grayling Reservation.

Camp Abby, Grayling—The gayety that marks the annual outing of the Michigan National Guard, in a camp here, was marred Saturday by three misfortunes, one of them a fatality.

Quartermaster Sergeant Harry Kain, 201 West Washington street, Kalamazoo, was drowned shortly before noon. He had got out in a rowboat with a number of comrades to a log about 500 feet from shore. All jumped overboard and started to swim ashore. Kain dove and failed to rise. His comrades went after him and pulled him up after three minutes. He was hurried to shore and the hospital corps worked over him for an hour and a half, but every effort to save him failed. There is no pulmotor in camp. As a result of the fatality it was said that an effort would be made to obtain one.

Corporal Evans, of Kalamazoo, was stricken with appendicitis and was operated on at Grayling. Private Rose, of Muskegon, was attacked by a slight case of diphtheria which was promptly attended to by the medical staff.

BOY'S HEAD BLOWN OFF

Hilledale—Harold Omo, aged 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Omo, who live three miles and a half south-east of Montgomery, on the Camden-Reading road, was killed Thursday when a companion, Roy Haines, accidentally discharged a shotgun, blowing Omo's head off. Haines and Harold and Don Omo had been shooting rabbits. Haines is the son of Ezra Haines and is nearly prostrated.

EXPECT TO BREAK RECORDS

"Wild Bill" Endicott Among the Speed Demons Who Will Make Auto Races One of Big Features of Exposition at Detroit.

Dirt track automobile racing is becoming less dangerous and more popular every year, according to Dr. W. Dickinson, general manager of the Michigan State Fair, who announces that plans are being rapidly completed for the speed contests which will be held during the 1915 exposition at Detroit, Sept. 6 to 15.

Noted Drivers to Compete. Noted drivers from all parts of the country will enter the races and the events in which attempts will be made to shatter dirt track records. The prizes will total several thousand dollars. "Wild Bill" Endicott is among the drivers of space eating vehicles who will be at Detroit this fall.

The State Fair races will be governed by the rules of the International Motor Contest association, of which Mr. Dickinson is president. State Fair races in practically all the middle western states will be held under the auspices of the I. M. C. A.

Accidents Less Frequent. Mr. Dickinson says that automobile racing had its beginning on the dirt track, and he believes that the sport will continue to be more popular than ever now that accidents are becoming less frequent, rules having been adopted which have had the effect of making the contests much less dangerous.

A physician will examine every driver to determine whether the autoists are in the best physical condition, and the cars will be examined by mechanical experts.

Most Valuable Vegetable Patch in All New York

NEW YORK.—That there is a farm at Fifth avenue and Fifty-ninth street—where every inch of ground is figuratively speaking covered by gold dollars—will undoubtedly be surprising news to the majority of residents of this city. Yet a flourishing vegetable garden is located there on what is the most highly valued plot of ground in the city. While it does not produce for the general public, it supplies vegetables for a goodly number of persons who enjoy a privilege cherished and desired by nearly everybody—of picking vegetables from the garden for immediate consumption.

It will also be surprising to learn that the soil of Manhattan island, taking this plot as a sample, is rich in possibilities for farm land. This is the opinion of the Fifth avenue farmer, who says he has found the soil so good that it can produce bumper crops. The "farm" is located in the plaza at Fifth avenue and Fifty-ninth street, and is surrounded by a marble fence, which, of course, is to be expected for such a farm in such a neighborhood. It is titled by "Tony" Lusso, and he is proud of it. It is also right in front of the Vanderbilt mansion.

"Tony" is in charge of several Italian workmen, who are engaged in constructing the Pulitzer water fountain. It was he who conceived the idea of utilizing the ground that had been stripped of the concrete and he laid out several garden beds. These beds were planted to onions, radishes, lettuce and spinach on the west side of the fountain, while on the east side he has two thriving tomato beds, also one of beets and another devoted to cabbage.

At noon daily the men employed at the place go to the "farm" and get enough onions, radishes, tomatoes, beets, etc., for their luncheon. While the horny-handed sons of toil are gathering the succulent vegetables, and while they are seated on the lawn eating them, many a wealthy man and woman from palatial apartment house or hotel, passing along the avenue, looks at the laborers with envy ill concealed, and later sits down to consume with poor appetites vegetables that have been garnered for days, passed through numerous hands and often refrigerated until all the freshness and taste has been taken from them.

Truly, "Tony" and his gang are fortunate mortals these days.

Young Lad Hunts Yaqui Indians in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA.—With a prayerbook hidden in his breast pocket and a loaded revolver concealed in his blouse, between his shoulder blades, Paul Merrill, thirteen years old, came to Philadelphia from Tamaqua, Pa., to spread the fear of God among the Yaqui Indians. Lordly self-restraint alone kept Paul from shooting up the policeman who took him in tow.

Paul was found loitering in the neighborhood of Rittenhouse square early in the evening by a policeman, who took him to the police station. There it was found that he was carrying a razor in one of his pockets. Paul looked on with a condescending smile as the detectives drew from his pockets four vicious-looking knives, a pocketbook containing $6, some cards bearing pictures of the holy family and a prayer book.

The detectives thought they had unearthed all the boy's arsenal, and were concluding their search when Detective Rich accidentally felt a curious lump between his shoulder blades. It proved to be a large revolver, fully loaded.

At the discovery, some twenty or thirty detectives who had crowded into the room set up a howl. They refused to believe that Paul had not hidden still more weapons on his person until they had examined the linings of his new cap, peered into his mouth, probed his ears and stood him on his head to see if he were sequestering any submarine torpedoes.

Paul was untruffed. He said that his father was a Hungarian laborer, who lived at Tamaqua, and that he had received the revolver from his father, who told him to go West and shoot the Indians, as they were no good, anyway.

Bank That Got Her Money Must Welcome Her Dog

OMAHA.—It was evidently a case of "love me love my dog" with a well-dressed young woman who breezed into the postal savings room of the local post office the other day. Her coming was heralded by the rustling of silks and the jingling of a bunch of silver bangles in her hand.

"You have no objection to my having Fanchette with me while I deposit some money in the postal savings bank, have you?" she inquired of Miss Louise Grant, the clerk.

"I think not," said Miss Grant.

"There, I knew the government wouldn't object," was the triumphant reply. "And those other banks that think they're too fine for my dear little dog to walk on their marble floors will just miss my patronage."

"I'll fasten Fanchette to the leg of this table while I get my money out. Do you know, my dear, I applied at two banks, and in each case some horrid person of a watchman wouldn't let me stay because I had this dear little dog with me. Oh, I was furious. And then I thought of the government bank. And here I am."

U.S. ANSWERS NOTE ON WAR SUPPLIES

CONTROVERSY OVER SHIPPING ARMS TO ALLIES IS ENDED.

STRONG STAND IS TAKEN

This Government Takes View That Embargo on Munitions Would Force Nations to Store Arms in Times of Peace.

Washington.—A communication, in the form of a reply to the Austria-Hungarian protest against the shipping of war supplies to the Allies by American manufacturers, was made public Monday morning. Vienna is informed that this government will not consider an embargo on this shipping. While President Wilson in this note, as in all others to European governments on the war issues, takes his stand firmly upon the principles involved and upon the usage of nations, he introduces another feature which by many is regarded as the most striking of the note. The president bases his refusal to consider the Austrian suggestion on the principal grounds of its effect upon the ability of the United States to meet a foe in the event of war.

This government tells Austria that it has been the policy of the United States from the foundation of the republic not to maintain in time of peace a large military establishment or stores of arms and ammunition; that the United States has, in fact, always depended upon the right and power to purchase arms and ammunition from neutral nations in case of foreign attack.

The following are pertinent paragraphs of the communication: "In this connection it is pertinent to direct the attention of the imperial and royal government to the fact that Austria-Hungary and Germany, particularly the latter, have during the years preceding the present European war produced a surplus of arms and ammunition which they sold throughout the world and especially to belligerents. Never during that period did either of them suggest or apply the principle now advocated by the imperial and royal government."

"Perceiving, as it does, that the adoption of the principle that it is the duty of a neutral to prohibit the sale of arms and ammunition to a belligerent during the progress of a war would inevitably give the advantage to the belligerent which encouraged the manufacture of munitions in vast stores of arms and ammunition in anticipation of war, the government of the United States is convinced that the adoption of the theory would force militarism on the world and work against that universal peace which is the desire and purpose of all nations which exact justice and right progress in their relations with one another."

"In view of the positive assertion in the statement of the imperial and royal government as to the unanimity of the text writers as to the exportation of contraband being unneutral, this government has caused a careful examination of the principal authorities on international laws to be made. As a result of this examination it has come to the conclusion that the imperial and royal government has been misled and has inadvertently made an erroneous assertion. Less than one-fifth of the authorities advocate unreservedly the prohibition of the export of contraband. Several of those who constitute this minority admit that the practice of nations has been otherwise. It may not be inopportune to direct particular attention to the declaration of the German authority, Paul Jenicke, who states that, at the beginning of a war, belligerents have never remonstrated against the enactment of prohibitions on trade in contraband but adds 'but such prohibitions may be considered as violations of neutrality or at least as unfriendly acts, if they are enacted during a war with the purpose to close unexpectedly the sources of supply to a party which heretofore had relied on them.'"

"The government of the United States deems it unnecessary to extend further, at the present time, a statement to the Austrian-Hungarian government. The principles of international law, the practice of nations, the national safety of the United States and other nations without great military and naval establishments, the prevention of increased armies and navies, the adoption of peaceful methods for the adjustment of international differences and finally, neutrality itself are opposed to the prohibition by a neutral nation of the exportation of arms, munitions, or other munitions of war to belligerent powers during the progress of the war."

DR. FRANK J. GOODNOW.

Peking, China.—The project of proclaiming himself emperor is being discussed by Yuan Shih Kai, president of the Chinese republic, with his immediate supporters and Professor Frank Johnson Goodnow, of Johns Hopkins university, legal adviser to the Chinese government, who is spending the summer in Peking.

Professor Goodnow, who secured the confidence of Yuan Shih Kai by advice given during former critical times, has been consulted on this question since his arrival here a month ago, and it is learned that he approves the project.

FLYERS OF STATE WARNED

Communication From State Department to Governor Calls Attention to Prohibited Areas in Canada.

Lansing.—Michigan aviators are liable to be shot for German spies if they cross the Canadian border in their machines, according to a warning sent out by the British embassy at Washington and forwarded to Governor Ferris by Secretary of State Lansing.

Many months ago publicity was given in Michigan regarding prohibited areas in Canada and the British embassy says such warnings have not been heeded in all instances. The letter says:

"I should feel much obliged if the attention of the proper authorities could be drawn to the fact that the troops of the Dominion are under arms and that there is danger of regrettable incidents occurring if the practice of flying across the border continues. I feel sure that the persons concerned will, in the interests of their own safety, recognize the necessity of strict attention to the Canadian regulations."

No Hoof and Mouth Disease. Lansing.—"There is no hoof and mouth disease in Michigan," declared a federal expert who was in Lansing Friday after a visit to Saginaw county, where some mysterious malady is killing cattle.

"The Saginaw epidemic is probably caused by something the cattle have been eating and the exceedingly wet weather is in all likelihood at the bottom of it."

Two cases of the mysterious disease have been reported from Sanilac county.

ITEMS OF STATE INTEREST

Commercial Associated Secretaries of Michigan decided at the closing session at Grand Rapids to meet in Battle Creek next year.

The Ypsilanti Record, a weekly newspaper, is soon to be started in Ypsilanti. It will be published by Jesse K. Coates and Ford Hicks.

With a half dozen boys looking admiringly at him and urging him to "make a big high dive," Nell Davis, 17, dove to death from a spile in Lake Cadillac late Monday afternoon. The body was recovered. The dead boy was the oldest of a family of six children.

Three were injured, one fatally, when an automobile turned over three miles north of Calumet Sunday afternoon. Richard Richards, 37 years old, was killed and James Brown, head mine captain, and John Hosking, surface foreman for Franklin Junior Mining Co., injured. Two others escaped unhurt.

John Wrozek was killed when struck by the lever of a "jack" with which he was lifting a freight car in the M. C. yards at Jackson.

The condensed milk factory at Clio, which was destroyed by fire July 16, will be rebuilt at once by the Detroit Creamery Co., which has bought out the Clio Condensed Milk Co. It is expected that the plant will be ready for operation within two months, and in the interval routes will be established to take care of the milk from farmers who formerly supplied the factory.

Mark W. Stevens, of Flint, was Friday morning appointed judge in the Genesee county judicial circuit, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Wisner.

The Wolverine and Mohawk mining companies Saturday made a present to all at Calumet classes of employees of five per cent of their earnings during June. The present prosperity of the mining companies is ascribed as the reason. About 1,200 men are affected. These properties are controlled by the Stantons, of New York and Boston.

GRAND LAW OF LIFE

Unity With the Father Is the Key-Stone Upon Which All Things Depend.

"The shell was not filled with pearls until it was contented (that is, ceased from unrest)."

In this old Persian proverb we find an example of the same truth that was given by Jesus in his lesson regarding worldly care, so beautifully illustrated in the story of the "Lilies of the Field," ending with the injunction: "But seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you."

Not until one ceases from all anxieties seeking after and striving for possessions and settles down into a state of peace and rest, through absolute trust in God for his supply, can he realize the truth that all things whatsoever he desires are in reality his, that as a child of God they rightfully belong to him, else he would not desire them, and that through conscious recognition of the fact, he will come into possession of his own through natural attraction, if quietly resting and trusting, in confident expectation that the supply will come as needed, in the right time and way.

In the Knowledge of the Truth.

The conscious knowledge of unity with the Father, who is the source of supply, gives the realization of unity with the manifestation of supply whatever form or shape needed, thus all fear and belief in lack, which is caused by the ignorant belief in separation from our supply, is eliminated from the consciousness. The feeling of trust and security which follows enables one to maintain an attitude of equilibrium and poise in all circumstances and conditions. Nothing can disturb him who knows the truth, for he feels the power which knowledge gives and rests serenely in that consciousness. He knows that he has only to make use of this power, in faith and trust to bring to him anything he needs when he wants it. He becomes a law unto himself. He knows, also, that he is responsible for the way in which he may use this power and therefore must use it in accordance with the law of righteousness, else he will bring direful consequences upon himself. Knowledge and responsibility are inseparable, and only through right use of his power can he produce harmony in his life and affairs and so be free from the adverse consequences resulting from its misuse.

Man's Divine Gift.

Man is given freedom to make his world and conditions what he will, and he learns through the use of his power how to use it aright, a state of heavenly blessedness; a consciousness of peace and power within, and the fulfillment of all his desires. His hopes and aspirations will all be realized and he will find rest in the consciousness of being in possession of the source and cause of all things, either in the heaven; above or the earth beneath. "I and the Father are one and all that the Father hath is mine."

To arrive at this grand consummation one must cease from all unrest and should cultivate a state of peace, and trust in the omnipotent goodness of God, who is the life and substance of all things and in due time the realization will follow. The following exercise in concentration and meditation will assist in producing the desired state of mind for the above realization: Concentrate the attention upon the Supreme Being and meditate upon his all-abounding and unchangeable love and goodness until you become conscious of your unity with it. Whenever this consciousness is lost to you, as it may be through letting the cares of the world enter in and take possession of you, make it your first duty to re-establish the condition, for all your good will come through it.

Misera With Minutes.

A minute is the efficient man's ally in getting work accomplished. The unused minutes in most lives are sufficient for the learning of a foreign language. A native Chinese Christian preacher, who in addition to his evangelistic work overseas several schools and cares for the Y. M. C. A. work, became proficient in the use of English. One of the American missionaries wrote that he was able to accomplish this by using the spare minutes that others spent in idle talk. Recently a friend expressed surprise that a man who seemed always to be responsible for work sufficient for several men nevertheless found time to read so much. "I put the reading into niches of time here and there," he explained. Are there things that you are longing to do if there were time? Do not wait for the elusive hours, but snatch the ever-at-hand minutes and begin to do those things.—Sunday School Times.

True Conversion.

Conversion, real conversion, is almost always the effect of individual loving-kindness, of personal and quiet love, of intercourse between a happy and an unhappy soul in the normal colloquies of friendship, or passionate seeking of the lost by those whose lives are inspired by unselfish love. Conversion is a quite common experience among ordinary men, is very often nothing more than a secret turning of the face toward God, a private decision to live a new life, a personal and wholly tranquil choice of the soul for Christ.—Harold Begbie.

Dwelling in God.

"Come unto me," says the holy Jesus, "all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will refresh you." Beg of him to be the light and life of your soul; love the sound of his name; for Jesus is the love, the sweetness, the compassionate goodness of the Deity itself; which became man, so men might have the power to become the sons of God. Love, and pity, and wish well to every soul in the world; dwell in love and then you dwell in God.—William Law.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By O. F. SELLERS, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course of the Moody Bible Institute.)

LESSON FOR AUGUST 22

ASA'S GOOD REIGN.

LESSON TEXT—II Chron. 15:1-15. GOLDEN TEXT—Draw nigh to God and he will draw nigh to you. James 4:8.

Skeptics who formerly laughed at the record of II Chron. 14:9 or at the reputed size of Xerxes' army are painfully silent in the face of the present European struggle where armies are reckoned by the millions. Abijah, Rehoboam's successor, easily defeated Jeroboam (ch. 13:13-20) because he "relied upon the Lord," and "Asa his son reigned in his stead."

I. Righteousness Exhorted, vv. 1-7. Returning from his wonderful victory over Zerah the Ethiopian, Asa is met by the spirit-anointed prophet, Azariah (v. 1). This man was taken possession of by the spirit of God (II Pet. 1:21; Num. 24:2; Judges 3:10; II Tim. 3:16). Thus it was that he commands even the king, "Hear ye me" (v. 2). His first words were encouraging ones, "Jehovah is with you," and the proof of his word was the victory Asa had just won, (ch. 32:8; Rom. 8:31; Deut. 20:1). That victory was a demonstration, it involved an obligation and had a lesson for the king as well, viz., that if he and his people would seek Jehovah they would find him, but if they forsook him "he will forsake you." The words recorded in verse three were a fearful indictment ("without the true God," Eph. 2:12) and they are a suggestive picture of this age that is so sadly in need of a "teaching priest" and is so constantly acting as though "without law" or else is a law unto itself. But God was merciful (Ps. 103:8; 117:2), and in that time of testing was working his good will. Thus it came that "in their great trouble" (v. 4) they sought Jehovah and "he was found of them." Neglecting him there was "no peace," and "great vexations" also (Isa. 48:22). Our Lord has prophesied even greater calamities in the last days of Israel's apostasy (Matt. 24:6, 7) and the present upheaval in Europe can be largely traced to apostasy and to the treatment of God's people Israel. God will remember his covenant (Deut. 4:23-31; Judges 10:10-16; Ps. 106:44; Hos. 14:1-3) even though Israel has forgotten him and has "no peace" anywhere upon the earth. All of this came from the hand of God (v. 6; Judges 2:4; Isa. 10:6) and was an exhortation (v. 7) that Asa should remember and that he should work as well. We, too, are taught to "despise not prophesying (I Thess. 5:20) and to work," (John 6:28; Phil. 2:12; Matt. 21:28; II Thess. 3:10). At the same time there is for us a sure reward (v. 7; Matt. 10:41, 42; I Cor. 15:58; Col. 3:24; Heb. 6:10; 10:35).

II. Righteousness Executed, vv. 8-15.

(1) The King's Part, vv. 8, 9. Asa had shown himself worthy of this special revelation from God: (a) his conduct (14:2, 3, 5); (b) his words of command and exhortation (14:4); (c) his care for and service in behalf of others (14:6); (d) his reliance upon and zeal of God (14:11). Verse eight is suggestive of the way he received this revelation; (a) he "took courage"—a word of commendation will revive any weary heart. (b) He "put away the abominations," most thoroughly, which his great-grandfather Solomon had brought into Israel, and in accordance with the word of God (Deut. 7:5). There are many strange altars in our land today, forms of religion that stand not the test of God's word, and which not alone deceive the very elect but are sweeping into their vortex the sons and daughters of the saints of God. Anything, no matter how esthetic or morally elevating or professedly religious, that measures not according to this word, should be torn down. (c) But Asa was constructive as well as destructive for he built again "the altar of Jehovah." 'Tis sad to think that so many homes and communities demand such a work in their midst today.

2. The People's Part, vv. 10-15.

(a) They obeyed and gathered together at Jerusalem, at the proper time and the place. (b) They "offered sacrifice unto the Lord." Heretofore their offerings had been to their selfishness or to strange gods. Their gift was a costly one and the Lord's treasury is always a standard whereby to measure the work of grace in the hearts of his people. (c) They made another covenant—"to seek the Lord." (Pa. 105:3, 4; Amos 5:4, 6). Those who seek him find him (Ps. 14:2). To seek him is pleasing to him, but it must be as theirs, "with all their soul." We find God in Christ (John 14:6; I John 5:20). Whosoever sought him not were punished, even so will those who now turn from him (John 16:8, 9; Matt. 25). (d) They gave public testimony of their determination (v. 14). Loud protestations are not always permanent, still there must be an open confession (Rom. 10:9, 10; Matt. 10:32). Their confession was accompanied by music. There is no joy like that which comes with a new faith, a new sense of God's love, a real revival. (e) Lastly, the people found "rest" or rather it was "given" to them. In verse five there was "no peace"; now, after having earnestly sought him (v. 15), "a rest was given" which they had not been able to find. This is ready for all who truly seek him (Judges 3:9; Matt. 11:28, 29).

Conclusion.

Though Asa had a parental handicap (I Kings 15:13) and lived in a corrupt court still he yielded to the teaching of God's word and therefore wrought a great reformation. Recognizing the source of power in his own life Asa taught the people the word of God, to seek God and to keep his commandments. "Asa's reformation was in reality a religious revival and such is the only kind that has any permanency."

RAVENNA, A DYING CITY

OVERS of the most beautiful things have had one great piece of good fortune in that Ravenna does not lie on the route of the mass of ordinary tourists through Italy. Honey-mooning couples avoid it; so do the personally conducted flocks. It is, moreover, externally a dull town, and its streets and near surroundings are flat and uninteresting, writes Sir Martin Conway in Country Life.

A few miles away, indeed, there is the beautiful pine forest sung by Dante, a wild stretch of broken ground along the Adriatic coast, with charming glades and hollows, bushy below and overarched by rugged and pathetically dignified trees, where those who do not suffer from fear of snakes can wander in romantic surroundings. The neighborhood of Ravenna is, moreover, fever-stricken. It shall never forget a visit paid to the church of Santa Maria in Porto Fuori. It stands in a hamlet of decaying houses, itself also far gone in decay—the pavement broken, plaster falling from the walls, and all the usual signs of dilapidation. A woman who brought the keys of the church told us how the few peasants about were all broken down with fever, how the priest was away as much as possible, how the folk were mostly atheistic and anarchistic, and how only the very minimum of work was done by anyone did palace of the prince and such numbers of churches and public buildings as almost to seem incredible. Today, of Classe and the great avenue of buildings, not one stone remains upon another except in the case of the single church which is famous under the name of St. Apollinare in Classe.

The earliest building of interest still existing in Ravenna is the small but most attractive little mausoleum of Galla Placidia. It attempted no rivalry with the mausolea of the great Roman Imperial days, such as that of Trajan or even the Constantinian Santa Costanza. It is only a little cruciform structure of brick, surmounted over the crossing by a tiny dome; but the three sarcophagi that fill its arms are stately, and the lining of gold ground mosaic that covers its lunettes and vaults glows with all the splendor which ancient artists knew as well how to attain: while the marble revetment below them, admirably restored, and the marble pavement and thin slab window slabs (likewise restorations), complete an interior decoration which, for perfect taste, subdued magnificence, and simple dignity could scarcely be surpassed.

St. Apollinare in Classe I suppose is sometimes used for worship, but it wears a look of tidy abandonment. There are no houses near to supply worshippers, and only the wandering visitor breaks the solitude; but it is a about. There were reeking quagmires and damp places and stagnant pools on all sides, and the old church itself seemed to be sinking into the swamp.

Thus, in fact, Ravenna actually is sinking. It is not merely that the level of the ground of the town is rising, as ground levels in towns normally rise; but the buildings sink into the soft alluvial soil by little and little, and have thus sunk from the day they were built. The process is a very slow one, but likewise very sure, and it cannot be stayed. Already in the wet season of the year the waves of the old churches stand a foot or two deep in water, and that although the floor-level has been raised as much as three or four feet, so that the bases of the columns are buried. The older the church the deeper it lies in the ground. Some have been dug out and surrounded by a kind of walled moat; but all this only postpones the inevitable ultimate end. Ravenna is, in fact, a dying city, and has been dying slowly ever since the Lombards came and drove out the exarchs of the emperor of Byzantium a century or so before Charlemagne liberated the pope from Lombard oppression.

peopled solitude all the same, a solitude vocal with memories of great men and great doings long ago. The spacious marble floor is divided by the two great ranges of columns, noble antique monoliths of veined marble standing upon sculptured bases which are not buried. The simple apse, enriched with mosaic, is all the more splendid in effect because so much else of the walls is bare. An ancient altar of small dimensions is in the midst of the nave. Another, surmounted by a remarkable candelabrum of sculptured marble on spirally fluted columns, fills the east corner of the north aisle.

Tomb of the Great Ostrogoth. One other monument of great importance cannot be passed over without a brief mention. This is the mausoleum of Theodoric himself. It is not large, a little larger than Galla Placidia's, but it is imposing by the strength of its massive stone construction. Polygonal in plan, two-storied, with external staircases leading to a gallery round the empty upper chamber—that is all. For roof it is covered by one huge hollowed block of stone, like an inverted saucer in form, with an external protuberance in the center, on which a bronze ornament once stood. The bronze doors, the bronze parapet of the gallery, and perhaps other ornaments, were carried away by Charlemagne and built into his palatine chapel at Aix-la-Chapelle, where some of them can still be seen.

Nothing of Theodoric himself remains in his grave. His body was thrown out when orthodox supplanted Arianism. The mausoleum is now a mere empty shell, well protected by a salaried guard, who in the hot season, when I was last there, accompanied me with a broom to sweep away the harmless snakes which are now the sole occupants of the pile.

COLLECTING BILLS IS AN ART

A Man of Resource Is What Is Needed, Says a Big Concern's Manager.

"A good collector is a combination of nearly all the requirements which make a 'live' business man," said George W. Hurn, office manager of the Haverhill Electric company, Haverhill, Mass., in a recent address on modern methods of collecting outstanding accounts.

"He must be resourceful in methods, diplomatic, courteous and withal capable of drastic, kind, severe, generous or sentiment moods; in fact, of every temperament that fits the particular requirements of the task in hand when he undertakes to separate the debtors from their money. A method that works well with one debtor may fall flat with another. A method that builds business through courtesy and kindness with one man may with another result in loss of money.

"Collecting is the art of educating customers to make prompt payments—not the collecting of accounts after they are due. If, therefore, we train our customers to pay their bills promptly, the results will be advantageous to both the customer and the concern, because if a customer can be educated to pay his bill within the discount period, he receives his service at a smaller cost and will be more satisfied than he would be if he had been hounded by notices and collectors.

Eel's Deadly Blood.
If injected into man, the blood of an eel causes death almost immediately. This should deter no one from eating the fish, however, for the heat of cooking destroys the toxic properties of its blood and, besides, that blood is practically harmless when taken into the stomach.

To Remove Wet Ink Stains.
Rub with a piece of ripe tomato and then rinse well in cold water. Wash and boil, or put a little red ink on the mark and wash. The acid dissolves the iron in the ink and sets free the tanning or coloring matter, which will boil out.

WOULD SHIFT ATTACK

Manager Herzog Favors Switching Tactics in Contests.

First Half of Game Usually Played in Way Differing From Last Period—Interesting Theory of Cincinnati Leader.

Manager Herzog of the Cincinnati Reds believes that the first half of a game of ball is usually to be played differently from the second half, that is, when applied to fairly close games. He has quite an interesting theory on this subject, which is entirely original with him. "The average player," said Herzog, "does not realize the great difference between, say, the first five innings of a game and the last four innings. In the early stages of a game one doesn't know how many runs are going to be needed to win. It is impossible to say how the pitcher is going to go, or what the breaks are going to be. A team may need only one run to win or it may require a dozen.

"The odds are that it will need more than one. Therefore my policy early in the game is not to play for a single run, but to force the issue and try to score as many as possible. That is why I don't believe in the sacrifice game around in the first or second round, only to find that that lone run is worth nothing to us.

"The early half of a game should be an effort to score just as many runs as possible, for you never can be sure how many you are going to need. Pile up as big a lead as you can in the first few innings and so be prepared for emergencies. But suppose both pitchers are going strongly and we come up to the sixth or seventh inning tied, or one run behind or ahead.

"Then the whole situation changes. It is evident by that time what your pitcher is capable of and a single run becomes much more important than it was in the first or second inning. You will often see our men playing a sacrifice game from the sixth inning on, because by that time we may have found out that one run will win for us in the game for an inning or two longer. This is a very important principle of the game, and one that is often overlooked by both players and managers.

"Whenever I see a club fighting to get one run around in the first or second inning and neglecting possible chances to score three or four runs, I have it figured out that we have a good chance to beat that club. You will often see a change in our style of play as the game grows older, and I think the system will win many close games for us."

BATTERS "PULL AWAY"

"The biggest trouble with present-day batters' is they pull away from the plate instead of wading into the ball," says Jawn McGraw, Giant foreman. "For a long time I refused to pay attention to folk who said ball players don't hit as well as the old-timers, but now I'm convinced. The youngsters coming up just naturally don't hit; that's all. You can't get them to step into the ball. I haven't played for a long time, but I can get in there any day and hit better than some of the chaps I see around the circuit."

Wagner's 100th Home Run.
Hans Wagner's one hundredth home run, made off Erskine Mayer on June 22, brought out statistics showing that Wagner is not a home run hitter by any means. It was his first homer of the season and the first in fact since September of last year and that was the only one he made in 1914. He made three in 1913. In 1898 he made 11 homers, his most in one season. In 1903 he made ten. He played in 2,487 National league games before he reached the century mark for homers and his one hundredth homer was his 3,131st hit.

Baltimore Likes Johnson.
Rankin Johnson's work with the Terrapins is causing Baltimore fans to laugh at Manager Joe Tinker for turning the former Red Sox player over. It wasn't Joe's fault, as he gave the twirler every chance possible to show something. Johnson had merely reached that stage where a change of scenery was needed.

Alexander Is Released.
Grover Alexander's brother, who was a member of the Omaha team in the Western league, has been handed his unconditional release.

BASERUNNER HAMPERED BY FOXY PLAYER

Manager Joe Tinker and Al Bridwell.

There are perhaps more tricks worked by and upon baserunners than there are in any other department of baseball. The 360 feet around that diamond are filled with pitfalls and handicaps that make Tipperary appear close at hand by comparison. One would think that it is a simple matter to run around the bases when making a home run. But against a trained and experienced team it is a hard matter.

The batter drives a ball to left center field. If he does not get away from the plate quickly, the catcher will spring in close to him, perhaps drop his mask in front of him, and try to hamper the start.

He swings out on to the edge of the grass so as to make a flying turn at first base without losing much ground. The first baseman remains on the inside corner of the bag, or near it, giving the runner just room enough to pass, and trying to force him to take a wide turn.

The pitcher, if he is speedy enough, will try to cut across in front of the runner to throw him off his stride. Both the second baseman and the shortstop will hamper him at second, one holding the bag to make him turn wide, the other trying to force him to make a still wider turn.

journey he finds the catcher squatted in the line two feet from the plate to block him.

Al Bridwell, now with the Feds, pulled a clever one on Joe Tinker when Tinker was with the Cubs and Bridwell with the Giants—and won a game by it.

Bridwell was on first base when someone made a hit. The hit was short and sharp, and there was small chance for him to go to third on it. He turned second at full speed. Tinker was watching him and placed himself exactly on the route Bridwell would have to traverse to reach third, and then turned his back to make himself appear innocent of intent to interfere.

His object was to make Bridwell turn wide to pass around him and lose perhaps three or four steps in distance. Bridwell saw the move. He also saw that it was hopeless as to try to reach third. Instead he turned second at top speed, dashed up the line, bumped Tinker, grabbed him and fell.

In an instant he scrambled to his feet and shouted to the umpire, who turned just in time to see the two men struggling to their feet. Naturally he supposed Tinker had interfered. He let Bridwell go to third—and he scored on a fly and won the game.

Not one of the Chicago players kicked. They realized that Bridwell had out-tricked them at their own game, and gave him due credit for it.

STORIES of the DIAMOND

Eppe Rixey has shown himself to be quite a pitcher of late.

Bresnahan is doing his best to keep the Cubs up in the race.

The Yanks expect to land Miller, one of the Southern league's best outfielders.

Harold Janviri, the schoolboy infielder, is going at a fast clip for the Boston Red Sox.

Cy Falkenberg is not having a prosperous year this season, as he is getting bumped regularly.

The chances are that Johnny Evers has taken the pledge to quit talking so much in the ball games.

Alexander fanned 143 batsmen in 23 games, excelling all other major-league pitchers in this respect.

Looks odd to see Chief Meyers, Giant catcher, way below the 300 class. His official mark is 246.

John McGraw still clings to the belief that the Giants and Braves will fight it out for the pennant this fall.

Those Boston Braves are attracting a lot of attention these days because they seem to have started on the rise again.

If Larry Cheney shows his old-time form for the remainder of the season the Cubs will be very much in the race.

Wattle Schang is playing the outfield for the Macks. He was moved from third base to left field to make way for Healey.

Dutch Zwilling is considered as good a man as Kauff. Manager Tinker says he would not trade his center fielder for the Brooklyn star.

McHenry, the new pitcher secured by the Reds from the Northwestern country, is as large as Orvie Overall and has as much speed.

Four former Milwaukee Brewers are now members of the Sox regulars. They are Happy Felsch, Ray Schalk, Lena Blackburne and Nemo Letbold.

GOOD YEAR FOR DAN GRINER

Jinx Has Been Following Big St. Louis Twirler—Better Things Predicted for This Season.

Big Dan Griner, Cardinal pitcher, has been camping at the outer door of the Hall of Fame ever since he joined the St. Louis team, but always something has seemed to bar this entry. Two years ago it was an illness that overtook him in midseason. Last year he engaged in a feud with Wingo and Magee that is said to have so worked upon his health that it was impossible for him to do his best. This year he is reported to be in excellent condition and as Wingo and Magee have gone from the team St. Louis experts are predicting that the big fellow will prove himself to be one of the best pitchers in the National league.

Red Murray Helps Cubs.
The addition of Red Murray to the Cubs' list will strengthen the team just where they need it. Bresnahan has been very weak in pinch hitters and Murray should fill a big hole.

Records for Harper.
Harry Harper, Minneapolis pitcher, developed a wild streak in a recent game that sets a record. He issued 20 passes in eight innings. Harper also pitched a no-hit game recently and came very near establishing a new association record.

Bresnahan to Lead Toledo.
The story is going the rounds again that Roger Bresnahan is to lead the Toledo team in the American association next year. He will be part owner in the club, according to the story.

The KITCHEN CABINET

If I knew that a word of mine, A word not kind and true, Might leave its trace on a loved one's face, I'd never speak harshly, would you?

If I knew that the light of a smile Might linger the whole day through, And brighten some heart with a happy part, I wouldn't withhold it, would you?

GOOD THINGS FOR DINNER.

For the busy housewife who has but one pair of hands to prepare all the meals it is necessary that she should eliminate all nonessentials and save as much time and strength as possible. Better a tidy table attractively laid with bread and butter for the meal, than an untidy, unattractive and overloaded table.

Dinner Rolls.—Mix a cake of compressed yeast with a fourth of a cupful of scalded and cooled milk, add one cupful of scalded, and cooled milk, a half teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of sugar and one and a half cupful of bread flour, cover and let stand until it becomes light, then add a fourth of a cupful of shortening, and flour for a soft dough. Knead until smooth and elastic. Cover and let stand to become light; shape, and when light bake twenty-five minutes. Brush over with a beaten egg white and return to the oven for a moment to glaze.

Creamed Onions With Parsley.—Cook even sized onions in boiling water, adding salt when they are nearly cooked. Melt three tablespoonfuls of butter, add the same amount of flour for a half dozen onions, a half teaspoonful of salt and a little less of paprika, stir until well blended, then add a cupful of rich milk and half a cupful of the liquor that the onions have been cooked in, turn this over the onions after it is cooked smooth and sprinkle with chopped parsley.

Lamb Stew With Peas.—Buy a stew cut from the shoulder, cover with boiling water and cook until tender, thickening with flour stirred with some of the meat liquor, add a pint of green peas and cook until the peas are tender. Season well and serve the meat on a platter surrounded with the peas and thickened sauce.

Economics change man's activities. As you change a man's activities you change his way of living, as you change his environment, you change his state of mind. Present and future junction do not perceptibly affect men, but food, water, air, clothing, shelter, pictures, books, music, will and do affect them.

SUMMER DISHES.

During the hot weather even a pie occasionally is appreciated. Berry pies are most appetizing when well made.

Blueberry Pie.—Line a deep tin with plain pastry, brush with white of egg, diluted with water. Fill the crust with floured blueberries, add sugar, a tablespoonful of butter, salt and a dash of vinegar or a piece of two of sour apple, or lemon juice. Cover with a rich crust and bake. To keep the juice from overflowing, put a paper cone into the opening. The cone serves as a chimney for the juice to boil up in, and thus does not overflow.

Scoured Squash.—Take a medium sized Hubbard squash, remove the seeds and stringy portion and pare. Place in a steamer and cook over boiling water for thirty minutes. Mash and season with butter, salt and pepper to taste. To two cupfuls of mashed squash, add gradually one cupful of cream and when blended the yolks of two well beaten eggs and finally fold in the beaten whites. Pour into a buttered dish and bake in a moderate oven until firm. Serve at once.

French Pancakes.—Warm four tablespoonfuls of butter, then add four tablespoonfuls of sugar, two eggs, a half cupful of flour, a half tablespoonful of lemon extract and one cupful of milk. Mix well and bake on a hot griddle. Put together with butter and jam and serve cut in wedges like pie. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve hot.

Viennese Chicken.—Clean and cut a fat fowl into pieces as for frying. Simmer gently with a bay leaf, parsley, lemon juice and seasoning. Let cool in the stock. Drain well, egg and crumb each piece and fry in deep fat. Serve with sauce made from thickened stock, chopped mushrooms and parsley, season with kitchen bouquet and lemon juice.

"Father of Modern Screw."
Jesse Ramsden, an English inventor, is credited with being the father of the modern screw. He began in 1775 to pay especial attention to the making of screws by machinery, and his invention may be regarded as the first example of the modern form of screw-cutting lathe, although 50 years before there had been made in France a machine for cutting the thread on the fuses of watches, and 200 years before Jacobo Bessoni had designed a rude lathe for cutting wooden screws.

Common Sense.
A handful of common sense is worth a bushel of learning—thus runs an old Spanish saying.

SOMETHING ABOUT CURRIES.

Translated into our tongue curry means palatable. In the Orient there are forty or more ways of preparing curry powder, and in America our spice houses are adding others. Curry is like mince meat or pickles; we like the kind we have been accustomed to use. In India the following ingredients are used: Coriander seed, tumeric, cummin, pepper, mustard seed, ginger, cardamon, chillies, mace, cloves, poppy seed, cinnamon, nutmeg, saffron, mangoes, lime juice, garlic, nuts, cayenne pepper, coconaut, milk and oil, as well as many of the native fruits. Rice and chutney are an invariable accompaniment to curry. One of the most important things to remember in using the prepared curry is to cook it with the ingredients, or the dish will be flat and tasteless.

Curried Lamb.—Remove the bones from two pounds of the neck of lamb and divide into neat squares about an inch; fry them brown in hot fat, take out the meat and add two chopped onions, one chopped apple, one and a half tablespoonfuls of curry powder, three tablespoonfuls of chopped coconaut, one teaspoonful of sugar, a quarter of a cupful of milk, and the same of good stock, and the pieces of lamb. Cook slowly for an hour, remove the fat, add a teaspoonful of salt and a tablespoonful of lemon juice. Serve in the center of a platter with the sauce poured around it, and garnish with boiled rice.

Chicken Curry.—Cut up a plump young broiler and fry brown in hot olive oil. Remove from the frying pan and place in the oven. Mix together two tablespoonfuls each of flour and curry powder, then add gradually a cupful of good stock. Fry two sliced onions in the hot fat, add the prepared stock, cook for five minutes, then turn in the chicken. Cover and allow to simmer fifteen minutes. Serve hot with boiled rice. If the sauce seems too thick, add a little more stock. The dish should be thick and hot when served. Curry sauce is good with cold meats and makes an agreeable change in serving them.

A FEW HOT WEATHER DRINKS.

There is nothing so refreshing as a good cool drink when tired, warm and thirsty. The following will prove valuable during the hot dog-day weather.

Milk Shake.—Put four tablespoonfuls of finely crushed ice in a glass, add to this two and a half tablespoonfuls of rich sirup, one egg and a cupful of milk. Shake thoroughly and turn into a serving glass. Nutmeg and cinnamon may be added if desired.

Pineapple.—Mix one cupful of sugar and a cupful of water together, add the juice of three lemons and one can of pineapple (grated). Strain and pour over a quart of chopped ice.

Cherry Punch.—Boil together five minutes two cupfuls of sugar and four cupfuls of water. Then add one cupful of lemon juice, three cupfuls of orange juice and three cupfuls of cherry juice. Chill and serve with ice.

Grape Nectar.—Put a cupful of sugar and a quart of water over to boil. Cook ten minutes, then add, when cool, the juice of three lemons, two oranges, one-half can of pineapple and a pint of grape juice. Let it stand about three hours, then add one slice orange sliced thin. Serve with ice.

Raspberry Mint.—To a quart of good lemonade add a half cupful of red raspberry juice and a dozen bruised mint leaves. Let the mixture chill for two hours, then remove the mint, fill glasses and garnish each glass with a sprig of mint.

Ginger Ale.—Remove the skins from six large lemons and slice them into a large earthen bowl. Add to them six ounces of bruised ginger root, six cupfuls of sugar and four gallons of boiling water. When the liquid is lukewarm, put in a fourth of a yeast cake dissolved in a little water. Cover the bowl with a thin cloth and let stand a day, bottle and keep in a cool place.

THE ENTERPRISE

By MAT D. BLOSSER

For nearly 45 years the Enterprise has been a constant presence in the lives of the people of Manchester and surrounding townships. It has been a faithful friend and a true reflection of the community. We want to know what you think of it. Write us your criticisms and suggestions. We will be glad to receive them. Your name will be kept confidential.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 19, 1915

It is now officially reported that there is no foot and mouth disease in Michigan. Prompt attention by the officials has stamped it out.

In a conference between Congressman Beakes, Postmaster Shekell of Jackson and Inspector Knight on the re-arranging of rural mail routes, it was suggested that one route be dropped from Norvell.

The opening chapters of the new story "The Price," will be found on the 2nd page of The Enterprise this week. If you are not a subscriber, better drop in and become one and read the rest of it.

We have received from Manager Burris of the Jackson county fair a season ticket to the show, Sept. 13-18. They are making every effort to make the fair a success and the farming public seem to be doing their part.

When the European war is over America expects to stand first in the way of commercial supremacy—the very thing the great fight in Europe is about—that is, if the law is changed so the merchant marine of the United States can do business. We are sure all true Americans want to see the stars and stripes floating on all the boats that carry goods from their country to all parts of the world.

The Enterprise would like to see our former townspeople who live at Jackson, Ann Arbor, Detroit and other places, form Manchester clubs and get together often for mutual benefit. It is essential for all of us to be more sociable and helpful to one another in various ways. Once a year they could have a basket picnic and no doubt some of our Manchester friends, if we knew the date, would be glad to meet with them to renew old acquaintances. Think this over, friends, and write The Enterprise what you think of it. We will help all we can.

A silo will save the late corn but, aside from this excellent reason for adding a silo to the equipment of the farm, there are on very many farms special reasons for such a course this present season. Owing to the backward spring and the excessively wet weather which has prevailed up to the present time, the Michigan corn crop has not attained anywhere near its usual stage of development for this season of the year, and unless exceptional conditions prevail during the balance of the season, very much of it will be cut by frost before it matures. In view of this impending danger, the erection of a silo will give the farmer with a backward crop an added feeling of security and a probable source of profitable saving out of all proportion to the amount of the investment required. A good many farmers in this vicinity who have silos are planning on filling their's in this way.

In beginning a new volume this week the publisher of The Enterprise is pleased to announce that he has induced his son, Fred H. Blosser—who learned the printer's trade in this office and left to learn better and greater things printerial in the large city offices at Jackson, Battle Creek, Sioux City and Seattle—to return and take a financial and managing interest with us in The Enterprise. He will be here in a few weeks. The business has grown beyond the limit of one man's ability we feel and we are sure that with the knowledge and experience he has gained in several years of active work in city offices, we will be able to make The Enterprise better the coming year than it has ever been. As to our future plans we will not speak at this time as we have not fully settled on some important points but we shall use our greatest endeavor to merit your confidence and support and hope for a continuance of it as in the past. In this connection we would state that the change will necessitate the settlement of all outstanding accounts up to the first of the month and we would be pleased if patrons would call during the month and settle any back account. Thanking you in advance, we are,

Respectfully,
Mat D. Blosser

Personal Mention

Miss Gaita Waters has been assisting at The Fair during the bullseye sale.

Roy Kern went to Clinton Friday to spend several weeks with his sister, Mrs. L. T. Gray.

Rev. Schofield and family left Saturday morning on a week's vacation with friends up state.

Charles Hoffer, who works in the roller mills, has gone to Pennsylvania to visit his parents a few weeks.

C. W. Chadwick of Ann Arbor, civil engineer and map publisher, paid The Enterprise a pleasant call on Monday.

Myron Silkworth and family left Saturday to spend a week or more with relatives in Helmer and Kentaville, Ind.

Last Wednesday Walter Springer of Ann Arbor lost control of a motor cycle and seriously injured his leg, says The Times.

Rolland Schmid, Wesley and Donald Silkworth and Ermine Wurster are spending the week at the Schmid cottage at Sand Lake.

Wm. Amspoker, having business in Toledo Monday, invited his wife to accompany him and they both enjoyed the day the better for it.

Mr. & Mrs. Fred Wuerth and daughter of Ann Arbor and Mr. & Mrs. Cort Hall of Detroit visited Mr. & Mrs. G. H. Breitenwischer Monday.

Mr. & Mrs. A. B. Gordanier and their mother, Mrs. Hoffer, came here in an auto Sunday to visit Mrs. Gordanier and other relatives for the day.

We learn that Coonie Burch of Napoleon, while shingling his house one day last week, fell about eight feet, striking on his back, and was badly injured.

Carroll and Thomas Rushton, sons of Prosecuting Attorney Herbert J. Rushton of Escanaba, came last Friday to visit their grandfather, Thomas Rushton, and friends.

Mrs. Joseph Kramer and son Will, and Mrs. Lambert Kuhl and daughter Bertha and Oscar Blum of Tecumseh drove to Jackson Monday to attend the funeral of Frank Kuhl.

Mr. & Mrs. H. P. Paul and daughter Esther and Mr. & Mrs. Chas. Paul and daughters Luella and Florence of Ann Arbor visited at the homes of Wm. J. and H. C. Paul Sunday.

Mr. & Mrs. Frank Maginn and two sons Wade and Ward from Detroit and his sister, Mrs. T. E. Maginn, of Toledo returned Monday from a vacation at the bungalow at Fay's lake.

Henry Kirchhofer and family, who had been visiting his parents and sisters, returned to Detroit Saturday, accompanied by his sister, Miss Batha, who will spend the week with them.

Lieut. Rolland Case of the U. S. army came home Saturday for a short visit. His regiment has been ordered to the Philippine Islands and will leave by way of Galveston and the Panama canal.

Mr. & Mrs. Howard Macomber returned Monday from a trip to Providence, R. I. and with his brothers Fred and Harry Macomber in Maine. Their son Edmund has returned from summer school at Lansing.

Comfort Chase and family of Dowagiac who had been spending their vacation with relatives in Tecumseh and elsewhere, stopped here Friday to visit Mrs. Barbara Holmes and other friends, and we had a pleasant chat with him.

Mrs. R. A. Clark and two little daughters, Verna and Adeline and Miss Bernice Dalka, of Detroit who have been visiting at "the farm," Wampler's lake and at George Sutton's were guests of Mat D. Blosser and other friends last Friday.

We learn that Fred Schneider, who kept meat market here many years ago, lived in Jackson for many years and went to Seattle where he kept a restaurant during the exposition and then went to California, is now visiting his brother at Ann Arbor. His family is in San Francisco.

Mrs. Belle Gordanier-Blackburn of Detroit who being in poor health came here and has been under treatment of our local physicians, and was taken to Ann Arbor by Dr. Scheurer for Ex-Ray examination, returned home last Thursday where she will remain to be nursed and cared for by her mother.

Mr. & Mrs. Frank Howard and child who visited friends here last week will go to Brattleboro, Vt., where the professor has a position in the college there. His work at the university of Nebraska, at Lincoln, was pretty hard and besides he has a better salary in the Vermont institution. Their many Manchester friends wish them health and prosperity.

We had a very pleasant though all too brief call from C. F. Field of Hastings last Saturday. He was down on business and only had a few hours here. He reports business pretty good, you know he is editor of the Hastings Journal. Both his children are married and the son is now taking a trip on the Pacific coast. Mrs. Field, he reports as not very well at present.

Farmers who have threshed their wheat say that very little of it is grown, Miller say that if the wheat hasn't legs on it an inch long farmers think it is not grown, when in fact, if it has started the starch is turned to sugar and the wheat will be hard to grind and will make sticky flour, dark in color.

We regret to announce that Miss Bertha Neyer, who has been an efficient and faithful employee in The Enterprise office the past ten years, is to sever her connection on Saturday and go to Detroit where three of her sisters are already located and have positions. They have rented a flat and will keep house, their home here being closed.

The Enterprise press has printed bills for Geo. J. Nisale of "The Farm" hotel, Wampler's lake, who will give the closing dance of the season on Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 6, afternoon and evening. He will also have a dance on Saturday evening, the 4th, and a concert on Sunday afternoon, the 5th, Parker's 5-piece colored orchestra of Columbus, the finest he has ever had, furnishing the music.

We believe that this is the proper time to urge manufacturers to locate in Manchester. The oldest and most intelligent man or woman must know that without means of providing labor for our young men and women at home, they must seek employment elsewhere. This has always been and will continue to be the center of a rich agricultural section, but farmers do not increase the acreage of their farms. They buy labor-saving machinery to do the work because it is cheaper than human labor. If we had a few small factories here we could hold our population by giving employment to the boys and girls.

Henry Huber, who lives south of town, was in town Saturday showing a lump on his head he said was caused by a blow with a club in the hands of a previous night caller. He claims the man, and he thinks he knows who it is, demanded admittance to the house and then asked where his pocket book was, which he told him. After he had lighted the lamp the man struck him on the head, he says, and taking the pocket book, which contained only about $2, he disappeared. In the absence of a warrant Deputy Sheriff Dowling was unwilling to investigate and we suppose the matter will be dropped. According to Huber's tell it was a bold outrage and the country people may be subject to a similar attack.

Mr. & Mrs. Al Hess and son, Mr. & Mrs. James Strots, Miss Bertha Koch of Detroit spent Sunday with Mr. & Mrs. L. Lonier.

The Ginnivan Dramatic Co., always favorites with our people, are meeting with good success this week as the weather has been favorable for tent shows. They will be here the balance of the week presenting popular plays and entertaining with good music.

Our late resident, Ed. Jaynes was a crank on hiding money, it would appear, as Frank Spafard, who has had charge of his estate, it is claimed has unearthed nearly $5,000 of money that Jaynes had hidden about the house. Some of the bills were musty with age and had to be sent to Washington to be redeemed. Jaynes was a constant reader of The Enterprise but it is evident this money was hidden years ago when he was in the lumber business as he has had no income since. At that time the banks did not advertise in our columns, which may account for this strange way of disposing of his wealth. We would advise all who have a disposition to hide their money, where moth and rust do corrupt and where thieves may break in and steal, to read the advertisements carefully and see what safety is insured and what interest they may obtain by depositing in one of our excellent banks.

Born.

JACOB—In this village on Tuesday, Aug. 17, 1915, to Mr. & Mrs. Gottlieb Jacob, a son.

Died.

MILLER—At the home of her sister, Mrs. E. W. Logan, in this township, on Saturday, Aug. 7, 1915, of Bright's disease, Mrs. Margaret E. Stringham—Miller, aged 63 years.

Margaret Elizabeth Stringham was born in Manchester, Mich., on Sept. 23rd, 1850, and died at the home of her sister, Mrs. E. Logan, on Aug. 7th, 1915, in her 65th year.

Miss Stringham was united in marriage with Mr. George Miller of Toledo Nov. 18, 1881. All of their married life was spent in the city of Toledo.

To Mr. & Mrs. Miller were born five children, all of whom have passed through death's portal. Deceased is survived by her husband and three grandchildren, also two brothers and three sisters.

Mrs. Miller united with the Methodist church in Manchester in her early girlhood and upon her removal to Toledo she transferred her membership to the St. James W. E. church of that city. She was steadfast in good works, an active and efficient member of the W. H. M. S. of the St. James church.

Following a period of sickness Mrs. Miller came to spend a few weeks with her sisters in the vicinity of Manchester in the hope of finding rest and restored health. She has found her rest for she has heard the call and has gone to that land where the inhabitants thereof never say "I am sick."

Shoes That "Look and Last"

Usually when you buy shoes you buy on "looks" and take the dealer's word for the wearing qualities. Some good looking shoes wear well—some that wear well aren't good looking. It depends on the place they come from.

Our fall styles are here. We have the models you want. No matter what the requirements, you will find the right pair of shoes here. We have them for children, school boys and girls, women and misses and men.

Warner's Rust-Proof Corsets "DOUBLE SKIRTS"

Everything double except price. This sounds unreasonable but it is more than that—it is extraordinary. There is absolutely no necessity for the woman of large figure paying extra prices for her corsets, or wearing corsets that are ponderous and much burdened with extra straps and belts. We have extraordinary Warner's Rust Proof Models with the double skirt. This double skirt, extending from the waist line down, gives the strongest kind of support and will not rip or tear. Of course the boning, steels, interlinings, etc. are double. All Warner corsets have these features. If you are looking for bargains, here are some real ones: $1.00, $1.50 and $2.00.

SAN-YAK

is the greatest rectifier for the blood and skin yet known. Greasy skin with pimples, blotches, eruptions or scrofula easily cleared away. Its use leaves the blood and skin as pure as the lilies. SAN-YAK for the stomach, nerves and blood is the best the world ever saw. SAN-YAK prevents the excessive flow of poison fluid into the blood from the super renal glands near the kidneys, causing the arteries to harden in the years past 50. This preventative keeps the arteries soft and flexible, giving flexibility to the muscles as in youth.

You can feel well and active at any age from 60 to 90 years. Men should die from old age, not from diseased tissue. Mothers and daughters can avoid many dangerous operations by the use of this wonderful medicine. The use of SAN-YAK for pain in the back and abdomen greatly lessens the danger of appendicitis. $1.00 per bottle. Get SAN-YAK at Henry Refuss and family of Mackay, Idaho, arrived Sunday night to visit his parents and many friends. It is several years since Henry migrated to the expansive west and his father had the fatted calf and a cordial welcome for him.

Postmaster Schmid is trying to get a little enjoyment out of frequent trips to his cottage at Sand lake after office hours. He reports good luck fishing for blue gills. John Schaffer takes him back-and-forth in his runabout and does some fishing while at the lake.

A card from Geo. H. Miles informs us that he is in the printing business at Minneapolis, Minn. George worked in The Enterprise office many years ago, assisted George Nissley when he started the Saline Observer, worked for us again when we owned the Clinton Local and has wandered far. Was at Duluth and West Superior for a long time and now he has a print shop in one of the twin cities and we trust that he is doing well.

A letter from Fred H. Blosser at Seattle, Wash., states that he has sold his property there and expects to leave about the 27th, taking the ocean route to San Francisco where he and his family will visit the exposition, then go to Los Angeles and San Bernardino, Calif., to visit Mrs. Blosser's brother, Will Nisle, and family. They will visit the Grand Canyon, Albuquerque, Kansas City and Chicago, arriving in Manchester about the 22nd of September or a little later.

THE BIG STORE

JACKSON, MICHIGAN

This Is a Business Held in Trust

Variety, newness, quality, value—to successfully meet a woman's desires, a store must adhere to these underlying principles. Not "now and then" but NOW AND ALWAYS must stocks present these features, and no one department must fall behind another or be less worthy of attention.

Good taste in dress need never be sacrificed for economy here. To pay little-or-less doesn't mean the giving up of one thing for another. Style costs you nothing extra here because style costs us nothing more. It is an art which to acquire costs only experience and good judgment.

The Field standard of quality is pushing the annual volume of business in this store steadily ahead and fairness of price is creating perpetual trade among those who make their first purchases here. Perhaps you, who read this, have been one of the factors in moulding the character of the service that this store is able to render today. If you have spoken freely to us of our faults, we thank you, for only by knowing them as you see them can we correct them. We consider this a business that is held in trust, for our public, and as such to be guarded zealously.

AUTO RACES TO BE ONE OF THE BIG FEATURES OF MICHIGAN STATE FAIR

MAKING THE LAST TURN WHEEL BY WHEEL.

NO more thrilling sight is listed in the catalogue of the spectacular than the finish of an automobile race. The long grinds on the speedways have their interest, but they do not compare to the finals of a five or ten mile contest on a dirt track between drivers who are noted for the chances they take to keep out of last place. The illustration shows Johnny Rainey of Cincinnati, Eddie Hearne of Detroit and Louis Disbrow in one of their hair raising encounters at the State Fair track. General Manager Dickinson of the State Fair announces that many of the country's most noted and spectacular drivers will compete at the 1915 State Fair, which will be held at Detroit Sept. 6 to 15.

AVIATOR WHO WILL GIVE FLIGHTS DAILY AT MICHIGAN STATE FAIR

THE Patterson Aviators will not only present the battle in the clouds at the Michigan State Fair, which will be held at Detroit Sept. 6 to 15, but will give other exhibition flights and will carry passengers. A special patriotic program will be given by the aviators on Children's day as well as the day of the old soldiers are guests of the Michigan State Fair management at the big exhibition.

A Long Time Investment

is what you receive when buying Jackson fence. It costs no more to stretch a good fence than a poor one—why not have the best. The saving of a few pennies, on initial cost in buying a light-weight, poorly made fence proves expensive in the end. Such a fence soon becomes saggy, shabby, breaks, falls and requires early replacement. Buy a fence that gives long life and satisfaction.

Jackson Fence

Guaranteed Full Gauge Hard Wire

is the one fence on the market today that positively fulfills this claim, because it's the only line on the market with the Combined Spiral and Flat Wire, made of Guaranteed Full Gauge Hard-Drawn Wire—galvanizing of Pure Commercial Zinc, all cross-bars, knots and laterals same size wire—a fence that's remarkably strong—extremely rigid, affording the utmost protection; not affected by rain, snow or cold—won't sag, rust or corrode, easily adjusts itself to uneven ground, economically erected, wears indefinitely—always retaining its shape and successfully resisting the most severe kicks and knocks of hard usage.
