SCHOOLS TO GIVE WEEK TO TBC STUDY

SUPT. KEELER-AT-HEAD OF PLAN TO HELP BIG CAMPAIGN IN STATE. WEEK BEGINNING MARCH 6TH It is Thought Parents May be Reached Through Instruction Given to Children During This One Week. Lansing—Michigan public schools will have a tuberculosis week beginning March 6. Superintendent of Public Instruction Fred L. Keeler, who is engineering the plan, also intends to ask the parochial schools to cooperate and is satisfied that they will do so. This is to be the contribution of the public school system to the anti-tuberculosis campaign now being carried on with the $100,000 appropriation by the 1915 legislature. "The way to reach many of the parents is through their children," says Mr. Keeler, "and I think I can do as much, if not more good, for the cause of anti-tuberculosis in this one week than the others can do with their $100,000." Lessons for the entire week will be drawn up in the office of the superintendent of instruction and it is planned to have them in the hands of the teachers at least a month before the time set aside. Next week the work of the campaign will be taken up in Grand Traverse county. Nurses are already busy there. St. Clair county will be next invaded. With three counties, Wexford, Barry and Ottawa, practically completed the officials who are conducting the work think they have reached a point where's pretty close to ultimate results can be guessed at.

The county is now wet. Joseph Person, residing at Traverse Lake, Leelanau county, was instantly killed Sunday when the tank which provided acetylene light for his house exploded. His head was split open by a fragment of the tank. He was filling the tank when the explosion occurred. An Automobile Thanksgiving By Kate Upson Clark

"HATE 'em!" good old Deacon Phipps was in the habit of saying, whenever he saw an automobile. From the first moment the new invention appeared, scaring his steady old horses almost to death, and breaking up one of his best farm wagons, Deacon Phipps had no patience with any kind of a motor vehicle. As time went on, and many of his neighbors bought automobiles, his horses became wonted to them and turned never a hair when they whizzed by; but the good deacon did not relent. Whenever one passed him on the road, throwing, perhaps, a shower of dust or mud upon his modest carriage, and leaving behind it a trail of ill-odor, he would mutter (under his breath) words which no good deacon should ever use. The deacon and his wife grew old, and their six children all married, excepting Rhoda, the youngest, who stayed at home to take care of them. The four sons were prosperous, and the older daughter had married a very rich man and lived one hundred or more miles away. Two sons had become farmers and lived quite near. One was a merchant in a large town, perhaps fifty miles distant. The fourth was a minister, settled in the same town with the merchant brother. To the infinite disgust of Deacon Phipps, all of these sons, excepting the minister, owned automobiles, and Thomas, the merchant, actually sported three or four. When his father found this out, he came almost to the point of breaking off relations with Thomas.

"I don't see any way," sighed his good wife, "but you hadn't oughter complain, Silas. Ye've got a sight o' blessing's, an' we'd oughter think o' those we've got an' not bicker after those we can't have." Which was good doctrine, though it could not quite stop the deacon's grumbling. Miss Rhoda Phipps was quite equal to the task of taking care of the old people. A strong woman helped her in the kitchen, and there were neighbors near by who were ready to do extra work. Job, the good middle-aged man who had taken care of the horses for many a year, was no mean hand at household as well as stable service, and at this special Thanksgiving season Miss Rhoda kept them all busy until the pantries were piled thick with dainties. Mrs. Phipps thought that there was too much food prepared. "Why, Rhoda, what do we want with twenty apple pies and six turkeys and ten chicken pies and a gallon of cranberry sauce?" she cried.

Deacon Phipps Was Restlessly Peering Up the Road.

"We never in the world can eat them up before they spoil! As near as I can make out, there are only about ten coming, anyway." But Miss Rhoda said she "would risk it," and laughed her mother back to her post beside the fire. By ten o'clock Thanksgiving morning the whole farmhouse was in a speckless order. Aunt Judy and Uncle Ben had promised to come early, and so had son John and his family. Deacon Phipps was restlessly peering up the road, long before the proper time, and Mrs. Phipps was almost as impatient as he. Presently over the brow of the hill

Decapitated in Sugar Plant.

Caro—Glenn Blake, 21, and unmarried, was decapitated while at work in the local sugar plant at 4 o'clock Monday morning. He was watching a beet conveyor and elevator when he lost his balance. A bucket cut off his head and carried it to an upper floor. The man working at the top fainted when he saw the head coming on the elevator. Blake came from Ohio five years ago with a brother and sister and lived on a farm east of here.

Barns on Campus Must Go.

East Lansing—M. A. C. professors who live on the campus may have garages, but henceforth barns will be for them taboo. Such is the ruling of the state board of agriculture. The board has authorized the removal of barns back of faculty residences, for the reason that the structures have come to be looked upon as an insult to the esthetic sense of the college community and detract from the beauty of the campus.

Hunter Kills Highway Commissioner.

Luzerne—Volney C. Miller, highway commissioner of Clinton township, Oscoda county, was fatally shot by an unknown hunter. Miller was standing at a highway conversing with a companion. Two shots were fired, one of which took effect. Physicians were called, but Miller died in a short time. The hunter disappeared.

Ways and Means of Thanksgiving

THANKSGIVING in the language from which it is derived really means to give thanks and that reminds me of this.

But thinking makes it so. As we are not avaricious in our own fault, there are few of us whom fortune has so abused.

From the first Thanksgiving day Governor Bradford sent men to bring in wild turkeys for the feast.

The thought of Thanksgiving being a home festival sometimes is a stumbling block to many people.

Expressions of Gratitude Truly Made Denote Proper Feeling of Thankfulness in the Heart.

Far down in your heart you may think about anything, will you show the kindness to everybody connected with you and to your own personality by giving an honest, sincere expression of your gratitude.

Men and Women. Women as well as men are made miserable by the same things.

Important to Mothers. Examine carefully every bottle of CASTOR OIL.

Rest Your Nerves. Do you get nervous for this or that? Do you get nervous for this or that?

A Powerful Physique. Is a valuable asset, but— Strength of body must be combined with a healthy, active mind.

Grape-Nuts. It is well established that both body and brain are nourished and rebuilt daily from food—each taking up the particular elements required.

Steady Custom. "Anybody for Thanksgiving?" said a man in a shop.

Thankful for Past Blessings. In considering things to be thankful for so few of us lay claim on the gratitude of the right to thank and to act, opportunely, countless chances to be thankful.

Preparing for the Feast. YOU are living in a great country and are indeed fortunate in having the right to thank and to act, opportunely, countless chances to be thankful.

The recitations, essays and music were much enjoyed. The song "I can't do a thing with my hair since it's washed" was so well sung that the girls had to respond a second time.

IS PRISON DE LUXE
Interment Camp at Irlington Like Exclusive Club.

No Prisoner Would Leave, the Camp Under Any Inducement Less Than Declaration of Peace—Have All the Luxuries.

By HAYDEN TALBOT.

London—If any belligerent country ever conducted an enemy interment camp as this country is running the Irlington workhouse has been transformed, the world's historians have deprived their readers of a tale at the same time amusing and appalling. The English soldiers who have been kept in the camp were only alive to do it. Except his, no pen can do justice to the facts.

To begin, there are upwards of 700 Germans and Austrians interred at Irlington. The guard—although unneeded—is comprised of one police sergeant and four P. C.'s, who are in America plain policemen. Not one of the seven hundred-odd prisoners would leave Irlington for any consideration less than a declaration of peace. The waiting list of alien enemies now interred in Irlington exceeds five hundred.

Irlington workhouse resembles in every particular the highest class of the interment club. To become a "prisoner" in the institution is the dearest wish of every German and Austrian now in Great Britain, excepting, perhaps, only those who are still enjoying their full liberty.

The attention of Britons was directed to Irlington by the announcement that a brother of Tom Blasing, who was governor general of Belgium, was leaving Irlington for his native land. Miss Edith Cavell was executed, among the more recently "elected" members of the interment club.

That certain privileges were permitted such wealthy, highly placed guests as Tom Blasing, who is an open secret since the outbreak of the war, but the real conditions existing at Irlington are still undreamed of by the British public.

To begin with, you can escape doing any work—if you are among those fortunate 100 prisoners—by the payment of 75 cents a week. You can dine on the best of food, and you can get a haircut by the British public.

Four Boys' Escape School.

Lansing—Four boys, inmates of the boys' industrial school here, made a dash for liberty at 6 o'clock Friday night. They were marching from supper to their cottages when the break was made. Within 15 minutes the theft of a horse and buggy five blocks away from the school was reported to the police and the officers are proceeding on the theory that the boys took the horse and buggy to facilitate their escape. The school authorities will not give the names of the fugitives.

No Prisoner Would Leave, the Camp Under Any Inducement Less Than Declaration of Peace—Have All the Luxuries.

By HAYDEN TALBOT.

London—If any belligerent country ever conducted an enemy interment camp as this country is running the Irlington workhouse has been transformed, the world's historians have deprived their readers of a tale at the same time amusing and appalling. The English soldiers who have been kept in the camp were only alive to do it. Except his, no pen can do justice to the facts.

To begin, there are upwards of 700 Germans and Austrians interred at Irlington. The guard—although unneeded—is comprised of one police sergeant and four P. C.'s, who are in America plain policemen. Not one of the seven hundred-odd prisoners would leave Irlington for any consideration less than a declaration of peace. The waiting list of alien enemies now interred in Irlington exceeds five hundred.

Irlington workhouse resembles in every particular the highest class of the interment club. To become a "prisoner" in the institution is the dearest wish of every German and Austrian now in Great Britain, excepting, perhaps, only those who are still enjoying their full liberty.

The attention of Britons was directed to Irlington by the announcement that a brother of Tom Blasing, who was governor general of Belgium, was leaving Irlington for his native land. Miss Edith Cavell was executed, among the more recently "elected" members of the interment club.

That certain privileges were permitted such wealthy, highly placed guests as Tom Blasing, who is an open secret since the outbreak of the war, but the real conditions existing at Irlington are still undreamed of by the British public.

To begin with, you can escape doing any work—if you are among those fortunate 100 prisoners—by the payment of 75 cents a week. You can dine on the best of food, and you can get a haircut by the British public.

Four Boys' Escape School.

Lansing—Four boys, inmates of the boys' industrial school here, made a dash for liberty at 6 o'clock Friday night. They were marching from supper to their cottages when the break was made. Within 15 minutes the theft of a horse and buggy five blocks away from the school was reported to the police and the officers are proceeding on the theory that the boys took the horse and buggy to facilitate their escape. The school authorities will not give the names of the fugitives.
