from kidney and bladder trouble, rheumatism, stiff joints, and muscles, old age or tired feelings, throat, stomach and bowel troubles by its use, or money refunded.

Greasy skin with pimples, blothes, eruptions or scrofula-easily cleared away Its use leaves the blood and skin as pure as the lilies. SAN-YAK for the stomach, nerves and blood is the best the world ever saw. SAN-YAK prevents the excessive flow of poison fluid into the blood from the super renal glands near the kidneys, causing the arteries to harden in the years past 50. This preventative keeps the arteries soft and flexible, giving flexibility to the muscles as in weath.

You can feel well and active at any age from 60 to 90 years. Man should die from old age, not from diseased tissue. Mothers and daughters can avoid many dangerous operations by the use of this wonderful medicine. The use of SAN-YAK for pain in the back and abdomen greatly lessens the danger of appendicitis. $1.00 per bottle. Get SAN-YAK at

Local and Personal

Good bye 1915.

A welcome to 1916.

This is fine winter weather.

Plenty of snow and good sleighing. A good many people are sick from colds or the gripp. We wish everybody a happy and proserous New Year. A new telephone directory has been delivered to subscribers. A large company of friends gave Dan Gage aud family a jolly surprise Tuesday evening. Oysters, etc., were taken and a very merry time was had. A few auto owners continue to use their cars since the snow came, but most of them will discontinue their use until we have milder weather and better bills for Yocum, Marx & Co., G. H. Breitenwischer and The Fair Store, all of whom will begin clearing sales on if so, we undoubtedly would have found Monday.

The Enterprise has added a goodly number of new names to its subscription list the past week and a large number have renewed promptly and saved by doing so.

Surely the true Christmas spirit was not shown by the two men who engaged in a tussle and fist fight on our streets late Christmas eve. It is claimed that drink was the cause of the disturbance, No arrests were made.

The party given by the ladies a Arbeiter hall Saturday evening was to the boys and girls and packages of attended by 45 couples. A beautiful gifts for the people assembled and many Christmas tree occupied the center of the floor and was greatly admired. The occasion was one of extreme

The stores and other places of business will be closed on Saturday, but on Monday the 3rd we may expect business to be lively. Some of our merchants will begin clearing sales on that day and our readers will do well to week and be on hand early to get first pick at the good bargains offered.

The building on Railroad street at the foot of "Ockrow avenue," recently occupied by Charles Perkins, "took a great fall "and slid down the hill backwards, last Friday about 10 o'clock a. m., and like Humpty Dumpty who sat on a wall, "all the king's oxen and all the king's men" can't put it on the wall again. We were told that "some boys tipped it over," and wonder if it is true that property can be destroyed in such a bold manner, and no attention be paid to it.

Christmas Glee at Club Meet

The Academy of Forty were royally entertained at the home of Rev. & Mrs. Wulfman on Tuesday evening, Dec. 21. It was the Christmas meeting and a large number of members and guests of the club were present. All that far south country. Stephen has seemed to realize the "glad, sweet feel his wife and child with him to help in the air" and to be imbued with the spirit of Christmas, as they entered in the service 15 years or more and has into songs and games with a zest at the not been here in 12 years. close of the business session. The committee had arranged a progam appropri was won by Mrs. Evelyn Spafard.

Each person present was given too old to frolic at the Christmas time." A deafening shout, too, arose to see baid headed men with hair pins and dolls. All went home feeling that it had been one of the most delightful meetings in the history of the

Santa Claus Was In Manchester

The giant Christmas tree which was set up in the middle of the street, where Railroad street intersects Exchange Place, and was called "Everybody's Tree," was indeed a delight to all. It was beautifully decorated with the stars and stripes in numerous quantity, vari-colored electric lights and the usual tinsel decorations, and when lighted presented a fine appearance. A fall of snow coming just in time for old Santa Claus to appear lent the real Christmas charm to the occasion and everbody gathered around laughing and chatting in a most joyful manner.

About 6:30 the sound of horns was heard drawing nearer and nearer until midst a great shouting of the boys and girls and a prolonged blast from many horns, old Santa appeared. Because of the lack of snow the jolly old elf had evidently abandoned his sleigh and taken to the modern means of locomotion-an automobile. The car was adorned with two deer's heads in front and the radiator was so covered with fur robes that a very good imitation of two deer drawing the vehicle, was obtained. Old Santa was all smiles and bowed and waved his hands to the assembled multitude. It was a very Christmas like scene, the falling snow clinging to the dark evergreen branches of the tree and the clothing of the people assembled. President Waters made a short speech and introduced old Santa. He said in part, after the usual greetings: "One thousand, nine hundred and fifteen years ago three wise men from the east guided by the radiance of the star of Bethlehem came to find the Savior of a sinful world. They found him who said, 'Peace on earth, good will toward men,' and who 'further said, 'Suffer little children to come unto me for such is the Kingdom of Heaven.' We would search in vain to find three wise men in the east to day, where every man's hand is against his brother. If the rulers of the old world could look over this joyful audience, they would have to admit that the words of the orator were true where in he said,- Peace hath her victories, more renowned than war.' We have not searched Manchester for wise men; them; we have only been looking for Santa Claus and we have found him and have him with us and I now present him to you and place in his hands the remainder of the festivities of the even-

Santa said, among other things, "that he had traveled many years over the world to see the boys and girls, but Manchester was the first place where he had hitched his reindeers to an automobile." He then, with the assistance of a committee handed out the gifts, some 500 sacks of candy, oranges, etc. others.

Misses Rehfuss and Einkorn and Messrs. Kramer and Dietle assisted by the school children sang appropriate. songs. All joined in singing America and with merry Christmas to all, mids a prolonged blast from the trumpets old Santa dashed away presumably to continue his joyous gift giving to other boys and girls.

On their return from Ann Arbor Sunday evening, Mrs. Kate Conklin and Miss Julia Conklin were side tracked for three hours between Chelses and Grass Lake, waiting for a wrecker to get a derailed car back on the track, so they were not able to reach home until Monday morning.

Mr. & Mrs. Guy E. Davis and Toselo Knorpp of Ypsilanti, Miss Linda, who is teaching at Brighton and Clarence of Detroit, came home to spend Christmas with their parents, Mr. & Mrs. Charles Knorpp. Linds had bought a piano for her sister Loretta, and she and brother Charlie had been invited to Ypsilanti to be out of the way when it came.

ing with a changing aspect. The grayness of a thousand days seemed to settle over him, of drifting and not caring, yet carrying downward with him that gift supreme, of knowing that beauty was the necessary dream, but that the world and woman always made of it a lie, that truth could be spoken of only after money. He could think in those terms and yet he did not altogether. His need to appreciate was too strong. In art, at least, he could follow life in tone, however deeply and personally he understood deeply and personally he understood its irony. But he was no longer sure that he cared to follow it. But after many times previously confessing her love for him, she had stood there that day they had parted four months ago and stated so busislike and with smug, immovable philosophy: "A woman must marry money these days for her own sake." Coming from her, it was unimaginable and left him flat. He could not point out that she had much money of he own, that for him success must come very soon, and that it was his greatest hope she would wait for him. She already knew these things as she knew that he loved her. He had made no answer to her because there was none. Her statement killed even

One of the charms of Christmas is its perpetuation of ancient rites and customs. The Christmas tree, the mistletoe and the holly, the chants and anthems, Santa Claus and the reindeers-all hark back to earlier centuries when life was simpler and mankind sought its joys on a less intensive plan. In a sense, there is no such thing as a modern Christmas, though we may give it a modernist touch here and there.
