An Indian Reservation Tale by ROBERT AMES BENNET

CHAPTER XV

A Lover's Promise

COLLOWING the killing of Agent Nogen and threats of an outbreak among the Indians, Capt. Floyd Hardy, U. S. A., goes to Lakotah servation as acting agent to quell the trouble. He is wounded from ambush, and falls in love with Marie Dupont, who nurses him. She neither accepts nor refuses his proposal of marriage, because she and Vandervyn are intimates. Hardy learns the Indians are disaffected because Marie's father, Jacques Dupont, a wily post trader, and Reginald Vandervyn, agency clerk and nephew of Senator Clem mer, have cheated them in an illegal tribal mine deal, and purposes to right the wrong. He makes friends with the tribesmen and calls a council at the mine. What occurs there-how desperate conspirators ment of sour Bistism regulars dispatched from Boston by General Gage to sieze stores of ammunition supposed to have been hidden in Concord by the colonists, were met by 70 provincials. Failing to disperse on command, the patriots were fired on by the British and 16 of them were killed. This, the "Battle" of Lexington fired the country and within a short time an army of 16,000 men had gathered about Boston, the first organized in defiance of British rule in America.

Fine state roads lead to Lexington from every direction and every road has its historic points and scenes. Many of the original houses about Lexington Green are still standing and are still fine residences. The white house seen in the picture is the Harrington homestead at the doorway of which John Harring-bird at the feet of his wife.

ton who was mortany wounds. The pired at the feet of his wife.

The road from Boston to Lexington is over the original route of Paul Revere's Ride. "through every Middlesex village and farm" and from all parts of the country come tourists who react in their minds the stirring scenes of revolutionary times as they glide over perfect roads at speed and comfort never dreamed of in those early days of our country's history.
