Simple Tests of Value in Telling Whether Goods Is "All Wool and Yard Wide."

The laws of the country at present offer no protection to the purchaser of textile materials. If the price of "all wool, a yard wide" goods is paid and later it is found that the material is half cotton, there is nothing left for the purchaser to do but to enter it as "loss" in her profit and loss account. To be sure there are any number of stores where the dealers are truthful about the textile materials handled, but nevertheless a knowledge of a few simple tests may not come amiss, writes Beryl Dixon of the Colorado Agricultural college.

Sometimes sleazy, thin cotton material is made to look quite firm and attractive by the use of sizing or dressing. By rubbing a corner between the thumb and finger, the sizing is removed and the real quality of the material is apparent. In very thin materials the sizing may be detected by holding the cloth to the light. The starch will show between the threads.

An examination of the revealed warp and woof threads will often appear fuzzy. Linen fibers are long, and consequently broken ends of linen threads are more pointed than those of cotton. Cotton material feels warmer than linen.

Some woolen materials are "made over" that is, old woolen rags and short, broken fibers, and the clippings from broadcloth are used in its manufacture. Sometimes this can be detected by unraveling the end. The short fibers are loosened and fall out.

POULTRY POINTERS

Making the most of everything in the poultry business is a sure way to success.

Odd or surplus cockerels should be made over into capons to help increase the meat supply.

Capons grow to substantial weights and their meat is of a high quality.

Cockerels from two to six months old are of the caponizing age, but the younger they are the better the work can be done.

From one and a half to two and a half pounds is generally accepted as the best weight of cockerels for caponizing.

The art of caponizing is not so difficult a task as it looks to be, and skillful operators are made in a short time. Experience and practice soon makes the work easy to those so inclined to learn the art.

A knowledge of the essential features of the operation and a good set of tools soon put the operator in the front ranks of the profession.

Birds intended for caponizing should not be fed for 36 hours prior to the operation.

Refraining from feeding the birds before, always helps the operator as well as the birds afterwards.

The operation should be preferred in the daytime, and the brighter the light the more easily are the organs distinguished.

When the operator is skillful the operation is only the matter of seconds in the making of a capon.

After the birds have been operated upon, place them in a house from which the roosts and other furniture have been removed, and cover the floor with straw, hay or leaves for a bedding.

Don't crowd them too much until they have taken to their feed and show some strength after the operation.

Our Boys' Bayonets must be backed up with Bonds!

The hand that rocks the cradle can take a Baby Bond.

Are you pro-Prussian or pro-Pershing? Buy a Bond!

FOR LIBERTY AND DEMOCRACY--BUY A BOND

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

1. What is the Government's promise, printed on every bond, to pay you back every dollar, plus 4 per cent interest each year.

2. How do Liberty Bonds differ from other bonds issued by the Government?

3. How much money will the Government raise by selling these Bonds?

4. Does the Government need all this Money?

5. Where will the Government spend this Money?

6. If I buy Liberty Bonds will I get interest on my Money?

7. If I buy Liberty Bonds will I get back all the money I pay for them?

8. Suppose I buy Bonds and am later in need of money. Can I turn my Bonds into cash?

9. If I sell my Bonds, will I get as much as I paid for them?

10. Where can I buy them?

11. Do I pay a commission to the bank or broker?

12. How much will the Bonds cost me?

The choice is between democracy and autocracy. Help preserve democracy by buying Liberty Bonds.

Mother's Milk

Food for the Family.

Before the good greens are frost-bitten and spoiled one should can a few jars with carrots, celery, and an onion or two to use for the children in the winter. Two or three carrots cut up with a stalk or two of celery and onion with the bulk of the jar filled with spinach, or Swiss chard will take its place. This combination is highly recommended by dieticians, for little people, beginning as soon as vegetables may be given. Two or three tablespoonfuls of this mixture put through a puree sieve may be added to any meat broth or a cream soup. Children may early learn to enjoy all vegetables by adding them to soups and various dishes. As the mineral matter contained in vegetables is so valuable to growing children a variety of vegetables should be served and always in some attractive and tasty form to induce the liking for them. Potato water contains valuable mineral matter, which water may be added to bread when setting the sponge, buckwheat griddle cakes instead of water and gravies of all kinds in place of water or milk.

Canned Vegetables for Soup.

Scald, peel and wash one peck of ripe tomatoes. Cook a dozen ears of corn, cut from the cob and scrape off all the tender bits of the kernel. Put a bunch of celery, one-half peck of onions, two medium heads of cabbage, one dozen small carrots and three bunches of well-washed celery through the meat chopper. Pack in jars and cook under water, following the directions for cold pack canning. In the winter add the amount of cooked vegetables needed to any kind of broth. Potatoes and turnips may be added when used. Tomatoes and corn may be omitted and any liked combination used. If corn is used, however, the cooking must continue three hours.

Peanut Butter Soup.

A delicious and nourishing soup may be made from peanut butter and skim milk. Heat a pint of milk until warm, add two tablespoonfuls of peanut butter, mixed to a paste with a little of the milk. Salt and season to taste and thicken with a teaspoonful each of butter and flour cooked together until smooth. When scalding hot, serve.

Fried corn is delicious. Mix with a little finely chopped green pepper and cook in any sweet fat, corn oil or olive oil. Season with salt and pepper and serve with crisp bacon.

SCHOOL NOTES

Every day in our life is a day in our history.

Our football team will play Hillsdale Friday afternoon on our field.

On account of the meeting at Arbetter hall Monday evening, the Alpha Sigma was held Tuesday evening.

Our football team went to Tecumseh Friday and played the high school team there, coming out victorious by a score of 39 to 0.

Very neat drawings decorate the boards of the primary grades. We make special mention of those in the Second Primary, designed and drawn by Miss Ackerson. On one board is drawn "Three Ships of Columbus" and on another "Gathering Apples."

A one-day's institute will be held in the Grammar room of the high school building, Friday Oct. 19, beginning at 9 a. m. School Commissioner Evan Essery will be present. Prof. Ford of the State Normal College will discuss "The Art of Story Telling," and "What a Recitation is for."

The Brooklyn Exponent of Oct. 11 said: "In their first football game with Manchester Tuesday the Brooklyn boys met defeat by a score of 21 to 0. No scores were made in the last half. Manchester's line was weak but in the open style of play she was able to score. All the boys feel good about the game and are anxious to meet Manchester here soon."

The Alpha Sigma, Tuesday was well attended and a very interesting program was given. All who took part did well. The play was good. The debate,Resolved, that all international disputes should be settled by law, was decided in favor of the affirmative by the judges, Mrs. Glatz, Miss Edith Scheid and Alta Grossman. The music was enjoyed. Miss Dwyer was critic for the evening.

A very pleasant exercise took place last Monday morning when Frank Leeson, secretary of the board of education, met with the school and gave a talk on the subject of agriculture. At the close of his remarks, in behalf of the board he presented the following boys who had gardens in the lot west of the building, with the prizes which were offered in the spring. Potatoes, first prize $1.00 to Arthur Feldman; second prize, 75 cents, to Clarence Haarer; third prize, 25 cents, to Rolland Serris. Care of keeping garden to Earl Treat 50 cents, Laurence Haschle 50 cents, Clarence Haarer 50 cents, Jay Hoffer 50 cents. Mr. Leeson congratulated the boys on the work they had done.

HELBER'S PAPER SHUT OUT

The Washtenaw Post Favors Germany, So Is Denied Second Class Mail Rates.

Eugene Helber did not go to Washington to present at the investigation when he was charged with publishing a pro-German paper, but wrote a letter it is alleged, claiming that he was "an old man, over 70 years of age," and asked forgiveness.

The plea did not work it seems and Postmaster Abbott received an order barring the Post from the mails, as second class matter.

Last week's edition of the Post it is claimed contained an editorial translated from the German, as follows: "There are strenuous times ahead for the German press. The day is not far distant when we, as loyal citizens, must make ourselves ready to prove our loyalty before the court. In the meantime endure, keep your mouth shut, and hold out."

By Midnight Wednesday Sept. 12th

Up to midnight, September 12th, during a period of 8½ months, we sold and delivered to tire dealers more United States Tires than we sold to dealers during the entire 12 months of 1916.

This phenomenal sales increase was made notwithstanding our epoch-making sales increases of 1916 over 1915.

These record-breaking sales increases of 1917 over 1916 and our record-breaking sales increases of 1916 over 1915 definitely and finally prove three facts:

1. The supremacy of United States Tires.
2. The fact that the vast army of automobile owners who used United States Tires in 1916 are using them in 1917 on the sheer merit of their experience.
3. The fact that another vast army of automobile owners have been won over to the use of United States Tires in 1917 on the sheer superiority of our tires over other tires that they have tried.

The Story of CHURNING GOLD

As a relief from high-priced spread for bread, in France, years ago, Louis Napoleon, French emperor, offered a prize for the best substitute. Hippolite Mege made Oleomargarine. Even in its crude form it was of high food value and gave fair satisfaction. About twenty years ago a Cincinnati butterine dealer wanted a better butter spread for his bread. His efforts at improvement have resulted in the delicious product we have recently introduced to your town. Use it on your bread or in cooking. Its cost will be reasonable.
