COMMUNITY SINGING BIG CHAUTAUQUA FEATURE

DEAN R. G. McCUTCCHAN

Music is the great inspirer—and the great relaxer. To it alone—in the opinion of the leaders of national thought—can America look for real relief when the dire hours of the war's blackest tragedy hangs heavy over us.

of triumph—when the victory shall have been won.

That is the creed of the Community Singers.

State and National Councils of Defense are pledged to it. Realizing the need for this kind of music, the Community Chautauquas have secured the services of Dean R. G. McCutchan, of the School of Music of DePauw University, America's foremost exponent of Community Singing to develop the new art in every town on their western circuit.

Dean McCutchan will bring Community Singing to life at the Chautauqua, leading the audience, in his magnetic manner, in mass singing of the country's best known songs.

Miss Freda Hiatt, pianist, and an artist herself, in the newer development of mass music, will assist.

THE HUGH ANDERSON OPERATIC COMPANY

The hunger for song and music is as necessary as the hunger for food. What a joy to hear selections from "The Bohemian Girl" or "The Miserere" from Il Trovatore—when done by artists.

The Hugh Anderson Operatic Company is in its sixth season—growing each year in artistic accomplishment—and this year, is even better.

The company is composed of Eleanor Perera, whose beautiful, high, clear soprano voice never fails to captivate her audience; Gertrude Porter, a contralto gifted with a voice of wondrous beauty and sweetness, and a charming personality; Erma Meredith, accompanist and piano soloist; George Stump, a tenor of fine, clear tone and excellent carrying power; and Hugh Anderson, himself.

Manchester---July 25 to July 29, Inc.

Community centers will also be organized at the Iron Creek church and in Saline and Milan, and it is expected that other centers will be formed rapidly.

SOLDIERS OFF FOR CAMP

Another Contingent to Add to Manchester's List of Brave Hun Fighters.

The boys of Manchester and vicinity who had to report at Ann Arbor Monday morning, as they were to leave for Camp Custer at once, were given a good send-off. John Wessner was on hand before six o'clock with his cannon and sleepy inhabitants were awakened by the loud roar of the gun and the shouts of the boys.

A. J. Waters and others were prepared with autos to take the boys and with warm hand-shakes and hearty wishes for their welfare, at the same time wishing all a safe return home when the war is over, we saw them wave adieu to friends as the autos sped out of town.

Among those called were: Fred Koebe, Oscar Kaimbach, Julius Lindbergs, Herbert and Roy Lammings, Bruce Lawrence, Ed. Riedel, Tosselo Knorpp, George Wahr.

PATRIOTISM DON'T WAIT.
If our soldier boys deliberated as long over doing their duty as some of our people at home hesitate over doing theirs, the victory would be doubtful. It is a sort of financial cowardice to hesitate to put your money in United States securities and to deliberate over the wisdom and patriotism of the investment is to hesitate in supporting our soldiers.

Esteban Varona lay suspended upon a swinging bed between O'Reilly's Judson's horses. Although they cried him as carefully as they could throughout that long hot journey, never ceased his babbling and never awoke to his surroundings.

CHAPTER XV.

Norine Takes Charge.
During the next few days O'Reilly had reason to bless the happy chance which had brought Norine Evans to Cuba. During the return journey from San Antonio de los Baños he had covered how really ill Esteban Varona was, how weak his hold upon life was. After listening to his ravings, O'Reilly began to fear that the poor fellow's mind was permanently affected. It was an appalling possibility, one to which he could not reconcile himself. He thought that somewhere in that fevered brain was perhaps locked the truth about Ross's fate, if not the secret of her whereabouts, and yet to be unable to wring an intelligent answer to a single question, was intolerable. In hours of that ride were among the longest O'Reilly had ever passed.

But Norine Evans gave him no heart. She took complete charge of the sick man upon his arrival in camp then in her brisk, matter-of-fact way directed O'Reilly to go and get some much-needed rest. Esteban was ill, very ill, she admitted; there was a competent doctor near, and her own facilities for nursing were primitive indeed; nevertheless, she expressed confidence that she could cure him and reminded O'Reilly that nature is a blessed way of building up a resistance to environment. As a result her good cheer O'Reilly managed to enjoy a night's sleep.

He was up at daylight to offer services in caring for Esteban Varona but Norine declined them.

"His fever is down a little and has taken some nourishment," she reported. "That food you boys risked your silly lives for may come in handy after all."

"I dare say he won't be able to do today," O'Reilly ventured.

CHAUTAUQUA OPENS

Lectures Form Important Part of Program of Music and Entertainment—Lots of Music.

The opening program of Chautauqua this afternoon was before a splendid audience and enthusiasm should even increase during the whole series of entertainments. Besides the entertaining features that have been made prominent the lectures bid fair to be masterpieces. This evening comes Samuel Cranston Benyon with his word picture of the war "The Hun in China." Few Americans have ever experienced the things this man faced while at the front in the ambulance service.

On Friday evening Dr. Frederic Poole has a wonderful illustrated lecture, "The Birth of an Oriental Nation" that pictures life in China and the Orient and shows the relation of the yellow races to America and the great world war.

Saturday evening Chicago's famous "fighting parson," Dr. E. L. Williams will deliver his most interesting lecture "The City and the Soil." It is a lighting up of the crime-infested spots of city life—a picturing of the dangers and the pitfalls that lurk within the midnight shadows of the city walls.

On Monday comes Andrew H. Harnly with two great war messages: "The Trenches in America" which he delivers in the afternoon and a lecturette "Carry On" which he presents in the evening. They are revelations of the part which every American at home as well as in the field is playing and must continue to play in winning the great war.

The above outline of lectures combined with the balance of the program each day make an entertaining, instructive and elevating influence that comes only with the Chautauqua.

PEAT AS A CHEAP FUEL

There Are Tons of This Material Here if We Could Make Use of It For Fuel.

In the window in The Enterprise office will be seen a sample of peat cut out by Dan Gage from his marsh north of his farm residence and back near what was Ross's woods.

Years ago when there was an attempt made to develop peat beds in Michigan, Mr. Gage took out some samples of peat and tested them in the stove at home. They burned freely when dry, making a hot fire, and left white ashes.

This peat is perhaps three feet deep, though the sample is only two, and rests upon a bed of blue clay. It must have been thousands of years in forming. Irish people who know something about peat in Ireland call this particular sample soft peat.

There are perhaps 10 acres in the marsh above mentioned, and if it could be taken out and dried without too much expense it would furnish fuel to help out in the present scarce city of coal. In other sections of this country there are acres and acres of this fuel and inventive genius may yet find an economical method of fitting it for general use.

The demand for speeding up food production to aid in winning the war has been a factor in land improvement this year and to get the best out of the land it has been found advisable to increase the drainage system. There are six drains in which Washtenaw county is concerned with neighboring counties.

As most of the rivers have their source in this county we have to help our neighboring counties in taking care of the water and Drain Commissioner Deake now has six different drains on his hands; two in course of construction.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT

Gravel Makes Good Road, But the Concrete Roads Are Better For Heavy Wear.

A large number of Enterprise readers drive to Detroit and almost every day we hear people ask about the roads. The road from here to Saline via Bridgewater Station is very good but from there to Ypsilanti it is rough. In fact it is bad east of Ypsilanti until you reach the concrete road at the Wayne county line. Pittsfield evidently is ashamed of its road, for they are improving the Saline-Ypsilanti road.

The Eastern Washtenaw good roads district has let the contract for building an 18-foot concrete road from Ypsilanti to the Wayne county line. These concrete roads cost a lot of money but they are the only roads to build on main highways where much heavy trucking will be done. Gravel roads will not stand up under the constant strain put upon them.

A new cement bridge will be constructed over the Michigan Central tracks on Michigan avenue, Ypsilanti, taking the place of the wooden one. It will have a 24-foot roadway and a 5-foot sidewalk on each side.

LOOKING OUT FOR THE BOYS

Truman H. Newberry Is Thoughtful of Them Now Just As He Was in Spanish-American War Days.

"I would go the limit for Truman Newberry. He is a real man."

It was Emanuel Oliver, in charge of an elevator at the Michigan Soldiers' Home, who was speaking.

"I was with Newberry on the Yosemite in the Spanish-American war. He was lieutenant; I was mess steward and under his orders. The other boys on the Yosemite feel the same way about it, too. They have reason to do so. When any of the boys were sick, Lieutenant Newberry would see to it that they had delicacies from the officers' mess. When they were broke, he provided them with money. When they were in trouble, they felt free to go to him and tell him about it, and he helped them out. After it was all over and we came back to the good old United States, some of the boys did not have funds with which to get home. It was Newberry who sent them on their homeward journey. You bet, all the old Yosemite boys swear by Newberry."

"It is no secret, now, that was the Spanish-American War days. Truman H. Newberry is again in service as a commander in the Third Naval District. His two boys also enlisted and are serving; one in the army, the other in the navy. Once again he is looking after the boys, and with his own sons in uniform, his interest in the men is keener than ever, if that were possible.

"His interest in and sympathy for the men of the navy is one of the finest things about this institution," says Lieutenant Joseph F. Wright, of the commissary department of Third Naval District Headquarters, at 280 Broadway, New York.

"There is almost constantly a line of young officers and blue-jackets to see the commander. The reasons for their calls show better than anything else could in what degree of esteem and admiration he is held by those under him. One lad calls to express his thanks for the opportunity, given him by Commander Newberry, of entering the officers' training school, and his determination to forge steadily ahead in the ranks of the fighting men.

Other asks for advice on the books to study that he may progress in his chosen profession. He is confident that, though the commander is a busy man, he will always take time to lend a helping hand to any youngster anxious to get on. Perhaps a third will drop in to report the progress he is making in his studies to fit himself for higher rank. They all have some personal reason for feeling grateful, because the commander never fails to take an interest in what his men are doing.

WELL-PAID WOMEN BUY NEW CLOTHES

New York—A wounded Anzac had come to America to lecture. He bore some honorable scars on his body, which were grandly displayed to his admirer. A woman touched the stripes and asked what they were his worst wounds. He described one, which was a clean hole made by a bullet. In his informal anecdote, he asked if she would like to see it. She would, so he showed her the bullet hole below the collar bone.

"How very disappointing!" she exclaimed. "I expected a great gash."

The Anzac buttoned his collar thoughtfully, and turning to the table said: "Now, I ask you, what are we going to do, with women if they begin to expect as much of men as they do? And what will they do with them? Men have begun to expect so much of themselves, they will expect so much of men. It is the most vital interesting thing on the planet, never in the world, observes a distinguished fiction writer.

Women are getting so much more than they ever demanded, that they are puzzled and some are near hysterical.

Once we were a contented race; then we became an unquiet sex; then we became a restless force, and then we became a militant power.

Those with the keenest vision saw ahead of them a long struggle. They outlined the propaganda of a jurist tablet to a student.

It is not desirable that we deprive ourselves and our friends of little pleasures in the way of industry, commercial opportunity.

It is useless to tell women that they must not buy clothes. The reformers mean well, but they are planting seed on barren soil. There must be some measure in the world of the obedient.

ADVANCEMENT IN WESTERN CANADA FARM LAND PRICES

Stories of phenomenal advancement and property in Western Canada have been told the reading public for some years. In the quantity of such an important factor in the production of foodstuffs at the present time, it is enabling men who have been farming small areas in other districts to take up and farm with the same capital areas not only many times as great, but which are also capable of producing considerably larger crops at the acre.—Advertisement.

Where He Got Even. Church Union (confidentially)—That woman I just wanted is Mrs. Stuyvesant. She had me sent round to the back door on my when I called at the house on a business errand. Made me transport the business through a servant. But I've got even with her. Friend—You have given her one of the best news in the church. She's right where a stained-glass window will throw a red light on her nose.

At the Boarding House. "Mrs. Hainleigh, my eye is not again this morning." I positively cannot get it." "Have you tried the other eye?"

Save the Babies. INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-fourth, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen.

WOMAN SAVES USTRIAN BY TALK FROJ WINDROW. Berkeley Springs, W. Va.—Mrs. Anna Kuhn, a leader in war activities here by a great patriotic speech inspired a drunken mob that had gathered for her house demanding that one of her boarders, a naturalized American of German birth, be sent to the front. Standing at a second-story window the woman so harangued the mob that they departed.

Should Profit by the Experience of These Two Women. Buffalo, N. I had professional attendance most of that time but did not see any relief. It was not until I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which I had seen advertised in the newspapers, and in two weeks noticed a marked improvement. I continued its use and am now free from pain and able to do my house work.—Mrs. B. B. ZELANDSKA, 203 West Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Enchanting Entertainment Offered by Marvel Miller

MARVEL MILLER

Back to the world of make-believe with a slip of a girl as the fairy enchantress.

Marvel Miller merits her first name. In the realm of "play-acting" she is a real marvel. For she has the ability to create character, to visualize emotion, to portray mental attitude.

Her dramatic readings catch the heart thought and the heart-throb of a series of characters, and she will make each live for her audience when she presents her delightful program during the coming Chautauqua.

In her rendition of "When the Fleet Goes By" she sends the salt sea air racing through your nostrils and makes you prouder still of Uncle Sam and his sea-power.

Her rendition of Henry Van Dyke's "The Colors" is another soul-builder, and a builder of real Americanism.

Altogether her Chautauqua program is one of the most interesting, entertaining and inspiring ever presented in America.

She is richly endowed by nature for her chosen profession, is possessed of unusual charm of personality, grace of person and sweetness of character, that assist her materially in winning her audiences.

A Message of True Americanism for Chautauqua

ANDREW H. HARNLY

If you're a good American, get the spirit of the lecture of Andrew H. Harnly, "The Trenches in America," and his lecture, "Carry On."

Mr. Harnly comes to the Chautauqua with a special message on the war. He is a delegate to the National Lecturers Conference at Washington, obtaining accurate inside information from governmental sources.

And he is able to give this message. For he is a patriot, a lecturer, a publicist. He has been a farmer, teacher, editor and knows the big heartthrobs of all classes of men and women. His varied but not checkered career has touched life vitally at many points.

His sympathies are large, his interests broad, and his belief in God and man has made him an incurable optimist. He is one of the great lecturers—and his present message is the most vital he has ever given. Mr. Harnly appears the afternoon and evening of the fifth day of the Chautauqua.

If the flower of the German army has not been plucked the stem has been broken and the flower has begun to wilt. The Yankee boys are great for carrying a flower in their button hole and a smile on their faces.

In these times when people are approached by so many different persons regarding contributions for war funds, as well as regarding conservation of foods, it is pretty hard to distinguish the authorized agent from the impostor.

Our thick walls and heavy, powerful safes and locks were made to protect your money. The bank is the only safe place to keep it.

The men behind our bank are as strong and reliable as the walls.

If you have your money in our bank we can always cheerfully advise you how to invest it. Come in and see us.
